East Jordan is located at the mouth of the Jordan River, Michigan's most famous trout waters since back in the days when the grayling predominated. The river, flowing through 20 miles of the Jordan River State Forest, offers boat fishing in the lower 12 miles, and wader and bank fishing in its upper stretches. Brook, rainbow and German brown trout uphold the river's fame.

East Jordan offers steelhead, bass and pike fishing in Lake Charlevoix. The city maintains a most modernly equipped tourist park on Lake Charlevoix, with a fine, safe bathing beach.

The sporting activities at East Jordan start early in March, including the annual Smelt Run and the Smelt Jamboree, which is celebrated in all its glory with the crowning of the King of the Smelt. Thousands come then to enjoy the fun and take part in the celebration.

East Jordan is accessible by four beautiful scenic routes, all paved. From the south M-66 winds down the benutiful Jordan River Valley, connecting with M-131 and continuing north along the shore of Lake Charlevoix to Charlevoix. West it is 12 miles along Intermediate Lake and over beautiful hills and woodland to US-31 at Atwood. East, 15 miles along Lake Charlevoix through Boyne City to Walloon Lake and M-131. East Jordan is truly a sportsman's refuge.

BATHING FACILITIES HERE ARE EXCELLENT

On Lake Michigan, the city maintains a municipal bathing beach, patrolled by coast guardsmen constantly. A beautiful stone bathhouse provides dressing quarters and swimming accessories, as well as a most complete refreshment service.

The beach has playground equipment for children such as slides, swings, teeter-totters, etc., also shuffleboard courts. The facilities for enjoyment are very complete, and the beach is free from dangerous under-tow.

Several good bathing beaches are available on the more placid Lake Charlevoix, whose water is usually a few degrees warmed than Lake Michigan.

CHARLEVOIX PROVIDES BEST FISHING SERVICE

Three Large Operators and Many Individuals in Guiding Business

In keeping with its excellent lake fishing, Charlevoix has very complete facilities to care for fishing parties upon their arrival here.

The larger operators furnishing boats nnd guides are the Charlevoix Trolling Camp, Miller Boat Co., and Bernie Ward, each opernting a fleet of bonts with competent guides for deep water trolling on Lake Michigan and for steelhead and bass fishing on Lake Charlevoix. Bait in all necessary varieties is also furnished. Many individuals also furnish boats and guiding service.

So the fishing parties coming to Charlevoix may have the pick of boats from cruisers down to open motor boats, out-board driven boats, and row boats.

SOFTBALL A POPULAR SUMMER SPORT HERE

Softball has proven a popular sport with Charlevoix summer residents, and the Board of Commerce will sponsor a tournament the first of August.

A softball league will be formed after the arrival of summer residents, each team representing a city district.

FRESH FISH FOR TABLE ARE BROUGHT IN DAILY

Commercial Operators Provide Summer Visitors' Needs Here

Charlevoix's fishing fame is not alone for the excellent sport provided anglers, but also for the fish provided commercially for the table of summer visitors.

One has never eaten really, honest-to-goodness fresh fish until they come to Charlevoix or some other Lake Michigan resort city which has commercial operators. Lake trout and whitefish, brought in alive in the morning, are available for the evening's dinner. They have a flavor that is just not equalled elsewhere.

That summer visitors find this true is indicated by the fact that the demand sometimes is greater than the supply.

CCC CAMP PROGRAM BIG HELP TO CONSERVATION

Fourth Year of Accomplishment Will Be Cmpleted June 6

CCC Camp Wolverine, located at about the center of the Hardwood State Forest 10 miles east of Clarion, will have completed four years of n highly diversified development program in and near the forest when June 6, next, arrives.

While forest development has been the principal work of the camp, many other projects such as the construction and development work in Young's State Park at Boyne City; construction and development work at the Oden State Fish Hatchery, construction of a storage building for fire fighting equipment of the Department of Conservation at Indian River, and of the Indian River emergency landing field, and construction of a storage building for the University of Michigan at Douglas Lake, have been carried on.

The addition to the forest fire control system has been a major contribution, including construction of a fire tower, eight miles of telephone lines, 44 miles of fire breaks nnd 78 miles of fireline roads, and five vehicle bridges. An nggregate of approximately 2,000 man-days has been expended in fighting forest fires.

Development of the Hardwood State Nursery has been entirely a project of Camp Wolverine. Approximately 2,800,000 pine trees have been planted on 4,000 acres of cut-over forest land, and 70 bushels of hardwood seed have been collected.

Survey and improvement of Thumb, Standard and Weber Lakes, improvement of 20 miles of the Sturgeon and Maple Rivers; construction of 15 rearing ponds at Oden and the Sturgeon River Trout Feeding Station; and planting of more than 20,000,000 fish in the lakes and streams of the area have been other major contributions.

The camp has also completed 185,000 acres of ground water survey; 130,000 acres of land economic survey; 84 miles of lineal survey, and 10,000 acres of white pine blister rust eradication, according to Project Superintendent Carlos LaGuire.

STATE TRADES FOR TAHQUAMENON FALLS TRACT

Prize Beauty Spot of State to Be Added to Park System

Only the formality of a state-federal trade remained today to transfer the Tahquamenon Falls, prized beauty spot, to the Michigan park system.

The falls and surrounding virgin area, among the fairest of scenic displays in the Upper Peninsula, were sold by the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Company to the United States forestry service.

Next in the state's project to acquire the Tahquamenon will be a barter of state-owned land within one of the national forests in Michigan for the approximately 2,300 acre falls area.

Is Sold for $198,000

Acclaimed by the State Conservation Commission as a "great forward step in the Michigan park system," the Tahquamenon sale for $198,000 to the government climaxed several years of agitation for the project.

Originally the Cleveland-Cliffs Company took over the falls for water power purposes. John M. Bush, superintendent of the C. C. I. land department, said the company wished to cooperate with the state in preserving the Tahquamenon's beauty.

Two hundred feet wide with a 48-foot drop, the upper falls rank as a tourist meeca, and the bordering virgin timber acres comprise a notable hunting and fishing area. Streams are filled with fish, and deer and other wild life abound.

Work Starts Next Month

Joseph P. Rahilly, of Newberry, member of the conservation commission, said development of the area as a park will start about the middle of June. A road eventually will be built into the district.

The Tahquamenon boat service carried 17,000 persons to see the falls last year. Estimates say that a road would permit 200,000 visitors to view the falls each year.

PLAN DUCK MARSH DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

Will Flood Muskegon River Marsh West of Houghton Lake

In line with the national trend in the development of marsh areas for the breeding of waterfowl, the Department of Conservation plans to flood the north Muskegon River marshes west of Houghton Lake as soon as formal permission is given by Missaukee county board of supervisors.

While restoration of marsh areas that have been impaired by natural or artificial drainage as breeding places for waterfowl and fur-bearers is not a new thing in Michigan, the Muskegon River flooding plan is one of the most comprehensive waterfowl development projects arranged by the Department of Conservation.

Beaver Island Gains Popularity As a Summer Resort

Boat Excursion to This Historic Spot Provides An Interesting Side Trip for Tourists

Gaining rapidly in popularity as a summer resort, Beaver Island also provides one of the most interesting excursion trips to be had by tourists visiting Charlevoix.

The Beaver Island group embraces Beaver Island and about eleven other and smaller islands. Beaver Island, the largest of the group, is about 13 miles long and nt its northern end a hook of land encloses the perfect St. James harbor. A fine all-steel passenger boat, the Mary Margaret, owned and operated by Capt. Leroy Allers, makes daily trips between Charlevoix and St. James.

Beaver Island history dates back to the earliest in Northern Michigan and from this standpoint nlone offers an enticement to the tourist. Those who may not be familiar with the early history of the Mormon Church will be interested to learn that it was on Benver Island where James Jesse Strang established a Mormon colony in 1848 and later set up an absolute kingdom with himself in supreme command. For almost eight years he held sway over the land and his word became the law with some 2,500 persons who were required to sign covenants in which they took oath to obey the commnnds of Strnng gven above those of the government.

Strang's tyranny became so great and he beeame so inconsistent in his rulings that dissension grew among his followers until in 1856 he was shot and mortnlly wounded by one of his apostles. Many evidences of the Mormon reign are still found on Beaver Island.

While the chief industry on Beaver Island is commercial fishing and agriculture, the island in the last few years has become popular as a summer home site. The island's scenic shoreline has become dotted with cottage colonies which are increasing rapidly. Its natural scenic beauty holds great enhancement. There is no "man made" scenery on Beaver Island; no paved streets. Nature is found there in the rough. Good roads, however, have made the endless spots of beauty accessible and this fact has played an important role in the resort development.

The sportsman will find Beaver Island a veritable paradise. On the island are six inland lakes within easy driving distance of St. James. Three of these lakes, Gennesare, Fox and Barney's, are regularly stocked with game fish. Hog Island, a short trip by boat from St. James, provides the most excellent small mouth bass fishing to be found in Michigan. The island has a wide variety of wild game, including a large deer herd, pheasant, fox, rabbit, and squirrel. The duck hunting on Beaver Island during open season is excellent, as the island lies in the direct Lake Michigan flight.

Information regarding Beaver Island and the daily boat excursion will be gladly furnished by the Charlevoix Board of Commerce.

COMMERCIAL FISH PRODUCTION DROPS

Tonnage of Herring Is Largest, Mackinaw Trout Second and Highest In Market Value

The Great Lakes production of commercial fish fell off in 1936, the total catch so far known for the year running approximately three million pounds under that of 1935. This is shown in reports from commercial fishermen compiled by state fisheries authorities.

The all-time peak production of commercial fish from the Michigan waters of the Great Lakes still stands at 32,500,000 pounds, taken in 1927. The years of 1930, 1931 and 1935 have come closest to equalling that catch, but have been a million to two million pounds under it.

The drop in the total take of 1936 is not particularly significant of a depletion of the supply, authorities state, since in some years the fluctuation of the yield has been fnr greater, dropping as much as 11,000,000 pounds but to rise again in succeeding years.

However, fisheries authorities firmly believe that the more intensive fishing of the last 15 years, the additionnl number of boats, extension of the fishing range, the increased effectiveness of fishing gear, especinlly the effects of the deep trapnet now outlawed in Lakes Michigan and Superior, and the varinnce of fishing regulations among Great Lakes states, will eventually make themselves felt in a diminution of the commercial fish supply.

Herring have now taken the place of the lake trout and the whitefish as the most abundant species in the fishing nets, although the value of this species per pound is not comparable to that of the other two varieties.

In 1930, 1931 and 1932 more whitefish were tnken by commercial fishermen than any other species, but this yield dropped off due, authorities believe, to the reavy inroads caused by the deep trapnet, which invaded for the first time the deeper feeding grounds of this species. In 1933 the lake trout supplanted the whitefish in number of pounds taken and whitefish moved into second place.

Since 1933 first place has been assumed by herring, whitefish dropping to third place in the total catch in pounds. In 1936, the whitefish catch, once the greatest of all species, slumped into fourth plnce, totalling around two and a half million pounds where once it aggregnted more than 8,000,000 pounds a year. However, whitefish still command the best market price per pound as this species always has.

	Pounds	Value
Herring	8,059,376	$ 241,781.28
Lake trout.	5,896,249	884,437.35

Dogfish	688	13.76
Blue fins	37	1.48
Eels	5	.50
Totals	27,623,753	$2,468.004.97

In addition to the smelt above listed, authorities say there was a total of 1,576,000 pounds of smelt taken from streams and lakes tributary to Lake Michigan during the spring season of 1936. They estimate the value of this catch at around $78,000. The take in smelt for 1937 is expected to be larger than that of 1936.

A LAKE CHARLEVOIX STEELHEAD WON PRIZE

Harold Smith, of Hastings, Mich., proved the champion steelhead fisherman of the 1936 season here. His 12-pounder, the largest ever caught on trolling tackle as far as local records go, also won second prize in the national contest sponsored by Outdoor Life.

The biggest 1937 passenger car air-conditioning program of any railroad in Michigan has been completed by the Pere Marquette Railway.

All steel coaches on all of the railroad's main-line trains have been air-conditioned, renovated and redecorated and will be back in service before June 1, according to Vice President R. J. Bowman. The cars include all of the road's Pullman, dining salon, day coach and local sleeping cars. Among the trains to be modernized is the "Resort Special," which on June 21 will resume service to Michigan's northern resort country. Both sections of this train, from Chicago and Detroit, are being completely renovated.

Vice President Bowman also confirmed reports of the purchase of 15 locomotives which will be put into service on the line this year.

number of summer visitors. For the tourists there are a number of modern hotels, each with an attractively parked lakeside location. These hotels are prepared to cater to those who naturally expect the finest service. A number of semi-private homes open their doors to those who prefer more quiet and restful places.

With all of the foregoing in mind it seems superfluous to add: Charlevoix is a fine type of American city; that it has a boulevard system of lighting; owns its own waterworks anad electric lighting system; that it has miles and miles of broad, well built highway leading into the surrounding country in every direction; well kept lawns and fine homes; stores modern and well stocked. A business men's association, its Board of Commerce made up of a live bunch, who understand what co-operation spells; and a city that has a warm hearted welcome for those seeking a summer of rest, content, and recreation; or for those seeking a home or a business location.

Charlevoix Invites You

Charlevoix is favored with splendid transportation facilities. The Pere Marquette Railroad furnishes a direct resort service from Toledo, Detroit, Chicago and Grand Rapids. The equipment of its resort special comprises all that is understood in modern train excellence. Trunk line US-31 leads directly to Charlevoix, and paved roads connect with US-131 and US-27.

Splendid city; aiming to deserve the fine civic loyalty of its summer citizens. We invite you to come and bring your family; we think you will find that all of the things which will contribute to the well being of the other men, will also contribute to yours.

DUST-PROOF HIGHWAYS FOR TOURIST TRAFFIC

Michigan's gravel trunklines will be given a $125,000 dust-laying treatment of Calcium chloride soon.

Murray D. Van Wngoner, state highway commissioner, announced that gravel trunklines in the Lower Peninsula will be treated. The first application in the Upper Peninsula will be given about the first week in June.

Nearly 6,000 tons of the palliative will be used in the first application. Average costs of spreading the chloride approximate $22 a ton.

Commissioner Vnn Wngoner said that all gravel state roads will receive at least two nddditional treatments this year. In some cases, four or five treatments probably will be necessary, depending on the volume of traffic and the condition of the particular highway.

Three hundred of the 3,500 miles of gravel trunklines will be treated this year with processed liquid brine, the commissioner said. Unprocessed well brine used last year by the department was found to be unsatisfactory.

Roads trented with calcium chloride require about 10 tons a year to lay the dust. The total cost of the calcium chloride program for the summer will approximate $600,000.

ASK SPORTSMEN REPORT CAPTURE MARKED FISH

Five Thousand Steelhead With Two Fins Removed Planted Last Fall

Anglers fishing Charlevoix county waters are requested by the Charlevoix Sportsmen's Club and the Fisheries Division of the Department of Conservation to be on the lookout for marked rainbow trout.

Last fall in October, 5,000 fingerlings with the dorsal and adipose fins clipped were planted in the South Arm of Lnke Charlevoix for the purpose of studying the migratory habits of the rainbow, particularly.

If one of these fish is caught, the angler is requested to report the date, locality, length and weight of the fish to Clare Webster, president of the Charlevoix Sportsmen's Club, or to the Fisheries Division, Conservntion Department, Lansing, Mich. Posters giving a description of the marked fish have been posted throughout the county.

BOULDER PARK UNIQUE RESORT DEVELOPMENT

Has Twenty-One Stone Cottages of Unusual Construction and Design

Charlevoix has one of the most unique and picturesque real estate developments to be found anywhere in the country.

It is Boulder Park—and it is just what the name implies. The two huge pillars at each side of the main entrance are built of boulders. The 21 cottages are built of boulders. The landscaping, as far as possible, has been done with boulders. The flowing wells which have been worked into the landscaping scheme are surrounded with boulders. The winding streets are lined on each side with boulders.

This property as it stands today, with the homes of vastly different architecture and built of different shapes and colors of stone, and their many shades of roof, presents a most attractive sight.

Earl A. Young, local realtor, is the owner and promoter of this beautiful residential district. He is the designer of the homes, the planner of the unconventional development. Typical of his plan is the fact that, instead of laying out the plat in the usual checkerboard fashion, he has picked out the natural building sites and has arranged the streets with reference to these sites, following the parkway style.

Boulder Park, located on Lake Michigan scenic drive, is visited annually by thousands of tourists because it is beautiful and unusual.

EXPERIMENT STOCKING OF WATERFOWL AREAS

Conservation Department Plans Better Hunting in Michigan

In an effort to learn whether waterfowl areas can be restocked with ducks, game authorities have plnnted 45 pairs of mallards in the Molasses River and the Butterfield areas in north-centrnl Michigan.

Fifty ducks were released in the Molasses River area northwest of Bay City and 40 in the Dead stream marshes of the Butterfield area west of Houghton Lake. The ducks planted were reared at the state game farm and each was banded with a serial number.

Game men will check on the plantings from time to time this summer to learn if the birds are breeding and whether they have otherwise adapted themselves to their new environment.

Will Tour Michigan for First Hand View Recreational Facilities

Seventy-five tourist bureau executives and newspaper men will be guests of Michigan's four tourist associations, the Automobile Club of Michigan, the Michigan Hotel Association, Mayor Frank Couzens, of Detroit, and Governor Frank Murphy on a tour of Michigan, June 17-23.

The object of the tour is to provide a first-hand view of Michignn's recrentional attractions for the travel and tourist exeeutives of various American Automobile Association clubs located in leading cities of the country and special tourist writers of metropolitnn newspapers. This tour will enable the story of Michigan to be presented directly to those whose business it is to help people in plnnning vncations and trips during the coming summer and fall. That this advertising will be of great benefit to Michigan and the tourist business goes nlmost without saying, for the Automobile Associations reach tens of thousands of automobile tourists and the newspapers reach millions of persons, who will be interested in vacation spots. Michigan is already listed as one of the greatest vacation states in the nation and the tourists and visitors who come here are estimated to have left some $315,000,000 in 1936 alone.

A banquet as guests of the Hotel Statler at 7 p. m., June 17, will be the opening event. Two new model buses will be provided by the Greyhound Lines for transportation en route. On June 18, the group will be guests of Henry Ford at luncheon, visit the University of Michigan and attend a banquet at the Olds Hotel, Lansing, as guests of Governor Frank Murphy.

The tour will then follow through Central Michigan to Mackinac Island where an overnight stop will be made at the Grand Hotel, a boat trip through beautiful "Les Cheneaux" Islands, a visit to the world-famous Soo Locks, returning by way of the historic Indian Cross Village, Petoskey, Charlevoix and Traverse City. A trip down the west coast of Michigan, along the wide expanse of white beaches and scenic shoreline, through Manistee, Ludington, Muskegon, Grand Rapids, Grand Haven, Holland, Saugatuck, South Haven, Benton Harbor and St. Joseph will complete the seven-dny tour.

This tour, according to H. J. Gray, of the West Michignn Tourist and Resort Association, together with the tour of the National Editorial Association of 500 newspaper men from all over the country July 18-26, are a part of the plan of the State of Michigan to advertise Michigan's vacation attractions. The tourist industry is the seeond largest in Michigan, a fact of which few people are fully aware.

The committee in charge of the Travel Bureau Executives and Newspaper Men's Tour is as follows: Southeastern Michigan, Richard Harfst of the Automobile Club of Michigan, E. S. Matheson of the same organization, and J. Lee Barrett of the Detroit Convention and Tourist Bureau, Manferd Burleigh of the Greyhound Lines; Eastern Michigan, Thomas F. Marston, Enst Michigan Tourist Association, and Bruce E. Anderson of the Hotel Olds, Lansing; Upper Peninsula, George E. Bishop of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, W. S. Woodfill of the Grand Hotel, Mackinac Island, and Otto W. Lang of the Arnold Trnnsportation Lines; Mackinac Island; West Michigan, Hugh J. Gray of the West Michigan Tourist and Resort Association, Grand Rapids.

Scenic Drives and Canoe Trips Popular Summer Diversions

Many delightful side trips by land and water are to be had. One of the popular attractions is an excursion by lake steamer to Beaver Island, a distance of 35 miles. The island abounds in historic interest, has good roads, provides wonderful fishing and a welcome change from the usual.

Many motor trips are available. The extended Lake Shore Scenic Drive along Lake Michigan is one of the most beautiful in the North. The 52-mile motor trip around Lake Charlevoix unfolds a never-ending panorama of scenic beauty. Splendid highways, with constant and ever-changing views of Lake Charlevoix, lead through Boyne City and East Jordan. The route is dotted with numerous smaller resort colonies.

The drive to Cross Village, through Petoskey and Harbor Springs, provides the most beautiful scenery in Michigan and is enjoyed by hundreds of Charlevoix summer residents every summer.

Inviting Trout Stream

The Jordan River canoe trip provides a popular diversion for summer residents. This famous river, acclaimed the best trout water in Michigan, is navigable for 14 miles by boat.

Another popular canoe trip starts at Six Mile Lake, west of East Jordan, and is interrupted by a few short portages from that point through the chain of Intermediate Lakes to Elk Rapids on Lake Michigan. The villages of Ellsworth, Central Lake, Bellaire and Alden are passed through on the trip. The more venturesome return to Charlevoix up the shore of Lake Michigan.

A FISHERMAN TO HIS SON

My son, when you have older grown
I'll take you to a lake I've known
At midnight, noontime, dusk and dawn
I want to show you where I've gone
To find my freedom-want to be
In the boat with you and have you see
And learn from me, O! son of mine,
How to swing a fishing line.

For I've been young—too well I know
The rocky road your feet must go.
But I know too, a path that clings
To a wooded hill where the peewee sings—
Where dogwood grows, and oak and pine.
And all I ask, O! son of mine,
Is to row the boat for you some day
Along that shore where the willows sway—
To be with you when first you feel
A leaping bass unwind your reel.

My son will sleep as I have slept
Beneath the heaven's reach star swept.
I want the dawn's first gleaming dim
To waken something deep in him
I want my boy to learn to take
His troubles to that shining lake,
And lose them there. And so I wish,
O! son of mine, that you may fish.
For my boy's sake I ask it, God,
Teach him to love a casting rod.

Charlevoix Is Famous for Its Variety of Game Fish

Steelhead Trout, "Silver Sided Dynamite," Lead the List of Gamesters Abounding Here

The words "Charlevoix" and "fishing" are synonymous, for there isn't a place anywhere which provides the variety of fishing and the quality of sport that Charlevoix offers for almost twelve months out of every year.

Sportsmen from every corner of the United States have found this out and thousands come here yearly because they get fish—and that's the main part of fishing.

For real honest-to-goodness sport, steelhead fishing tops the list. "Silver sided dynamite" they are called—the hardest fighting fish for their size to be found, fresh or salt water. You troll for them in Lake Charlevoix, using from one to three hundred feet of light line on a fly pole or light casting rod. It's BANG and the fight is on! True to the tradition of the steelhead, they carry the fight to the surface, leaping clear of the water many times. Several final rushes before the prize can be netted. There is no finer sport! The season is May 20 to November 15.

Deep water trolling for Mackinaw trout in Lake Michigan and Lake Charlevoix ranks second to steelhead fishing. Mackinaws run from five to 35 pounds and you troll for them with 500 feet of copper line. If you have never tried to land that much tricky fish flesh on light tackle, you have a treat coming. The season is May 15 until late November.

Lake Charlevoix provides some of the best small mouth bass fishing in Michigan. There are numerous when near the boat always come begrounds. The spring and fall perch "runs" provide a popular sport, and these fish are caught all winter through the ice on Round Lake and Lake Charlevoix.

Charlevoix has many nearby trout streams, and within a short motor trip are the Boyne, Jordan and Cedar rivers, unrivalled for their rainbow, brook and brown trout fishing. Many inland lakes furnish bass, pike and pan fish.

CHANNEL OPENING PROGRESSIVE STEP

Marked Opening of Lumber Era; Paved Way for Founding East Jordan, Boyne City

To ask any Charlevoix pioneer what was the turning point in the progress of Charlevoix county is to receive the same answer. In fact, to all, the greatest event in the county's history — an event which set the wheels of progress into motion and like magic transformed sleepy villages into centers of industry and activity—was the opening of a channel from Lake Michigan to Pine Lake (now Lake Charlevoix).

Previous to that eventful happening the entire Pine Lake region was cut off from Lake Michigan commerce by a narrow sand ridge that separated it from Round Lake, and Pine River, which connected Round Lake with Lake Michigan, was a shallow stream navigable only to canoes and small craft. A series of rapids with water from 18 inches to two feet in depth made passage between the two lakes almost impossible, and boats had to be towed along from the shore under great difficulty. The water level of Pine Lake was at that time several inches higher than either Round Lake or Lake Michigan, and had early Charlevoix pioneers realized the fact, an enormous water-power project, awaiting to be harnessed, was right at their door-step. Or, had they possessed vision, Charlevoix could have been made a great metropolis if its citizens would have discouraged any move other than to dredge a channel from Lake Michigan into Round Lake.

However, the one desire at that time was to tap the great hardwood forests bordering Pine Lake, and a navigable channel into Lake Michigan was necessary to transport the timber wealth to outside markets. In 1868 a survey of Pine River was made by Major Wheeler, of the U. S. Engineering Department. He reported insurmountable obstacles in the way of making a harbor, and that a harbor of refuge was unnecessary at this point, owing to its proximity to other good harbors.

Charlevoix pioneers were not to be thwarted in their ambitions, however. A year previous to the survey the firm of A. Fox & Co., first merchants of the village, contracted with a Buffalo concern to build a tug for use on Pine Lake in towing their wood to Charlevoix. The boat, named the "Commodore Nutt," arrived in June and, after considerable difficulty, was launched in Pine Lake, whose waters were then parted for the first time by a steam 'ernft. Incidentally the arrival of the tug and its first trip provided the setting of a dream picturing a steady procession of commercial craft plying the waters of Pine Lake.

In June, 1869, the River Improvement Company was founded and an office opened to take subscriptions for the improvement of Pine River. In that same month the tug Minnie Warren arrived at Charlevoix and was taken into Pine Lake on scows. In July there was a "bee" to open the channel between Pine and Round lakes. Men from the villages of East Jordan and Boyne City, in fact, from the entire county, were brought down the lake on scows towed behind the tugs Commodore Nutt and Minnie Warren. The force of upwards of 100 men was divided into two groups, one working on the lower and the other on the upper river. The proposed channel was to be 22 rods in length. The course was heavily timbered with hardwood and pine, and it is noted that a strip 300 feet in width was cleared the first day.

For unknown reasons the work was not resumed again until September, when the bar at the mouth of the river flowing into Lake Michigan was dredged and a slab dock 200 feet in

RIVIERA TENNIS EVENT AUG. 16-22

Annual Tournament to Bring Nation's Foremost Talent to Charlevoix Again

The Michigan Riviera tennis championships, this year the twelfth annual, is scheduled for August 16 to 22, inclusive, at The Inn clay courts.

The event has for many yenrs been Michigan's major tennis tournament and now shares that honor with the Western Championship, held the preceding week at Hnrbor Springs.

Attesting to the ranking of the Riviera is the fact that the 1936 entry contained two national champions. They were Ernest Sutter, of New Orleans, La., national intercollegiate title holder, and Julius Heldman, of Hollywood, Calif., the national junior chnmpion. Both were Riviera winners, the former taking the men's singles crown and, paired with Ramsey Potts, of Atlanta, Ga., the men's doubles, while Heldman won the junior singles crown.

The women's division also contained some of the nation's ranking stars, including Catherine Wolf, of Elkhart, Ind., the Western champion, and ranked tenth nationally. Miss Wolf won the Riviera title last summer, repeating victories of 1931 and 1933. Her finals opponent was Elizabeth Kesting, of St. Paul, Minn., one of the outstanding woman players of the mid-west.

Charlevoix and Harbor Springs tennis officials will cooperate again this year in bringing a galaxy of tennis stars to Northern Michigan. The 1937 edition of the Riviera will equal, if not excel, that of previous years.

BASEBALL TEAM FORMED; PLAY LEADING PRO TEAMS

Charlevoix will be represented in Northern Michigan baseball competition again this season.

A team is being organized under the manegemtn of Glenn Rose. Plans call for games with the leading semi-pro and professional teams touring the country.

Summer residents attend these games as a popular diversion.

Spend your summer vacation in Charlevoix.

Charlevoix Harbor from the Air

CHARLEVOIX, THE BOATMAN'S DREAM

Perfect Land-Locked Harbor, Every Facility Available for the Yachtsman

Charlevoix's facilities for yachting and boating are unsurpassed anywhere in Michigan — its harbor the answer to the yachtsman's dream.

Round Lake, a perfect landlocked harbor, is lined with boathouses and shipyards, providing all to be desired in accommodations and service. The city has provided numerous municipal docks and a group of yacht slips where water, garbage removal and other services required by yachting parties are furnished.

Lake Charlevoix, 18 miles in length, provides the most delightful sailing imaginable — its picturesque shorelines are an ever-changing panorama of beauty. The east portion of the lake is divided into two arms with Boyne City located at the east end of the north arm, and East Jordan at the tip of the south arm. Walloon Lake, located in the north portion of the county, provides similar boating pleasures.

Charlevoix's natural harbor is aptly described by Philip Rigg, in a recent story on his Chicago to Detroit cruise in Motor Boating, which is quoted as follows:

"Charlevoix itself is more of a topographical enigma. Through a narrow high cut, from the breakwater, you pass half a mile into the town and to the first lake, one of several natural surprises. A fine landlocked harbor a half mile across with the town at the northwest end, it is scenically attractive though almost too pretty and precise. Lake Charlevoix proper beyond is a large body of water about 13 miles long, but we never got into that. So far Charlevoix was the most desirable spot we had seen on the cruise. From every view it looked like a yachting paradise. A goodly number of sailing craft, laid up for the winter, showed that we were not the original discoverers from that angle.

"Charlevoix was cleverly devised by the ingenious forces of nature through which it was wrought. It is the kind of a harbor a sailor would plan if such things could be done on paper."

Little if anything more could be added to this description by a sailor whose judgment should be unquestionable.

length built to protect the channel mouth from heavy northwest blows. The two steam tugs dredged their way from Pine Lake into Round Lake harbor, and then through the lower river into Lake Michigan. The achievement was celebrated in fitting style and in the month of August, 1870, when the Maple Leaf, a vessel of 87 tons, entered the harbor from Lake Michigan, it was considered one of the important events in the history of navigation at this point.

Although small tugs were now navigating the channels, it was not until 1872 that any further action was taken on the proposition. In January of that year a mass meeting was held and $2,275 subscribed to further the work. Plans for a pier 240 feet long were made, the pier to be built of cribs 16x24 feet. The work was started in February and progressed under great difficulty. Early history relates how the men worked with the mercury as low as 22 degrees below zero. When the structure was practically completed, funds were exhausted and work had to be stopped. In the spring of 1872 a severe storm completely wrecked the new pier, and it then looked as if the enterprise would be abandoned.

A state appropriation of 16 sections of swamp was made and, with working capital at hand, a contract was awarded for the completion of a pier 450 feet long and five feet above the water. In June, 1873, the U. S. government took an interest in the project, and a contract was let to dredge both channels from Lake Michigan into Pine Lake. All dredging prior to that time had been done with tugs, and the appearance of a real dredge was an occasion of great public interest, and the entire populace of the village turned out to welcome the vessel.

From that time on the work progressed unchecked. In 1875 the channels were widened to 30 feet and dredged to a depth of 20 feet. In 1876 the government made an appropriation of $10,000 and listed Charlevoix as a port of entry. In July, 1882, the steamer "Fountain City," a 1,000 ton vessel, entered the harbor, marking the first through-line boat to touch the port.

The improvements were the making of Charlevoix county. Since that time lake freighters have plyed the waters of Pine Lake to the lumber mills, foundries and other industrial factories at East Jordan and Boyne City. The last two named villages sprang into life and, up until recent years, were the commercial and manufacturing centers of the county.

A glimpse into the enormous traffic through the channels is gained when it is learned that 13,571,000 feet of hardwood lumber, 3,315,000 feet of pine lumber, 225,000 pieces of lath, 235,110 feet square timber, 225 pieces square timber, 76,499 railroad ties, 71,000 cedar posts, 2,000 telegraph posts, 14,316 cords of wood, 14,481 cords of bark, 8,551 tons of pig iron, and 14 cords of cobble stone were recorded on clearance papers in one period of seven months, the above totals being full cargoes only and not taking into consideration the loads taken by coastwise steamers.

In those days it was not an uncommon sight to see anywhere from 10 to as high as 40 sail boats of the old wind-jammer type drying sails in Round Lake harbor at one time. Seven towing tugs were constantly busy towing sail boats from Lake Michigan into Pine Lake, and sometimes on up to East Jordan or Boyne City. Like dogs straining on a leash, the tugs would wait at the channel entrance, and it was a merry race to see which would be the first to reach a sail boat when it appeared on the horizon.

Unfortunately those days are past. The lumbering industry is now history as far as Charlevoix county is concerned.

OPEN TENNIS TOURNEY SCHEDULED AUG. 9-14

Charlevoix Tennis Club Sponsors 13th Annual Championships

Sponsored by the Charlevoix Tennis Club, the 13th annual Charlevoix Open tennis championships will be held August 9 to 14 on the municipal courts.

This annual event is staged for the pleasure of Charlevoix local and summer residents, enrollees at boys' and girls' camps, and Northern Michigan tennis devotees generally. While looked upon as a local affair, this fact does not detract from the quality of talent entered.

Last year's champions were Arthur R. Kaiser, Chicago, men's singles; Betty Mower, Detroit, women's singles; Bud Reynolds, Atlanta, Ga., junior singles; Ken Gann, Midland, boys' singles; Arthur R. Kaiser and Dr. George Buttrick, the latter of New York City, men's doubles.

The tournament will be under direction of Gordon Todd, activities director of the Board of Commerce, with whom entries may be made. Suitable trophies are awarded by the Charlevoix Tennis Club to the winners.

COAST GUARD RESCUE HOLDS RECORD

Mark Made Here In 1906 Still Leads Great Lakes for Number Taken from Vessel

Statistics reveal that the Charlevoix coast guard station holds the record on the Great Lakes for the number of persons taken safely from a distressed vessel.

Through the black hours of a stormy night the local coast guards, then under the command of Captain Frank Fountain, removed more than 500 passengers from the Northern Michigan Transit Company's steamer Illinois without a loss of life. Of this number 135 were brought ashore in breeches-buoy and 365 in surf boats under the most trying conditions.

Excursionists Aboard

At 6:30 on the evening of August 26, 1906, the Illinois was returning from Petoskey loaded with excursionists and a large list of passengers from Chicago. The big ship approached the channel at the same time a small sailing craft was about to enter, and in attempting to best the schooner in was forced to change her course to avoid a collision.

Running at high speed, the Illinois veered past the piers and drove hard aground on a shallow bar about 500 yards south of the channel entrance.

Captain Frank Richardson, who was in command, tried to back off shore but the heavy wind and rough seas drove the vessel higher on the beach. The steamer Missouri of the same line, which was laying in the harbor, immediately came out and made several futile attempts to fasten a line to the stranded boat. High seas prevented help from this source and the efforts of two small tugs were also of no avail.

Many Collapsed

Seeing release was impossible under existing conditions, Captnin Richardson appealed to the coast guards to remove the passengers. With equipment in place, a line was shot over the boat and then made fast to the bridge. By this time waves had broken the gangways on the Illinois, the decks were awash and windows in the upper cabin broken out.

The storm was gaining in strength every moment. With everything in readiness women and children were taken first and the long, tedious task of removing 500 frantic humans was started.

Many brought ashore were in a state of collapse and had to be carried to the station. Later, when it was learned that passengers aboard the boat were in a near panic, a surf boat was brought into use. This move greatly hastened the work so that by 6:30 the morning of the 27th all were brought ashore safely.

In a journal where an account of the rescue is kept at the local coast guard station are the names of many of the passengers. There were women and children as well as men, and to remove them required the greatest of caution.

About six miles north and east of Boyne City on M-75 is the village of Walloon on Walloon Lake. This lake is one of the three most beautiful in the world. It has a wonderful beach for bathing. Boating and fishing of all kinds are enjoyed. Several large summer hotels are on Walloon Lake, as well as several boys' and girls' summer camps. This lake with its 45 miles of wooded shoreline, 40 miles of which has a sandy beach, is the ideal place for summer residents; it is situated among the hills and is about 100 feet above Lake Michigan.

Six miles east of Boyne City on M-75, at the intersection of M-75 and M-131, is Boyne Falls. Here the vacationist has some of the best fishing in the north, and small game hunting almost at his back door. A short distance east of Boyne Falls deer are very plentiful and deer hunters make Boyne Falls their headquarters in the fall. About three miles out of Boyne City on the south side of Lake Charlevoix is Advance, the oldest settlement in Charlevoix; the grist mill still standing was erected in 1871. Beyond Advance one finds Whiting Park, Haydens Point, the Pine Lake Golf Club, and Ironton, where the ferry with its Captain Alexander made famous by Ripley is part of the county highway system.

Spend your summer vacation in Charlevoix.

Belvedere Club Largest Cottage Colony in Charlevoix

Six Cottages Built in 1878 Increased to 90; Modern Hotel and All Sports Facilities

During the summer of 1878 six cottages were erected and a substantial pier, with 14 feet of water at the front, was built, at which the steamboats running on Pine Lake always touched when there were passengers to be landed or received. Other improvements were made, such as the building of a bath-house, and the sinking of a well from which is obtained an abundant supply of delicious, ice cold water. The amount expended in these improvements was $1,600. The number of persons who visited Charlevoix that summer because of the establishment of this resort, and who occupied the cottages or lived in tents, or found board in private families, and who considered the grounds of the resort as their headquarters, was considerably above one hundred. In 1879 a commodious boarding-house was built upon the grounds, in order to accommodate many visitors who desired temporary quarters.

In May, 1880, the association purchased all the land directly north of the original twenty-five acres deeded by M. J. Stockman, and lying between it and the channel and Round Lake. In October, twenty-five acres more were purchased, giving the resort water front on Lake Charlevoix.

This resort, originally started by an enterprising group of pioneer residents of Charlevoix, as the Charlevoix Resort, has been known successively as the Kalamazoo Baptist Resort, as it was a group of Baptist ministers and teachers from Kalamazoo who first became interested in it, then as the Charlevoix Summer Home Association, and since 1923 as the Belvedere Club.

From time to time additional cottages were built and extensive improvements made to the grounds and the present commodious hotel was built. The Belvedere is one of the outstanding summer hotels in Northern Michigan, so ideally located on a terrace overlooking the sparkling waters of Lake Charlevoix.

At the present time there are ninety cottages on the grounds, all individually owned by members of the Club. The members jointly own the hotel. There are one hundred and four bedrooms in the hotel, and the dining room has accommodations for 400 guests. The Belvedere Casino, with its large porch, where guests enjoy the cool breezes of Lake Charlevoix, has a spacious dance floor. There is a stage for lectures or theatricals at one end of the Casino.

The Club maintains a battery of six asphalt and clay tennis courts, in perfect condition; also shuffleboard and croquet courts are available for the use of guests.

For those who enjoy aquatic diversion, the Belvedere fine sand bathing beach and playground, under the supervision of a competent life guard, affords a wonderful opportunity for perfect relaxation and pleasure. The cabana colony located here proved to be so popular last summer that a number of new cabanas have been added this season.

The present officers of the Belvedere Club and some of the more prominent members, all of whom are summer residents of Charlevoix, are: President, James Bird Balch; vice-president, C. B. Fox; secretary, Charles O. Roemler; treasurer, Logan G. Thomson; assistant treasurer and warden, Edward J. Edwards.

Council Ring Legend of Great Interest; Location on US-31 Accessible to Tourists

If action of the Charlevoix county board of supervisors is carried to successful conclusion, the Greensky Hill Indian Mission, one of Northern Michigan's most historic spots will be preserved for the public.

For years, nearly everybody in the county has been aware of the fact that at Greensky Hill there stood a circle of trees, planted for some reason, by the Indians before white men settled in the Traverse region.

Little of the history of these trees seemed to be known and it was not until research revealed that the history of these council grounds made them one of the most historic spots in Northern Michigan, that sufficient interest was aroused and a movement started to preserve this site for the public.

From time immemorial, these grounds have been the meeting place for the Indians from the entire Traverse region. The Council Trees, originally 30 in number, were planted by chiefs of the various tribes, as a pledge that, as long as they grew and bore leaves, the tribes would remain at peace with one another. To save them from destruction by the white men in their search for straight trees for lumber, each tree was bent to the ground and tied with basswood thongs. Under these trees, the Indian chiefs held council, by the light of birch-bark torches placed in the bend of each tree.

The Indians of this section desired a church, there being one far to the south und several to the north. In 1839, nearly 100 years ago, Peter Greensky was brought here by the Methodist church. He had gone from Sault Ste. Marie the previous year, to act as interpreter for the Presbyterian missionaries who started a mission at Old Mission.

A little log house was built for Peter Greensky and his wife, Susan, after whom Susan Lake is named, the house being placed in the center of the circle of council trees. Upon the arrival of Peter Greensky, a council was held and a beautiful blanket presented to him.

The first church was a "Wag-nog-ang," constructed of saplings, bent and tied with basswood strips and covered with elm bark. It had only a dirt floor. In this elm-bark Wag-nog-ang, Peter Greensky, robed in his blanket, preached to the Indians.

Eventually, so many of the Indians embraced Christianity that the Wag-nog-ang proved too small and it was decided to build a church of logs. The timber for this church was cut nearby and not brought from Northport, as is generally supposed. The huge pines were cut and squared, and with a yoke of oxen belonging to Peter Greensky as their only aid in dragging these huge timbers into place, the Indians finished their church in 1861, not 1863. Windows, doors and trim were brought by dug-out canoe from Traverse City and packed up the steep hill on the Indians' backs.

After the church was completed, it still lacked a bell. From somewhere, a huge conch shell was produced and this was blown to call the Indians to worship.

Between the church und Susan Lake, is an ancient Indian burying ground with the graves faced to the east, as has always been the Indian custom.

As a reminder to the Indians that these council grounds must be kept sacred, a knife was thrust into the trunk of a huge beech tree nearby and the tree gradually concealed it, during its years of growth. It is to be regretted that this beech has been cut by someone ignorant of its meaning.

Nowhere in the North is there a more historic spot than this old Indian Council Ground. Half a mile of lake frontage, a beautiful tract of maple woods, combined with the fascination of the Indian legends connected with it, would make for Charlevoix county one of the most interesting parks in the entire Traverse region. Each year Petoskey, Harbor Springs and Cross Village draw thousands of people to witness their Indian pageants, but in none of these places is to be found the natural setting offered by the Council Grounds at Charlevoix.

FOUR GOLF COURSES LOCATED IN COUNTY

Charlevoix Has Two Picturesque 18-Hole Lay-Outs Near City

Perhaps few resort sections offer as complete and picturesque golfing facilities as Charlevoix county.

Two 18-hole courses are maintained in the city of Charlevoix.

The Charlevoix Golf Club course, located at the north city limits, is municipally owned and operated. It is a 5,877-yard lay-out, and is maintained in excellent condition. The course opens on June 15.

The Belvedere Golf Club course, 6,600-yard in length, is located two miles south of the city. The course, scene of the Michigan Amateur and Michigan Open tournaments in past years, is rated by Walter Hagen as the best resort course in the United States.

The Pine Lake Golf Club, a nine-hole course, is located on a peninsula between the north and south arms of Lake Charlevoix, near Boyne City.

The Walloon Lake Country Club, located near the popular Walloon Lake village resort, is another popular course with tourists and summer residents.

FREE FERRY SERVICE ATTRACTS TOURISTS

This ferry, operated under supervision of the Charlevoix County Board of Supervisors, bridges the south arm of Lake Charlevoix at Ironton. It provides transportation to the peninsula formed by the north and south arms of Lake Charlevoix, where are located many summer homes and small resorts.

It is a never ending source of surprise to tourists to find that the ferry service is free and the beautiful scenery presented on the 1000-foot crossing repays one for leaving perhaps a set schedule to make the crossing.

The Ironton Ferry recently was given prominence in Ripley's "Believe It or Not," by mention of the fact that "Sam Alexander, the ferry operator, has traveled 15,000 miles and was never farther than 1,000 feet from his home!"

WALLER PINE TRACT FINEST IN MICHIGAN

Rated by Forestry Officials As Cleanest and Most Healthy

What is said by officials of the forestry department of Michigan State College to be the most prosperous and healthy growth of white pine in the State of Michigan, may be found on the 2000-acre estate of the late Edward C. Waller, three miles north of Charlevoix.

Waller acquired the nucleus of his extensive holdings in 1202, gradually purchasing more land until owning 2000 acres, with four and one-half miles frontage on Lake Michigan. The tract had been lumbered by the Charlevoix Lumber Company, and its typography was typical of all tracts bordering on the unsheltered shore of the lake. Predominating were barren sand hills with their sparse growth of wild cherry and dog wood. Today there is in the neighborhood of 1500 acres of white pine standing from three to 20 feet in height. The sand hills are no longer barren, and in years to come a mighty pine forest will stand as a reminder of former days.

Mixed with the pine is a native stand of spruce which has been thinned to allow healthy growth. Fire lines are maintained throughout the area. Frequent inspections for disease are made by forestry officials who are authority for the statement that the Waller pine is the cleanest, most healthy and prosperous planting in the state.

Chicago Club of Charlevoix Founded Over 50 Years Ago

Is Summering Place for Group of Chicago's Most Prominent and Influential Citizens

Over a half century ago, in August, 1880, Caleb F. Gates, Silas M. Mooré and Rev. E. B. Goodwin, prominent Chicagoans, came to Northern Michigan on a fishing trip and, incidentally, seeking n summer resort site. At the same time another Chicagonn, Brayton Saltonstall, was in the North on a similar mission.

A spot at Charlevoix attracted their fancy, and in November of the same year, the group of three and the individual mentioned combined their dreams; and at the West Monroe street residence of Mr. Moore in Chicago, the Chicago Summer Resort Company was formed. A 30-acre tract was purchased from John Dixon, one of Charlevoix's first pioneers. Others were interested in the project and it soon became a reality.

One of the founders was Melville E. Stone, late owner and publisher of the Chicago Daily News, and for many years general manager of the Associated Press of the United States. In 1880, Mr. Stone wrote in the old Chicago News the following article concerning the Chicago Summer Resort Company:

"During the past summer a company of Chicago gentlemen, desirous of taking a breathing spell during the hot July and August days, took a trip up in the region of the 'fishing line.' They visited Mackinac, Petoskey, and Charlevoix. At the latter place they stayed several days, charmed by its surroundings, its cool nights, the pleasant breezy days, the pure air, the absence of dust and heat of the city, all of which combined to make their stay very pleasant. One of the gentlemen, liking the place so well, secured a piece of land intending it for a summer residence lot. The three gentlemen, meeting some time after and comparing notes and opinions regarding Charlevoix, agreed to purchase a large tract of land and set it apart for a summer resort. This has been done, and a stock company formed, a charter obtained and enrolled under our state laws as the 'Chicago Summer Resort Company.' Their capital stock has been placed at $10,000 in shares of $100 each, subject to call. The land has been paid for and title secured. As soon as spring opens the place will be improved and made as beautiful as its situation demands. It is the intention of the company to spare no pains or expense to make the place very attractive to summer visitors. They have a fine location, high and dry, between two lakes, fronting on both. This will give fishing and fine boating grounds; besides this the resort is but a few miles from three of the best trout streams in the state of Michigan. Charlevoix is naturally adapted for a quiet, healthy summer resort.

"The officers of the company consist of the following well-known gentlemen: Caleb F. Gates, president; Silas M. Moore, treasurer; directors, Robert M. Cherrie, James M. Scoville, James H. Moore, Caleb F. Gates, Silas Moore, Cuthbert Sprong, J. K. Harmon, T. M. Avery, Rev. J. W. Dinsmore."

Since the above article was written the resort has grown to its present status, and many men prominent in national affairs have been members. Among them was Adlia Stevenson, Vice President of the United States under Grover C. Cleveland; Judson Harmon, former governor of Ohio; Edwin F. Uhl, of Grand Rapids, former ambassador to Germany, and many others.

In several instances the fourth and others the third generation of families identified with the resort's early history are members of the summer colony. The Uhl family built 50 years ago one of the first cottages and it is still occupied by their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Earl D. Babst, of New York, whose grnndchildren are of the fourth generation. The Edward Shnmway family, of Chicago, are also represented in the fourth generation by the grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Solomon A. Smith, and of Mr. nnd Mrs. John Stuart, both of Chicago, whose grandchildren also are of the fourth generation through the Robert Stuarts, of Chicago, nlso early members of the club. The Judson Harmon family is represented by a fourth generation in the child of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Wright, of Cincinnati.

The late John P. Wilson, prominent Chicago attorney, joined the resort in 1883, and three generations of his family have been identified with Charlevoix summer life ever since. Mr. Wilson was the president for many years and, under his guidnnce, the club progressed notably. One of his successful undertakings in association with the late Edward C. Waller, of Chicago, was founding the Charlevoix Colf Club in 1896, identifying it as one of the earliest in the United States. Originally the course was nine holes, but since has been enlarged to 18 holes. Mr. Wilson was succeeded as president by William. McIlvaine, who became a member in 1885. Three generations of McIlvaines as well as of the John B. Lord family, both of Chicago, have all been active in the club life for many years.

Many old customs have been preserved. Sunday evenings the members gather to sing hymns as they dld 50 years ago. Mrs. Edwin F. Uhl was for many years organist at these services. Her place has been taken by her daughter, Mrs. Earl D. Babst, who as a child was present at the opening of tho resort.

Sports have always featured activities at the resort. In early days, before the railroad and motor era, rowing was popular, and fishing. In keeping with tho times, the resort now has a battery of four tennis courts and a large fleet of sailboats. From August 1 to September 5, the fleet engages in a serles of races each Wednesday and Saturday afternoon. The high point winner takes the Pine Lake Yacht Club trophy. Albert Keep is the present Commodore.

Present cottage owners are: Frederick H. Scott, Solomon A. Smith, Mrs. Harold C. Smith, Howard Linn, Mrs. E. B. Butler, Mrs. Robert E. Ross, Mrs. A. H. Whiting, Oscar W. Johnson, John P. Wilson, Dr. Eugene S. Talbot, Mrs. Robert Stuart, John P. Wilson, Jr., Chicago; W. R. Dickinson, Santa Barbara, Calif.; Mrs. C. M. Ely, D. H. Burnham, Jr., Evanston, Ill.; Dr. Mont Reid, Cincinnati, O.; William B. McIlvaine, Hubbard Woods, Ill.; Cyrus H. Adams, Lake Forest, Ill.; Earl D. Babst, New York City; Edward C. Waller Estate, River Forest, Ill.; Mrs. George Jaeger, Detroit; John Stuart, Hubbard Woods, Ill.; George A. MacDonald, Winnetka, Ill.; Edward D. Shumway, Lake Forest, Ill.

In more recent years members of the club have acquired large holdings of land along the shores of Lake Charlevoix and have built day-camps, reached by boats and motor, and which have added to the social interest of the membership. Among these camps are those of John P. Wilson, William R. Dickinson, William B. McIlvaine, and the late William R. Linn. The Waller family developed the 2500-acre "Waller Fnrm" along the Lake Michigan shore, whose woods and roads provide miles of bridle paths and hiking trails.

Miss Florence Franklin has for a number of years been manager of the Club House, nnd Otto P. Krueger is superintendent of the grounds.

SPORTSMEN'S CLUB LIVE ORGANIZATION

Famous Steelhead Fishing and Abundance Other Game Fish Result of Club's Activities

Credit for Charlevoix's famous steelhead fishing and the abundance of other game fish as well, is due largely to the untiring efforts of the Charlevoix Sportsmen's Club, one of the livest organizations of its kind in Northern Michigan.

Organized six years ago, this group has yearly increased the scope of its activities. While steelhead trout, fondly dubbed by sportsmen who know their gamey qualities as the "Fresh Water Tarpon," have for many years been numerous in local waters, their present abundance may be attributed to plantings by this group of sportsmen.

Each year the club has received a large consignment of Pacific Coast steelhead spawn from the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries. The eggs have been hatched in the local federal hatchery, reared to fingerling size and then released in Lake Charlevoix. These plantings, year after year, have shown results fully justifying the effort.

The Club's fish propagation program has been carried on at the Stover Creek rearing ponds, owned and operated by the Club. The original ponds have been increased several times, and only this spring have been improved to the acme of efficiency through the construction of concrete side walls and the graveling of the creek bottom. This improvement permits periodical and efficient sorting of the fish in accordance with size, by eliminating snags, bank crevices and hideouts where the larger fish would lurk when the ponds were being netted, later to dart out and eat their smaller mates. This natural cannibalism among fish caused heavy loss during the rearing season.

Year after year the sportsmen's organization has reared thousands of steelhead, brook, German brown and Mackinaw trout which have replenished the waters of Charlevoix county lakes and streams. The 1937 program will equal, if not exceed thnt of previous years.

In nddition to its fish propagation activities, the Club has provided a patrol boat on Lake Charlevoix to eliminate illegal netting which took a tremendous toll of game fish in years gone by. This measure has proven a wise one.

Recognizing the fine work of the Sportsmen's Club, Charlevoix summer residents make generous financial contributions to aid the effort.

ADOPT ONE-METER ELECTRIC SYSTEM

NEW SCHEDULE OF RATES EFFECTIVE JUNE 1

Plan Designed as Economy Measure, Elimioating Extra Equipmeot and Duplication of Records

Through action of the city council Monday night in adopting a one-meter system and schedule of rates for consumption of electric current, Charlevoix stepped in line with most other communities and public utilities.

The new schedule of rates, designed to produce the same revenue from the electric utility as under the previous system, is primarily an economy measure, providing elimination of an enormous investment in meters necessary for the two-meter system, a double bookkeeping system, double reading of meters, maintenance, etc., as well os nbuses of the previous method.

The new scale of rates provides a step schedule for residence and commercial purposes for short and long term users inside and outside the city limits, setting a top rate for minimum consumption and graduation to the bottom rate for the maximum and over.

Under this schedule the rate for long-term users within the city limits starts at 7 cents per kilowatt hour for the first 10 and reduces to 3 cents per kilowatt hour for 60 kilowatt hours and over, with a minimum charge of one dollar for residence purposes. The commercial rate is 7 cents for the first 10 and 4 cents for 60 or over. Outside the city limits the schedule ranges from 7 cents to 3½ cents for the same kilowatt hours with a minimum monthly charge of $2.50.

The schedule for short term users or residence current is 10 cents for the first 10 kilowatt hours and steps down to 3 cents for a maximum of 160 kilowatt hours within the city limits. Outside the city limits the schedule starts at 10 cents and graduates to 3½ cents with a minimum charge of $2.50 per month. The rate for commercial purposes graduates from 10 cents to 4 cents within the city limits, and from 10 cents to 4½ cents outside the city limits.

Adoption of the new system will provide n big savings in operating and expenses, and gives the larger consumers a reduction in rate. The new schedule was made effective ns of June 1.

LAKE CHARLEVOIX PRODUCING GERMAN BROWNS

Beautiful 7¼-Pounder Taken Friday by Grand Rapids Party

The largest of several German brown trout caught recently while trolling for steelhead in Lake Charlevoix, was taken Friday by J. J. Groenland and A. W. Blaser, of Grand Rapids, while fishing from the Charlevoix Trolling Camp.

The fish weighed seven and one-half pounds, nnd was a beautiful specimen. Local sportsmen have been considerably surprised in catching German browns in Lake Charlevoix. The increase in this species is believed the result of plantings in Advnnce Creek nnd Jordan River on numerous occasions, nlthough these strenms have never produced German brown fishing since the plantings. It is thought the fish have gone into the lake with the result they are now being caught.

SEEK LOCATIONS FOR GRAVEL DEPOT

POSSIBILITY FOR LOCATION APPEARS FAVORABLE

Construction Aggregates Co., of Chicago Would Bring Heavy Freight Tonnage Into Harbor

The possibility of Charlevoix being selected as the location of a bulk gravel storage depot was opened Tuesday when an official of a Chicago firm inspected sites here.

E. C. Dull, of Chicago, representing the Construction Aggregates Company, of Chicago and Grand Haven, spent the dny with local officials looking over locations for such a facility. Sites on both Round Lake and Lake Charlevoix, as well as the Charlevoix Lumber Co. property were taken into consideration, it is understood. Further action on the proposal awaits subsequent visits.

Location of a gravel depot here would greatly increase the freight tonnage entering Charlevoix harbor and would enhance the prospects for needed harbor improvements. War Department engineers have been requested to provide n 21-foot channel between Lake Michigan and Lake Charlevoix. The allotments for harbor improvements depend greatly on freight tonnage served. Gravel carriers, the smallest of which would be comparable to the Str. Fred W. Green, would be employed by the Construction Aggregates Company in handling their shipments, it is understood.

All possible cooperation is being extended hy Board of Commerce officials to bring the contemplated industry to Charlevoix.

How to yield to home district pressure for additional state aid and nt the same time to balance the budget without additional taxes is the A-1 legislative problem this week at the state capitol.

The State Legislature, entering its final lap of a six-month aession, is in n generous mood, all in all.

State institutions have been granted increased appropriations to meet rising costs and to place operations on a pnst-depression basis. Financial experts are now warning legislators that present appropriations will top the $100,000,000 mark, and that further spending of public funds without tapping new sources of revenue will put Governor Murphy in the same budgetary position as President Roosevelt—operating government at a deficit.

The Senate has approved a bill to grant $47,000,000 state aid to Michigan public schools. This amount is sought by Dr. Eugene Elliott, newly re-elected state superintendent of public instruction, and the Michigan

CHAPTER X

The days grew shorter; it was dark now when Gail came home from the library at five o'clock. As she sat cuddling the baby she could see the oak branches tossing in the dusk of the yard and the leaves scurrying down. The susp of the wood in the old French range and the smell of toast and tea were very grateful now; there was a sense of coziness, of homeness about it.

At this hour she would often fall to dreaming. It was an hour in which to remember Edith, talking eagerly of poetry, of drama, of utopias and philanthropy, as she buttered pudding dishes and peeled apples—an hour that brought back Ariel, spoiled, petulant, beautiful, always to be excused and adored by her sisters. Ariel, willful and discontented, scolding, raging, threatening, and presently to be whisked, limp and pitiful, upstairs to be comforted and sponged and soothed to sleep.

Above all, in the winter twilights, with the soft lump of babyhood that was another Gail Lawrence in her arms, Gail dreamed of Dick and of the brief moment of romance that had somehow seemed to give her her true values in life. She had been playing, playing idly and superficially, with Von Murchison, and she had awakened to the full realization of what her heart needed, what her heart could give, just a moment too late.

It had been Ariel, all the time, for big, sober, quiet Dick. He had never seen Gail; she had never tried to help him find her.

But she knew in her heart, that she could have given him a thousand times what Ariel could give. Ariel must be changed indeed if she had become a helpful, tender mate for a struggling lawyer. Her restlessness, her haughty discontent, would not be cured by anything that Dick could provide for her. Ariel's ideal was not one of home making of quiet and domesticity beside a fire. Hollywood, supposing them still to be in that neighborhood—would only inflame Ariel with a desire for luxury, fame, money.

It was almost three years now since that memorable Christmas day before Ariel's eighteenth birthday, when she and Dick had run away from them all. Gail had had two communications from her since; the first was the scribbled note she had left in her deserted bedroom, the note they had all read with such amazement and consternation; and the second had come a few months after Edith's death, and had been postmarked Phoenix, Arizona:

"Gail dear, I am so horribly sorry about darling Ede, but Gail she was happy. She was too good for this world and only would have had trouble and disappointment. I am well and so is Dick, and we are coming home soon to tell you all the news, so no more now except that I adore you."

It had been signed simply "Ariel," and had borne neither date nor address.

One day Gail had driven Phil's car, full of small boys, out to the Stanislaus ranch. It was prosperous now, and the Lawrence's money troubles, prepasterous and unexpected as the situation seemed, were over. Phil was doing well, Gail had had a raise, the oil station paid its hundred a month faithfully, and that money Phil handed over untouched to his sister.

The remains of the once magnificent Lawrence estate were divided; the old house was Phil's, the corner had been surveyed and measured and given to Gail, the Stanislaus property was wholly for Sam and Ariel. Rent went monthly into the bank in Ariel's maiden name. Sam paid his board to Lily.

Gail looked at the old ranch wistfully. She had dreamed once a brief dream of coming there with Dick, of being mistress of these acres of orchard and pasture and wheat fields.

They could have been happy there, living in the moon-faced old farmhouse, under the great towering oaks and eucalyptus trees, surrounded by a tangle of sheds and fences, corrals and pastures, barns and fowl runs. They would have had children, would have driven into town in an old car, stopped for mail, for feed, for needles and egg beaters and ink at the five-and-ten. Dick would have had cases in the big courthouse in the shady square, where scared little Ariel had been summoned years ago, and Gail would have gone into the library to ask the girl at the desk for the new novels.

And on Sundays they would have telephoned Phil and Lily to ask what the chances were of a picnic up at the old dam. It was going to be hot today, and the children would love to get near to the water. Gail had cold chickens and tomatoes. If Lily would stop for cake somewhere. . . .

"I might have had a boy and a girl by this time. But certainly I wouldn't have had time for any writing. There's that to think about! . . . Dick, I'd give up the chance of writing another Iliad to have had you love me, to have been Mrs. Dick Stebbins those three years."

Gail was twenty-seven now, and the birthdays were coming faster and faster. Men had wanted her, some of them fine men, men who could have given her at least the position Dick's wife would have had. But Gail was barely conscious of their existence. She was only vaguely regretful when she had to hurt or disappoint them.

At twenty she might gladly have accepted any one of them, and made a success of it, too. At twenty-seven they found her coldly kind. She was very happy, living in the old house with that preposterous wife of Phil's, and the children, and her brothers, and the characters in her books. Her blue eyes would be almost absent-minded under the faintly knitted, heavy Lawrence brows as she explained that she was not going to marry anyone.

It just did not seem to mean anything, marrying anyone else than Dick, and until it did, Gail would not consider it.

But sometimes she did consider the strangeness of the situation should Dick and Ariel come back to Clippersville. They would never know that this brother-in-law was shrined deep in Gail's heart. They need never know. But it would be hard—it would be hard to see him, to have him kiss her in fraternal fashion, to hear Ariel complaining of his treatment of his new clothes and of the care of his children!

Once, after Edith's death, Gail had written a simple, friendly letter to Dick's mother, trusting the post office to forward it to her in Oregon, where she lived now with a widowed daughter. Did Mrs. Stebbins know just where Dick was now? Gail had asked. She, Gail, had a book that he had wanted—and so on—and so on.

And Mrs. Stebbins had answered, in a painful hand, on ruled paper, that Dick was just about the worst letter writer that ever was; he had been some in L. A., and after that up to Las Vegas, and last she heard he was in Phoenix for three weeks, but he was coming home, according to what he wrote, and just as soon as he did Mrs. Stebbins would see he wrote Gail. Seemed like he had lost sight of his old friends.

There was no mention of Ariel or Dick's marriage in either letter. Gail had not dared risk the secret, and either Mrs. Stebbins had been equally cautious, or Dick had not taken his mother into his confidence.

Gail suspected, as the months wore along, that there was but one adequate explanation of Dick's and Ariel's silence. They were not happy; the impulsive marriage that had found her so young had proved a mistake. They were quarreling, perhaps already separated. The secret would remain always a secret—no one would ever know. And perhaps Ariel would come home some day, bitter and disillusioned, and take her old unhappy place in Clippersville society.

"Poor Ariel, poor Dick, poor all of us!" Gail would think. "It's hard to clasp air and kiss the wind forever! I can be a writer, I suppose. I certainly mean to make myself one, if work and trying will do it. But it would have been wonderful—wonderful, to be a wife!"

CHAPTER XI

One rainy October afternoon Lily and the three older children were delayed at her mother's house down on Thomas Street hill, the shabby cabin light-hearted Gail and Edith and Ariel Lawrence had once so despised, and Gail found herself writing alone in the big house with the tiny Gail.

Sam traveled up and down the coast now, doing press-agent work for a string of vaudeville theaters, and was as often in Portland or in Los Angeles as at home in Clippersville.

Tonight Gail half expected him, and half-expected that when Phil discovered his family's absence he would drive at once to the Wilbur house and bring them all back. Meanwhile, in a rainy twilight that made the lights and shadows of the old kitchen more than usually pleasant, she fussed away contentedly with preparations for her own supper tray, for although the clock said only half-past five, this was a special night at the library, and she had to go back for a directors' meeting.

Wholewheat toast neatly buttered, thin hot tea, a piece of Lily's applesauce cake, and the remains of the corned-beef hash reheated and browned in a pan, and Gail felt herself ready for a feast.

Suddenly she heard a motor car on the old side drive, and heard the engine stop and a car door slam. Then there were footsteps on the porch, and the handle of the kitchen door turned. A second later, as Gail turned an inquiring glance that way and said aloud, "Phil?" the door swung open, and the dimly lighted aperture framed a woman's slender figure.

Gail stood, stricken, motionless for a moment. Then Ariel came, with a bird's flight, across the kitchen and flung her arms tightly about Gail.

"Oh, my darling—my darling!" Gail

"Oh, My Darling—My Darling!"

"Gail!" Ariel sobbed.

"Oh, dearest—dearest!"

There was no bitterness, no memory, now. It was Ariel, the adored youngest, here against her heart again, living, loving, sorry, eager to be forgiven; there was nothing in Gail's feeling but one great ache of joy and pain and love.

"Gail, I've wanted you so!"

"And I you!"

They drew apart, hands linked, and looked at each other.

"You look—older, Ariel. You—I hardly knew you!"

"Oh, well—"

Ariel saw the basket and the baby; she gave Gail a frightened glance.

"Gail!"

"Oh, no, no. That's Phil's baby. Lily's baby."

Ariel's proud mouth curled in the old haughty way.

"I heard he had married her," she said, displeased. "That horrible Wilbur!" in an impatient tone. Suddenly they were back in their old relationship, and there was reproof in the voice in which Gail said:

"Be careful, Ariel! She isn't here, but Phil may be any minute."

"They're living here!"

"They have been, from the first."

"But this is our house!" Ariel exclaimed, head in air.

"Oh, Ariel dear—" Gail pleaded, patiently.

"Do you mean to tell me that Joe Cass' divorced wife—"

"Joe Case died, Ariel. And they were here," Gail said, as the other voice stopped on an indignant note—"they were here when Edith— And they've been here ever since," she added, after another pause.

"I see," Ariel said, in a gentle, lowered tone. The old hoarse, boyish voice, and the old penitent look in the hazel eyes—how they brought back the days of long ago!

"Is Dick with you, Ariel?"

MY OWN SUCCESS STORY

Giving people more mileage

I like people to know that I'm not just hired at my station. I'm the proprietor, making my living, all on my own. Naturally I'm choosey about anything I recommend, so no matter how close you might check whatever I say about mileage and performance, I can always look you square in the eye. And that goes double for my Conoco Germ Processed oil. It is the only kind that can Oil-Plate your engine. The patent Germ Process, you might say, gives this oil a real strong "yen" for metal. The oil actually joins up with every working part, always leaving a durable, slippy Oil-Plating that cannot run down, whether your car is stopped or hitting it up. Then you can start up a thousand times a day, or streak along from morning till night. But Oil-Plating will still be there, heading off wear, and letting you skip a lot of stops you used to make for oil. You'll be back here saying even more than me, about all your mileage and performance from Conoco Germ Processed oil.

MEMORIAL TRAFFIC INDICATION BIG SEASON

Increase of 115% Over Last Year Noted on State Ferries

Murray D. Van Wagoner, state highway commissioner, this week predicted a record tourist season for 1937 after looking over traffic figures for the Memorial Day week-end.

Traffic on the state-operated ferries at the Straits of Mackinac increased 115 per cent over the corresponding week-end for last year. On the Saturday preceding Memorial Day Sunday, the traffic showed a 300 per cent increase over last year.

The number of vehicles carried by the ferries Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday reached 5,791 compared with 2,686 the same four days last year.

At the same time thst the ferry traffic was more than doubling last year's figures, registrations at the State Highway Department tourist lodge on US-12 near New Buffalo increased 90 per cent over the number during the holiday of 1936.

LANSING LETTER

Education Association. Republicans held a caucus preceding the vote, but examination of tbe roll call shows that balloting was not on party lines. Yet the only active opposition came from three Democrats—Senator William Palmer, floor leader; Senator J. Neil Lamoreaux, finance committee member, and Senator Ernest C. Brooks. Wayne county Democrats voted for it.

The Senate has approved an additional appropriation of $5,000,000 so that the State Highway Department can match more state funds for federal aid in road construction. The department will receive approximately $50,000,000 from automobile weight and gasoline taxes, of which $26,000,000 will be returned to the counties. In its original form the measure would have appropriated $11,000,000 from sales tax receipts—half going to county road commissioners and the remainder going to the state. The $5,000,000 bill is a substitute, leaving the county road commissioners to row their boat alone.

Libraries, Snow Removal

Also favored by home districts are the following measures which threaten to throw the budget out of balance unless new taxes are imposed:

Library state aid of $1,250,000. Likely to pass.

Eradication of coyotes, $75,000.

Teachers' retirement fund, $530,000.

Snow removal in Upper Peninsula, $600,000.

Elimination of Bangs' disease in cattle, $250,000.

For old age pensions, now available to persons at 65 instead of 70, the sum of $10,000,000 has been voted instead of $4,000,000 heretofore.

The philosophical attitude of Rep. M. Clyde Stout (D), chairman of the ways and means committee, tells the story of what you may expect: "Increased governmental activity means increased cost. . . . A boost in expenditures cannot be avoided."

Income Tax Unlikely

Spending tax money is one thing. Imposing new taxes is a horse of a different color.

A movement for a state income tax had a short life several days ago after rural legislators had tentatively apaproved a bill exempting from taxation the first $2,000 of valuation on every home. This relief to home owners would have deprived governments of $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 annually and would have made necessary the adoption of a new tax raising plan—probably n state income tax.

Urbnn representatives, led by able Rep. John Hamilton (D), of Detroit, went into action and the bill was stopped, but only after Democrats retired to hold a caucus and to hear doleful warnings of a disastrous deficit.

Crippling the Courts

Before the State Senate this week is the much discussed and muchnmended labor relations bill . . . the so-called "Little Wagner Act" for Michigan.

The original measure, as endorsed by the governor, was later revised materially at the insistence of AFL and CIO lesders so that the financial records of labor organizations would not be open to inspection of the state labor board, so that the representatives for collective bargaining may he chosen without an election, so that minority employes shall not have the right to present grievances to their employers, and so that the employer cannot obtain temporary legal relief through appeal to the court for a restraining order while the negotiations are pending.

Even Inbor-minded Representative Hamilton, of Detroit, declnred that the present bill, as revised and as passed by the House, was poorly drawn and very bad in spots. "If this is the governor's baby, then let him rock it," was Hsmilton's snappy retort.

Under the substitute labor relations bill an employer would have to prove that he has made every reasonable effort to settle the dispute by negotiation before he could go into court for relief. Practically, this provision would cripple the courts in granting relief for property rights against threatened irreparable injury.

It is pointed out that the anti-injunction clause goes even beyond the federal Norris-LaGuardia act which contains a provision for a court appeal in the above-stated emergency.

"Revolution"

According to Detroit commercial leaders, the recent automobile sit-down strikes have caused manufacturers to reconsider plans to open new plants in Michigan.

The so-called "revolution in Michigan," given wide publicity by national magazines, may react unfavorably to increase unemployment, it is pointed out, unless investors can be reassured that Michigan is still safe and sound for both labor and capital.

The answer will be written this month before adjournment at Lansing June 18 or 25.

BALLS AND STRIKES
By Dean Davenport

The practice round in the City Softball League opened last Tuesday evening, with the Kays and K. of P. teams meeting on the south side field. The K. P.s won 7 to 4 in a close battle all the way. Junior Supernaw pitched good ball for the wianers, with "Crip" McCann doing a nice job behind the plate. "Chick" Gallagher, on the mound for the Kays, shows promise of becoming a real softball pitcher. Although the Kays fielded exceptionally well, they were weak at the plate. Junior Zelley led the K. P. attack with a home run and a double—both hits coming with the bases loaded.

Thursday night the K. P.s took Ironton into camp with comparative esse, 5 to 3, using Bill and Junior Supernaw on the mound, with McCann catching. For Ironton, Boyer pitched and Thomson caught. In this game Boyer conaected for a homer with a man on base.

Friday the Board of Commerce made their initial appearance nnd the Kays handed them a 12 to 7 trimming, Gallagher pitchine fine ball, while the Board of Commerce used Harry Ladd on the mound with Bergman behind the plate. Poor support in the field proved to be the B. of C.'s downfall, errors producing five runs for the Kays. Although the B. of C. was not at their full strength, their heavy hitting was responsible for all their runs.

On Monday night the Board of Commerce and Knights of Pythias staged a rather hectic ball game with the B. of C. emerging the victor 14 to 11. Both teams were at a tension, due to the keen rivalry, and, as a result, each team made five errors, while getting only six safe blows apiece. Nineteen men reached base by the walking route; Bergman, pitching for the B. of C., walked seven men, while Junior Supernaw (for the K. P.) walked 12. The highlight of this game was a triple by G. Bergman in the fifth with the bases loaded, which gave the B. C. a lead they never relinquished. "Doc" Todd, star first sacker for the B. C., suffered a ruptured blood vessel in his leg, as a result of a collision at first base on a close play.

The schedule for the coming week brings the Ironton and Kay team together Tuesday, June 8; while on Thursday, June 10, Ironton will try their luck with the B. of C.; Friday night, June 11, the K. of P. team will tackle the Knys to try to keep their first place standing in the league; then next Monday night, June 14, the B. of C. will fight it out with the Kays.

The crowds that have been turning out for these twilight games indicate the "kick" people get out of softball and, from the interest shown, we believe that we will have a lighted field in the near future, so thnt one and all may enjoy this type of recreation.

Title Applications Reach Year's High

High production records in the automobile manufacturing business are reflected in the Department of State, where titles for new cars, and transfers of titles, are issued.

Titles for new cars, and title transfers involved in "trade-ins" as well as in outright used car purchases, are being mailed back to car owners at the rate of about 5,700 daily, figures submitted to Leon D. Case, secretary of state, show.

The number of titles and title transfers mailed out on application of car owners reached a record for 1937 on June 3, with the figure of 9,762 reached. The previous high mark for the year was scored May 28 when 9,007 titles and transfers were mailed out from Lansing.

Extra help has been employed by Case in order that increasing demands of the motoring public may be met.

Big Prairie Farmer-WLS Community Talent Show to Be Staged

Who hasn't listened to the Prairie Farmer-WLS National Broadcast program which has "packed them in" at the Eighth Street Theater in Chicago for the past four years? Who hasn't enjoyed the radio broadcast and selected their favorite characters? On July 1, 2 and 3, the WLS Community Home Talent Show will be held in the Boyne City gymnasium at 8 o'clock.

This will be the most enjoyable occasion of the entire year for those fans who have secured so much interest in listening to their favorite characters over WLS. This is the first time that a Home Talent WLS Show has been staged in the county, including all of the parts and numbers regularly put on the air. The Charlevoix county 4-H clubs are sponsoring this gigantic show and urge all talent in the county to try out for special parts and characters. This show will give all local artists a chance to show their ability in impersonating their favorite WLS and other radio stars, as well as to exhibit their talent in many new and originol acts. Old time square dancing and community singing also will be special features.

A cordial invitotion is extended to all community talent artists throughout Charlevoix county and all surrounding cities and towns to be present at these tryouts or auditions. These try outs will be conducted by Miss Mary O'Hara, a skilled director from Prairie Farmer-WLS Community Service Department. These try outs will be held at the Boyne City gymnasium at 7 p. m., on June 24 and 25.

We want guitar players, banjo players, accordion players, old time fiddlers, harmonica players, and specialists on any other musical instruments, singers, yodelers, and orchestras; instrumental or singing quartettes, orchestras of the "good old mountain music type," duets, trios, or soloists and any other artists who may be able to do any stunts of any kind in the line of music. Three or four good square dance sets are wanted and some good, high-grade classical numbers are also desired.

Also several good impersonators will be given an opportunity to impersonate their favorite radio stars including Uncle Ezra, Lulu Belle, Oley Yonson, George Goebel, Henry Hornsbuckle, The Lazy Farmer, Joe Kelley, Jack Holden, The Prairie Ramblers, Hoosier Hot Shots, Patsy Montana, Red Foley, Skyland Scotty, Arkie and many others.

Remember the "Tryout" dates, June 24 and 25, i nthe Boyne City gymnasium at 7 p. m.

Charlevoix County Guernsey Breeders Reorganize

A very important meeting of the Guernsey breeders was held Saturdny night, May 29, in the East Jordan community rooms. It is highly gratifying to note the interest and enthusiasm shown by the Guernsey breeders in the county. Without any dissenting votes it was decided to reorganize and start in bigger and better than ever.

The election of officers resulted in A. M. Murphy, East Jordan, being elected president; Oakley Saunders, Charlevoix, vice-president; Clyde Clute, Boyne City, secretary and treasurer; Jomes Nice, East Jordan, Ray Loomis, Eost Jordan, and Carlton Smith, Charlevoix, as three new directors. At a later meeting the boord of directors will be increased by two or three members.

The big project will be the Guernsey exhibit to be held in connection with the county fair. All dairymen present were anxious to put the exhibit on a different basis. Instead of paying out all of the premiums to the top two or three animals, it was voted to give the same premium money to each individual in the class, which will give much better distribution to the exhibitors. It is hoped that a much greater number of exhibitors will be interested than any previous year. To recognize the animals with cow test records back of them and purebred animals shown in the some closs with grades, that additional premium money should be granted as recognition to the breeders. A Guernsey Dny will be set aside during fair week and will be featured by a picnic dinner at uoon and by an appropriate program.

Another meeting will be held in the very near fnture and it is expected that an outside speaker will be present to make the meeting more worth while to the dairymen. The membership fee is only 25 cents. This is low enough so that every breeder of Guernsey eattle should be a member of the association.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT

The Necessity of Milk Control

Milk that is reasonably safe, elean and protected from contamination is health insurance, but unless milk is produced, handled and distributed under sanitary conditions it can be the exact opposite of a health giving food. The physical and sanitary conditions of other foods arc more readily visible to the consumer than that of milk. Unfortunately some of the general public are not aware of the fact that milk can be a serious health menace. The relationship of a reliable milk supply to health makes it imperative that the public be acquainted with the subject. Before high standards for milk control can be built up, public realization and public demands for such a service must be made.

Milk produced and handled where insonitary conditions exist not only absorbs bad odors nnd flavors, but will be laden with dirt and small organisms or bacteria. The lactic acid bacilli nenrly always present in milk, are beneficial to health and the processing or monufacturing of dairy products; but such bacteria as are associated with dirt, unclean equipment and careless methods of handling soon endonger the use of milk as n food. Milk is not only a good food for humon beings; it is a very good medlum for bacterial growth. Rapid multiplication of bacteria ensues if the conditions are fovorable, particularly warm temperatures. The injurious type of bocteria introduced into milk from dirt or filth, often causes such serious intestinal disturbances as enteritis.

Many bacteria which are found in milk are of no consequence and are hnrmless. However, milk coming from sick or diseased cows or handled by persons who are carriers of some disease bacteria offers a serious health menace. Then the milk is contaminated with bacteria of the disease producing variety and may bring about epidcmics of any one of several communicable diseases. Milk is only one of many possible sources of infection that couse some of our epidemics; yet these milk-borne disease outbreaks occuf too often throughout the country.

There are two types of milk-borne diseases: (1) The specific diseases of enttle that arc communicable to man through milk. The best known of these are bovine tuberculosis, septic sore throat, scarlet fever, and undulant fever. (2) Human diseases which may gain entrance to and be transmitted by milk are typhoid fever, scarlet fever, diphtheria, and others less prevnlent.

These diseascs can be prevented to a large extent by proper supervision of the dairy industry. The federal government is cooperating with the states to help eliminate diseased cattle from our dairy herds, thus reducing the hazords from the first group. Rigid control of the sanitary conditions at dairy farms and milk plants help reduce the ravages from the second group. Proper pasteurization of the milk supply gives additional protection by further reducing milk-borne diseases. All pathogenie bacteria are killed by heating to 142 degrees F. for 30 minutes, thus increasing the safety factor of milk without altering its good qualities.

The 1935 report of the U. S. Public Health Scrvice shows 43 milk-borne disease outbreaks throughout the United States. There were, for the ten-year period from 1926 to 1935, inclusive, 435 milk-borne epidemics reported, involving 17,501 cases and resulting in 512 deaths.

The recurring milk-borne diseases, with their nnnual total of sickness, deaths, and economie loss should be considered in the light of impressive evidence that milk control officials, milk distributors and dairymen have a tremendous responsibllity in securing for the eonsuming public a elean and safe milk. Many states and cities are endeavoring to provide a reasonably safe product of the highest quality and many dairymcn are cooperating with this program. However, the best milk delivered to the home ean beeome unsafe by careless storage and handling. Milk should be kept in clean surroundings, covered and at a temperature of 50 degrees F. or below at all times.

Many of the better dalrymen never need supervision as they always endeavor to proceed along the lines of taking all known precautions and in pursuing methods of produeing milk that will satisfy and protect their customers. But the human element enters the milk business as in all others, and personal integrity cannot be taken for granted. Pressure has to be applied to those whose personal habits are of such nature they do not produce the desired results. Milk is safe only when it is produced and distributed under conditions, which meet certain high standards of cleanliness, sanitation and health.

BETTER HUNTING DUE IN MICHIGAN

Biological Observers Counted Heavy Flight Ducks, Geese Over Michigao

No official estimato is availablo of the number of birds native to Michigan in season, yet reports from Michigan hunters and anglers have been encouraging, it is announced by zoology staff members ut Michigan State College and by Hurry D. Ruhl, head of the State Conservution Department.

Nearly 9,500,000 ducks and geese including mallard, pintail, scaup und black ducks, baldpate, snow and Canadian geese were seen by United States biological survey observers. They estimate that this is about a fourth of the continent's waterfowl. This is the second year that there has been an increase in the number of birds wintering in the United States over the previous year. Until last year there had been a continued depletion.

Due to mid-winter conditions, there are few ducks or geese wintering in Michigan, so the only effort in this state was to take a count in the southeastern and southwestern sections of this state. An army plane from Selfridge Field was used for that purpose in this state. Survey observers in other states used automobiles, airplanes, blimps, autogyros, powerboats and even snowshoes in the recently completed inventory.

The upward trend in bird population is attributed to new and more strict hunting regulations, the federal refuge system, and the increasing support of the restorution progrum by sportsmen.

The survey's report, however, emphasized the fact thnt the waterfowl had not yet fully recovered, and issued this warning: "These gratifying gains should not leud sportsmen to believe that waterfowl have fully recovered. The last two mid-winter inventories show only that the birds are beginning to respond to better treatment."

TANKER BOYD IS SALVAGED BY DETOUR MEN

Removed from Scene of New Year's Day Tragedy Last Week

The oil tanker J. Orwuld Boyd nnd the remnant of its cargo of 900,000 gallons of high test gasoline have been towed to Detour at the mouth of St. Mary's River after completion of successful salvage operations started ten days ago by William and Albert McLeod, of Detour, und Joseph Beatty, a Detour diver.

It is expected the oil will be salvaged and the ship sold for scrup iron. The Boyd was brought to Detour by the gas boat Rambler and the tug Alice S. Pumps were placed uboard the Boyd and the ship was refloated.

The Boyd went aground on Simmons Reef, 24 miles west of St. Ignace, November 8, 1936. The grounding brought a series of tragic events claiming the lives of six men.

Peter Jensen, of Gurden Island, was severely burned, while salvaging gas from the ship late in November. On Junuary 1, 1937, five men were killed when the salvage boat Marold II blew up alongside the Boyd. Part of the Marold hull was hurled on top of the Boyd.

During the gasoline rush in February when hundreds of thousands of gallons of gasoline were siphoned from the Boyd and transported over ice to the Upper Peninsula, Grant Brooks, of Cedarville, drowned when his gasoline luden truck went through the Ice. A companion, George Hamel, clambered to safety.

4TH CELEBRATION AT EAST JORDAN

50TH ANNIVERSARY OBSERVANCE IN CONNECTION

Extensive Program Being Arranged for Tri-City Independence Day in County

In memory of the 50th anniversary of its incorporation as n village, East Jordan is staging a Semi-Centennial Homecoming celebration this July 3, 4 and 5. The homecoming celebration is being held in conjunction with the regular Charlevoix county Fourth of July fete which will also be held there.

East Jordan became a village in 1887. At that time mills were beginning to dot the shores of Pine Luke (now Lake Charlovoix) and soon the ring of the woodsmen's uxes and the whine of the saws in the mills told the story that East Jordan was rapidly developing into a commercial lumber center. Daily, lnrge schooners were seen coming and going from Chicngo, Milwaukee, Cleveland, Buffalo and other large cities along the Great Lakes, with their cargoes of lumber. As times progressed, new industries came into town and, in 1911, with East Jordnn bonsting a population of 3,000 people, the present city form of government was adopted.

This year's celebration is expected to be the finest ever staged in the county, even eclipsing the "Welcome Home Day" celebration of June 3, 1919, at which time East Jordan officially greeted the Charlevoix county boys who had just returned from overseas.

All types of entertainment will be provided this year. Among those already lined up are various street and water sports, boxing, both outboard and speed boat races, baseball games, horseshoe pitching, side shows, fireworks, bnnd music, and dancing. Silver loving cups will be presented to the winners in the boat races.

Various show windows in town will be filled with pictures showing the development of East Jordan from the time West Side was known as "South Arm" down to the present day.

HIGHWAY FUND IS GIVEN APPROVAL

FIVE MILLION APPROPRIATION VOTED BY LEGISLATURE

Approval of Gov. Murphy Awaited to Assure Funds to Match Federal Allotments to State

A bill appropriating $5,000,000 a year to the State Highway Department for new construction is now ready for Governor Murphy's signature.

The bill, which originated in the Senate, was passed by the House last week by an overwhelming vote of 88 to 7. The measure drew heavy nonpartisan support on its journey through the Legislature. Only 12 members of the two houses voted against it.

Murray D. Van Wagoner, state highway commissioner, is depending upon the nppropriation to avoid a road-building holiduy. The funds are needed, he points out, to match federal aid money and to permit some construction on state trunklines that are not located on the federnl aid highway system.

The federal government has appropriated approximately $4,600,000 for Michigan highways on a matched-fund basis. In addition, it has made a direct grant of $1,600,000 available for a grade separation program. The state, however, must furnish the right-of-way and ubuttal damages for this program, a requirement which virtually amounts to matching.

In his plea for construction funds, the commissioner has emphasized the changed federal policy with respect to highway grants. Out of $48,000,000 worth of highway construction in Michigan the last four yenrs, $40,000,000 has been financed with federal funds. "That policy has now changed," he said, "so that we must match federnl money dollar for dollar."

The commissioner has also pointed out that existing state highway revenues are largely ohligated with npproximntely three-fifths of the money returned directly to the counties. Other fixed ohligations such as maintennnce, sinking fund requirements, and the Detroit street widening and Grand Trunk relocation contract statutes have left little out of the gas tax for new construction.

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Dizzy and agog after a hectic labor "holiday" that paralyzed the state capitol city and a power strike that put an industrial center into inky idle darkness, Michigan employers and employes alike are wondering this week what the State Legislature is going to do.

Adjournment will be midnight Friday, June 25—or until solons finish their tasks while the clocks are turned back.

The labor relations bill, drastically revised by the House, is before the upper chamber. While organized labor has come out in opposition to a clause giving the governor power to cope with "extraordinary situations," like tho Saginaw power shutdown, employers are pointing out that the revised bill would permit unauthorized strikes as well as authorized strikes without notico and without requirement of reasonable efforts at mediation.

Gone from the governor's original bill were such anti-strike features as the clause forbidding employes "to declare or engage in any concorted activity in the nature of a strike in relation to any demand, grievance, or other matter, (1) without first having exhausted every method of

DAIRY IMPROVEMENT ASS'N REPORT

George Meggison's purebred Jerseys led in production last month among the medium-sized herds in Northwest Michigan Dairy Herd Improvement Association. Average per cow was 775 pounds milk and 44.2 pounds butterfat.

Average production for all herds on test was 647 pounds milk and 27.5 pounds fat. Thirty-two cows produced over 50 pounds butterfat apiece. Forty-five cows, one out of every eight) were dry.

Richard Paddock has two daughters of Le Sultan 358396, fresh in April, that produced 48.7 pounds and 47.4 pounds butterfat, respectively, in May. This is about equal to what their dams are making as mature cows, which means they will be better than their dams later on.

Information from Michigan State College on alfalfa hay shows some interesting facts. Alfalfa in the pre-bud stage is worth 71 per cent as much as cornmeal (dry basis), 60 per cent as much in the bud stage, 50 per cent when in early bloom, and as little as 39 per cent later on. Early cutting gives lower yields, but much higher quality hay, which in turn gets higher milk production from the cows.

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Ps. 33:6): "By the word of the Lord were the heavens made; and all the host of them by the breath of his mouth."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science text-book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 295): "God creates and governs the universe, including man. How a Tiger Kicked Himself Home!

"JO-JO" WHITE Scores Himself from Second

"JO-JO" WHITE is a headache to opposing teams whenever he's on base because he usually delivers top performance in the pinch. Playing against Boston with a team mate on second the "Tigah Man" hit a single.

THE RUNNER scored but two men went out, advancing "Jo-Jo" to second. With two out, White broke for third. The catcher's throw beat him but "Jo-Jo" hurled himself at the bag.

THE BALL popped out of the infielder's hands. White sprinted home. Again the throw beat him, but the "Tigah Man" somehow disengaged the ball from the catcher's hand. "Jo-Jo" had literally "kicked himself home".

"Dick? Oh, yes! He's coming in with the bags."

"And are you going to stay in Clippersville?"

"Are we—? Oh, heavens, no!" Ariel said expressively.

"But are you happy, darling?"

"Nothing to cable home about, collect," Ariel answered drily. Something seemed to shrivel in Gail's heart at the tone.

"Can we announce your marriage now, Ariel?"

Instead of answering Ariel fastened bright curious eyes on her sister.

"Do you mean to say that nobody's ever suspected?"

"Nobody."

"Oh, come now, Gail!"

"Well, it surprised me. Of course I told Lily. But she never told even her mother. And people have all taken it for granted that you were down in Los Angeles with Aunt Annie Ralston's family. Anyway, if anyone has ever connected your name with Dick Stebbins' I never heard it. His mother never did. Or if she did she was as mum as I was about it."

"I've often wondered," Ariel said, listening attentively. "Nat," she added, with her own little favorite air of arrogance—"not that it made any difference to me! But I've often wondered what the old ladies in town were thinking about it."

There was a moment's silence, for Gail sensed something unexpressed in her sister's tone and waited, puzzled, for an explanation.

"I'm terribly glad—" Ariel began hesitatingly. "Gail!" she added, suddenly, on a more definite note. "I've got to tell you something—it's going to surprise you." She fell silent.

"You must have known that there was something funny about all this?" she interrupted the pause to ask irrelevantly.

There was a sound behind Gail at the kitchen doorway. She turned and faced Dick Stebbins.

Bigger, browner, with more of that sweet, homely, kindly air than ever. Some quality, reliable, trustworthy, restful, seemed to emanate from him; there was infinite strength for Gail in the mere touch of his big hand. He kissed her, very simply, and looked beyond her to Ariel. Gail, blue-aproned, tawny of hair, her thick eyebrows drawn together questioningly, her sapphire eyes and the disciplined sweet wide mouth accenting her feeling of bewilderment and non-comprehension, sent her glance from one face to the other.

"Had your talk?" Dick asked, and the remembered voice sent waves of thrilling weakness and joy and pain through Gail's whole being.

"Not yet," Ariel said. "Tell her. Tell her the truth, Dick."

Dick had brought two rain-spattered suitcases into the kitchen. Now Ariel glanced from them to her sister's face.

"First," she said, "you can put me up, Gail?"

"Put you up!" Gail echoed, in an almost shocked tone. "But, darling, this is home! Papa's old room is the guest room, anyway. You and Dick can have the guest room all to yourselves."

"I'd rather double up with you," Ariel said, without embarrassment, but with an appealing little touch of shyness.

"Well—" Gail colored to her forehead, laughing again, and sending Dick an apologetic glance. "If you don't mind?" she said. "Of course we have to talk all night."

"There's a man in town I have to see, anyway," Dick answered immediately.

"But not tonight!"

"Well, I thought I'd go down to the Empire and telephone him, anyway. Willoughby—he's the attorney for the ship people," Dick explained.

"Oh, yes, I know him. Mrs. Cantar's father. But he's quite sick, Dick—she was telling me yesterday in the library. He's in the hospital."

"I know he is. But you see," Dick persisted uncomfortably, with a red face, "it'll be better for me to be at the hotel, because then if he gets better—we've been working on this case together—"

"But, my dear," Gail said in her big sisterly tone, "you can't go to the Empire, and leave Ariel here! You know what Clippersville is; there'd be any amount of talk! What does the illness of a casual stranger like Mr. Willoughby matter?"

There was a pause. Then Ariel, balanced on the edge of the kitchen table in the old fashion, said explanatorily, "Mr. Willoughby and Dick have been working on this case together. And if he goes to London, Dick'll probably go, too!"

"But tell me—before the others come in—before anything else," Gail said, "you're going to announce your marriage now, aren't you?" Something odd in their silence bewildered her, and she turned sharply to Ariel. "Aren't you going to announce it even now?" she demanded.

"Immediately," Ariel agreed briefly.

"Well, then! Surely Dick ought to stay here!" Gail argued. Her keen look moved from face to face. "There isn't any trouble?" she asked quickly.

"No, dear, there's no trouble," Dick said reassuringly. "You have your talk and I'll be back. Of course I want to see Phil. You don't know what it is to get home. I can't wait to start talking."

When the kitchen door was shut and the car in the side yard had chugged away, Gail turned toward Ariel. "What's—queer?" she asked.

"Nothing's queer," Ariel said in her proud, faintly hoarse voice. "But your cramming me and Dick into one room was rather funny," she said slowly, airily, "because we aren't married, not the way you think—not any more. We never cared for each other—that way."

"You and Dick Stebbins aren't married!"

"I said we weren't, Gail."

"Then—then—" Gail stopped short, and there was utter silence in the kitchen. "Divorced," she said. "Then who's been supporting you all these years, Ariel?" she demanded seizing at random the first of a hundred questions.

"Dick," the other girl said airily.

Gail's honest face reddened; she spoke sharply.

"What are you talking about!"

"Oh, not what you think, and what all Clippersville would gladly think!" Ariel answered. "He never put a finger tip on me," she said proudly. "He despises me, I think. Not—not that I care!"

"Tell me, dear," Gail said patiently.

Ariel softened suddenly. She spoke coldly, with a sort of proud reluctance and on a long sigh.

"What you never knew, Gail, and Edo never knew was that I had fallen in love with Van Murchison!"

"You mean—!"

"Yes. While you and he were going about together. I couldn't help it; in fact I didn't know it," Ariel confessed dispassionately, her hazel eyes narrowed. "I just went nutty—gaga—about him!" she said.

"Did he know it?"

"Wait." Ariel paused. "Do you remember a Saturday," she began again

"You Have Your Talk," He Said, "And I'll Be Back."

suddenly—"a Saturday when you were going over to Los Gatos with Van, and you'd sort of—sort of maneuvered to get away from the library?"

Remember it! How often, with shame and regret, Gail had remembered that old undignified juggling with business and home obligations, just to get free for those exciting, unsatisfying week-ends with Van!

"Yes, I remember. It was hot. And you came down to the car and said good-by to us."

"Well, while you were in the house he kissed me," Ariel said.

The indignant color blazed in Gail's face.

"He didn't!"

"Oh, indeed he did." Ariel reflected for a second, and then added, "I made him."

"Oh, darling, darling, if I'd only known! For I was getting so tired of the whole thing then. You could have had him! You could have gone to Los Gatos—"

"Well, anyway," Ariel said, when Gail paused, "he said to me, 'What chance Del Monte tonight? Some of the fellows and I are going over to Del Monte late, for the golf.' I said there was no chance at all, and you came out with your coat."

"I remember! I went back for my coat."

"Well. Anyway, it was very hot and stupid, and Dorothy Camp, Larry, and Buddy Raisch came 'round and asked me to go over to somebody's yacht in Santa Cruz. So I left a note for Ede, and went off with them.

"Do you remember," she went on, thinking it out, "that after we'd had lunch we passed a sign that said 'Del Monte 38 Miles,' and the boys teased us to go down there for dinner and dance? I thought of Van then—I knew he'd be there.

"And such a funny feeling came over me, Gail. It was just as if—I knew. It was just as if I knew that if we went to Monterey all the rest would happen.

"Well, we went down there, and we got rooms in a small hotel in Monterey. Buddy and Larry drank too much, and that made us mad, and we didn't quite know what to do. But about ten o'clock, when we were all over at Del Monte, I left the others and went to the desk and asked if Mr. Van Murchison was there. The man said yes, that he had just registered.

"I telephoned upstairs to his room, and said, 'Well, I'm here.'

"He was awfully nice, and said he was coming down to dance. But when he came down Buddy was acting so badly that I was terribly embarrassed, and Dot and Larry had disappeared. Van was wonderful. He said I must go to the hotel and lock my door, and go straight home the next day, and give persons like Buddy and Larry a wide berth in future."

She was silent awhile. "I really loved him." She added the words thoughtfully, as if thinking aloud.

"He said he would take me to Monterey, Gail, only a mile away. But first we went out past the Presidio to Cypress Point, and we parked the car and went down to the shore.

"Van told me he loved me, and I said that I loved him, and we were engaged. There's—there's no other excuse for it, Gail. . . .

"Except," she said, in a dead silence, "that we'd both been drinking—not too much, but enough to make everything seem unreal and—oh, I don't know—unimportant. If I thought at all—if I thought at all, I thought that nothing mattered! Anything was better than being an old maid, like the Foster girls.

"You and Edith never knew that, did you?"

"Knew it!" Gail said, on a breath of agony.

"Yes. But—but I wasn't eighteen!" Ariel said, in her hoarse, appealing voice.

"You weren't eighteen," Gail said heavily, swallowing with a stiff throat, "but you knew better than that."

The other girl seemed to wilt suddenly. She looked away.

"Oh, yes, I knew better than that. A girl is born knowing better than that!" she conceded dully.

"And you despise Lily!" Gail muttered, trembling.

The resentful color stung in Ariel's face.

"She's common," she said quickly.

"But she didn't do what you did!" Gail wanted to say. No use. No use. She was silent.

"I'm sorry!" Ariel said then impatiently, in the tone she always used when it was too late. "I'm not proud of myself! But—but it happens all the time," she added resentfully, "and girls get away with it."

"Ariel! Don't talk that way," Gail commanded, with an angry flash of blue eyes.

"It's true," Ariel murmured, subdued.

"You didn't," Gail began, thinking—"you didn't marry Dick Stebbins that Christmas, not telling him?"

"No," Ariel said, with an indignant look.

"He knew?"

"Everything!"

"And loved you in spite of it?"

"He got me out of it," Ariel said.

"And did you stop eating for Van afterward?"

"You don't understand," Ariel said. "Dick and I never were married. We aren't married now! For nearly three years I've been married to Van. That's the marriage we're going to announce."

Gail stared at her, stricken dumb.

"You and Van Murchison married!"

"Yes—in Los Angeles. The February after I went away."

"But then, Ariel—Ariel, why did you run away with Dick! Did you make him think you cared for him? He wrote Phil, after all. He said that you were going to get a license—you had gotten a license."

"We got a license, yes. But you'll have to let me tell it the way it happened, Gail.

"Van took me back to the Monterey hotel that night," she resumed, finding her words slowly. "And he kissed me good-by, and said that he would always love me, and that I belonged to him. I believed him. I was all excited, but not ashamed—not one bit unhappy, Gail. I thought that there was something heroic about it.

"Dot didn't come in until after I did, and of course I didn't give her any hint. But we talked things over, and decided that we'd get up early the next day and give the boys the slip. We were wild at them!

"The next morning, while Dot and I were figuring it out how we'd get home, and we'd gone over to the bus to see what time it would leave, Buddy and Larry found us. They said that they were sorry and asked us to forgive them, and said they'd drive us home quietly and the whole thing would blow over.

"I was—well, of course I hadn't slept all night, but it was a sort of pleasant excitement, too; I felt—sort of swimming, in emotion, you know, and I said I'd like to watch the Pebble Beach golf for a little while, so we went there. Van was there, looking stunning of course, and terribly sweet; and we had a few words together.

"I wanted to get home and get rested, and have things go back to normal. So we started at about twelve, and then—then of course the accident came. Dorothy had left us, and I was driving.

"I thought Van would come to me the minute he heard. But he didn't. And then when he did show up in court he didn't say anything about an engagement.

"Once, when I said something, he said his stepfather would cut him off without a cent if he ever dreamed of it! He said that the main thing was to keep out of jail."

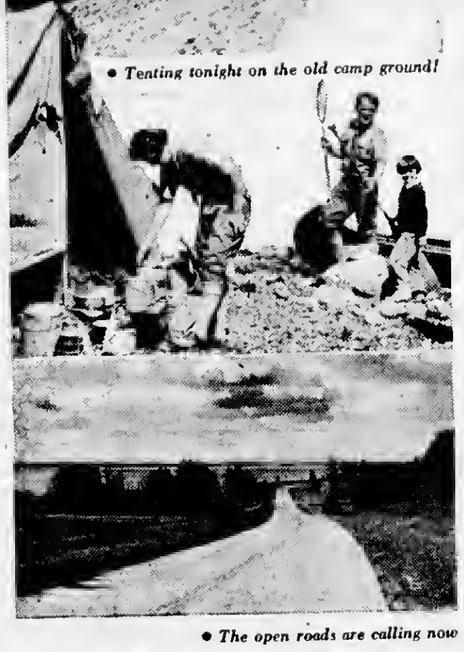
How Old Can We Live to Be?

An article in The American Weekly, with the June 20 issue of The Detroit Sunday Times, points out that bald people never live to be 100; that old age is creeping up when you cannot hear keys rattle . . . and explains other things that sidetrack us prematurely if we start out with a through ticket to the century mark.

No government knows enough to run any industry, and neither do the financiers.—Henry Ford.



• Tenting tonight on the old camp ground!

• The open roads are calling now

THE superb highways of Michigan are something more than efficient arteries of traffic. In the hands of the State Highway Department they have become truly roads of romance . . . pleasantly winding trails that add tremendously to Michigan's prestige as a great vacation State.

A major phase of the Department's work is the development of highways along our Great Lakes coast-line to give motorists the finest views of lake, shore and forest. Another phase is dedicated to roadside beauty and convenience . . . the care of trees, landscape projects, rustic drives, parking areas, springs, pools and cascades.

Resident or visitor, we can all gratefully salute a Highway Department that has made motor touring in Michigan a refreshing adventure in convenience and scenic delight.

At a pretty home wedding solemnized at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Miss Alice Marie Partridge, daughter of Mrs. Frank Partridge, was united in marriage to Peter Skeberdis, Jr., of Newark, N. J., at the Partridge residence on Park avenue.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Edward S. Doan, of Petoskey. The bride was given away by her grandfather, Capt. Michael Egle, of Michigan City, Ind. The couple were attended by the bride's sister, Dorothy, and Fred Doepker, the latter of Alma. Miss Vera Belding played the wedding march.

voluntary agreemeat and negotiation provided by this act, and then giving ..... days written notice to the employer and the hoard of the demand, grievance, or other matter in dispute, or (2) during a period not exeecding ..... days while the matter in dispute is pending before the board or a special board of medintion as herein provided for."

U. S. Mediation Act

Employes would have retained the right to strike, but this privilege would have been available only after they had made reasonable efforts to mediate differences with the management.

In 1934 the Roosevelt administration created by act of Congress a Nationai Mediation Board for the railrond industry. The railrond labor act, under which the board functions, requires advance notice of an employes' strike, giving the mediation board a limited period of time in which to settle the disagreement. Reault: No railroad waikouts—no lost wages.

At Washington cnme a demand by Senator Royal Copeland, New York Democrat, that the Senate conduct a sweeping investigation of labor troubles and weigh carefully the merits of the railroad mediation plan.

Folly of Hasty Action

Illustration of how temper can cause an unneeessary labor strike was seen in the CIO power shutdown at Saginaw. John Lewis, CIO chieftain, declared that the whole thing was a "mistake." Governor Murphy's caim peaceful disposition was even ruffled slightly, declaring "such a strike shouid never have been called."

Even the Lansing CIO "holiday" earlier in the week brought an admission from Homer Martin, UAW leader, that it, too, was a "mistake."

The Lewis and Martin statements were interpreted as a tacit confession that the CIO had overplayed its cards at Lansing and Saginaw with respect to publiic opinion.

In the meanwhile, other strike ciouds are gathering in industrial centers in Michigan. More strikes appear to be inevitable.

From Governor Murphy came this eomment, "The working people have been generally right in asserting their rights. Some times they have overstepped. But I have learned that they can be led into doing the right thing, without suppressing their civil liberties or using force. . . . The labor movement is going in the direction of responsibility on the part of labor, employes and government."

Taxes Again

Under terms of nn unemployment compensntion passed by the Sennte and sent to the House, employers of less than eight persons would be exempted from a Michigan tax. The present law grants $6,000 exemption to all employers. The Senate set-up conforms with the federnl requirement.

Of tax interest nlso wns a declaration by Governor Murphy that the Legislature should keep within the $104,000,000 budget nnd pare down appropriations tnht threaten a $20,000,000 deficit unless additional taxes are imposed.

Senator George McCnllum suggested a straight income tax with no exceptions as a constitutional way to raise more money that the state apparently is going to spend.

Civil Service

At one time proclaimed as the "A-I" reform measure of the administration, the civil service bill, passed by the Senate, was due for action in the House this week. The bill would "blanket in" all present state employes and would give department heads the right to choose from three candidates, one to fill a future vacancy. Governor Murphy gave his blessing.

State employes — and there are about 13,000 of them—would have been excluded from a hour-limit bill for women and minnrs that was widely amended in the Senate and was finally voted down. The 48-hour week proposal wound up with these exclusions: Restaurants, hotels, bathhouses, stores with less than ten employes, farms, dairy industries, and persons earning $35 a week or more.

One Week More

One more week remains before the weary Legislature, in session nearly six months, votes to adjourn sine die.

Organized pressure graups, represented by well-functioning lobbyists, are frantically at work day and night hurrying pet measures towards enactment nnd smothering inimical ones in committees. It is a time when bad legislation is slipped through; good bills nre forgotten.

Safe and Sane DRIVING

BY THE NATIONAL SAFETY COUNCIL
and Michigan State Safety Council

DO YOU BELIEVE IN SIGNS?

You might easily decide that many drivers cannot read the English language if you watch busy traffic for a while—and that others are color blind.

But traffic signs can be very helpful to any car driver. That, in fact, is just what the multitude of signs and signals on our streets and highways have been placed there for—to help motorists prevent accidents.

Consider for a moment what a chaotic condition every congested business intersection would be in if it were not for the clever "STOP-GO" light with its red-yellow-green signals. And the plain "STOP" sign at the boulevard is there to help you pass safely.

You drive out into the country, and here is a sign that says "S-CURVE" or maybe "SHARP CURVE AHEAD." You slow down with confidence in your knowledge of how to take the turns safely. And yonder is another friendly sign, "RAILROAD CROSSING."

It is true that sometimes we think there are too many signs scattered about. But if we are tempted to disregard one now and then, let us remember that the sole purpose of these signs is to help us drive with safety.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS
By Ann Page

If the two day plan does not work, plan meals that use quickly cooked, easy to prepare foods, featuring salads and fruit if the budget permits. A good rule to keep in mind, however, is never to serve a meal without one hot dish, whether it be soup, beverage, main dish or dessert. It will help keep away summer indigestion and lagging appetites.

There has been but little change in the average prices of foods during the past week.

Seasonable foods make up the following menus.

Low Cost Dinner
Cold Meat Loaf Potato Salad
Pickled Beets
Bread and Butter
Steamed Dumplings with Crushed Berries
Tea or Coffee Milk

Medium Cost Dinner

Cold Roast Beef
Mixed Vegetable Salad

Soils Meeting Set for June

Throughout Michigan meetings are being scheduled and held, including a meeting in Charlevoix county, June 21, to discuss methods of conducting the 1938 federal agricultural conservation program, it is announced by County Agricultural Agent B. C. Mellencamp.

Members of the boards of directors of the county agricultural conservation associations, county agricultural agents and members of the county agricultural planning committees will attend. The meeting in this county, to be held in the post office assembly room, Boyne City, is open to the public.

One of the most important questions which the county group is to discuss, is the relative emphasis which should be given in next year's program to soil building practices and diversion payments to be made for diverting land from depleting to fertility conserving crops. Another question involves the relative importance of various factors on individual farms which might influence participation and payments.

Many farms in Michigan are relatively small in acreage. The county committees are to recommend whether such small farms should be encouraged to further reduce soil depleting crop acreages.

Farms including submarginal lands where crop production is inefficient and wasteful also are to be discussed in these county meetings. Reports are to be made out in duplicate and mailed to the state office in Lansing. A summarization will be made of Michigan conditions and recommendations through the office of Maurice A. Doan, state chairman of the Michigan Agricultural Conservation Committee.

Big Prairie Farmer-WLS Community Talent Show

This production sponsored by the Charlevoix county 4-H clubs will be given three nights, July 1, 2 and 3, in the Boyne City High school gymnasium. This show is patterned after the Prairie Farmer WLS National Broadcast Program as given in Chicago each Saturday night at the Eighth Street Theater, and is featured by impersonations of your favorite radio stars together with many new and original acts. The old time square dance and community singing are also special features of this great home talent show.

Tch try-outs for the various characters will be held in the Boyne City gymnasium the nights of June 24 and 25. It would be greatly appreciated if all folks interested in these tryouts get in touch with County Agent B. C. Mellencamp at once.

Recently several of our home talent folks were featured on the Alka-Seltzer program at the Eighth Street Theater, Prairie Farmer WLS National Broadcast, in impersonations of Lulu Belle, Uncle Ezra, The Arkansas Woodchopper, The Maple City Four, Verne, Lee and Mary, and the Hoosier Hot Shots. These people received a great deal of praise for their clever work, and letters were received from many different states complimenting them on their fine impersonations. These folks were selected from several thousand, who have taken part in our Prairie Farmer-WLS home talent shows, and in each community there are many others possessed of great talent who love these radio characters and enjoy the opportunity for self-expression in impersonating them.

You enjoy seeing your own talented sons and daughters and your neighbors and friends on the stage, when they do a clever piece of work and exhibit good showmanship. Under the skillful training of the Prairie Farmer-WLS Community Service directors, the whole cast learns to put the "pep," the spirit, and the sincerity into their acting which is so needed in homo talent productions.

In every community we find young men and women of genuine ability and also many of the older people who, if they had a chance, would be as good on the radio as many of the real stars themselves. And the enjoyment that comes to the audience is as great, and even more so, sometimes, than if they were listening to the original artists in person.

The talent of the community is developed in this manner, a larger and finer community spirit is fostered and everybody is made happier and better by a big, clean, wholesome home talent entertainment.

AT THE MOVIES

Tone Turns Tough Guy In New Film Role

Deserting dress suit roles for a "tough guy" characterization meant plenty of effort for Franchot Tone, with a half hour of bayonet practice under the guidance of a former British sergeant, an hour of military drill daily, and target practice on the side.

Tone, however, reveled in it. For a long time he has wanted to get away from "genteel" roles and try the other extreme, and his opportunity came when he was given an nce role in "They Gave Him a Gun," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's adaptation of Major William Joyce Cowan's novel of post-war America, which opens at the Palace Theatre, Sunday, June 20. W. S. Van Dyke II directed Tone, Spencer Tracy and Gladys George, who recently triumphed in "Vnliant Is the World for Carrie."

Night Club Set In Heavens, Adds Glamorous Touch

Imagine a night club set high in the heavens with the stars for a backdrop and the earth for a footstool. Just n bit brenth-tuking isn't it? This was the problem that the Hal Roach production department surmounted.

You will see the Club Tropicano in all its brilliant splendor in "Nobody's Baby," the new Hal Roach-M-G-M full length feature comedy co-starring Patsy Kelly and Lydn Roberti, and opening at the Palace Theatre, Thursday, June 24. The planet Saturn forms the central theme of the set. Against this background Rosina Lawrence and Don Alvarado dance to the throbbing strains of the haunting rhumba, "Quien Sabe, Who Knows," played by Jimmy Grier's orchestra.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT

The House Trailer and Its Sanitary Problems

With the highway holiday season getting into full swing, the question of whether the trailer is a blessing or a menace is furrowing the brows of municipal authorities. Local authorities, who must decide the degree of hospitality to be accorded the trailer tourist, are faced with some unprecedented headaches. Their perplexity is complicated with the sudden realization of public health authorities that the house trailer at its unregulated worst can offer a distinct hazard to community health. In most communities health ordinances are the only means of control over trailer camps.

In February the United States Conference of Mayors drew up a model ordinance for the regulation of trailer camps; its principal provisions probably will be followed by most of the communities which are certain to pass legislation.

Cooler heads in the trailer industry, realizing that the days of haphazard and care-free trailing are as outmoded as aviation barnstorming, concede that pending legislation is eminently reasonable. An estimated 250,000 trailers were on the road last season; this year's production is calculated at a possible 400,000 units by some 400 manufacturers.

What is the health hnzard posed by trailers? Primarily, it is a problem of sanitation. A trailer is not inherently any more insanitary that a house. The whole problem boils down to the fact that no one has yet devised satisfactory sanitary facilities which do not require running water or sewage connections.

A code of ethics for trailer-travelers forbids garbage to be chucked out of windows, leaving melon-rind and orange-peel trail on the highways. The great majority of trailer owners are substantial citizens with a well developed social consciousness, The Trailer Coach Manufacturers' Association eagerly cooperating with public health officials, considers sanitary facilities the one big problem to be solved by the industry.

Florida, particularly noted for its trailer hospitality, has camps which offer running water, sewage connections, electric connections, showers and comfort stations for its vehicular guests. Northern camps usually are less well equipped.

Sanitation regulations are the chief provisions of the model ordinance drafted by the Conference of Mayors. The ordinance provides:

1. Running water in trailer camps supplied from faucets only.

2. No drainage of waste water or material from sinks, baths or other plumbing fixtures in camp-cars or trailers shall be deposited upon the surface of the ground. All such fixtures, when in use, must be connected with the city sewer system or the drainage therefrom be disposed of in a manner satisfactory to the health department.

3. Removal of wheels from a trailer will convert it into a dwelling subject to the requirements of the local building code.

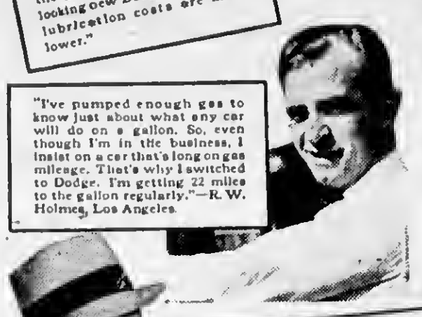
140,836 PEOPLE HAVE SWITCHED FROM OTHER CARS TO DODGE IN PAST YEAR!

Read What Some of Them Say—Learn How Dodge Saves Them Money!

"We'll save $70 before the year is out," says Gladys McGill Barron, of Chicago. "Using our old smaller car for comparison, we're getting 8 more miles to the gallon from our gorgeous-looking new Dodge. Our oil and lubrication costs are much lower."



"I've pumped enough gas to know just about what any car will do on a gallon. So, even though I'm in the business, I insist on a car that's long on gas mileage. That's why I switched to Dodge. I'm getting 22 miles to the gallon regularly."—R. W. Holmes, Los Angeles.

"You can't beat Dodge for economy," said Jimmie Huskleson, Valley Park, Mo. "I am getting 21 miles to the gallon of gas which is 7 miles more than my old car gave me. At the rate I drive, that will mean close to $100 saved by the time I have had this new Dodge a year."

In the past year, 140,836 people have switched from other cars to Dodge—these in addition to the thousands upon thousands of enthusiastic Dodge owners who say they will drive no other car but Dodge!

New Dodge owners, who previously thought they could not afford so big and fine a car as Dodge, say that Dodge savings on gas, oil, tires and upkeep will more than offset the difference in price and that Dodge will actually cost them less than the small, competitive-make cars they traded in!

Many another new Dodge owner, long accustomed to high-priced cars, reports more satisfaction from Dodge than from more expensive cars. Think of it... owner after owner reporting 18 to 24 miles per gallon of gas, saving up to 20% on oil, with additional savings on tires, lubrication and upkeep!

See and drive this 1937 Dodge. Take the free economy test—see right before your eyes how Dodge saves on gas! Learn how you, too, can switch to Dodge and save money!

PLAN LIGHTING SYSTEM AT CITY YACHT SLIPS

Will Install Spot-Lights As Aid in Landing for Boat Parties

Installation of a lighting system for the municipal yacht docks adjoining the city park at the foot of Antrim street has been turned over to the park committee of the city council and the superintendent of public utilities with power to act.

It is understood spot-lights, designed to throw cross beams on the slips will be installed, one at each end of the docks. This system eliminates the blinding effect of stationary lights and is universally used for this purpose.

BROOK TROUT SIXTY PER CENT OF STATE'S TOTAL

This Species, Thought Becoming Extinct, Continues to Hold Its Own

Brook trout, which authorities feared a few years ago were going the way of the Michigan grayling, still constitute more than 60 per cent of all the trout taken in Michigan's streams.

This has been learned through the creel-census card system used by the Department of Conservation during the past few years to get accurate information from fishermen on their catches during trout season.

BALLS AND STRIKES

By Deon Davenport

At the end of the second week of the practice round in the City Softball League, we find the Kays grabbing the lead with two wins and no defeats for the week's play. Tuesday of last week, Ironton bowed to the Knys 11 to 2, Gallagher pitching steadily, striking out seven men. Ironton, not having their full strength on the field, was very weak at the plate.

Tuesday night the Board of Commerce team took the field against Ironton and before the last man was out in the last inning the score stood 21 for B. of C., while the best Ironton could do was put across four runs. Although they got to Harry Ladd for 10 hits, Ironton could not bunch them to do any great damage. The B. of C. had a big seventh inning rally, batting once and one-half around, to produce 10 runs. A Thomson, for Ironton, hit a home run in the fourth with a man on, while Bergman hit one for the B. of C. in the first, with no one on.

The Kays and K. of P. tangled Friday night for the league leadership, with the Kays copping the decision by a 9 to 2 score. The K. P. team being late in arriving on schedule time, they were forced to start the game with only six men; however, the real scoring started for the Kays after the K. P.'s were in full strength. Junior Supernaw led the K. P. attack with two doubles, while Gallagher and Smith gathered four of the six hits made by the Kays, each getting two singles. Gallagher allowed five hits, and walked three; while Supernaw allowed six hits and walked nine, each team making five errors.

On Monday night, the Kays, hitting their full batting and fielding stride, took the B. of C. into camp by a 16 to 4 score. In this game Gallagher missed a "no-hitter" by a very close margin. Up until the last inning he had the B. of C. either popping or striking out. Then in the last inning the first man up drew a pass, Dr. Renwick, playing his first game with the B. of C., was safe on an error, "Dynamite" McCann struck out, then came Reno Hamilton and hit the first ball pitched for a single over second base for B. of C.'s first hit. From then on another single following a walk produced the only runs the B. of C. were able to get. Gallagher struck out 10 men, walked seven, and allowed two hits, in producing the best pitching performance in the league thus far. Although H. Ladd pitched steady ball, his teammates let three hits roll for home runs, which ordinarily would have been only doubles at the most.

The best game of the league to date was played Tuesday night, the K. P.'s and Ironton putting on a real tight ball game, with a thrilling finish. "Bill" Supernaw turned in a neat performance on the mound, striking out 11 men and holding the Ironton sluggers to only six hits, while only three men reached first base by the walking route. G. Genelt behind the plate caught a nice game while the K. P. made only one error in the field. For Ironton, A. Thomson pitched a fine game, allowing eight runs on eight hits, while his teammates made only three errors. Each team had one big inning; Ironton making five of their six runs in the first, and the K. P.'s scoring all their eight runs in the second.

The schedule for the coming week: Thursday, Ironton vs. Kays on the north side field. Friday, K. of P. vs. B. of C. on the south side field. Monday, Kays vs. K. P., south side, and on Tuesday night, the B. of C. meets Ironton on the north side.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 42 NUMBER 25 | EIGHT PAGES | THE CHARLEVOIX COURIER, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 23, 1937 | PRICE $2.00 PER YEAR

BELVEDERE HOTEL WILL OPEN FRIDAY

SAME MANAGEMENT AND OLD STAFF MEMBERS RETURN

Many Fine Improvements Completed In Preparation for Season—Prospects Indicate Excellent Year

Belvedere Hotel will open for the 1937 season on Friday, June 25, again under the management of Mr. and Mrs. Carl C. Steiner, who have been in charge of this hostelry for six seasons.

Numerous improvements have been made throughout the hotel to modernize it and add to the comfort of the guests. One of the principal improvements has been the installation of showers in the public bathrooms as well as in some of the private baths. Many of the guest rooms have been redecorated and new twin beds added. A large number of clothes closets have been built in the rooms to replace the former clothes shelves. The walls of the lounge have been textoned in antique ivory, while the furniture in that room has also been redecornted and upholstered. Harmonizing colored drapes have been included in the new decorations of the lounge and lobby. Gaily colored modernistic metal furniture is an addition for the porches.

Various members of the staff will return, some having been engaged at Belvedere for many years. The personnel of the front office will be comprised of the same gentlemen who have held the positions for several years, namely, Messrs. Sanford J. Nelson and Chan W. Massey, day clerks, and Charles O. Guy, night clerk. Miss Rae A. Gravuer will resume her duties as secretary-auditor for the sixth season, and will be assisted by Miss Cordelia Christy. Mrs. John C. Dugin will again supervise the housekeeping department. W. J. Brooks will be chef, this being his fifth season, and Andrew Cartner will return as pastry chef. Joseph McCarthy will again be maitre d'hotel.

The social calendar of Belvedere is filled with many interesting and enjoyable forthcoming events, including weekly bridge parties, Sunday evening concerts, semi-weekly dances, and so forth. The Sunday evening buffet suppers which were so popular last season will be resumed and elaborate plans are being made for these outstanding suppers.

The management is anticipating a very good season as reservations are far in advance of last summer.

E. J. Edwards, warden of Belvedere Club, reports that very few cottages are still available for rent, and from present indications, all such cottages will be leased by July 1.

The Belvedere Club grounds have been improved and beautified in many ways, some of which are the extensive planting of numerous flower beds, the reconditioning of the second terrace; the addition of many loads of sand to the beach; and all grounds surrounding the beach have been made more attractive. Four new cabanas have been added to the colorful cabana colony, and another new feature of the beach is a large parking space for the convenience of those who wish to drive to that point. All of the Club boathouses have been remodeled and repainted.

Mr. Edwards states that the Club members have shown an unusual amount of interest this spring in having their individual homes remodeled and painted, to make them more attractive and more modern than ever before.

VFW POST INSTALLED OFFICERS WEDNESDAY

Selected First and Third Wednesdays of Month for Meetings

NEW PRO AT BELVEDERE GOLF CLUB

OPEN FOR THE 1937 SEASON ON FRIDAY, JUNE 25TH

Ray Courtright, U. of M. Golf Coach, Comes as Pro — Mrs. Hanshew and Ray Kipke Return

Friday, June 25, will mark the official opening for the 1937 season of the Belvedere Golf Club, one of the most popular resort courses in the United States.

One change has been made in the staff for the season, Ray O. Courtright, head golf coach at the University of Michigan, succeeding Dr. Milton Converse as professional. Mr. Courtright will arrive in Charlevoix to assume his position about July 1. Mrs. Clarence Hanshew will again be in charge of the office and Ray Kipke returns as starter and caddy master.

As Club pro, Mr. Courtright brings to Charlevoix an outstanding record at the U. of M. Under his guidance the University golf team has won the Big Ten championship for the last five successive years, and for the same period has won the individual championship as well as the runner-up title. It was Courtright who developed such prominent amateurs as Charles "Chuck" Kocsis, who won the Michigan Amateur for the first time at the Belvedere, and Johnny Fischer, former amateur champion and an outstanding golfer.

In addition, the U. of M. golf team was national collegiate champions in 1934-35 and also won the individual championship of the national collegiate in 1933 and 1936.

Mr. Courtright spends his entire time in the University of Michigan and, in addition to his positions as golf, football and basketball coach, has charge of teaching prospective coaches of golf at the university. He should prove a popular addition at the Belvedere Club.

Legal to Fish in All Inland Lakes; Laws Same as Last Year

Fishing for black bass, bluegills, sunfish and warmouth bass in all the inland and Great Lakes waters under Michigan's jurisdiction becomes legal in Michigan Friday, June 25, conservation authorities have aanounced.

On that date all the inland lakes now closed entirely to sport-fishing to give the species above-named protection during their reproduction seaon, will automatically open to fishing.

NEW BOUNTY SYSTEM IS ENACTED

BOBCAT REMOVED FROM LIST OF PREDATORS

Bounty on Wolves and Coyotes Is Increased from 50% to 100% Under New Legislation

The bobcat will be retired from the bounty list in Michigan and payments on coyotes and wolves will be increased from 50 to 100 per cent under the new regulations for predatory animal control which becomes effective July 1.

A revision of predator control regulations and bounty payments was necessitated by a law passed by the 1937 Legislature and signed by Covernor Murphy, setting up a fund of $75,000 for the purpose of suppressing coyotes and wolves in Northern Michigan.

The law authorizes payment of a bounty of $20 for each female wolf or coyote certified through conservation officers and a payment of $15 for each male wolf and coyote thus certified. Payments will be made only on wolves and coyotes taken by accredited bounty hunters by means of trapping or shooting. No payments are authorized in case of predators poisoned, snured or reared in captivity.

Under the present bounty system which expires June 30, bounties of $10 are paid for wolves and coyotes and $7.50 for bobcats. Bobcats will no longer command a bounty under the new system.

Under the revised regulations any resident of the state who has an unexpired hunting and trapping license and gun permit, is eligible for a bounty contract at no charge. In certifying animals for bounties, the hunter will be required to sign an affidavit stating that the predator certified was not raised in captivity or imported from another state or country.

The new state bounty law as set up by the Legislature makes it unlawful for any individual to keep a coyote or a wolf in captivity and to import either of these species without a permit from the state. The law also stipulates that when pelts are certified for bounty, the entire carcass must be submitted.

Otsego county can boast of 101 lakes and 150 miles of excellent trout water, all of which have been stocked regularly by the Michigan Department of Conservation.

COMMERCIAL FISHING LICENSES EXPIRE JUNE 30

A new license year for 1,200 commercial fishermen of Michigan becomes effective July 1. Present commercial fishing licenses expire June 30.

The law prohibits renewal of a license to anyone who has failed to submit the required monthly report to Lansing on fishing operations.

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Clocks of the statehouse halls are due to be stopped at midnight Friday (June 25). It's the grand climax of Michigan's marathon talking legislative session which began a full six months ago.

When the tumult and shouting will have died down, as legislators celebrate traditionally their last night, Michigan will have an attempted answer to many pressing problems. Inevitable is the fact that many hills—hundreds of them in fact—must die in committees and on the floor during the last hurried days.

Since Gov. Frank Murphy took the oath of office on New Year's Day and a new administration assumed power at Lansing, Michigan has seen wave after wave of labor trouble, tying up industrial plants and causing entire cities to face the inconvenience of a general strike or electric power shutdown. The situation has been unprecedented.

Model Bill Abandoned

To deal with industrial strikes, the governor arranged to have a modal bill drawn up by his legal adviser, Edward Kemp, with the aid of a University of Michigan authority and the attorney general's department.

Gail could hear him. She could remember the ethereal little Ariel of three years ago; she remembered the casual, laughing Van. Ariel struggling with the saddest problem any woman ever knows—youth, faith, gaiety, security wiped away at a blow—and Van noisily jovial over her whispers, her asides, her anxious smiles and too-ready tears.

"You see, almost from the first, Gail I knew what had happened. It wasn't the Hetty Sorrel business. I was sure. Ten days after that trial I knew what I was facing. And he didn't even like me; he didn't come near me. I telephoned, I sent notes,—but he wouldn't come. You and Eds were so pleased that the trial had sort of—exonerated me, and that I was sobering down. I saw it, and every one was so happy, making plans. Dorothy well and safe and talking about going east for Christmas, and all the time—this tiger tearing at me."

"You poor little thing!" It was the first note of sympathy that had come into Gail's voice, and Ariel answered it by a quick blinking of filling eyes.

"It was all my own doing, Gail!"

"Isn't it always?" Gail asked slowly.

Those had been happy days for her. Days in which she had discovered Dick, discovered her own heart. And all the time the little sister had been walking in the shadows deeper than death, beside her.

"You can't think what it was," Ariel said, "I told Van. I didn't know what else to do! He didn't believe me, or he said he didn't," Ariel resumed. "And the next thing I knew some one told me calmly that he'd gone east. There was just one thing, Gail—" She paused. "Just one thing that kept me from killing myself," she added. "And that was you."

"Me!"

"You. You kept talking about how we had all to hang together, and get through the hard years, and carve out our destinies for ourselves. And I just couldn't do it! I couldn't shame and hurt you that way.

"The day after Van left I told Dorothy. And she said what he said, that she didn't think it was true. But they went away, too, Gail. She must have told her mother, and do you remember that Mrs. Camp took Dorothy east to school, right away?"

"Beasts!" Gail whispered, looking away.

"Dorothy only laughed about it," Ariel stammered, with a memory of that youthful agony and shame flushing her cheeks again.

"It Was My Own Doing, Gail."

"Laughed!"

"I couldn't tell you or Edith; I was afraid to tell Phil! I went to see old Doctor Somers, and he only said that he would rather have seen one of my father's children dead than have to tell her what he had to tell me!"

"Ariel—you poor child!"

"Van didn't answer my letters, and time kept going on, Gail, and I had no money! I couldn't get away, and I couldn't stay home.

"And then I thought of Dick, and that maybe if I was nice to him he would want to marry me right away—in time."

She laughed bitterly, fell silent again.

"What a fool I was!" she said. "But he didn't. He was wonderful, but he didn't care—that way.

"And then Christmas week came, and Dick was going on Christmas afternoon to Los Angeles, on a case for three weeks, and I wondered if he could get me a job, any kind of a job. So I went to his office—and I told him the whole story.

"He was wonderful! He never said a word of blame; the only thing he seemed to think of was how to get me out, and how to spare you and Eds and Phil. He adores our family, of course.

"He said that since I was a minor a very serious charge could be brought against Van. At first I wouldn't consider that. But he talked me over, and he composed a letter to Van, as my 'lawyer,' and sent it off that afternoon, a few days before Christmas,—a few days before my eighteenth birthday. And Dick told me just to keep quiet and not worry, and that he would keep working at it, and it would all come out all right.

"Van wouldn't write me, ever, through the Clippersville post office, for fear we'd be discovered. We had rented a box in the Greenvale post office, and I used to take the trolley over there and ask for letters. And during this Christmas week I went over and there was a letter—from Van. He just said that he was not going back to college, but that his father had staked him to a year's trip around the world, and he and his chum were going. Gail, it went through my heart like a bullet."

"You should have wired his mother!" Gail said passionately. "You oughtn't to have let him get away with it!"

"Gail, she knew, of course."

"She couldn't!"

"Of course she did!"

The older sister was silent.

"Gail, do you know that I never felt—bad."

Gail reddened in embarrassment.

"I know what you mean."

"I mean," Ariel said, "that I loved him—I did care. I was carried away; I'd never loved anyone before!

"But what I did feel, Gail, was fury. Fury at myself for being such a fool! Like some cheap little factory worker—like a servant girl. Why, the servant girls have more sense! I could have torn myself to pieces, having Van smile and go his way, and Dorothy and her mother clear out."

"You have a child, Ariel?"

"Wait. Well, I lay awake all that night of Christmas eve, after we had come back from church, and I thought and thought—how to get away, what to do! And it seemed to me that I was going raving mad—I was, too. I thought the people in the church were looking at me, and I knew you and Edith would find out, long before they did.

"And then quite suddenly, peacefully, I made up my mind to go away with Dick, to make you think we were eloping. I thought that if Van sent for me I could tell you then, and if he didn't Dick would fix some way out!

"I got up at four and packed my bag and dragged it down and shut it in the old woodshed. And that afternoon, when you thought I had gone to Miss Vail's, I went out and waited for the trolley, and took the bus to San Jose, and bought myself a ticket to Gilroy. That was as far as my money would go.

"After the train was started I walked all through it, and I found Dick talking to a man, and he came right back with me, and I told him what I'd done!"

"And was he wild?"

"Wild? Oh, no! He said that he thought I had done right. He was wonderful!"

Gail's eyes flashed darkly blue.

"Dick—" she breathed.

"He said he thought it was the right thing to do. And he said not to worry, and that he would arrange everything the next day. He asked me if I had anything with me, and I said Oh, yes, my suitcase. So I took his berth and he sat up all night—thinking, he said."

The havoc she had left behind her, the havoc she had wrought in his life, had meant nothing to her then, and meant nothing to her now.

"He didn't mind," she said vaguely.

"We were going to be married the next day, Wednesday," she presently added. "But you can't do that down there. Dick wrote you that we were getting a license, and we did. But we couldn't get married, not for several days, and meanwhile Van wired, wired to Los Angeles. You see, he'd had Dick's letter, and it was true that he was going around the world, but by way of Panama. He wired that he would be in Los Angeles in sixteen days, and would see Dick.

"Then Dick said it would be much better to wait and see Van. To make sure, he cabled the ship in Havana. And Van cabled back, 'All right.' He was afraid of being arrested, on account of my being so young.

"Van's ship got in and we were married, and Dick and I swore that nobody should ever know. I hated him, then; I didn't want to marry him at all. But Dick said he would start legal proceedings.

"So we were married, and Van went on, on the next ship, and nobody knew. Dick had to go to Las Vegas for months; but he sent me money every month, and if he was in town he'd come to see me and take me to a movie or something. And I got work to do—you don't have much chance in the movies. I got a start—Ariel Adair they called me—only I didn't like it much. It's all right for the stars, but I never would have been one. So I got small parts with a stock company. We played Hollywood and Venice and Glendale and Pasadena. That was kind of fun.

"And then last year, when Murchison's Mills failed, Van came to Los Angeles again, settling things, and he came to see me. He told me that he had never looked at another girl, and he wanted to have me go back east with him. But then it was my time to say No," Ariel ended with a little curl of her lip.

"But you haven't told me, darling. What happened to you? Were you ill?"

"Oh, yes—or not so terribly ill. They said it was all wrong from the very beginning—it never would have been a healthy baby!" Ariel said. "They said it was luck it died."

Motherhood. The magic word, the magic estate of which Gail had dreamed. She was silent from sheer shock, sheer inability to speak.

"Anyway, I was in a hospital for three weeks, in a ward," Ariel went on bitterly.

"That was when?"

"February. While Dick was in Phoenix. He had cases all over everywhere. And I was taken ill very suddenly, and hadn't much money."

"You poor kid!"

"All that made me feel that I never wanted to see Van Murchison again. But he was having his hard times, too. Everything was crashing, and he was working hard in the New Jersey plant to save what he could. He's there now.

"When he came last year we had lots of long talks, and in a way he did what he could. He said he knew he had behaved terribly, but that he was a spoiled kid."

She was not very angry at him, even now. Gail saw, with a sort of stupefaction, that what this great Murchison did was still sacred, still above criticism, to Ariel.

"Finally we arranged it that if he went back and got a good start, with these people who have bought the mills," she resumed, "then I'd come on and we'd announce our marriage. And that's what has happened."

"You're on your way east now?"

"He meets me in Chicago next week."

A pause. Then Gail said, "You still love him, Ariel?"

"I don't love the idea of living in New Jersey," Ariel said, after a brief pause.

"But you're not unhappy?"

The old bored, haughty look.

"Oh, no," Ariel drawled. "But mind you, I was as much to blame as he!" she added with sudden force.

Gail mused on the whole story, her eyes on her sister's face, tumult in her heart, and the drum-drum-drum of the rain falling softly on the porch roof.

"You came here just to announce it?"

"Not exactly. Dick thought I ought to come home and explain."

"Was Dick at your boarding house?"

"Not even that!" Ariel said, with her scoruful little laugh. "I tell you he never so much as put a finger up on me!"

"But you saw him all the time?"

"Off and on. He wasn't in Los Angeles much. But he would turn up and ask me if I had money enough."

"What a friend!" Gail said under her breath.

Ariel made no response. She was looking about the old kitchen.

"I can stay here, Gail, in spite of the Wilbur tribe?"

"Darling, of course! And they're not such a tribe," Gail answered, laughing with a touch of hurt and reproach. "Just Lily and the boys. And look—this is the baby. This is Gail."

"They named her Gail!"

"Lily would have it."

"You might know she'd take your name, Gail. I suppose she's more a Lawrence than us Lawrences!"

To this Gail could make no reply. She said tactfully, "It's a quarter to seven, Ariel, and it looks as if either Phil had to be at the shop tonight, or had gone to Lily's mother's. You and I'll have dinner anyway. But what a buzz when the marriage is announced!" with a sort of mild awe. "Let's go upstairs, Ariel."

"Everything's changed, and I miss Edith!" she burst out suddenly, laying her head on her locked hands and beginning to cry.

A GOOD RECORD

In a period of 150 years the Congress of the United States has exercised its power 40,000 times. In that period the Supreme Court has declared invalid only 75 acts of Congress. That is a fine showing of judicial fairness on the part of the Court. Yet we hear a lot of criticism of the Court for its "narrow interpretation" of laws to work within the framework of the Constitution.—Rio Vista, Calif., River News.

BAPTIST CHILDREN'S DAY PROGRAM SUNDAY

Pageant Entitled "Feed My Lambs" to Be Given by Classes

At 8 o'clock Sunday evening, a Children's Day program will be given at the Baptist church.

Recitations by the primary department will be followed by a pageant entitled, "Feed My Lambs," enacted by groups from every department of the Sunday school.

A synopsis of the pageant follows: A teacher has just refused to continue teaching a Sunday school class of juniors for three reasons: first, lack of ability; second, unwillingness to make the necessary sacrifice; third, belief that results do not justify the efforts required. She finds herself confronted by Conscience, Truth, Wisdom who, through scenes from the Book of Truth, convince her that none can excuse her from her teaching duties except Christ, whose words, "Feed My Lambs," are her commission and that, in His sight, the reasons she has given are insufficient to release her from her responsibility. In the end she accepts partnership with the Good Shepherd and resumes the responsibility of "feeding His lambs."

POLICE WARN ON LAW GOVERNING FIREWORKS

Numerous Violations Heve Been Reported in This City

Chief of Police Coblentz has reported numerous violations of the Michigan law prohibiting exploding of fireworks within the state. The chief asked for the cooperation of Charlevoix parents in preventing the violation of this law by Charlevoix children.

"Numerous reports have been made to the police the last few days regarding boys exploding firecrackers in and nbout homes of the city," the chief said today. "On one or two occasions boys have lighted firecrackers and then thrown them inside of homes, seriously frightening those persons in the homes nnd also causing serious fire dangers. We are nsking that parents see that their children do not explode fireworks illegally in Charlevoix.

"The law provides that special permission may be secured for fireworks displays on the Fourth of July and other special ossacions. We urge that persons desiring to have such displays get permission from the state."

The Charlevoix Kiwanis Club has become interested in the 4-H club program in the various communities on the west side of the county. A most pleasant event was staged last Tuesday night when 25 club members were dinner guests of the Kiwanis club.

Each Kiwaais club member acted as a sponsor for a club member. During the program each boy was introdueed and acknowledged by this splendid group of business and professional men of Charlevoix.

The agricultural committee of the Kiwanis club, consisting of Clair Webster, chairman, Martin Block, Floyd Brown and Clarence Meggison, is in charge of this agricultural activity. Clair Webster, with the assistants selected by him, will sponsor the new McGeagh club, with Harry Webster as their local leader. LOCAL BASEBALL TEAM LOSES INITIAL CONTEST

Defeated 6 to 4 at Cheboygan Sunday Afternoon—Team Looks Good

Making theig initial start of the 1937 seuson, Charlevoix's baseball team lost to Cheboygan by a 6 to 4 score at Cheboygnn, Sunday.

Although played under adverse conditions due to n high wind, the game was close and interesting for the spectators. A return contest between the two teams has been arranged for later in the season.

Closeness of the contest is indicated by the fact Cheboygan outhit Charlevoix 10 to 9. However, Charlevoix was charged with three errors to Cheboygan's one, which accounted for the margin of two scores.

Manager Glen Rose expressed satisfaction in the performance of his team and the work of Amos nnd Guy John, who formed the local battery. Glen figures his team is better than the combination which won so many games two years ago, and predicts they will win many games before the season is over.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT

Diphtheria Deaths Rise

"Children are dying of diphtheria in Michigan toduy when such deaths are a discredit to any community," declared Dr. C. C. Slemons, state health commissioner, when statistical reports laid on his desk indicated an 82 per cent increase in diphtheria mortality for the early months of 1937.

"Twenty deaths have already occurred compared with 11 at this time last year," said the commissioner, "and yet such deaths are absolutely preventable. We know the cause of diphtheria, how it is spread, and we can immunize any child with toxoid so there is little danger of his ever contracting the disease. Even when a child has diphtheria, death can be prevented if antitoxin is administered on the first appearance of symptoms."

With an unusual increase in diphtheria probable during the coming fall and winter months, Dr. Slemons urged parents to have infants and pre-school children immunized with toxoid now. This simple, painless measure will safeguard them during those first five years of life when 80 per cent of all diphtheria deaths occur. Toxoid immunization is so effective in preventing diphtheria, he said, that any community can determine its own diphtheria rate.

When a child dies of diphtheria today, said Dr. Slemons, it is because someone has failed to have that child protected with toxoid. If a case does occur, time is an all-important factor in the administration of antitoxin which must be injected during the first 24 hours of the disease. The commissioner urged physicians to give antitoxin at once upon the first suggestion of diphtheria without waiting for laboratory confirmation.

"From 1921 to 1934 Michigan demonstrated the effectiveness of diphtheria prevention by reducing deaths from 954 to 38, but since that time we have been too self-satisfied. Cases and deaths are increasing again, and they will continue to increase so long as we fail to take full advantage of the positive prevention which toxoid offers for every child. Practically every one of the 302 cases which have been reported since January could have been prevented if every infant were immunized before he became one year of age."

DEPARTMENT OF STATE NEWS BULLETIN

One Car In Three Carries Sticker

Regardless of the marked increase in the number of motor vehicles on the state's highways, about one car owner in three buys his annual license on the installment plan, figures show.

Leon D. Case, secretary of state, points out that the 1933 act which brought the "sticker" or half-year permit into being, has been accepted as the permanent method of buying plates by some 500,000 car owners every year.

The use of half-year permits expires August 1, annually, and at a date prior to that, designated by the secretary of state, plates go on sale at half price. Thus, as the "half price" date approaches, few stickers are sold. In 1936, a total of 448,035 stickers were sold; records of the Department of State as of June 16, show 441,726 stickers had been recorded at Lansing, though actually more had been sold at branch offices on that date.

It is pointed out by Secretary Case that on June 16, the number of plates and stickers recorded at Lansing as having been sold this year, is nearly 35,000 in excess of the total plates sold in the entire year of 1936. New car purchases during the balance of this year, plus purchase of plates for cars not yet registered for 1937, will swell the number of cars to a near all-time record, it is believed.

COMMUNICATION

June 17, 1937

Charlevoix Courier,
Charlevoix, Michigan
Gentlemen:

I have noticed numerous references in the dailies in regard to the Mackinac Straits Bridge project and thought probably you would be interested in knowing the present status of this project so far as the State is concerned.

The Administrative Board has had the matter of a survey under consideration and has referred it to the Highway Department. No appropriation is made, and none is necessary.

There is now before the House a bill authorizing the Highway Department to make such a survey. This undoubtedly will be rushed through both houses.

When this authority is given to the Highway Department it will, of its own funds, make the survey.

No route has been mentioned or designated. By that I mean that there was no reference as to either the short route from Mackinaw City to St. Ignace or the long route from Cheboygan by way of the Islands to St. Ignace.

I have interviewed members of the Administrative Board, members of the Highway Department and the secretary to the Governor with the result that the above information is all that is available at present.

Yours very truly,
O. W. BISHOP.

Calumet Workmen Make Mistake of Disturbing Young Bear Cub

While returning from work after a night shift, two Calumet men were forced by an enruged mother bear to take refuge for two hours in a tree. One of the men had made the mistake of disturbing the bear's cub which he had seen in the middle of the path and thought was a porcupine. The cub's squeal brought the she-bear rushing from cover. Failing to climb the tree, the old bear vented her rage on a dinner pail thrown away by one of the fugitives in his scramble for safety.

A New Jersey school teacher took his pupils fishing as a part of their school work. Proving again that the most of us were born about 25 years too soon.

Safe and Sane DRIVING
BY THE NATIONAL SAFETY COUNCIL
and Michigan State Safety Council

THE MOTOR CAR DRIVER

The driver is the most important factor in traffic accidents. He may cause an accident; he may also skillfully prevent one.

Some drivers have accidents because they are actually defective in mind or body. They have poor vision, are not strong enough to control a heavy vehicle, or their senses are dulled by alcohol, fatigue, or carbon monoxide.

Many drivers have accidents because they do not know how to drive safely. They have never learned proper methods of making turns, backing, signaling. They do not observe right-of-way rules, stop signs, traffic signals, and they ignore the rights of pedestrians.

Most drivers who have accidents, however, are neither defective physically nor ignorant of traffic rules. They do not really want to have an accident; but neither do they try sufficiently hard NOT to have one.

These are the drivers who take chances by going too fast; passing on hills and curves; do not slow down at intersections. They always expect others to get out of their way.

CONG. LUECKE COMMENDS RECENT ILLUSTRATED RESORT PAPER

Favorable comment on the recent illustrated resort edition published by the Charlevoix Courier under sponsorship of the Board of Commerce, is contained in a letter from Cong. John Luecke, quoted as follows:

"Editor, Charlevoix Courier,
"Charlevoix, Michigan
"Dear Sir:

"I have examined with deep interest your illustrated resort edition of the 'Courier,' as published on June 2, 1937.

"You are to be heartily commended on the very attractive appearance of this edition.

"In my opinion, the newspapers can render a real public service by taking every opportunity to publicize the scenic beauties and recreational advantages to be found in the northern part of the state.

"I think you have done a splendid job in putting out your special illustrated number and I hope other editors will do likewise, from time to time.

"With kindest regards, I am,
"Very truly yours,

AT THE MOVIES

"Elephant Boy" Korda Picture Due Here Sooo

"Elephant Boy," Alexander Korda's film version of Rudyard Kipling's "Toomai of the Elephants," comes to the Palace Theatre for two days on July 1-2.

Filmed in the course of a two-year expedition into the heart of the Indian jungles, headed by Robert Flaherty, famous explorer-director who gave us the memorable "Nanhook of the North," "Moana," "Tabu" and "Man of Aran," and his co-director, Zoltan Korda, "Elephant Boy" is described as one of the most thrilling natural background pictures ever to reach the screen.

Gaynor-March In Selznick's "Star Is Born"

Janet Gaynor and Fredric March come to the Palace Theatre for three days on July 3 in David O. Selznick's technicolor production, "A Star Is Born."

This glamorous story of a little country girl who came to Hollywood, faced the odds of 100,000 to one and scaled the heights of stardom, marks the first up-to-the-minute story to be filmed in technicolor.

Adolphe Menjou, May Robson, Andy Devine and Lionel Stander are featured in the supporting cast, which also includes Owen Moore, Peggy Wood, Elizabeth Jenns, Edgar Kennedy, J. C. Nugent, Guinn Williams and others.

The CIO and A. F. of L. both objected to provisions that would have required employers and employes to make reasonable efforts at mediation before employes could go on a strike—this clause being taken from the federal railroad mediation act passed early during the Roosevelt administration. The governor apparently changed his mind, for he henceforth voiced approval of a House substitute bill.

This House substitute bill, imposing few restrictions or responsibilities on labor, met a chilly reception from John L. Lewis, CIO general chairman. Lewis declared that a denial of the right to strike instantly without notice "would put Michigan back a century in labor legislation."

Doubt was expressed by capital observers whether any industrial relations measure would be passed during the last remaining days of this session.

Dictatorship Talk

As the bank moratorium spread from Michigan in 1933, so the 1937 sit-down labor trouble has grown like a prairie fire.

At a University of Michigan centennial program, Chester H. Rowell, a San Francisco editor, declared that the United States is on the way to a dictatorship.

At Lansing the governor, harried by legislators, maintained his calm assurance that America is merely having temporary "labor pains" as it gives birth to a new magna carta of industrial rights for the worker.

Spending Is Popular

Increased wages, higher prices, and a return of good times have combined to put the Legislature in a pleasant mood. Solons have been spending money freely. In fact, the state budget will likely be out of balance as a result.

More millions for primary public schools, more millions for highways, a half million for the libraries, millions for hospital facilities, increased appropriations for all state institutions, more aid for teachers' retirement fund, and so on—this has been the record of the Senate and House.

While the governor threatened to veto measures that would put the state into debt, legislators have been responding to urgent appeals from voters back home. Organized pressure lobbies have been getting results.

"We must have more funds," was the universal cry. "Let the state help solve our problem."

The House heard Rep. John Hamilton, Detroit Democrat, proclaim the philosophy: "The voters don't care about a public debt."

Hamilton tried in vain to license organized gambling. The nearest approach to the idea was the passage of a House bill to license slot machines, restricting the "take" to 25 per cent. A dog racing licensing bill, approved by the House, failed in the Senate by a few votes—after the Governor had given assurance discreetly that he would veto it.

The Saloon Returns

By a vote of 13 to 15, the Senate decided a few days ago to permit the old-time saloon bar to return in Michigan. Rejecting an amendment that would have left the state liquor act as it has been in recent years, the Senate put an O.K. on the brass rail.

Whereas tables have been required for beer and liquor service, the Legislature's new plan permits customers to stand up.

The liquor commission has been given the right to open 200 more retail stores and raise prices 15 per cent.

The final vote of the Senate was 19 to 9—five Republicans joining 14 Democrats for the aye vote. Nine Republicans opposed the bill.

Billboard Control

It was early in the session when the Michigan Federation of Garden Clubs backed a non-partisan bill in the Legislature to license billboards in the interest of preserving highway beauty in Michigan. The measure struck a snag. Garden clubs found that commercial interests objected strenuously to the proposed tax.

As the Legislature's spending mood encouraged a prospect of deficit, the administration began to look around for new revenue.

Hence the billboard bill is being revived with the blessing of the Senate highway committee, not primarily to protect our scenic highways from commercial spoilation but to raise more money. Economic needs may triumph again where esthetic appeals fail.

The bill by Senator J. Neal Lamoreaux would bring into the state treasury $100 annually from every billboard outside of municipalities.

Consumers' Co-Ops

Father Coughlin's National Union of Social Justice is back in the news headlines again. This time at Detroit where an affiliate, the Workers' Council for Social Justice, seeks to recruit members for purpose of collective bargaining.

Demanding that the capitalist and the industrialist "work for labor instead of for the bankers," the Coughlin movement envisions the day when employers will be required to provide "purchasing agencies" to sell food, meat, clothing and other necessities to the workers without profit.

This new interpretation of the consumers' cooperative movement will be of interest to Michigan's Main Street. It appears to be another dues-gathering scheme to help the much abused worker. Further comment seems unnecessary.

PLANT BEANS SHALLOW TO ELIMINATE MAGGOT

This Advice Given to Farmers by Michigan State College Specialists

Shallow bean planting — not more than one-half to an inch deep—to aid in preventing repeated seedling loss from maggots, is the recommendation made this week by Ray Hutson, Michigan State College entomologist, in answer to widespread queries from bean growers who are replanting because of maggots.

This season, beeauso it is moist and late, is ideal for maggots, espeeially on land that has been topdressed with manura or land that grew clover or alfalfa last year. If the land has been top-dressed with manure, Hutaon advises that this manure be plowed under befora the beans are aown. By sowing the beans very shallow, th eplants may be able to push up above the soil and thus tho bean roots become aufficiently established to ward off maggot attacks successfully.

Those farmers who intend to grow beans next year on land now in elover or alfalfa should plan to fallplow as an aid in preventing maggot injury. The same proeedure holds true, also, for land infested with thistles and with heavy growths of dandelions, Hutson suggests.

Conditions aiding the bean maggot infestation also are likely to increase the danger from cabbage and onion maggots, Hutson believes. Damage from cabbage maggots may be prevented through the use of tar-paper disks placed around each plant and pressed into the soil around the plant. Watering cabbage wlth a corrosive sublimate solution is a reliable treatment. It is applied by watering about the plants when they are set out and two times afterward at weekly intervals. Extension Bulletin No. 179, "Bean, Cabbage and Onion Maggots," may be obtained free by addressin gare quest to Bulletin Room, Michigan State College.

* BALLS AND STRIKES *
* By Dean Davenport *
* * * * * * * * * * * *

Many people have been inquiring about the rules of softball and in order that they may have a better conception of the game we will endeavor to interpret some of these rules.

Softball is played on a diamond not unlike that of baseball, the bases being 60 feet apart instead of the 90 feet. We use a 12 inch ball, smooth seam, weighing not less than six ounces nor no more than six and three-quarters ounces. The pitching distance is 40 feet, with the pitcher delivering the ball in an underhand motion. The home plate is a square piece of hard rubber, 12 inches square, thus making it more difficult for a pitcher to master control.

The base-stealing rule previously required that the runner hold his base "until a pitched ball has reached, or passed, the batsmen." The change this year now permits the runner to leave as soon as the ball leaves the pitcher's hand. With the exception of third base, in which case the runner must hold his base and can come home only on a fair hit ball, or, a play being made on another base runner, or himself. In other words, he cannot steal home.

When a batter makes an intentional bunt, he is automatically called out by the umpire, he must take a full swing at the ball. The number of men differs from baseball in that in sofeball a tenth man is used called "short fielder," a sort of roving fielder just beyond the infield.

Next week we will have a few more rules, and also mention a few things concerning the Michigan Softball Association.

Right now let'a look at the games played in our City League during the past week, which was full of upsats. Thursday of last week the Kays and Ironton were rained out; this game will be played in a double header at a later date. On riday evening the B. of C. again took the K..P.s into camp by a close decision, 9 to 8. Although tha Knights outhit the Commeree outfit 10 hits to five, seven walks contributed heavily to their scoring. Harry Ladd, pitching for the B. of C., did not issue a pass and was effeetive in tha pinches. Each team made five errors. Batteries: For K.P., Bill and Junior Supernaw pitching, with Georga Haggard behind the plate. For the B.C., Ladd and Bergman.

Monday night the B. of C. struck a snag in the Ironton sluggers and split a double header. The first gama went to tha B. of C., 6 to 1, Bergman pitching good ball. In the second game the Ironton team began teeing off on H. Ladd and scored 12 big runs while the B. of C. was collecting five. Home runs featured the second game, with I. Boyer for Ironton; Miles and Bergman for B. of C, each getting one apiece. Keith Miles made a sensational one-handed running catch of a foul ball in the fourth inning while stole the show from both games.

Tuesday night the K.P.s and Kays put on the feature show for the League thus far. Both teams were decked out in their new uniforms and, from the way they played, it inspired every player on both sides. The Kiwanis Club were present in a body to watch their team perform (Kays), and as a result, the largest crowd of the season was on hand. Both teams responded to this support by playing bang-up ball. After the last man waa out in the last inning the K.P.s were on the long end of a 6 to 7 score. Junior Supernaw, relieving "Bill" in the fifth, climaxed a good pitching performance by striking out the last two men with the bases loaded. Haggard led the K.P. attack by clouting a triple, double, and single, while Bill Supernaw hit two doubles. oFr the Kays, T. Ager smacked out two doubles.

S.A.E. CRUISERS ENJOYED LOCAL VISIT

MANY EXPRESSIONS OF APPRECIATION HEARD

All Efforts Being Made to Bring the Society's National Convention Here Next Summer

If the entbusiasm shown and expressions of appreciation may be taken as an indication, members of the Society of Automotive Engineers and their families enjoyed their visit in Charlevoix Saturday.

These expressions were the reward of the Board of Commerce committees for their efforts and also there is a splendid possibility that the national convention of the Society, bringing 800 people on two boats for a stay of five days, will come to Charlevoix next summer.

That the number participating in the cruise was smaller than anticipated, is due to strike conditions. There had earlier been over 300 reservations, but unsteady business conditions cut the actual participation to 210 persons.

The program of entertainment as originally outlined was carried through completely. Coast guards escorted the excursion ship into the harbor and Lake Charlevoix and return to the municipal dock. The city band was on hand to furnish music. All craft in the harbor saluted the big ship.

The visitors were taken in cars furnished by local citizens to the Charlevoix Beach Hotel, from which point they scattered to follow their favorite diversion. Over 60 persons, both men and women, participated in the golf tournaments at the Belvedere Golf Club. A large number were taken on fishing trips to Lake Michigan and Lake Charlevoix, while a good many went on a motor trip around Lake Charlevoix. Others could be found bieycle riding about the city.

The evening program included a very successful banquet at the Beach Hotel. Words of praise for the quality of food and service afforded were heard from everyone. A dance and floor show followed. The performers and orchestra members had accompanied the cruise. A dance for crew members of the ship was held at Moonlight Gardens.

The Str. South American departed at 3 o'clock Sunday morning for Mackinac Island, where a stop of several hours was to be made before proceeding to Detroit.

Through the columns of the Courier, the Board of Commerce desires to thank all those citizens who furnished automobiles or otherwise lent their assistance or cooperated in the entertainment of the visitors. Due to the fine spirit shown Saturday by the citizens of Charlevoix, those in charge of the S. A. E. and officers of the Chicago, Duluth & Georgian Bay Transit Co., are going to make every effort to bring the national S. A. E. convention to Charlevoix next summer.

REPORT TAKING LANDLOCKED SALMON HERE

Detroiter Landed Six-Pounder from Lake Charlevoix in May

The Department of Conservation at Lansing has been notified by Harry Z. Brown, 14200 Cloverdale, Detroit, that he caught a landlocked salmon in Lake Charlevoix during May.

Brown said the speelmen weighed aix pounds and that guides and local fishermen had been unable to identify it. Later, Brown stated, he was able to establish identity of the fish through a book by a well-known fisheries authority. The fish was taken on 150 feet of line baited witb a minnow.

Due to absence of reports from Northern Mlchigan during recent years on landlocked salmon, fisheries authoritles have been led to helievo that this speeies was near extinction or has disappeared, although they continue to list it in the fish digest.

Landlocked salmon were planted in various northern waters more or less tributary to the Great Lakes and Lake Charlevoix about 30 years ago and the smelt introduced to serve as a good fish. The results were unexpected. The salmon plantings showed little success but the smelt have since spread throughout the Great Lakes.

Three acts of the scintillating musical comedy, "Movie Queen," are presented on the stage, with singing, dancing, and laugh-provoking lines. The fourth act is presented in the movies! Every individual in Charlevoix is a potential movie star and you will have an opportunity to see yourself on the silver screen on July 15 and 16 at the Charlevoix High school auditorium.

Miss Virginia L. Stewart, of the Amateur Theatre Guild, of Boston, arrived in Charlevoix Saturday morning and began the gigantic moving picture campaign by taking movies of the arrival of the S. S. South American, the passengers, and the spectators on the dock. If you were there, you are in the movies! Motion pictures were taken of the golf tournament at the Belvedere Couatry Club, and golfing scenes at the Charlevoix Country Club will be shot soon. Street scenes were shot Saturday, and Miss Stewart will be taking movies every day from now on. The Board of Commerce plans to make a composite moving picture of Charlevoix and vieinity.

Who will be the Movie Queen? Which charming young lady of Charlevoix will be brought in by boat "from Hollywood" on Saturday, July 10? Who is your choice for the star of stars—the Movie Queen?

Gordon B. Todd, aetivities director of the Board of Commerce, made this statement Monday morning:

"I expect this production of 'Movie Queen' to be a gigantic success and of benefit to the community from both amusement and financial angles. The moving picture film will be retained by the Board of Commeree and will be shown throughout the South next winter with the purpose of bringing many new conventions to Charlevoix next summer. The Board of Commerce will appreciate the cooperation of Charlevoix in making 'Movie Queen' a hit!"

PRE-MARRIAGE HEALTH EXAM BILL IS PASSED

Measure Is Now Awaiting the Signature of Governor Murphy

All applicants for marriage licenses would have to pass physical examinations before being allowed to wed under provisions of a bill awaiting Gov. Frank Murphy's approval.

By a vote of 17 to 7 the Senate passed the Hamilton-Buckley-Walsh bill last Thursday. It requires a prenuptial examination 15 days prior to applying for a marriage license and would fix penalties on county clerks issuing licenses to couples without physical examination approval.

The Senate also passed and sent to the governor the Belen bill to provide for teaching sex hygiene in the schools.

SUPERVISORS CONCLUDE JUNE MEET

TWO-DAY SESSION HERE MONDAY AND TUESDAY

Soveral Appropriations Allowed by the Board — Plan Drastic Steps Against Unlicensed Dogs

Completing a two-day session Tuesday afternoon, the Charlevoix county board of supervisors adjourned until the regular October meeting.

Included in a large amount of business transacted were several appropriations—$310 to cover balance due on county resort folders and other activities of the advertising committee for 1937; $75 for the Top O' Michigan potato and apple show; this year to be held at Petoskey; $75 for the annual county Labor Day picnic at Whiting Park.

The amount of $100 was allowed to continue the distribution of grasshopper poison during the balance of the summer. A large quantity of poison has been distributed so far.

Upon recommendation of the poor committee, the board allowed $437.52 to the ERA to cover May shortage and stands ready to aid in future months if the need requires, it is understood.

Claims totaling $436.75, of which $243 was for damage done by dogs, were allowed. The question of failure to pay dog tax and the number of unlicensed dogs at large was the topic of considerable discussion. The supervisors are considering establishment of dog pounds in each city of the county as a means of providing legal authority to seize and dispose of dogs unlicensed and found running at large. It is quite probable that at the October session, drastic measures will be provided for future control of dogs.

The county valuation was cut from $8,838,520 to $8,808,113 by the equalization committee. Charlevoix's valuation was decreased from $2,938,800 to $2,920,080 for the current year. Following are the comparative valuations for 1936 and 1937:

Bay	$ 252,130	$ 254,685
Boyne Valley	322,200	335,500

Mrs. Cora Kruis, of Wyoming Park, returned home Thursday morning after a week's visit with relatives here.

Miss Herminn Senneher, who has been visiting friends in McBain for a few days, returned home Saturday afternoon.

Outlook for the 1937 huy crop in this part of the state is not as good as usual. Lack of rain during the spring and eurly summer has been detrimental to the meadows.

CENTRAL LAKE

Cool, but no rain.

Harold Aenis made n business trip to Detroit last Monday.

Mrs. Doris Morse Emery and children returned to Flint last Saturday after a short visit with C. H. Morse.

The big rural Sunday school rally last week was the best yet. There was nn attendance of 175 people.

Mrs. Permelia Cross Wilkinson was brought to Central Lake last week from Chattanoogn, Tenn., for burial here.

The little Chapman boy, of Bellaire, is stopping with Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Morse while his parents are visiting relatives in New York state.

Miss Phyllis Swanson is employed at the Monty Dingman home at Bellaire, and was unable to be present at the Rural Sunday School Rally last week.

Mrs. Grant Irey and daughter have been stopping with friends at East Jordan while arranging for extensive repairing of her farm property east of Central Lake.

Fred Patterson and men are putting in water mains between Main street and the depot at Central Lake this week. Two new drinking fountains have also been put in.

Mrs. Eva Morse and son, Sydney, and sister, Dorothy, spent last Sunday with the Walter Anderson family at Creswell, and attended Sunday school there. They have been stopping with the O. R. Morse family since coming up from Detroit.

Farmers are busy this week with the haying. Other crops will he quite limited on accoint of the dry weather June drop. Many leaves have turned yellow and dropped off the trees. Farmers cannot account for this unless it is low vitality or the new spray used this year.

Mrs. Carl Friend and son, of Miami, Fla., have been stopping the past few weeks at the Grace home at Bay View. She expects to spend the summer here. She finds things very much different here than in Florida. She says the "tan" is different, one gets so dark colored in Florida.

Taylor and Stanwyck Co-Star in Drama of a Supreme Love That Shook a Nation

Robert Taylor and Barbara Stanwyck — the screen's most talked-about real-life sweethearts — have been teamed by Twentieth Century-Fox in the picture the world is talking about, "This Is My Affair," which opens July 8 at the Palace Theatre.

The story of a love supremely courageous and unashamed, endangering the nation's highest places and gambling life itself for a greater stake, "This Is My Affair" provides both Taylor and Miss Stanwyck with the most important story either of these great stars has ever had, and affords Victor McLaglen, who heads the strong supporting cast, the finest opportunity he has had since his powerful characterization in "The Informer."

Bergner's Pranks Keep Set Alive With Gaiety

Anyone who expects the great Elisabeth Bergner to stand on ceremony is doomed to disappointment. The tiny Viennese star would much rather stand on her head.

And if you chanced upon the "Dreaming Lips" set during the filming of this Max Schach production, which comes to the Palace Theatre on Saturday, July 10, only, you might have seen "the greatest actress of our day" indulging her preference. For she turns several very superior somersaults in the course of the story.

People who sit too long on a fence may get splinters.

Soil Conservation Cards Sent to All Farmers

The county committee of the Soil Conservation program would like to call your attention to inspection cards that have been sent out from the office this week. These cards are being sent to every farmer in the county and if any one does not receive one, the office would like to have your name and address and one will be sent immediately.

These cards are to be signed and returned to the county office as soon after they are received as possible. On this card please indicate the fact that you would like to have your farm visited and measured by the group of inspectors.

The 1936 program has now been completed and all checks delivered to the farmers. Everything is now in readiness for the compliance visits which will start very soon. Instead of having less than 700 farmers participating in the program, we want at least 1000 this year.

CHAPTER XII

Afterward they went upstairs, through the familiar halls and past the familiar doors, to talk desultorily, inconsequentially, of anything and everything. When a wail from the kitchen took Gail down there again on flying feet, Ariel, bare-headed and looking young, small, and tired again, came too, and then Lily, Phil, and the boys came in and there was a babel and confusion in which somehow Gail and Ariel managed a cup of tea.

When Gail went upstairs after dinner, supposedly to superintend the little boys' retiring, it was to be noted that she remained there some additional moments. When she came down she wore her newest gown, a simple, thin black velvet gown that left her slender brown arms bare and fell away in a long line from the straight column of her throat and the curve of her young breast. At the throat there was golden old lace, her mother's lace, and Gail wore tonight her mother's old cameo ring.

The tawny locks that had been bobbed three years ago were longer now and gathered in a cluster of curls at the nape of her neck. Gail rarely showed any color, but tonight there was a subdued sparkle and shine about her; her white sweet mouth was burning scarlet, her sapphire eyes starry.

Phil, Lily, Sam, Ariel—they all sat in the room that had once been the lesser drawing room but that now had been changed into a living room.

The fireplace was opened, and logs crackled there. The boys' blocks and books were stored on the shelves, and a ring of comfortable shabby old chairs circled the hearth. Lily only listened tonight. She was a good deal older than Ariel, but she seemed a little afraid of her. Gail was rather silent, too. She sat, slender, thoughtful, and tawny-headed, at Phil's knee on a cushion. Her square shoulders rested against her brother, her square fingers were locked, her eyes thoughtful, and her full underlip slightly bitten.

Sam drafted for tomorrow afternoon's Challenge the announcement that would take all Clippersville by surprise. Little Ariel Lawrence, Mrs. Vance Murchison. Ariel, listening, correcting, appeared the least concerned of the five.

There was a step at the side door, a gust of rain-sweet air penetrated to the sitting room. Gail had known this must come. She did not stir, except to raise her eyes to Dick Stebbins as he came in.

Phil did most of the talking. Dick talked, too, to Lily—to all of them except Gail. To her he did not speak directly until the clock struck ten and she got to her feet.

"Ariel, you must go to bed. You must be dead. Come on!"

"Are you coming back, Gail?" said Dick then, with a glance.

"I think not. We'll be talking," Gail said, with a smile, "all night."

"Tomorrow I'll have to hang around the hospital in the hope of seeing poor Willoughby."

"If he died, Dick," Phil asked, "would that kind of throw the monkey wrench into your plans?"

"Well, in a way. There are two or three other propositions I could follow up," Dick answered, unruffled.

He was the old Dick, and he was a new Dick, too. A quiet big man, very sure of himself. His manner, his voice were more authoritative than they had been. He had not worn a big belted coat three years ago, nor jammed big gloves into its pockets.

"Willoughby is doing the London work for his eastern firm," he said. "And there was some talk of my going with him."

"I don't think so—not in Clippersville," he answered decidedly. "International law, you know . . .

"You mean the big musical comedy?"

"Yep."

"No, I haven't. It's playing in Oakland tomorrow."

"I noticed that," said Dick. "Went to go up?"

They were all looking on, suddenly awakened, suddenly aware of the situation. But she could not see anything but the lean, homely kindly face that was smiling—just the hint of a smile—at her.

"I'd love it!" she said.

• • • • • • •

The great news rocked Clippersville breakfast tables the next morning, and Gail, walking to the library in the delicious autumn freshness after the rain, was assailed on all sides.

"The family knew she was married," Gail said, over and over again, hoping that this was not stretching the truth to the breaking point. "But they were both so young—and Van had no prospects—and then that unfortunate business of the bankruptcy came."

But Ariel's marriage was in second place for her. She was thinking all the while that it was almost nine o'clock, and that in eight hours Dick Stebbins was coming to the house to take her off for dinner and the theater in Oakland, 35 miles away.

She did not have to wait so long to see him. At about ten o'clock he walked into the library and came up to the desk. Gail saw his looking figure in the entrance arcade, and her heart turned over completely, and the hand that was resting on her desk blotter trembled.

When he stood before her she reached both hands across the high desk.

"Dick, we couldn't say much before Lily last night. She's not to know everything. But how are we going to thank you for standing by Ariel, for saving her?"

"Why, that was all right!" he said, laughing a little awkwardly, flushing warmly.

"Ariel's only a child still, Dick; she can't appreciate it. But Phil and I do—I do, from the bottom of my heart!"

"I guess you know why I did it," he wanted to say. "I guess you know I was glad to do it!" was what she heard.

"That doesn't make it any less!" she told him.

"It's a nice town to get back to," he said, after awhile. "On a morning like this, with everything washed fresh and cool, there's something awfully friendly about it."

"And how's poor Mr. Willoughby?"

"Not so good."

"Mrs. Cantor," Gail said seriously, "told me that he had been told by the finest New York doctors that he would simply have to stop drinking and eating the way he was."

Dick listened respectfully to this and other Clippersville revelations. He had all his old simple, keen interest in Gail's point of view; he was especially concerned and amused over her reports of Lily and Ariel.

"They don't like each other?"

"Well, they're polite. But they have nothing in common!"

"No," he conceded, deeply struck, "I suppose not.

"But Lily makes Phil happy?" he asked anxiously, more than once.

"Oh, utterly! He's mad about her."

"And that's a cute baby!" Dick said, in satisfaction.

• • • • • • •

The autumn sun shone, and only the occasional fall of a yellow leaf through the crystal air indicated that the month was October and not May. The hills were transparent blue gauze, all about the canyon and the dam, when the Lawrences took their lunch up there on a hot clear Sunday afternoon. Gail and Dick walked up the creek bed alone, after the meal. Both their faces were flushed and damp when they sat down presently on a great fallen redwood, up in the sweet shadowy woods, and smiled at each other.

"Gail," said Dick then, "do you know that you have grown to be the most beautiful woman in the world?"

Her blue eyes deepened oddly, like summer water touched by cloud shadow.

"If you say so—" she stammered, finding her voice with difficulty.

Neither one could seem to speak again. Dick stood up, and after a second Gail got to her feet, too, and turned as if she would have gone back down the trail.

"I guess you know what I've come back for, Gail," Dick said then. "You've always been the only woman in the world for me. But to come back and find you—what you've grown to be—with all the town—every one—more or less in love with you—"

He stopped, for Gail had come up close to him and was holding out her hands. Dick put his big arms about her, and crushed her against his heart, and they kissed each other.

Dick Put His Big Arms About Her and Crushed Her Against His Heart.

It was half an hour after that first, deep kiss that shouts from the deserted party at the dam brought them back down the trail. Their hands were linked as they followed the rushing stream back; it was four o'clock on an October afternoon, the sun was already sinking.

Hot light poured through the thinning foliage, and lay graciously among the red, twisted madrone branches, and on the shafts of the redwoods. The birds were all still now, but bees went by like bullets, and here and there bright-winged flies buzzed in weaving columns in the sun.

"And all that time—all that time, Dick, you cared?"

"Yep. But I didn't know it was going to be all that time," he said honestly. "It—sort of—went on, from day to day."

"I knew I cared," the girl said seriously.

Suddenly the two stopped on the rough trail and smiled at each other.

"This all seems like a dream," Dick confessed.

Sun-browned, her tawny hair in a little disorder, her blue eyes bright, she stood looking up at him without speaking—her man, the man who was to take care of her, stand by her, and love her, all her days.

"Dick, after all these years—after all the other girls—it's so strange to think of myself as engaged!"

"It's strange to me to think that, at last—" He stopped on a brief, odd little laugh. "That at last I've gotten Gail Lawrence!" Dick finished it boyishly.

"It's all so strange," Gail mused, her fingers clinging to his, the glory and beauty of the autumn woods about them. "I'll be Mrs. Richard Stebbins!" she said.

"Gosh!" the big man said, smiling down at her, small and square and

WHEN DEMOCRACY FAILS

Democracy fails when a few selfish people usurp the good of all of the people to satisfy their own greed for power or wealth.

When a nation falls into bad habits such as continual higgling and haggling among leaders, a dangerous atmosphere is brewing.

People cannot indefinitely endure booms followed by depressions, and then the endless nerve-racking process of struggling back to the surface through a torrent of political arguments and corruptions.

It is too much to expect of the average run of individual.

The time has come for the nation to receive a definite assurance that a united effort is being made to curb inflation, reach a balanced budget and establish some feeling of security as to the future.

WAY BACK WHEN

We can remember back to the time when government was not supposed to be "for" or "against" any particular group or class, but, theoretically at least, acted in the capacity of arbiter among all groups and classes. In those halcyon days of yore, parties and individuals got elected but never, never received a "solemn mandate" to raise hell generally. We can remember when the wisdom of age was respected; when experience was rated above theory and when nobody thought he had a right to live without working.

LIVING UP TO MY AD

Giving you tops in Mileage

I know the trouble. So many oil ads yell mileage, that you can't tell one way or another. I don't want my own ads to be in that class, so I'd like you to know all I'm staking, when I personally recommend Conoco Germ Processed oil to you. In my case, you see, I'm the owner of my business. And there's nothing makes repeat customers for me like my Germ Processed oil . . . or I ought to say, the long mileage it gives you. The patent Germ Process makes this oil get fastened real firm to the bearings and cylinders and other parts—as if they'd been built with an actual plating of oil that can't separate . . . can't thin out and burn right up. Neither is it going to run down every time you stop. Then you can't make any "dry starts" with Oil-Plating, and right there is where engineers say you will end a good half of all the wear you used to get in Summer. The less wear, the less oil your engine eats. You'll get on to this yourself, from your cool quiet Oil-Plated engine. And that's how I make another good friend for Conoco Germ Processed oil.

FLUSHING BAR USED TO WARN, SAVE BIRDS

Farmers Asked to Use Precaution During Hay, Grain Harvesting

Because farm operations like harvesting grain and mowing hay often destroy nests of quail and other game birds, many farmers are using a flushing bar, reports the United States Department of Agriculture. The bar usually is a bamboo pole fastened to the neck yoke and extending in front of the sickle.

Strips of lightly weighted burlap attached to the pole drag through the grass or grain, flush the birds and locate the nests, over which the farmer can lift the sickle bar. Binders cutting high usually leave the nest undisturbed. Many farmers furnish food and cover to birds by leaving corners and odd spots in a field uncut.

Descriptions of flushing bars and other means of favoring wildlife are included in Farmers' Bulletin No. 1719, "Improving the Farm Environment for Wildlife," prepared in the Bureau of Biological Survey and available on request from the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

IMPORTANT CHANGES IN AUTO TAG LAWS

Legislature Sets March 1 as the New License Deadline in Future

Passage by the Legislature of the bill to make March 1 the annual deadline for the purchase of automobile license plates and stickers, with neither the secretary of state nor any other official authorized to extend this deadline, is believed by Leon D. Case, secretary of state, to be a step in advance. The present law permits the secretary of state to extend the final expiration date to March 1.

In addition to Case's desire to call public attention to these two important changes in the motor vehicle law, the secretary of state also points to the fee of 25 cents to be collected hereafter for the issuance of stickers or half-year permits. This fee will cover the extra cost of issuing half-year permits. The charging by the state of this small fee appears to be fair and proper, considering the accommodation represented by a half year installment plan for the purchase of a set of plates.

The bookkeeping, special costs represented by the printing and handling of the some half million stickers annually is an item which no one should long expect the state to absorb. The collection of the 25 cent fee will bring in approximately $125,000 annually, it is estimated.

MICHIGAN BELL TAX BENEFIT TO SCHOOLS

Company Paid $2,624,092 Wednesday, Half Going to Schools

Michigan'a public school system benefited today (Wednesday, June 30) through the payment into the primary school fund by the Michigan Bell Telephone Company of one-half of the company's state property tax bill of $2,624,092.47. The remaining half, to be paid by November 1, also will go into the primary school fund. A check for $1,312,046.24, for the first half, was handed to State Auditor General George T. Gundry, at Lansing, by Frank L. Hall, tax attorney for the Michigan Bell.

The Michigan Bell Company makes the largest payment into the primary school fund, from which tax money paid the state by this and other utility companies is returned each year to the 83 counties of the state in proportion to the school population of each, thus going directly into local school channels.

STATE LEGISLATURE PASSED 380 MEASURES

Number Introduced During Session Was 1086; 262 Yet to Be Signed

The 1937 Michigan Legislature sent 380 acts to Gov. Frank Murphy for approval, records reveal.

During the session 1,086 bills were introduced, of which 706 were defeated and 262 remain for gubernatorial action.

Murphy already had signed 112 new laws and vetoed six acts. The governor has 10 legal days in which to veto or sign an act after it is presented to him in printed, enrolled form.

In 1935 the Legislature received 1,044 new law proposals and enacted 292 of them.

The summer 24-hour schedule for state-owned ferry boats at the Straits of Mackinac was lnaugurated at 12:30 a. m. Friday, June 25.

It was originally planned to begin summer service July 1, but highway officials said early season automobile traffic had exceeded expectations and warranted the earlier beginning of frequent trips across the Straits.

Pending completion of alterations on the new state vessel, The City of Cheboygan, three state-owned boats will be in use. In addition, a leased boat and the railroad car ferry, Chief Wawatam, will be available for service as peak traffic to and from the Upper Peninsula demands.

Boats will operate on a "free schedule" beginning Friday, making trips whenever traffic is heavy enough to farrant a crossing from Mackinaw City to St. Ignace.

"It's all coms out like a story," Gail decided contentedly. She jerked her head, with a sudden little touch of self-consciousness, toward the unseen picnickers. "They know," she said, with an abashed grin.

"I don't know why they know," Dick answered, surprised.

"Oh, they do! But let's have it—ours, for just a little while," the girl pleaded. "Let's not tell them today, anyway."

"You're the boss," Dick agreed, as they went on.

The others were making preparations for departure. It was four o'clock. Gail gave no sign as she began to help gather sweaters and cups; Dick said nothing. But Lily shot Phil a significant glance, accompanied by a brief nod, and Phil went up at once to his sister and caught her by the arm and turned her about.

Gail's innocent inquiring glance changed guiltily, and she laughed, the rare hot color spreading over her face. In another second Phil had given a great shout, and Gail was laughing and crying in his arms, and Lily, leaping over her amazed children, had run to embrace Dick wildly.

After that every one laughed and shouted. It was Ariel who was the most surprised; entirely taken aback.

"But Dick Stebbins, Gail," she said later, in a faintly complaining tone, in the privacy of their own room. "He—after all, his father was our father's—well, foreman! Employee!"

"Ariel, you little fool!" Gail answered with a joyous laugh. She was too happy to quarrel.

"Well, after all, birth does count," Ariel said disconteutedly.

If Mr. Willoughby lived, then Dick would duly depart with him in a few weeks' time, and instead of following up the London offer would establish himself somewhere in the East, possibly in Washington.

If his superior died, Dick would go east at once, and follow the same course.

In either case he and Gail would be married in—say eight months.

"Call it a year. It's safer. Dick."

"Eight months. Maybe six."

"That would be April or May!"

"April or May."

He came soberly into the library, ten days after the picnic, to tell her that old Willoughby had quietly slipped away.

Gail's face paled a little.

"So it's no London?"

"No London."

"After all your work, Dick!"

"Oh, that! It'll come in, somehow, some day."

"But it does mean a fresh start?"

"In a way it does. But the thing I mind is leaving you."

"No help for it!" she said gallantly. "I suppose not."

"I have something, you know," she said hopefully, after a pause. "Phil is fixing it all up now. Ariel wants money, and Sam and I would as soon wait. So it looks as if we might get the ranch, he and I, and he says he'd like to live there and farm it, and put out twenty acres of table berries. If he does, even though it might be some time . . . And then there's The Bells of Saint Olles!" she added, in increasing hope. Dick laughed.

"It'll all work out," he said, following the laugh with a faint frown. "But—it isn't just what I wanted to offer you, my darling."

The last word fluttered her senses, and she laughed excitedly.

"Besides, there may be a miracle!" she said.

Dick looked into the honest, shining, loving blue eyes so near his own, and lightly touched the square, capable hand.

"You're the miracle!" he said.

The phrase was destined to become a household word. For it was but a few days later that Dick came to the Lawrence house to dinner, late, and handed a telegram to Gail across the rice muffins and the old blue milk pitcher and the glass bowl of pink October roses.

"Read it aloud."

Dazedly, she obeyed. It was signed "George G. Leavitt."

"We would be glad if you could arrange to take Paul Willoughby's place, assuming full responsibility for London office. Can offer you assistant if desired."

"Dick!" She swallowed hard. "What does it mean?"

"It means being picked out of the ranks, and handed a field marshal's commission!" Dick said in a voice that shook.

"Congratulations!" Phil said, his handsome Lawrence face one glow of pride and satisfaction.

"But Dick—Dick—can you," Gail stammered. "I mean—are you sure? Without—without—"

"There's one thing I can't do it without!" Dick admitted, folding the telegram to put it back into his breast pocket.

"Money?" Sam asked.

"Nope." Dick looked at Gail, and all the others laughed. "I won't do it without my wife," he said simply.

"But gosh!" This was Sam again. "You'd have to be married right off!"

Dick said nothing. He looked at Gail.

"Gail could be married tomorrow, and get out like a fire horse!" Lily said, and they all laughed.

It was exciting. Things were happening fast and furiously to the Lucky Lawrences at last. Miss Ariel's secret wedding had had all the town buzzing. Now Miss Abigail's plans had the right of way, and the little town was stirred with a deeper emotion!

"To—for the land's sake! To where?"

"To London, Mrs. Pine. For two years."

"For the land's sake! Well, don't forget your friends in Clippersville, Gail."

"As if I could!"

"Next Thursday! Next Thursday? For heaven's sake! Why the rush?"

"Dick—Mr. Stebbins—has to sail for London on the fifteenth. And we have ten days or two weeks in New York."

"Well, you certainly have taken folks' breath away!"

"Not any more than mine, I assure you, Mrs. Brush."

"You'll be back in Clippersville some day."

"Oh, indeed I hope so!"

"When d'you leave the lib'ary, Gail?"

"Tomorrow night."

"Well, I declare it won't seem like the same place without you!"

They were all so kind. Old associates in tears, old friends carrying armfuls of brightly polished huckleberry and pungent chrysanthemums to the Lawrence house. Presents, presents, presents—every one in town had to have a finger in Gail's new equipment.

In Muller's she looked at the incredibly smart ensemble: the tan silk blouse, the tobacco-brown coat with a great white fur collar.

"The tag seems to be gone, Mr. Muller. Not that I think it's—just my price."

"It is thirty dollars," said old Muller steadfastly. The saleswoman almost cried out. Even unsophisticated Gail looked bewildered.

"Thirty dollars!"

"Thirty."

She tried it on that night for the family, pulled down the rich little tobacco-brown hat over her eyes.

"You're stunning!" said Lily and Ariel.

"Gee, you're cute!" Sam and Phil said.

Dick said nothing.

The days were full of delights; in the long evenings she and Dick sat by the fire and planned.

"What keeps us in New York for ten days, Dick?"

"Oh, I have to see Mr. Leavitt, and we have to get you a winter coat—or maybe we could get that in London."

"All I know is," Gail said, "that when you say 'a London coat,' you say something."

"But you'd need it on the steamer, you see."

"Dick, I assure you in all seriousness that I can't believe my ears!"

"It's going," he said slowly, with a rich content in his voice, "to be fun!"

"Imagine our paying for things in shillings and pence, Dick!"

It was an inexhaustibly diverting thought. Once she said wistfully, "Would any of Dickens' London be left, Dick, do you suppose? I mean all around Lincoln's Inn, where Traddles had all the girls, and down 'round the docks and bridges where Lizzie Hexam and her father rowed, and in the law courts where Snagsby bolted his bread and butter?"

He laughed at her tenderly.

"My darling, I don't know Dickens as you do!"

"I should love to see the old Marshalsea," she mused, "and Arthur Clenham's house, and the gate where they found Lady Dedlock!"

Old Miss Roundtree, born in London, came especially to warn her. The Hyde Park neighborhood was the nice neighborhood, my dear. There were very nice flats in all those streets; the Stebbinses couldn't do better, unless they meant to go as far out as St. John's Wood. But they must keep away from the Pimlico district. These things were important at home.

Mrs. Wilbur, Lily's extraordinary mother, also had advice to impart.

"You might easily take it for seasickness, d'ye see? But there'll be a good doctor on board, and you look him up the first thing. He'll tell ye the difference. Not that there's anything to be afraid of, but it's as well to take care of yourself, from the beginning."

"I'm not one bit worried about that. What does worry me is that I might be the sort that never—"

"Well, you're not!" said the oracle firmly. "You're one that'll have to look out now, not to get all run down!"

"Honestly, Ma," Lily said, "your idea of conversation with a girl who's going to be married in two days simply gets me!"

Mrs. Wilbur was undaunted. She instantly recalled the case of a girl who had mistaken a discomfort far more significant for sea-sickness, and who had died and been buried at sea. Lily and Gail laughed the tears into their eyes, the older woman could not see why.

"Havin' children's as natural as breathin'," she said indignantly. "They say the Indian women simply drop out on the march . . ."

"Do you know whom I'm going to miss like everything, Lil?" Gail asked in an undertone, after awhile.

"Phil?" suggested Phil's wife.

"Phil, too, and of course the baby. But I meant Wiff-waff," said Gail. "He and I understand each other; I never dreamed that I could love a little boy as much as that!"

"He'll miss you, too," Lily said, tears in her bright sharp eyes. "But won't we all!" she added simply.

It was only Ariel, of them all, of all Clippersville, who could not share the excitement and pleasure of Gail Lawrence's marriage. Ariel had somehow lost her birthright of little sister-ship; there had been no happy flurry of flowers, gifts, wedding frocks, and wedding plans for her; and she looked on at Gail's excitement and emotion with disillusioned, hard young eyes and a faint curl of the lip.

"Do you know anything about Manchester?"

"Manchester?"

"The New Jersey town where Van is, where you'll live?"

"Not much." Ariel's tone would be utterly dreary. "Van says there's a country club."

"That might be fun!"

"I don't imagine anything in New Jersey is fun. It sounds to me like a horribly jay place!"

"Maybe you'll have a baby, Ariel. That will keep you busy!"

"Maybe I won't," Ariel answered, setting her jaw firmly.

"Oh, darling—you love children."

"I know," Ariel conceded grudgingly, and was silent. "Men always get the best of everything!" she added resentfully.

"Well, as far as I can see," Gail said healthily, "Van is working hard on a rather dull job, and seems to be an immensely improved—" she altered the word—"developed young man!" she finished.

"Why should what a girl does be so much worse than what a man does!" Ariel said darkly, out of thought.

"Oh, darling, we can't go back to that!"

"I mean, why should a man be able to throw anything up to his wife, when he himself was in it—talked her into doing it?" Ariel demanded.

Gail flushed with distaste.

"I don't think a decent man would do that, Ariel!" she said warmly.

But words were no use. Twenty-one, beautiful, married to the man she had chosen, yet the secret of content was denied Ariel, and she could only look forward with apprehension, and backward with regret. The look in Dick's eyes when he came to steal a few words with his promised wife was a sealed book to Ariel, as was the light that shone on Gail's face as she went to meet him. There had been no mystery, no waiting, no fragrance and glory to Ariel's surrender—excited, reckless, their sudden desire knowing no law, their breath stained with food and drink and cigarettes, she and Van had possessed each other casually, without premeditation, unashamed and unfearing before the hour that found them in each other's arms; ashamed and fearful forever afterward.

Ariel tried to feel contempt for Gail, so innocent, so awed, so trembling with love and faith at the door of the temple. Ariel was but twenty-one, but life had hardened her; she had aged ten years in the last three. Nothing thrilled Ariel now, no promises rang true in her ears, no prospect allured her. And Gail at twenty-seven, Gail who wrote stories and handled unmanageable little boys and novel-loving old ladies so expertly—Gail was only a child, going in utter unknowingness to her bridal night. To Gail men could still be fine, good, worthy of trust and love; to Gail marriage and motherhood would be the very crown of life.

When Gail and Dick sat before the fire in the late evenings, and when Ariel, reading in the next room or loitering discontentedly up to bed, heard their low voices, their low laughter, she tried to despise them.

But after all it was hard to despise beauty and strength and hope; it was hard to despise the prospect that embraced travel and new cities, and the crossing of the great ocean. Above all, it was hard to despise love, and how these two loved each other!

"Why the blue stripe, Dick?"

"Willoughby gave me that idea. We'll be travelling, off and on. We'll go over to Paris for Christmas, maybe. And it helps you pick out your baggage."

"Oh, thrills!" sang Gail.

"But listen to me, Dicky," she said, on the afternoon before the great day itself. "Mark me well. If you were running this ranch as your father did, and if you and I were moving in here tomorrow, I'd be just as happy. I'd be just as happy! I'd bake you biscuits and sweep out this old kitchen."

FROM the day of its introduction, the Firestone Standard Tire has more than lived up to its name by setting a new high standard of tire values. Hundreds of thousands of car owners have already bought it because they saw in it more value for their money.

"How does Firestone do it? How can they build so many extra value features into Firestone Standard Tires and yet sell them at such low prices?" The answer is simple — Firestone controls better-quality rubber and cotton supplies at their source, keeps manufacturing costs low by efficient factory methods and sells in such huge volume that distribution costs are held to a minimum. That is why Firestone has been able to give you such extra value features as Gum-Dipping, two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords under the tread and eight extra pounds of rubber to every 100 pounds of cord, at no extra cost to you.

Make no mistake about this! The Firestone Standard Tire gives you the blowout protection of Firestone's patented Gum-Dipping process. Its scientifically designed tread gives greater non-skid protection and longer wear. And those two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords under the tread guard against punctures.

Before you buy ANY tire at ANY price, see today's top tire value—the Firestone Standard Tire. Don't risk your life with thin, worn tires on your Fourth of July trip. Join the Firestone SAVE A LIFE Campaign today by equipping your car with a set of new Firestone Standard Tires.

BEGIN CONSTRUCTION FOR MUSKEGON FETE

Centennial Celebration, Depicting the Lumber Era, Opens July 17

Actual contruction of the Greater Muskegon Centennial and Lumberjack Festival stockade and buildings, which opens at Muskegon for 15 days July 17, is rapidly nearing completion.

The giant statue of Paul Bunyan, mythical all-time logger of the middle west, which is to occupy the very center of the inclosure and will stand almost 50 feet in height and weigh almost 25 tons, will be erected within a few days, at which time the log stockade will also be finished.

Final arrangements have also been made to make certain the attendance of Sarah Isaacs, who lives near Bradley, Mich., and is an Indian woman 110 years old, the most aged resident of the state. Mrs. Bradley was born in Michigan and has lived here entirely with the exception of about five years in Canada, where she fled when the federal government attempted a resettlement program affecting her tribe in Western Michigan.

The aged Indian woman will be escorted to Muskegon by some score of her tribesmen, and will be met at the stockade gates by Dorothy Paulson, chosen by popular vote the queen of the big celebration and known as "the belle of the timberlands." She expects to remain in Muskegon at the Centennnal Indian village during the entire time of the event.

The Centennial marks the 100th anniversary of the founding of Muskegon as a city and the entry of Michigan as a state into the Union. It is also the 300th anniversary of the birth of Fr. Jacques Marquette, the first prelate to explore Western Michigan, the 150th anniversary of the acquisition of the Northwest Territory, and the 50th anniversary of the year during which the 47 sawmills of Muskegon produced over 700,000,000 feet of lumber which was shipped to all parts of the middle west, this performance making of this city the lumber metropolis of the world.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY

Sunday morning service, 10:45.

Sunday school, 12 o'clock.

Meets first Wednesday evening each month at 7:45 p. m.

Reading room open Saturday, 3 to 5 p. m.

We cordially invite the public to our service and reading room.

"God" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, July 4.

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Ps. 75:1): "Unto thee, O God, do we give thanks, unto thee do we give thanks: for that thy name is near thy wondrous works declare."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 228): "There is no power apart from God. Omnipotence has all-power, and to acknowledge any other power is to dishonor God."

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS
By Ann Page

The long Fourth of July week-end needs a well stocked larder and plenty of foods that can be eaten cold. For picnics plenty of bread, canned meats and fish, peanut butter, preserves, salad dressing, butter, eggs, cheese, lettuce, tomatoes, cucumbers, fruits and beverages are essential.

Favorite fruits for this holiday are bananas and oranges, watermelons, peaches, cherries, and plums. Berries do not carry well on picnics though they are plentiful and reasonably priced for home meals. The first few new crop apples and pears are in market.

Seasonable foods make up these holiday menus.

Low Cost Dinner

Cold Cuts Potato Salad
Quartered Tomatoes
Bread and Butter
Cottage Pudding Berry Sauce

EDITORIAL

YOUTH AND OPPORTUNITY

We have heard a great deal of restricted opportunities for youth. Quite the reverse is true. Our "frontier" is just as real today, just as full of possibilities as it ever was, although it is no longer geographical.

Today, ten million people are employed directly in industries which scarcely existed at the turn of the century: moving pictures, automobiles, radio, air conditioning and aeronautics, to name a few. The development of these gigantic industries was made possible only by incessant research and experimentation, in which laboratory workers, engineers, designers and manufacturers march hand-in-hand toward new frontiers of opportunity. Does anyone believe that this march is ended? If so, let me quote the prediction of David Sarnoff, Radio Corporation's president, who says that within five years every piece of radio equipment now on the market will be considered obsolete!

New frontiers are to be found in occupations usually overlooked. Anyone who travels around our country is bitterly depressed by the wretched quality of food served in most restaurants and hotels. Occasionally, just to prove that it can be done, a man or woman makes an outstanding success serving appetizing meals.

There are 25 million automobiles in America, but every motorist knows there is a dire need for thoroughly reliable and competent garage service.

One more instance of a once humble occupation being raised to professional levels is the cleaning and dyeing business. An establishment in a New England city has achieved such superlative results that 2600 out-of-town customers from 12 surrounding towns send their clothing to them by mail or express.

There are modern occupations and opportunities that never before existed for the majority of mankind.—Excerpt from "New Frontiers for Youth" by Harry Woodburn Chase, Reader's Digest for June.

FORGIVE AND FORGET

The Bible gives us the best of all methods for getting even with an enemy—forgive and forget!

While the several authors of this technique were not versed in psychology, the answer they gave was psychologically sound. Revenge is as bitter and poisonous a cup as the wrong heart is capable of brewing. Getting even never pays.

Because human kind has found this truth to be workable, a saying has come down the ages—to heap coals of fire on your adversary's head. In a world where people have come to expect retaliation for injury, the presence of a good deed in return for a bad one works wonders.

The weakness of the vindictive heart is that the individual who harbors vengeance becomes the first victim of it. Your enemy is likely to be the last to feel the fury of your hate. But it is with the hater day and night, poisoning his waking and sleeping hours.

The man who cannot forgive and forget the inurijes done him, both fancied and real, will find that malice borns like an acid, distorting his vision and unbalancing his powers of judgment.

The best method of getting even is to forget it. If you have a real enemy, there is nothing that will "burn him up" more thoroughly than to know you regard him as unimportant.—Grit.

WHO'S PAYING FOR IT?

Attorney General Cummings, and the president of Labor's Nonpartisan League, George Berry, addressed mass meetings in 26 cities on Mr. Roosevelt's plan for reshaping the Supreme Court.

Their speeches are carried over a nationwide radio network.

That costs money.

And many people would probably like to know where the money comes from to finance this particular piece of propaganda.

Are there any Congressional appropriations earmarked for the purpose of putting on the air arguments for a political adventure, with which a very large body of taxpayers are not in agreement?

And if not, are appropriations for other purposes being diverted to an attempt to convert people to the court packing proposal, against their better reason and convictions?

The public has a right to know.—The Detroit Free Press.

A LITTLE PATCH OF GROUND

Interest in the growing of flowers at home never was as keen as it has been in recent years. The formation of garden clubs in large and small communities has given impetus to the beautification of yards and the development of flower gardens.

In nearly every community can be found gardeners that have specialized in particular flowers and have succeeded in cultivating them to the point where they rival many of the specimens grown for commercial purposes.

SPRING FEVER

The sulphur season has arrived. This is the time of year when Grandmother used to get out her sulphur and molasses and prepare a brimstone broth to cure that seasonal malady, spring fever.

Some skepties contend that spring fever is purely a state of mind brought on by the baseball season. But, says the Literary Digest, more and more doctors are swinging around to the belief that it actually is a physical condition.

There is nothing feverish about spring fever. It submits to no test by a clinical thermometer. Sufferers are detected by such overt symptoms as the yawn, the dawdle and the lackluster eye. A desire to be where one is not, preferably on a South Sea Isle; a wish to possess $1,000,000; repetitious day-dreams having to do with giving the boss a harsh laugh and walking out cold despite his pitiful protests.

The remedy? Get out into the fresh air, absorb sunshine, get plenty of exercise and increase the consumption of such vitamin charged foods as fresh vegetables and fruit.

Growing Bumper Crops Without Any Soil

An article, in The American Weekly with the July 4 issue of The Detroit Sunday Times, tells of the remarkable results of "dirtless farming," by which vegetables, flowers and even fruit can be raised with a few cheap chemicals—in water, sand or sawdust—in small places.

CALLS DAIRY KEY TO STATE POCKET

Milk Pail Source of Considerable Income for the Farmers

City and rural areas alike have such a great reliance and investment in the dairy business in Michigan that efficient production and greater consumption of dairy products within the state can be called the key to Michigan prosperity.

This challenge is made by A. C. Baltzer, extension dairyman at Michigan State College. Citing the fact that one-third of the total farm income is derived from the milk pails used in this state, the college man seeks increased use of dairy products by farmers and by city workers in order to keep up the spending ability and bank balances of both.

Substitutes for dairy products annually total 390 million pounds in the United States. Their use is pointed out by Baltzer as evidence of lack of understanding of what could bring better markets for Michigan manufactures produces by city workers by purchasing food products offered from Michigan farms.

Proof that farmers would be better able to purchase cars and other products is offered by a few figures. Remembering that the milk pail is the source of considerable Michigan income, Baltzer suggests these benefits from eating butter and cheese and drinking milk instead of substitutes:

Farmers alone would have 24 millions more to spend in cash if they would stop purchasing butterfat substitutes. Michigan's share would be $1,700,000.

Two cents would be added to the value of each of the 1,700,000,000 pounds of butter consumed annually in the United States.

Forty million dollars, or eight cents a hundredweight would be added to the value of whole milk.

Health of boys and girls and adults would be improved through greater use of dairy products.

"All Blood Is Red," a thrilling serial of love and adventure in China by George Agnew Chamberlain starts in This Week, the magazine with next Sunday's Detroit News. Don't fail to read this great yarn.

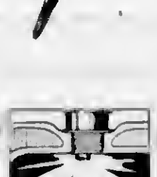
Every drop of crude contains many different combinations of hydrogen and carbon. These hydro-carbons in the refining process are separated into different groups.

One group of hydro-carbons is very volatile and produces quick starting. Another is somewhat less volatile and produces acceleration; still another group of "heavier" hydro-carbons produces the power which gives long mileage. By the Sun Oil process of selecting and reassembling these various groups, all groups are given knockless characteristics.

So in making our gasoline today, the crude is split up, the desirable parts assembled by Sunoco's precision control and the result is an unusually high-quality motor fuel . . .

Geared-up Blue Sunoco.



QUICK STARTING

Quick starting depends upon the presence in a motor fuel of a group of very "light" liquids. These, as they are found in unfinished gasolines, are seldom in the proper proportions and usually contain gasems and too volatile fractions which cause power loss and vapor lock.

The precision-controlled Blue Sunoco refining process retains only the desirable, easily ignited liquids in exactly the proper proportions.

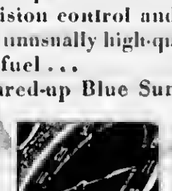
FAST ACCELERATION

Blue Sunoco gives brilliant acceleration because it contains exactly the right amount of "medium light" liquids selected from the many hydro-carbons which compose crude oil.

The precision control, used in manufacturing Blue Sunoco, insures its uniformity and results in a motor fuel that is outstanding for its lightning-like, high-test action.

KNOCKLESS POWER

When a motor knocks it loses power. Blue Sunoco's process for the perfect control of refining temperatures and pressures achieves a high knockless rating by taking apart those hydro-carbons which ordinarily cause knocking, and reconstructing them so that more uniform power may be delivered throughout the entire piston stroke.



LONG MILEAGE

Blue Sunoco's long mileage is due in the first place to its knockless power, and in the second place to the precision of its manufacturing process which takes apart and rebuilds the "heavy" particles so that they actually deliver in a gasoline engine more usable energy—more horse power. This plus power is responsible for Blue Sunoco's long mileage.

And since Blue Sunoco sells at regular gas price, it gives the utmost in economical performance.

TAKES TEN EGGS FOR HEN TO PAY

Good Rations for Young Growing Stock Important This Month

Good rations for young growing stock are far more important this month and next than to skimp on pullet feeding care in order to coax along some lazy hens that ought to be culled.

This is the advice of the poultry department at Michigan State College. Staff members report that each hen in the flock should be laying at least 10 eggs a month in order to pay the feed bill. Even with extra green feed on ranges, the lazy hens ought to be culled out. With high feed prices, the care of the growing pullets should receive attention, as these younger birds are the key to possible egg profits next fall and early winter.

Older birds that show yellow beaks, seem to be losing weight, or have gone broody should go to market or canned for use on the table next winter.

In spite of the inducement offered by high feed prices, good pullet care is considered essential. Proper feeding should be observed even if it is necessary to sell off some pullets in order to feed the rest adequately.

J. M. Moore, secretary of the Michigan Poultry Improvement Association, draws attention to another success factor. That is the pest angle of lice and mites. Lice may be controlled by two applications of Black Leaf 40 applied to the perches with a ten day interval between treatments. Only a very thin strip should be painted on each perch, but every bird should roost on those perches that night. The second treatment is to kill of those lice not hatched at the time of the first treatment. Mites live on the birds at night. Painting perches and nests with wood preserver, carbolineum, crude creosote or equal parts of crankcase oil and kerosene are recommended for mite treatment.

FRUIT PROSPECTS MAKE ORCHARDISTS OPTIMISTIC

Michigan's prospects for a good fruit harvest this year are good enough to make nearly all orchard men in the state optimistic. With a large volume of apples, cherries, peaches and grapes, hopes center around good prices.

In a recent survey by V. R. Gardner, director of the Michigan Experiment Station, and R. E. Marshall, professor of pomology at Michigan State College, fruit crops evidently have a good start.

One of the best sour cherry yields ever grown is expected in Southwest Michigan.. The state as a whole is expected to show about a 60 per cent sour cherry crop. Good yields of sweet cherries also are forecast.

CAMP CHARLEVOIX WEEKLY NEWS COLUMN

Edited by Ed. Taylor

Once again we come together. Sundsy camp got under way in smooth fashlon and by now everyone is acquainted with everyone else and the largest group of boys ever to inhabit the Limberlost are all having a great time and looking forward to an enjoyahle summer of working and playing together.

It is the purpose of this weekly column to acquaint the parents with the activities of their aons and keep them informed as to what is going on here at camp. We hope that as you slt in the hot Southern Michigan sun reading this column, that the descriptions will be vivid enough so that you can feel the cool Lake Charlevoix breezes blowing and the mere reading of the news from camp will tend to lessen your suffering.

Sunday morning a greater part of the boys arrived bag and baggage on the Pere Marquette. Ken Smith and George Cunningham looked wide awake and lively after chaperoning the trip from Detroit. All day long the boys continued to arrive, and by night almost everyone was safe in camp.

Sunday morning the opening nssembly was held in the clubhouse. The "Chief" welcomed the boys to camp. A counsellors' choir furnished the music.

In the evening the opening council ring ceremony was held at the sacred council ring. The new campers were made probation members of the Tribe of Charlevoix and will receive the second degree of the initiation ceremony Friday evening.

The activities the past few mornings have consisted of an orientation period for the boys to become acquainted with the different camp activities and the instructors who teach them. Later in the week the campers will choose the different activities in which they wish to participate and the regular moroing groups will start.

This week will see the first of the overnight trips leaving camp. Thursday night Ken Smith will take his group of boys on a canoe trip down the Jordan River. Those going with him are Jim Daniels, Herb Berdan, Bob Million, Jim Karn, Bud Summerfield, Don Blue, Sheldon Putnaon and Don Blue. Friday evening Tom Hart will take Don McHenry, Bob Huber, Vern Evans, Allen Clausen, Harris Willis ann Charles Mareus.

Snturday night Herb Johnson will present the first of his dramatic programs. Sunday afternoon the different sections will be out of camp on different trips. The juniors will go to Mt. McSauba in the covered wagon, the intermediates will travel to Cross Village in the truck, while the seniors will use the sailboats and canoes.

Monuday will see the big barbecue. As per usual on the day, the Fourth of July is celebrated some special treat is given the boys and counsellors. This year a sheep will be barbecued by a crew of special chefs and will be served with all the trimmings at the evening meal.

Monday will start the Green-Gray competition. The sides will be chosen by then and a haseball game will inaugurate the championship race.

Parents please note! The camp is running on Central Standard Time, which is one hour slower than regular Michigan time. Notice will be given when we change back to the regular schedule. The first visiting day will be Saturday, July 10.

One of the most popular features of the summer is going to be Bob Erwin and his marimba. Besides being a competent man on this instrument, Erwin is also serving as camp bugler and later will organize an orchestra.

BALLS AND STRIKES

By Dean Davenport

The Michigan Softball League is a non-profit organization, interested in keeping the game on a high amateur plane, out of the hands of privnte promoters, interested in profit. One of the principal reasons for joining this associatioo is to insure the amateur status of high school and college young meo. It also helps to educate the public regarding the excellent qualities of the game for players of all ages, and of both sexes, as well as to assist in the promotion and the improvement of the game among those who eogage in the sport solely for the pleasure and the physical, mental and social recreation they derive therefrom.

And now, as we go into our own City Softball Leagne, we find some mighty interesting games played during the past week. If you have not witnessed nny of these games played so far in our league, you really have missed a lot of fun, it costs you nothing, only perhaps a little cheering, and you soon get into the spirit of the thing after seeing a couple of games.

The Knights of Pythias took the spotlight the past week, by winning their last three games and moving up from third place into first. In a wild, free scoring, heavy hitting game with Ironton on Thursday night, the K.P.s were on the long end of a 20 to 15 score. Each player from both teams scored at least one run, and every player but three got two hits apiece. Friday evening tho Board of Commerce toppled the Kays from first place by the close margin of 7 to 6. "Crick" Gallngher, the Kays' pitcher, being a trifle late in arriving, the B. of C. went to work on Shapton and scored four big runs in the first inning. Although the Kays made a good comeback by going one run ahead in their half of the last inning, Gallagher's wildness cost them a victory, as three walks mixed with two hits produced two runs and victory for the B. of C.

Monday evening the B. of C. and K. of P. played a fine game with the K.P.s winning 7 to 5. Bill and Junior Supernaw worked on the mound, allowing only two hits, while Harry Ladd, working for B.C., allowed seven. The Commerce team had one big inning—the fourth—in which they scored four of their five runs on two walks, two errors with Doc Todd and K. Miles coming through with the only two hits of the game.

Two more games remain to be played in this first round, between the Kays and Ironton. If the Kays win both gnmes, it will require a playoff to determine the winner. Providing the Kays split with Ironton, they will have to play the Board of Commerce for second place honors.

The Official League opens as soon as the Belvedere players arrive for the summer, which will probably be immediately after the Fourth of July. However, the Knights of Pythias team have been invited to play in Petoskey, in their newly lighted park, the night of the Fourth. K.P.s please take note. Providing the Kays win a double header from Ironton, the play-off, for first place, will take place on the south side field Friday night of thia week.

Safe and Sane DRIVING

CHILDREN LEARN SAFETY

Figures tell an interesting story about children in relation to motor car accidents. Although children are increasing steadily in number, child accident fatalities are steadily decreasing.

For children under five years, the death rate per 100,000 population increased from 8.9 in 1922 to 13.8 in 1929. But then a fairly steady decrease set in until it reached 9.6 in 1934.

Children of school age (five to 14 years) had an even better experience. In 1922 the rate was 14.1, and it increased until 1927 when it reached 16.0. Then followed an almost continuous recession which pulled the rate down to 13.5 in 1934 —0.6 below 1922.

Here is another striking thing about these figures. From 1922 to 1935 the child fatality total increased only four per cent, while the total for persons from 15 to 64 years jumped 186 per cent. Children are now learning how to be safe among the hazards of street and highway, but the older folks are still very careless.

Credit for this improvement in the accident experience of children is due largely to training in the schools.

A vital feature of the English system of labor legislation is the law which compels trade unions to submit to the government financial statements of expenditures for political purposes. Union members can refuse to contribute part of their dues for non-uoion activities, and they have to signify in writing their willingness to make a contribution out of union funds for political enmpaigns.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT

Preschool Summee Round-Up Now in Progress in All Counties

What the future of the presehool child is to be dependa on the care it has in the beginning; but it also most certainly depends on an effeetlve follow-up of that beginning. The summer round-up of children is a eampaign to send to the entering grade of school or kindergarten a elass of children as free aa possible from remedial defects. The ultimate goal is to educate parents to the need for early periodic examinntions of their children by their family physician and dentist in order to insure correction of hampering defects which might not otherwise be discovered until the child enters school.

For the past several weeks preparations and arrangements have been made for this annual check-up of preschoolers by conducting preschool clinics in various centers. These clinics have been conducted by the District Health Department in the counties of Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego. Many of these clinics were arranged through the help of the local Parent-Teachers' Associations and child health committees in encouraging parents to come to the clinic for their youngsters' examinations. The nttendance ao far has been very good and it is the desire of the Health Department to continue these clinics throughout the months of July and August.

The summer round-up is based upon the belief that the home is responsible for the health of the preschool child and that the home can make no greater contribution to the school than a scholar ready to take advantage of what education has to offer. Since a child's progress in school is influenced to a great extent hy his physical condition, he will have a much better chance for normal progress and for happiness in his associations with other children if he enters school as free as possible from physical defects. In every case parents are urged to take their children to the family physician and dentist for correction of any defects discovered in the general examination.

Of the approximately 100,000 preschool children examined each year during the summer round-up, it has been found that the child needs medical attention in almost every ease and his chances are one to two that he needs to see a dentist. Not only is this preschool health program worth while for the children, but it also offers a medium through which valuable instruetion in child health is brought to parents.

Here may be driven home the following basic principles upon which the good health of growing children depends:

1. The development of health habits such as adequate sleep, rest, exercise, a well-balanced diet, personal cleanliness, and healthy mental attitudes.

2. The removal of existing physical defects such as bad teeth, infected tonsils, adenoids, poor vision, impaired hearing, hereditary tendencies, and others.

3. Periodic health examinations.

Now is an exeellent time to check up any indications of the above defects present in your child. Plan to see your family physician for a general check-up or watch your local newspapers for the preschool clinic to be held this summer. If your child has not been vaccinated against smallpox or immunized against diphtheria, plan to have these protective measures administered at the time of his examination.

LUECKE SEEKS REASONS FISH DECLINE

WOULD INVESTIGATE GREAT LAKES COMMERCIAL NETTING

Uniform Regulations and Limiting of Catches on Great Lakes Are Suggested as a Remedy

Congressman John Luecke introduced a resolution June 23 in Congress calling for an investigation of the fishing industry on the Great Lakes. This action was taken as the result of a study which revealed some startling figures on fish production in recent years compared to previous years.

In a speech on the floor of the House, Luecke stressed the alarming decline in production of fish in the Great Lakes area during the past decade, citing figures to show the extinction, actual or threatened, of the blackfin, bloater, salmon, sturgeon, chub and Lake Erie cisco, as well as several additional species of chubs. He pointed out that yellow perch has declined 50 per cent in Lake Michigan and 75 per cent in Lake Huron; that the Lake Superior bluefin is gone; and that the Lake Michigan blackfin and Lake Ontario bloater have all but disappeared. Statistics were presented showing that in 1924 Lake Erie produced 21,250,000 pounds of cisco whereas by 1934 the catch had dwindled to 111,000 pounds.

With the advent of the deep-trap net production of whitefish in Michigan waters rose to 8,455,338 pounds in 1931, and then dropped sharply until in 1936 the catch totaled but 2,516,836 pounds, despite the use of twice as many nets in the latter year.

Luecke then quoted from the fishing laws of Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Indiana, Ohio, New York, Pennsylvania and Ontario, showing the multiplicity of conflicting regulations regarding the size of nets, mesh and duration of open seasons.

Emphasizing the national character of the Great Lakes, the speaker pointed out that this area is the greatest source of fresh water fish for the nation and that it provided recreational facilities for millions of people from outside states.

Referring to the alarming situation which confronts an industry employing 10,000 men, over 5,000 boats and having a capital investment of many millions, Luecke pleaded for conservation of commercial fish before it becomes too late.

In conclusion, Luecke stated it was his conviction that uniform laws and federal guidance in working out conservation policies must be undertaken if commercial fishing in the Great Lakes area is to be saved.

Representative Luecke's resolution authorizes an investigation of the fisheries and fishing industry of the Great Lakes by the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries, with the view of determining the condition and prospects of such fisheries and industry, their relation to the nation's food supply, and the most appropriate methods of conserving and promoting such industry in the public interest. The resolution empowers the Bureau of Fisheries to cooperate with and utilize the services of agencies fo states bordering on the Great Lakes, and directs that periodical reports on the results of the investigation be furnished to tho Congress, together with recommendations for remedial legislation.

MIDWAY AT CHERRY FESTIVAL THIS YEAR

Precedent Dropped by Permitting Concessions at Traverse City

Breaking a time-honored precedent, the National Cherry Festival at Traverse City this year will open its program to permit a carnival atmosphere to run riot. Heretofore no Midway has been allowed to set up during the three-day Festival, and concessionaires were not allowed to exercise their professional talents within the city limits.

This year the Festival will have Midways scattered all over the business section. From morning until midnight the Festival visitor will be able to find a show going on somewhere. Strolling troubadours will entertain with songs and instrumental music on the streets, jugglers and acrobats, comedians and ventriloquists will start their performance wherever the mood and the crowd suits them, and Traverse City for three days will be one giant circus.

There will be a score of different rides on the ground and in the air. You will be able to hit the colored gentleman on the head to your heart's content. Wherever you go, there will be someone or something to entertain you, and the more you join in the Mardi Gras spirit of the Festival the better Traverse City will like it.

For the chief social event of the Festival, the Queen's Ball, the committee has secured the famous dance band of Maurie Sherman, the man who made the College Inn in Chicago one of the country's famous night clubs, and who is now the hit of Chicago with his nightly music at the Casino Parisien in the Hotel Morrison. Sherman will play from 9 p. m. until 2 a. m. on Coronation Day, July 15.

EXPECT TREE DAMAGE WILL BE ENDED SOON

Tent Caterpillars Likely to Enter Moth Stage in Short Time

Considerable damage has been done to foliage in some parts of the county by tent caterpillar worms. In places, the leaves have been eaten so thoroughly that the trees are stripped and look as if a fire had gone through, or as if winter had come.

A possibility is seen that damage may soon cease. The belief is expressed that the worms would soon enter the moth stage of their life cycle. The moths are not considered tree enemies.

Tent caterpillar worms appear and disappear at intervals of a period of years. For several years the worms have been present in destructive quantities. It is said that perhaps this year may be the last of their present appearance, and that they may disappear after this season for a number of years.

SPEEDBOAT RACES AT 4TH JULY CELEBRATION

East Jordan Plans Extensive Program for Big Three-Day Event

Many improvements will be noticed by the old-timers when they return to East Jordan for the semi-centennial celebration next week, July 3, 4 and 5.

With the completion of the work along the islands in Sportsmen's Park, an entirely different picture presents itself to the people today from the days when the large lumber schooners were tied up at the wharves taking on their loads of lumber.

The water front is not the only part of the town that has changed. One of the biggest chances to be noted is the new "evening dress" on the Temple Theatre. The Temple, which advertises itself as "The Show Place of the North," has just added a new modernistic marquee to the front which places it without peer among the theatres of Northern Michigan.

The big attraction on Sunday will be the speedboat and outboard races on Lake Charlevoix. Silver cups will be given the first and second place winners. Trials for the entrants will be held in the morning.

A passenger plane will be on hand all three days to make flights with people. A ball game with a fast team has been lined up for each day and there will also be horseshoe pitching contests. There will be plenty of rides, sideshows, boxing matches, street and water sports.

As a grand finale Monday evening, July 5, the finest display of fireworks ever shown in Northern Michigan will be fired over Lake Charlevoix.

HOLIDAY CROWDS SET NEW RECORD

MANY COTTAGERS, AND HOTELS HAVE BIG GUEST LISTS

Predictions of Bumper Resort Season Proven As All Previous Records Fall at Straits

Substantiating, partially at least, the prediction that the 1937 summer season would establish a record, Charlevoix and the entire Northern Michigan region entertained one of the largest holiday crowds in history over the Fourth of July week-end.

This city, despite its proximity to Independence celebrations at Petoskey and East Jordan, was filled with cottagers, tourists and home-comers. Evidence of the almost unprecedented influx of vacationists was revealed by the record crowds carried by the Pere Marquette which, Friday morning brought the largest number of passengers it had carried in a single day for years. Two train sections were loaded to capacity Saturday.

Hotel registrations reflected the heavy arrivals. Without an exception, local hotel managers reported the biggest guest list in recent years for such an early date. Golf courses were busy, fishing parties taxed the capacity of boat operators, and from every angle holiday business was at the top.

Another indication of the popularity of Northern Michigan as a vacation center, was the fact that all previous traffic records were broken at the Straits of Mackinac. Cars were piled up for miles on Friday and Saturday at Mackinaw City awaiting crossing. Five boats carried 3,379 vehicles on Sunday to break the previous Straits record of 2,937 in a single day, established on Labor Day of last year. On July 4, 1936, there were 2,425 cars transported across the Straits. The state operated its own three boats, and used both the Sainte Marie and Chief Wawatam to take care of the traffic.

Charlevoix entertained an enormous crowd on Sunday. Augmenting cottagers who arrived in great numbers for the week-end, the Str. South American brought 568 passengers from Cleveland, O., for a two-hour stay. Stores were busy taking care of the cruisers. Some found diversion by bicycle riding, others went for motor sight-seeing tours, and all expressed their satisfaction of the fine time had here. The South American, making its second visit here in a brief period, brought the cruise from Cleveland to Detroit, then to Charlevoix and return, following a stop at Mackinac Island.

With cottages rapidly filling up, hotels with guest lists larger than in several years, everything points to a bumper season for Charlevoix.

RULING LOWERS TAX ON MOTORCAR SALES

Trade-Ins Are Now Deductible Before Tax Is Figured

The state board of tax administration announced a new ruling Tuesday which would permit deductions in the computation of the sales tax on automobile purchases.

The ruling would permit deduction from the purchase price of an automobile of the value allowed in trade-in of an old car before computation of the three per cent sales tax.

The policy would extend to other items for which "articles of like kind are accepted in trade," as part of the purchase price.

William F. O'Meara, assistant director of the department, said the tax, however, would be collected on the resale of used cars by automobile dealers. Person-to-person transactions for the sale of a used automobile would be considered "casual" and exempt from the sales tax.

O'Meara said he thought the new policy would result in only a small decline in state revenues. He asserted widespread evasion has defeated the intent of the old laws to collect the full sales tax on automobiles for which used cars were traded.

CRUISER FLEET TO VISIT CHARLEVOIX

GREAT LAKES YACHTING ASS'N COMING HERE JULY 25

While their visit is still three weeks away, committees of the Charlevoix Board of Commerce are making plans for the entertainment of the cruiser division of the Great Lakes Yachting Association during their four-day stay here July 25-29.

It is expected anywhere from 50 to 100 yachts will come from Green Bay, Wis., following the annual regatta which is held during the Chicago-Mackinac Island and Port Huron-Mackinac Island races. Last summer a small portion of the fleet visited this harbor and, pleased by the unsurpassed harbor facilities and the entertainment and courtesies extended them, they are returning for a longer stay.

For the entertainment of these visitors, Charlevoix's water sports program will be staged, with Sunday, July 25, the big day. An afternoon of swimming, diving and other water sports, will be followed by a colorful Venetian boat parade in the evening. Charlevoix's natural harbor, surrounded by terraces, provides the setting for an event which is unsurpassed anywhere in its grandeur.

Other entertainment features such as dances, a banquet, sports of different nature, as well as evening band concerts, will be held in accordance with the desires of the visiting yachtsmen.

HIGHLY RESPECTED CITIZEN IS TAKEN BY DEATH

A. J. Hamilton, Local Electrician, Died Friday Evening

This city lost a highly respected citizen Friday in the death of A. J. "Colonel" Hamilton, who succumbed at Charlevoix Hospital at 7 p. m., a few hours after being taken there from his home. He had been in ill health several months.

Mr. Hamilton was born January 2, 1859, at Dubuque, Ia. He spent his early life in the vicinity of Grand Rapids. He was married on July 5, 1895, at Newaygo, to Miss Mary Monroe. Following four years residence in Grand Rapids, Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton moved to this city, their home since with the exception of one winter spent in California.

Mr. Hamilton was an electrician and served as superintendent of the electric light department here several years. He retired in December, 1936. He was a member of the Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias, Encampment, and Rebekahs. He was a great lover of the outdoors and an ardent sportsman.

Surviving him are the widow, two sisters, Mrs. Elmer Bogue, of Grant, and Mrs. Alice Thurkettle, of Nunica; also two brothers, Will, of Grand Haven, and Harry, of Grand Rapids.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon from the See funeral home, Rev. G. R. Parker officiating. Interment was at Brookside cemetery.

LEWIS BROS. CIRCUS HERE JULY 22

AMERICAN LEGION SPONSORING THREE-RING SHOW

Fine Entertainment Promised by Well Known Circus Troupe; Show at South Side Grounds

The mere news headline of the coming of the circus to any town presages the advent of the summer and autumn season. It sends a thrill of excitement through the youngsters and peps up the elders, for a circus is just different,—that's all.

There is a certain awe and splendor from the time one reaches the show lot: The snarling and growling of the animals that echo throughout the grounds; the graceful and almost a human mind evidenced mid the great group of educated horses. From the sublime we find ourselves admiring spectators of those funny clowns, whose life is spent in making others laugh and who seldom themselves laugh or even smile; the clowns always are in happy accord with the merry circus throng. The great death defying wizards of the air, that nimbly float through space, defying the fears of danger that you and I may be entertained.

Lewis Bros.' Big Three Ring Circus and Menagerie comes to this community not as an unknown quantity but a tried and proven organization of real merit,—whose motto is "give the people their money's worth and even more."

We anticipate the kiddies as well as we grown-ups will have our community well represented on that day. While some will like the lions, elephants and tigers and the wilder animals of the jungle, many will be amazed at the beautiful horses, ponies and dogs, say nothing about the great herd of trained goats, an animal we all thought was hopeless.

Mr. Lewis superintends all performances in person and extends a hearty invitation to the patrons to visit all departments before or after the main exhibition. The Lewis Bros. Circus has become an institution and ranks far above the average circus playing these size towns. There will be two performances, one in the afternoon at 2, and the other at 8 in the evening.

SCHOOL MEETING MONDAY, JULY 12

ANNUAL SESSION IN ASSEMBLY ROOM AT 8 O'CLOCK

Election of Two Trustees and Reports of Secretary, Treasurer and Librarian Will Be Given

The annual meeting of Charlevoix School District No. 1, city and township, providing one of the important civic affairs of the summer, will be held at 8 o'clock Monday evening, July 12, in the assembly room of the senior high school.

There will be the election of two trustees. The term of Clarence B. Meggison expires with the annual meeting, and a vacancy, caused by the resignation of Harker Kirby, exists. In addition to the election of trustees, reports of the school secretary and treasurer, and of the Charlevoix public library will be given.

The meeting will be open for the discussion of school affairs generally by taxpayers, and the Board of Education invites all interested to be heard. The treasurer's report will be of special interest to school patrons, also the secretary's report which will outline improvements which have been made during the past year.

It is to be hoped that the deplorable small attendance of a year ago will not be repeated and that taxpayers will turn out to take a part in this very important civic responsibility.

NEW LAWS COVER TAX COLLECTION

TIPS GIVEN DELINQUENTS BY COUNTY TREASURER

Measures Passed by Last Legislature Change Set-Up on Payment of Past-Due Property Taxes

New interpretation of tax laws, as affecting the ten year tax payment plan, for the collection of taxes on the ten year plan, as well as otherwise, is carefully, yet briefly written for the information of taxpayers, according to County Treasurer Lillia M. Flanders.

Do not depend on past explanations of methods of collecting taxes. Read the following, which has been sent out by the Auditor General to assist taxpayers in arranging for the payment of taxes.

It will save you money to read this carefully, and if you do not understand it thoroughly, take your problem to Miss Flanders, who will explain it in detail.

The present explanation is written under Act 28, Public Acts of 1937—Interest and Penalties:

1933, 1934, 1935 TAXES

Before September 1

Two per cent collection fee and no other charges if paid in full.

One-tenth can be paid with no charge except the two per cent fee on the installment paid, provided: (1st) the 1936 tax is paid in full and (2nd) taxes for 1932 and prior years are paid, either in full or through the third installment.

After September 1

If the 1936 taxes are not paid in full and if the matured installments of 1932 and prior years have not been paid, and if the first installment of 1933, 1934 and 1935 taxes has not been paid before September 1, 1937, then the taxpayer has completely lost his opportunity to take advantage of the ten-payment plan. 1933, 1934 and 1935 taxes may, of course, be paid in full after September 1 with four per cent collection and three-fourths of one per cent a month interest computed from the date of return to date of payment.

1932 AND PRIOR TAXES

Before September 1

Two per cent collection fee and no other charges if paid in full.

Or any number of installments can be paid with only the two per cent collection fee added. This applies even to the ovedue first and second installments.

After September 1

Up to the time of the tax sale, 1932 and prior years' taxes may still be paid, in full or under the ten-year plan. But, beginning September 1, 1937, in addition to the two per cent fee, the first one-tenth of these taxes will bear interest of three-fourths of one per cent per month computed from September 1, 1935, to date of payment; the second one-tenth will bear interest at a like rate from September 1, 1936, and the third one-tenth will bear similar interest from September 1, 1937. Any or all of the remaining installments of these taxes may be paid at the same time with only the two per cent fee added.

TRAVIS DANCE SCHOOL OPENING NEXT MONDAY

Mrs. Tom Darling to Give Instruction at Belvedere Casino

The Travis School of Dancing, a long-time institution at the Belvedere Club, will open Monday, July 12, at the casino.

Mrs. Tom Darling, associated with Miss Travis for several years, will conduct the school this summer.

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

The legislative record has been written at Lansing, many important issues being settled during the final few hours of a six-month session, and partisans are generously dipping into the list of superlatives of both kinds.

Proclamations of the administration were centered around the passage of a labor relations bill that made picketing legal and limited the right of court injunctions; more school and highway aid; hospital building fund, and a revamped welfare structure.

Critics of the administration forecast that the state budget will be way out of balance as a result of "wild spending" and that the total accomplishments were far short of expectations based on six months of expense and effort.

The issues will be thrashed out during the coming year when Governor is due to be a nominee for re-election—that is, if the Fates do not take him to Washington, D. C.

And even if the state does incur a big deficit, there is a crumb of comfort in the fact that Governor Murphy is in good company—President Roosevelt hasn't done so well himself on this score.

Bay View Arbor of Gleaners, which has been organized for about 40 years, and held the picnic ground at Eastport on the Bay for about 35 years, voted last Friday to sell their beautiful resort property and picnic ground of 30 acres on the Bay for $5000. Reason for selling is that it is hard to keep up the grounds, and the membership in the lodge is getting so small that it is difficult to get a quorum at the meetings. They will probably soon disband and give up their charter. It seems regrettable that the place that the old settlers have gathered at for so many years must be given up. This will be the first year that no picnic has been held there since about 1903.

FORMER INSTRUCTOR WINS HOPWOOD PRIZE

Emmanuel Menatsaganian Member Local Freshman College Staff

The following item is reproduced from the Detroit Free Press of a recent issue, regarding Emmanuel Menatsaganian, who formerly was a teacher in the local Freshman College:

"Emmanuel Menatsaganian, winner of the $1,500 Hopwood literary prize, sat in the drab, furnished room that he has been renting for a dollar-a-week Thursday and reflected about what a difference one day can make.

"Twenty-four hours before he was wondering where the money was coming from to pay a $10 board bill and the $750 debt he had piled up while working his way through the University of Michigan.

"Friday things were looking better for the 32-year-old immigrant who 10 years ago couldn't speak English. He had the $1,500 check which his novel 'The Well of Ararat' won for him. Five of the largest publishers in the nation are bidding for the novel—which one of them described as 'a beautiful picture, rich and mature of the Persian life it describes; a very tender and moving piece of work.' He also now has time to complete the trilogy of which his prize winning novel was the first book.

"Menatsaganian's biggest difficulty was explaining his nationality. Before being naturalized he was a Persian subject although, he said, he was dominantly Armenian although also having strains of Persian, Assyrian and Russian blood in his veins."

On a quiet, late October afternoon they were walking about the old place that was presently to be Sam's home. Sam not only had theories about farming, but he had an eye on pretty Beth Tutt who taught the kindergartenn grades. He, Gail, and Dick wandered through the gaunt, deserted farmhouse that still smelled of apples and rotting wood, and through the sweet-scented barns and stables.

"I believe you would!" Dick said.

Sam had left them alone for a minute in the kitchen. It held the homely air of a place in which hard living—loving, hating, eating, grieving, and rejoicing—had had their way for generations. The old stove had been polished thin; lamps still stood crookedly on the old brass brackets. Two empty flower pots screened on the window sill.

"How different it would be!" Gail said.

"Well, this was home to me, you know. I learned to read in this kitchen. My whole childhood was right in this yard."

"If Beth and Sam make a go of it we'll come back some day!"

"We'll come back anyway, Gail."

They stopped into the dooryard, and looked up at the trees from which the leaves were drifting, and Dick showed her his initials cut clumsily into the great wealed bole of a pepper tree. The girl stooped and touched her lips to them.

"Do you know what that is, Dick?" she asked, straightening up with eyes full of love and laughter. "That's love, dear. The love of a woman for a man!"

"The miracle," he said, kissing the glowing face under the tawny mop.

On the way home they stopped at the graveyard, and Gail knelt, dry-eyed and thoughtful, at Edith's little stone, and touched its carved inscription with her finger tips.

"'Blessed are the pure in spirit, for they shall see God,'" she read. And all that evening, the last of her girlhood, she thought of Edith.

"My darling, if you could share this! You'd love it so! Packing the trunk—you'd have so many little tricks, out of the backs of magazines! You'd come to visit us, maybe, in London, and we'd prowl around together—in the Strand and in Charing Cross road. . . . You'd be the first to touch my baby—when he comes."

The evening was one long dream, a dream that blended into the dreams of the short night, when she slept lightly, but sweetly, mingling waking thoughts with happy, confused journeys into the unreal.

She thought of the old house whose winter shadows rose about her and below her and above her; the stately old ugly rooms, the books and books and books, on the shelves and lying face downward on the chairs and stuck between the rattings of the winding stairway. She thought of her poetic mother, dying, with innocent little golden-headed Ariel on her arm and of motherless childhood days when she and Edith had whispered of school affairs, going off to sleep, and had played mud pies and flower ludies out in the old garden during the long vacations.

Then Papa off to the war, as became a Lawrence and a patriot, and then the strange sense of suddenly growing up, of responsibility, that had come with the news of Papa's death, and her first job.

Poverty, hard work, discouragement, ignorance—how these shadows had darkened about the Lawrence children! The old house shabbier and poorer, Ariel unmanageable, Sam playing hooky, Phil beginning to run with the Wilser girl, and never any money, any beauty, any leisure, any young pleasure for any of them!

She and Edith had philosophized, had read books and taken walks, had refused the spurious coin when the genuine had failed them. But Ariel had fluttered straight toward the flame—desperately determined to force from the world what the world would not give.

Edith always steadfast, faithful, coming to the library to help stack books, planning supper in the side garden, with raspberries and iced tea. But Ariel in open rebellion, and Gail not much better.

She remembered the day when Van Murchison came suddenly back into her life, and when fun, excitement, visits, and frocks had seemed within reach. Unsatisfactory, flippant, giddy as he had been, she had accepted him, she had determined indeed to marry him should the chance be offered her—marry him to escape.

Gail, dreaming of all this on her wedding eve, trembled with a sudden chill in the darkness and solitude of her own big chamber. She would have taken Van to escape—what?

Well, this. This that she had tonight. Her friends, her background, her family, Phil and Lily and the children, all the beauty and dignity of home. To escape from her work, her beloved sheets of yellow paper, her green fountain pen. To escape from Dick, and London, and all the glowing future!

Poor little Ariel had escaped—escaped from life. She had shut herself into the jail of her own dissatisfied heart, and there she would be for a long time to come, perhaps forever.

Gail turned and looked at her, sleeping. Even in her sleep Ariel's face wore a faintly discontented look, and she sighed impatiently, acornfully—Ariel to the end.

Then it was morning, and there was no more time for dreams. The house was astir in the foggy dawn. Gail appeared in the kitchen, rosy and tousled, just before Phil went.

"You'll be back early, Phil dearest?"

"Oh, Lord, I'll be here by ten!"

"Mrs. Bates wants to know if you'd rather have chicken or lettuce sandwiches, Gail?"

"There's someone we forgot, after all!" This was Phil, departing.

"Oh, good heavens, Phil, who? Maybe I could telephone."

"The Forumidehyes!" Phil called over his shoulder.

"Gail- look at the roses."

"Gail—Miss Wells wants to bring her mother upstairs to see you in your wedding dress. She says her mother might have a stroke if she—"

"Listen, all the food goes here, see? —in this closet. Just stack it there, and while we're at church Mrs. Wiggin and Betsey are going to sort everything out."

"Wiff-waff, if you would eat it, and let me wash the bowl!"

"Here are the cakes from Lou. Will you look at the ten-layer cake!"

"Well, she wanted to come downstairs, too, the darling, and see what was going on, and help get her Aunt Gail married."

"Oh, look, fruit punch, two pails of it. Oh, that's marvelous! Look—two pails of it. Two pails of fruit punch, Lily, so that's all right!"

"Give me the baby," Ariel said. She sat holding the soft little drowsy armful.

"Mamma, will you lay off?" Lily demanded patiently. But Ariel only laughed. She was her sweetest, her gentlest self, on this busy morning. She had seemed to keep rather near Gail, and when the clock had raced as far as eleven o'clock, and Gail outwardly calm, inwardly madly agitated, went upstairs for the actual donning of the wedding dress, Ariel went, too, still carrying the sleeping baby.

The bedroom was a scene of mad confusion; Mary Kents was on her knees, finishing the packing, and holding everything up for Gail's approval before she laid it away.

The white silk gown slipped over her head; she was all in white. They who loved her thought they had never seen Gail look so lovely as she did now. Square-shouldered, straight, steady-eyed, she looked at herself in the old dim mirror that had reflected all the moods of her girlhood, and laughed contentedly.

"Somehow I can't feel that I'm getting married!"

The others straggled away, Lily taking her baby. Ariel was alone with her sister. Suddenly she came close, and encircled the sweetness and whiteness and glory that were Gail with her slender arms.

"Just one thing, Gail. I'm going on to Chicago tomorrow to meet Van, and I'm going—I'm going to be different, Gail. I'm going to—to make a go of it, do you understand? I'll be the nicest woman in the country club. I'll have a little girl baby that Van will adore. I'll study French and keep house—honest I will, Gail!"

It was complete surrender. Gail caught her little sister to her in the first real embrace they had known since Ariel had come back. Both their faces were wet.

Then Gail had to wipe her cheeks carefully and powder them again, and go downstairs to join the others, and to walk around the corner and across the tree-shaded street to Saint Mark's.

There were persons on the sidewalk—kindly persons who said, "Good luck, Miss Lawrence!" There were more clustered on the church steps, and she walked between them at her brother's side.

They were all there: old friends, old neighbors, library acquaintances. She felt their love about her like a protecting great wall as she went slowly up the aisle and saw Dick waiting.

The boys had been shepherded into a pew, and Lily, flushed and weary, was sitting there with little Gail restless and hot in her arms; Sam looked oddly grown-up in his new suit, standing beside Dick. And Dick looked—just Dick, big and lean and homely and kind, stooping down a little beside the shorter Sam, watching Gail, catching her eye as she looked at him. And at the sight of him Gail forgot everything else except that after this jacked and hurried and extraordinarily emotional morning she was really getting married.

Afterward, when they were home again and the congratulatory crowds were surging about them, Dick went to the foot of the stairs to meet her as she came down hatted and coated for the trip. Tears and laughter had been so mingled on her wedding day that he thought she looked more like a blue-eyed child than ever: bewildered, grateful, touched, happy.

"When we used to play 'round the old ranch together, twenty years ago, we didn't see this coming at the end, did we, Gail?" Dick said, as he caught her hand for the run to the waiting motor car.

"At the end!" she echoed, with a swift, shocked, laughing glance. "Dick, Dick, this is only the beginning! Don't forget that I'm one of the Lucky Lawrences!"

CHARLEVOIX BEATEN SUNDAY AT HARBOR

Dropped Close Contest by 5 to 2 Score—Indian River Next

Charlevoix Independents dropped a close contest to Harbor Springs on Sunday by a 5 to 2 score, the winners adding three runs to a 2 to 1 margin in the eighth frame.

Charlevoix played without the services of Amos John, regular pitcher, who worked Saturday for East Jordan. Richardson and Guy John, who shared the hurling duties, allowed only six hits, but walked seven batters. Amos John, coming in as relief pitcher in the ninth inning, fanned three batters in order after Harbor had the bases loaded.

Shores was cheated out of a sure home run when his clout, headed over the fence, struck a flag pole in center field. The hit was good for three bases.

Charlevoix's next contest will be Sunday, July 11, at Indian River.

ILLUMINATED CASTING PLUGS ARE NOT LEGAL

Attorney General Rules Against New Type of Baits Introduced

The use by fishermen of the new-style luminous casting plugs or any other type of artificially-lighted lure is illegal in Michigan.

That is the opinion of the attorney general, given at the request of the Department of Conservation.

A transparent casting plug, lighted from the inside by a small battery and bulb, has been introduced by a tackle manufacture and is being advertised in sportsmen's magazines this year.

Under a literal interpretation of Michigan's fishing laws, which forbids the use of artificial light in taking game fish, this plug cannot legally be used in this state.

The law also specifically forbids the possession of artificial light for use in taking of game fish.

GREGORY-STEELE WEDDING SOLEMNIZED ON JUNE 30 AT DETROIT

Of interest to local citizens is the announcement of the marriage on June 30, at Detroit, of Miss Opal Gregory, daughter of William Gregory, of Hayes township, to William Steele, of Detroit.

The ceremony was performed in the Temple Baptist church at Detroit. Attending the couple were the bride's sister, Ruby Gregory, and Woodrow Armstrong, a friend of the groom. A reception was held following the ceremony at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Arlo Crites.

Mr. and Mrs. Steele have gone to Kentucky on a honeymoon, and will reside in Detroit upon their return.

Emergencies have always been necessary to man's progress. It is the unusual that gets us out of our ruts. It was darkness that produced the lamp, fog that brought the compass, and now it has taken the depression to teach us the real worth of a job.

ROOSEVELT BACKING STRAITS BRIDGE PLAN

Chase Osborn Says the President Is Warmly Behind Proposal

President Franklin D. Roosevelt has thrown his personal support to the proposal to build the Mackinac Straits bridge and will do his best to have the bridge built during his administration.

Two hundred and ten prominent men and women of the Upper Peninsula were given that information by Chase S. Osborn, former governor of Michigan, chief speaker of the closing session and dinner of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau last Friday night at the Hotel Ojibway in Sault Ste. Marie.

His hearers were also told by Mr. Osborn that Senator Prentiss M. Brown had written him within the past few days advising that there is no cause for worry about the situation in Washington so far as opposition of a few congressmen to the bridge is concerned.

"They can't stop the bridge," Mr. Osborn quoted Senator Brown as saying. In a speech that flashed and scintilated, the former governor dug into the historic past of Northern Michigan and threw a piercing light into the future.

And, even if the promised support of Washington were not given, it is Gov. Osborn's contention that the waters of the Straits of Mackinac are waters of Michigan, to be controlled solely by Michigan, and the jurisdiction never surrendered.

K. OF P. TEAM WINNER IN PETOSKEY CONTEST

Defeated Petoskey Cements by 16 to 15 Count There Sunday

The K. of P.s, local member of the Chorlevoix City Softball League, defeated the Petoskey Cement Bears by a 16 to 15 count in a feature contest of the Fourth of July celebration at Petoskey.

Trailing 10 to 3 at the start of the fifth inning, the K. of P.s combined a home run and a single with six bases on balls and a couple of errors to tie the count. They trailed again when Petoskey counted in the sixth and seventh frames, but in the final inning hit three homers to clean the bags of three men who had walked, and thus produced the winning runs.

Supernaw had two home runs and two doubles in four trips to the plate to lead the home team.

ALL STRAITS TRAFFIC RECORDS ARE BROKEN

Nearly Four Thousand Vehicles Carried by Ferries on July 4

Traffic across the Straits of Mackinac increased 40 per cent July 4 over the holiday of last year, the State Highway Department reports.

Five boats carried 3,379 vehicles this year compared to 2,425 on July 4 a year ago, 1936. This year's travel broke the previous high of 2,937 carried on September 6, 1936.

The first three days of July saw a 60 per cent increase in traffic over last year. There were 5,927 vehicles carried in the three days compared to 3,545 the first three days of July, 1936. The vehicles this year were carried by three state boats, one leased boat and one carferry.

IT CAN'T BE DONE

The federal government is creating new jobs at the rate of 100 per day. Yet with utmost confidence it talks of balancing the budget in 1938. It can't be done. Even though a few tax evaders are combed in nnd some more nuisance taxes added.

Any person of sound judgment knows that a balanced budget is not reached by blind spending while income remains uncertain. The sensible way is to reduce the cost of government first—house clean at Washington.

LANSING LETTER

Picture of Democracy

A visitor from a dictatorship state in Europe, should he have visited the hall of the House of Representatives on the closing night, would have been bewildered by the picture of democracy in action. It was a one-sided picture. It was distinctly out of focus.

One legislator from Flint, whose activities had identified him with liberal causes, partook of spirits too liberally and presented the drama of a soldier defending a citadel with a water gun. Wearing a miner's steel helmet that was military in overseas style, he withstood attacks of flying documents and charged the enemy with his water artillery which he kept replenished from a bucket by the desk.

Reams of toilet paper streamed from the galleries, nnd several dignified statesmen whose voting had not pleased the more liberals, narrowly escnped "drowning" from bags of water dropped from the gallery.

In the meanwhile, important affairs of state were being decided—labor relations, civil service, welfare, hospital-aid, and so on.

In contrast to the House scene of disorder was the Senate, sternly presided over by Lieut. Governor Leo Nowicki. Senators had no time for monkeyshines. They discussed problems dispassionntely.

Old Age Pensions

The administration's program of social benefits resulted in an increase of old age pensions and lowering of the nge limit. The appropriation was stepped up fourfold to $10,000,000 annnally. The federal government will match this sum, making $20,000,000 available towards support of indigent persons who otherwise would have to give up their homes and go to county homes for the nged.

Lesson in Democracy

Out of the Monroe labor controversy has emerged a new public figure, Mayor Daniel Knaggs, a plain spoken and hard-hitting Republican who looms as a possible contender for the 1938 gubernatorial nomination.

Unknown in the nation before Homer Martin called his "protest" meeting to prevent workers from returning to their jobs, the Monroe official attracted wide-spread attention by his rugged determination to enforce law and order.

The controversy, however, brought one benefit. Governor Murphy uttered these significant words:

"Labor has a right to picket in a peaceful demonstration. It has no right to picket so that employes are prevented from entering or leaving their places of employment, nor has it a right to barricade public highways.

"Unless there is an agreement for a peaceful picket line which does not bar employes from the plant, nor barricade a highway, there should be no picket line at all."

At Mason, Mich., a circuit court judge pronounced sentences upon several persons who attempted to keep employes from going to work at a Lansing plant. Arrest of these defendants led to the Lansing "Labor holiday" . . . . and the "holiday" led to formation of a vigilante group, the Lansing Law and Order League.

Thus triumphs law enforcement of an old-fashioned type. Public opinion remains the final authority.

More Vacations

Times are better in the Upper Peninsula.

Few miners are idle. Iron and copper mines again are beehives of activity, spewing out ores for lake shipments.

Development of highways, automobiles, higher wages and shorter work weeks have combined to popularize resort areas. It is the age of automobiles, trailers, and tourist cabins. The Upper Peninsula's virgin scenic resources are worth as much and possibly more than all of its minerals underground.

From the Kirby steamship lines comes an announcement that the S.S. Alabama, making sailings from Detroit and Cleveland, will include Isle Royale on its regular ports of call.

Opening of the St. Lawrence waterway would do much to increase lake passanger and freight transportation in the Great Lakes. And Michigan's two peninsulas are vitally tied up with the commercial future of these great inland seas.

"Show Boats"

Michigan resort sections, famous for their wealth of beauty queens to herald winter sports, blossoms, trout, bass, perch and smelt, have encouraged rival cities of agricultural and industrial sections to rise to promotional heights.

Lowell and Chesaning are among the inland towns which have adopted the "Show Boat" idea for a summer celebration. Chesaning, home of "Farmer Peet," is now building a replica of the famous old Mississippi River craft. It will journey down the Shiawassee River at dusk each night of the production.

Lowell will utilize the Grand River for its annual spectacle.

Missouri may be the "Show Me" state; Michigan is the "show" state.

Hands of terror! How an entire city was gripped by fear of an unknown killer who has stalked his unsuspecting victims with cunning for five years. A true real-life mystery story in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with next Sunday's Chicago Herald and Examiner.

Plenty of places to go . . .
AND GRAND ROADS TO TAKE YOU!

MICHIGAN is big, and her numberless vacation spots are widely distributed throughout her area . . . The more credit, then, to the State Highway Department for smoothing the path to all parts of our State! Combining efficiency and scenic beauty, our splendid highways make Michigan a better place in which to work or play.

Vina Delmar Describes "America's Daughter"

Who is "America's daughter?"

What does she look like? Where does she come from? What is her outlook on life? How does she dress and act?

Let Vina Delmar tell you. Miss Delmar, best known for her novels "Bad Girl," "The Marriage Racket" and others, probably knows more about the American girl and her problems than any other writer and it was for this reason that she was asked hy Paramount to choose the "typical American girl — America's daughter," for one of the leading roles in "Make Way for Tomorrow," the story of American family life which opens on Thursday, July 15, at the Pulaee Theatre.

DAIRY IMPROVEMENT GROUP IS ORGANIZED

George Meggison Named President of Northwestern Association

George Meggison, of Marion township, was elected president of the newly organized Northwest Michigan Dairy Herd Improvement Assoeiation last Wednesday evening at Petoskey.

Members of the group met at the county building to organize after it had been decided to divide the original group into two parts. Meggison heads the group from Emmet and Charlevoix counties and parts of Cheboygan, Presque Isle, Antrim and Otsego counties.

Other officers named were: Richard Paddoek, Charlevoix, secretary-treasurer; and Oscar Overholt, Levering, Earl Fisher, of Central Lake, and Arnold Ostrander, of Afton, directors.

At present there are about 18 members of the group and it is expected that an additional 10 or 12 will be added shortly. Norman Thompson will continue us tester for the herds, aiding the farmers in making their dairy enterprises pay better profits. The work is sponsored by the extension division of Michigan State College through the county agricultural agent, Robert S. Lincoln.

GIVE THE EYES A CHANCE

The famous detective, Sherlock Holmes, would assert that you can tell a man's character by observing his automobile.

If it is habitually spotted with mud and grime, look for a slovenly person. If engine and chassis rattle and clank, he is ignorant of mechanical value, careless and incompetent. If windshield and windows are grimy, he is heedless of safety.

It is especially foolhardy to drive with a dirty windshield and windshield wiper out of commission. Dirt on the glass increases the glare of approaching headlights. Rain and snow must be swept away if truffic hazards are to be avoided.

The little rear view mirror, if kept in good condition, is a veritable third eye to any motorist. Its value may not be appreciated until it is broken or lost. Replace it at once, and never attempt to swing around traffic or make any turn without observing the cays behind you.

Make it a pnint to clean the windshield nften. Adjust the rear-view mirror before driving out. Take every advantage of good visihility, and your accident record should be zero.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By Ann Page

Any housewife who wishes to be especially economical in her food buying this week will use plenty of vegetables, fruits, cheese and eggs and use meat more for flavor than as a substantial food. Meats are higher while vegetables are much more plentiful. Many are cheap and most others very reasonable.

The fruit list is also lengthening; small fruits such as berries, currants and cherries are at the height of their season, last week the melon family bowed only to potatoes in size nf shipments, apricots, plums and peaches are reasonably priced and well distributed. Bananas and oranges are of course year round standbys.

Seasonable foods make up the following menus.

Low Cost Dinnar
Ground Beef Patties
Browned Potatoes Green Beans
Bread and Butter
Cream Pie with Bananas
Tea or Coffee Milk

Medium Cost Dineer
Broiled Chicken
Scalloped Potatoes Green Psas
Bread and Butter
Cherry Pie
Tea or Coffee Milk

Very Special Dinner
Melon Plate
Roast Spring Lamb Gravy
Buttered Beets
Cauliflower Hollandaise

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT

Tourists and Sanitation

With the advent of summer, tourists will be seeking seeluded resort areas and many times precautionary measures are not taken in their camping set-up regarding their water supply. In the resort centers every effort should be made to provide these tourists with safe drinking water, a sanitary milk supply and to guard against improper food handling. These are the health factors entsiled in the prevention of disease.

A good camp or resort requires an approved water supply; proper sewage disposal; an inoffensive method of handling and disposing of garbage and fish offal; a satisfactory milk supply; clean grounds, reasonably free of flies and mosquitoes and with proper rubbish disposal; cleanliness in all food handling and of food utensils; and adequate bathing facilities free from sewage pollution. It is the privilege of the tourist and camper to demand such a camp with these essential facilities, thereby safeguarding his health, that of the community's as well as preserving the reputation of that resort area.

The Michigan Department of Health, through its annual roadside water survey and resort inspection, the latter being carried on through the District Health Department, has done much to make this northern area safe for vacationists as well as making roadside springs and wells safe for drinking purposes. The familiar little black and yellow signs marking "safe" drinking water supplies are posted only after analysis of that supply has been tested by the laboratories of the State Department of Health and found safe.

If you are planning a vacation, even for a day, be sure to seleet a place where the drinking water and milk supply are pure. You should be sure thnt the water is protected against contamination from faulty drainage, and that the milk comes from clean barns and is carefully handled. Be sure that the kitchen and dining room are properly screened to protect the food from flies. Such safeguarding measures will make your vacation a healthier and happier one.

The typhoid mortality of 1936 in Michigan was .8 per 100,000 population, as compared with the mortality rate of 1900, which was 34.03 per 100,000 population. This definite decrease has been attributed to the corresponding increase in protected and treated water supplies.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE NEWS BULLETIN

Law's Enforcement Briegs Its Repeal

Abraham Lincoln onee said: "The best way to get an unpopular law repealed is to enforee it." Leon D. Case, secretary of state, apparently feels the same way, and one of the acts of the reeently adjourned Legislature proved Lincoln was right. The law authorizing the secretary of state to collect at $25 investigation fee for every car bought out-of-state for registration in Michigan, was repealed by a bill passed during the last day of the 1937 regular session. Case has favored the bill repealing the two year old law.

Figures of the Department of State show that during the first six months of 1937, investigation fees collected totalled $7,050, in contrast with collections for the first six months of 1936, during the previous administration, when $775 was collected on this account.

The law was passed to protect border motor car dealers from losses occasioned through evasion of the state's retail sales tax. The so-called "use-tax" act of the last session, if not found to be legally faulty, will afford similar protection; it provides, in effect, for collection of a three per cent sales tax on all goods bought out-of-state, for use or consumption in Michigan.

KIDDIES GET REDUCED CIRCUS ADMISSION BY COURIER COUPONS

The Charlevoix Courier takes pleasure in announcing that it has made arrangements with Lewis Brothers' Big Three Ring Circus Menagerie and Trained Animal Show whereby all the kiddies in this community may see this high class circus for only 15 cents.

Lewis Brothers Circus is an established show and is bigger and better than ever before, and has traveled in many states in the past 20 years. We have investigated this circus and, while it is not the largest show on earth, we have found that it is honorably conducted, and it presents a varied and highly interesting three ring performance of real merit, with many unusual features on its program. We are confident it is just the kind of a circus this community would like to patronize.

Lewis Brothers' Circus will exhibit at Charlevoix Thursday, July 22, and in today's issue of the Charlevoix Courier a coupon is printed which will admit one child to the big show of the circus, when presented with 15 cents at the ticket wagon at the South Side Athletic show grounds, where the circus will give two performances at 2 and 8 p. m., rain or shine.

The Charlevoix Courier is very much elated over the fact that we can give the children of this community the privilege of seeing this great and entertaining circus for the small sum of only 15 cents. No youngsters in this vicinity should miss this opportunity.

FUTURE OF FARMING

Probably the farmer has more reason for optimism than ever before for many agencies are at work to improve agriculture's condition. It must have seemed to any one listening to the 4-H representative speak from Washington last week that not the least of the agencies for betterment is found in these young people, enthusiastically equipped with scientific knowledge. Here are thousands of boys and girls with the desire to go back to the home farm and make that farm produce more comfort and security than ever it has done. Almost without exception each boy and girl spoke of conservation methods of farming now being practiced at home.

The total influence of this 4-H club work is beyond estimation but it is safe to say that with such young and intelligent zeal at work over the country, farm people can look to the future with assurance.

OH, SUMMER SUN

With April showers descending upon us most every day and everything as luxuriantly green as it is in the middle of May, it's hard to believe that June is almost gone and that summer arrived on the 21st to give us long hours of daylight.

The numerous rains and warm suns following have produced some beautiful strawberries in many parts of Michigan, and we hope the season will be as advantageous to all other crops.

We'll keep our fingers crossed, however, anticipating what the weatherman will offer for the rest of the summer.

GOING TO SEED

A good crop of weeds is brewing due to an abundance of rainfall. Unless the crop is cut before it goes to seed many hay fever victims will have their suffering intensified because of the increased amount of pollen in the air.

Every last corner should receive attention immediately. Besides spreading misery these weeded back lots and road sides destroy beauty and help to increase fire hazards later in the season.

LONG-TIME SERVICE A CHARACTERISTIC MICHIGAN BAKERIES STAFF

A personnel survey, just completed by Michigan Bakeries, Inc., reveals that 51 employes have been with that company continuously for upwards of 10 years.

Approximately 25 of the Michigan Bakeries' employes have been with the company over 20 years, the survey also discloses.

The summer months of this year will mark the 25th anniversaries of a substantial number of Michigan Bakeries' employes, which occasions customarily will be observed by special dinners honoring the veteran employes.

In keeping with many such testimonial occasions in the history of Michigan Bakeries, Inc., these honored employes will be presented generous gifts by the company in recognition for long-time and faithful service.

"Our company is proud of its employment record," Percy Owen, president of Michigan Bakeries, Inc., commented. "We believe it proves our policy, in effect since the beginning of this company, of encouraging and fostering a spirit among our employes of self-betterment and following this up with promotions whenever and wherever possible. The record of hundreds within our company is that of having started in at a minor job and later on having attained, through company recognition of efficiency and service, to more responsible and better-paying jobs."

PAID TO LISTEN

Strange calling, you say, particularly if you live in a small town where you can unburden your troubles to neighbors and friends. But to a city dweller, there is such a dirth of neighborliness that when he "must tell someone" he is willing to pay a stranger a pretty fee, because she will listen at length to his troubles.

We, who live in small towns, often think we are tried because everyone knows everything about us—plus a little we don't even know. However, most of us can endure the give and take of the back-fence gossip, and give the lie to the malicious tongue-waggers, enduring them for a far greater benefit which small towns afford—neighborly, sympathetic listeners who will help us endure our misfortunes, our errors and our tragedies.

S'MATTER POP— In a Plot, Pop Always Tracks Down Every Fellah! By C. M. PAYNE

CAMP CHARLEVOIX WEEKLY NEWS COLUMN

Edited by Ed. Taylor

After a week, camp is in full swing and everything is rolling smoothly. Every one has chosen their activities for morning groups, and all the boys are having a great time.

Last Thursday and Friday, two cabins took overnight canoe trips down the Jordan River. Ken Smith and his group had to be brought back on the truck because the waves made Ken seasick. Tom and his bunch rolled in as per schedule.

Friday night the second council ring ceremony was held at the sacrad council ring. The new campers were all accepted into the Tribe of Charlevoix and from now on are full fledged members of that brave band of warriors. Despite the efforts of Bud Boetticher and Ed Taylor, everything went along smoothly. Boetticher stumbled over the wire that held the fire up and pulled it over, while Taylor fell into a pit that he had dug a moment before and lit smack on his nose.

Bruce Laing, Bob Patterson and Maynard Swan finished in that order in a water boiling contest held by Paul Harvey. Jim Voyve led the group in several Indian games. Davy Palmer went to sleep and had to be carried back to his cabin.

Saturday night Herb Johnson presented his Radio Players in the Stinkheimer Cheese program. About 20 campers participated and everyone got a million laughs.

Sunday afternoon each section took a trip. The juniors went over to Mt. McSauba in the covered wagon. Gil Hoynie set a new sneezing record when the hay and his hay fever combined to help him to the new mark of 31 wheezes in a row. The intermediates went in the truck along Lake Michigan on the Cross Village road. On the trip home, a deer ran in front of the truck. The seniors took the sailboats and canoes and went down the lake.

Monday the whole camp celebrated the Fourth of July in grand style. A big lamb barbecue was prepared down on the beach. Paul Harvey and Ed Taylor were cooked about as thorough as the meat, but nevertheless the lambs were roasted to perfection and when it came time for Chief Reimann to begin the carving process the whole camp was lined up waiting for their share. Served with buns, relish, orangeade and watermelon, the lambs really disappeared in fast order.

After the big feed a committee of counsellors shot off the firecrackers. Then came the big Venetian Boat Parade. Each cabin fixed up a float out of one of the boats and they paraded down from the rifle range to the dock in competition for the prize, a box of candy. Cabins Eight and Nine won the prize with Cabin Eleven coming in second. Many very unique floats were exhibited, and perhaps later in the season another parade will be held. As it got dark, the night fireworks were shot off by the committee. The fireworks were contributed to the camp by several boys, who brought them to camp. They were Bruce Laing, Bob Patterson, Tom Bennett and Dave Bennett. George Cannon's father left some money for fireworks, but since they can't be purchased in Michigan, that will be used for a treat later in the year. A very tired group of boys and men welcomed the announcement of a half hour's more sleep on Tuesday morning.

Tuesday, Don O'Hara took his group on a canoe trip down the Jordan River. With him went Fred Palmer, Alex Galton, Dickson, Jarvis, Bill Sill, Bob Farr and Bob Armstrong.

Also we had as our guests a group of seniors from Camp Hay-o-went-ha. The visitors won the ball game, 9-5, while our team triumphed in the tennis matches. The baseball team had not practiced and Herm Everhardus thought that they put up a great battle against a much more experienced team. This was the first of a series of athletic matches with friendly camps on nearby lakes.

Wednesday Bob Bogue and Paul Harvey are going to take Bogue's cabin over to the hardwood forest on an overnight hike. The boys going are Bill Clausen, George Cannon, Maynard Swan, Beresford Palmer, Howard Fitzgerald and Bill Howland.

Thursday night Jim Voyce and his group will go on a horse trip. Going along will be Bob Stevens, Dick Toncray, Steve Baits, John Sweeney and Frank Bowen.

Next Monday, Paul Harvey, Bob Bogue and Johnny Nenninger will take a two day trip down the Manistee River. Bob Patterson, Bob Kittredge, Bruce Laing, Bill Palmer and Charles McKean will go besides the group that Bogue took on the first trip.

Friday night will see another council ring ceremony being held, and on Saturday evening the first boxing show will take place followed by a dramatic play. Several fast matches have been scheduled among the staff members for the inaugural show. Bud Boetticher will box Chuck Sutton, while Gil Haynie and Don O'Hara will trade blows. A big feature will be a bout between "Glass Jaw" Everhardus and "One Round" Cunningham, the Evansville killer. Supporting these three matches will be several fast bouts featuring some of the campers who made good in the ring last year.

Note! All parents who plan to visit camp this week-end, the first official visiting days, please remember that the camp is running on Central Standard Time. Camp time is one hour slower than regular Michigan time.

YOUTHS' TEMPERANCE COUNCIL

The last regular meeting of the Y. T. C. was held at the Palmer home and all business was laid aside for an evening of fun, which was a treasure hunt, and the treasure was brought from Washington, D. C., by Mrs. Palmer. They went in couples, of which there were 12. There were 14 clues, the first being "Who lives at the top of a strawberry"; the last, "The home of him whose name signifies the right to carry a palm as a returned pilgrim from the Holy Land." Thelma Swanson and Ben Palmer were the winners. Eva Mae Pulsipher and Robert Pearl got all the clues also, but were a half hour late. Ice cream was served and all felt the evening was well spent.

Schedule Swings Into Action With Group Divisions

Monday finds us all the better acquainted for the general get-togethers, and the group divisions are read over in morning assembly. The juniors are dubbed the Explorers and include June Rosen, Patsy Brown, Mary McColl, Mary Elizabeth McNulty, Marcia Smith, Margery Mills, Nancy Marin. Pioneers as the Intermediates are: Dotty Hildinger, Penny Shaw, Ruth Gram, Jean Oglesby, Lillian Smith, Maxine Gratton, Barbara Buell. The seniors are known as the Rangers, and have Mory MacDonald, Ethel Smith, Jean Reimann, Mudgie Killins, Veitch Purdom, Jean Manwaring, Connie Lorch, Ann Oakman, to round up the groups. With the camp so divided, we can go on to the other events and happenings of the week.

Events of the Week

Monday evening's assembly was presented by the Explorers who credited themselves very highly with their musical talents, as well as dramatical, and Mrs. Buell, who brought her daughter, Barbara, up to camp, sang for us "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," and two or three others. Then came crackers and milk and bed, that felt mighty good after our first real day of camp activities.

Classes are started in earnest on Tuesday, and in the afternoon about 10 of us go horseback riding, obtaining our horses from Camp Charlevoix. For assembly, the camp gathers in the Shale Pit to watch a group of Rangers give some skits, Veitch Purdom really stepping in there with a baby-pink dress and hair ribbon to venture forth on "Mary Had a Little Goat!"

Goodnight was sung around the camp fire, and so to bed, after indulging in a little bit of tag disguised as "Three Deep!"

The Lake Michigan trip that was planned for today, was postponed, due to the persistent cold weather. Instead, most of the camp was practically hanging in suspense as to the idea of initiation into the great "Society of Truth," in which 21 new members promised solemnly never to "spill the beans, dump the apple cart, or carry water in a sieve" to anyone not a member. Said apprehension was due to the uncertainty as to whether to wear a bathing suit or not! Only four "suckers" were caught, and it's entirely up to you which way it works!

Thursday we learn who are Blues, and who are Whites, in the camp teams, and already the Blues have one down (and a good many to go!) in the volley ball tournament. Riding, in the afternoon, and we hear it was pretty successful! In assembly, Miss Mid (our head counsellor) informs us of the new chart system to be worked out in place of the old point system, and tha counsellors tell us what they hope to accomplish with our help this summer. Then we hear a flute solo from Miss Mid, and a bed time story from Anne Hart to dream on.

Friday, we play baseball, especially, and are entertained in assembly by Miss Mid and her sister, Miss Marge, who sing and play (on the flute, of course) "Tulula lula lula" for us and which, incidentally, is all the rage now. After all joining our young, healthy and harmonious (young and healthy, anyway,) voices in other camp songs, we have circle sing and goodnight all.

More horseback riding today, and we make good use of it. The horses are in good shape and get a good double workout! The four girls in Tent 11, Miss Marge Small, Mudgie Killins, Connie Lorch and Ann Oakman, treat Tent 10, Penny Shaw, Ruth Gram and Dotty Hildinger, to a wonderful picnic (with cheese dreams!) down the shore to Gilead Grove, and use the new hut and fireplace that Daddy Swain built. It may be added that we "hot-footed" it back over all the sharp stones in existence along tha water front on the way home, just for variety's sake!

Sunday, the Fourth, is a quiet day, and we have our vesper service at 5:30 with Mother Swain giving us our Sunday "sermon" in the cause of earliest independence and building up to girls of our camp who will become "servers" in our country and will develop daily in our acts and thoughts throughout the summer. The quartet, including Ethel Smith, Ann Oakman, Dwight Adams and Chuck Potts, sings "I Will Be True," after which Jean Reimann reads the Scriptures, Jean Manwaring leads the responsive reading, and Mother Swain dismisses us. In the evening, the Kchatter comes out, songs are sung, and Taps are heard at 10, as we sleep an hour later in the morning, due to the holiday.

Today, after final practice, the pageant is held in tha Shale Pit in honor of the day. The Godess of Liberty is Jean Oglesby, and the others taking the parts representing the factories, knowledge, etc., of our country were Penny Shaw, Jean Reimann, Jean Manwaring, Ethel and Marcia Smith, Veitch Purdom, Ruth Gram, Dotty Hildinger, Maxine Gratton, Connie Lorch and Ann Oakman. Tha picnic suppar took place just beyond Gilead, and a late dip ended a perfect day.

Visitors for the Week

Our visitors during the week were not altogether unfamiliar to us. Some time during the middle of the week, and in the midst of a song, Mr. Reimann appeared to say "howdy do" to his daughter, Jean, on the way back to his camp. (We might say that our glimpse was through the lodge windows!)

Later, from California, came an old friend of Mother Swain's, Mrs. James Hodges, with her daughter, Mrs. Warren Steel, and her little girl, Cecily. They spent a very pleasant day with us, but left early the same evening.

Our over-the-week-end guests were Mr. and Mrs. O'Hara, from Lansing, and Janet; Dr. and Mrs. Schorling, from Ann Arbor, and their daughter, Ruthmary, who is in a biological camp not far from here.

SPECIAL HUNTING TIME FOR ARCHERS

SET SEASON NOV. 1 TO 14 IN TWO COUNTIES

Iosco and Newaygo Counties Are Named for Special Sport—Extra License Is Necessary

This fall for the first time in Michigan, bow and arrow hunters who go after deer or bear will be required to buy a special license and will hunt during a special open season in two Lower Peninsula counties.

Under a bill passed by the Legislature and signed by Governor Murphy, the bow-and-arrow season on deer and bear will extend from November 1 to November 14, inclusive, only in the counties of Newaygo and Iosco, being followed on November 15 by the regular deer season in these counties.

Under this arrangement the bow-and-arrow hunter may shoot deer or bear in Iosco and Newaygo counties without competition with rifle hunters. The bow and arrow license fee for residents is $2.25; for non-residents, $25. Groups of four or more may obtain a permit for $3 to take one deer for camp use under the same regulations as apply to the regular deer season.

All bow-and-arrow licenses will be sold from the Lansing office of the Department of Conservation; no licenses of this type will be sold in the field.

No hunter may buy both a "bow and arrow" license and a regular deer license. The law forbids the bow-and-arrow hunter to hunt deer or bear with a rifle during the regular open deer season.

The general regulations affecting regular deer and bear hunting apply to bow-and-arrow hunters. Each bow-and-arraw licensee may kill only one antlered deer, whose antlers are no less than three inches above the skull, and one bear. Possession of firearms by the archer is forbidden, either on his person or in his car.

One of the best ways to get along in life is to keep your eyes and ears open at all times, and your mouth closed as much as possible. Your eyes and ears bring you the wisdom of others; your mouth betrays that which does you small credit.

Crystal Star

By EARLE BOOK
© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate
WNU Service

HIS name was Crystal Star. A very strange name, but I assure you the man was equally strange.

I had stopped for gasoline at Ventura, on my way to Los Angeles from Santa Barbara. As I was preparing to leave the station, I was approached by a queer looking individual. He was about five feet two, topped with a weird bushy shock of hair which seemed to stand straight up. After his hair you noticed his steely gray, penetrating eyes, set in a rugged face. The face fooled you. You didn't know whether it was a happy one, or a sad one. It still has me fooled. And his age; he might have been twenty-five or forty-five, but your guess is as good as mine. His clothes were very ordinary, but unlike most hitch-hikers, he carried several books under his arm. I knew what was coming, and prepared myself for a refusal, when he spoke.

"If it pleases you, sir, may I have the pleasure of enjoying with you the journey to Los Angeles?"

He had me there. I opened the door, and started on my way with my strange companion. It was fully fifteen minutes before he spoke.

"May I introduce myself? My name is Crystal Star."

I acknowledged the introduction, adding, "But surely Crystal Star is not your real name?"

"The only name I shall ever have. I am in a new world with a new name."

"But why such a peculiar one?" I queried.

"Peculiar? You may think so, my friend, but to me it is a symbol—my own symbol of the future—may it shine as a crystal star!"

"You say you are in a new world? I don't quite understand."

"I am a Russian; I have been in this country only two years."

"Only two years?" I asked, puzzled. "But how do you speak English so well?"

"I have studied; I have worked very hard. . . . but there is much I must learn." His eyes were heavenward as he was speaking, his jaw was firm. I was enjoying with him his reverie. "They said in the great lumber camps of your Northwest that I was too small. But he is small only who is small in mind. They put me in your jails because they said I had no visible means of support; yet I have never begged for one small crumb. When I told them about my Russia, they said I was spreading propaganda, when I was only trying to return my knowledge for the knowledge they had given me. They put me on a rock pile to break my spirit, but that only intensified it. I am of the spirit of Lenin, who lives in the hearts of thousands of my countrymen!" His eyes lowered and he turned to me. "Perhaps you think the same about me. . . . I'm sorry; I must be humble in your hospitality."

"On the contrary, I am deeply interested," I replied.

Another fifteen minutes elapsed, and this time I spoke.

"May I ask what are all those books you carry under your arm? You seem to treasure them dearly."

"These books are knowledge of seven different languages. Already I read and speak them quite well, but not well enough."

"But why all this knowledge of these many languages?" I asked.

"To explain I must tell you a story, but. . . ."

"Please do," I cut in.

"It is many years ago when my story begins, before the revolution. We were very happy, my father, my mother, and I. He worked very hard, but he was strong, as all Russian peasants are strong. Then came the revolution—" and as he spoke the word "revolution" his eyes sparkled. "Men going to meetings under cover of the night; quiet whispering among the good wives of the peasants; a shining light in the heart of every Russian worker.

"Then one day the Cossacks came to our humble dwelling and tacked a card on the door. I remember my father consoling my mother, telling her not to worry, as nothing was going to happen. But it did happen, much sooner than we expected. The Cossacks returned the following day, and dragged my father off to the town nearby. I followed with my mother, and at the government building found him before the commandant. . . . It was crowded and we could not hear, but we could see that my father was protesting. But the commandant waved him away. The Cossack guard seized him and we followed. In the courtyard they stood him up against a wall; they wanted to blindfold him, but he refused. They laughed. He was looking at us, and smiling—only brave men smiled in those days. Eight men fired. . . . Some woman fainted, but not my mother. She had smiled with my father.

"They told mother later that he was shot for disobeying orders on the card they had tacked on the door. And she died shortly afterward. She was a brave woman, but not brave enough to go on without my father. —So," he said, finally turning to me, "that is why I must learn many languages, and learn them well."

I was perplexed, and asked, "But I don't understand . . . why didn't your father obey the orders on the card they had placed on your door?"

I saw the trace of a tear as he said, "You see, my father could not read."

KIWANIANS GIVEN A FINE MUSICAL TREAT

Bay View Assembly Artists on Program Tuesday Evening

Furnishing the program were Fred Patton, head of the voice department at Michigan State College; Faye Richards Geiger, president of the Lansing Matinee Musical, and Archie Black, pianist at Michigan State College.

Mrs. Richards used as her numbers "Ah, Love, But a Day," "Violets," and "Thy Sweet Singing." Mr. Black played a Spanish number, and Mr. Patton, formerly a member of the Metropolitan Opera, sang "Until," "Shortn'in Bread" and "Home on the Range." All three are at present connected with the musical school at Bay View.

An invitation was given Charlevoix citizens to attend the Sunday evening musicales at Bay View Assembly.

SPENCER-ARMSTRONG WEDDING EVENT OF JUNE 30TH AT ALMA

A wedding of interest to Charlevoix residents was solemnized in the First Presbyterian church at Alma at 9 o'clock Wednesday evening, June 30, when Miss Hannah Spencer, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Herman W. Spencer, of Alma, was united in marriage to Dr. Robert Bruce Armstrong, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. R. B. Armstrong, of this city.

The ceremony took place in the presence of 200 relatives and friends, and Rev. Albert J. Anthony, pastor of the church, officiated at the impressive rites. The groom was attended by his father, and the bridesmaids were Miss Mary Ruth Wolf, of Saginaw, and Mrs. Max Mateson, of Flint. A reception for 80 guests was given following the ceremony at the home.

A beautiful and impressive musical program preceded the ceremony at 8:30 o'clock. Mrs. Waldo Handley, of Detroit, presided at the organ, playing two selections. Miss Marjorie Hoyt, of Lansing, followed with three violin selections. Two vocal solos, one with violin obligato, were sung by Mrs. Myrle Thiers, of Mt. Pleasant. A trio played throughout the reception.

Dr. and Mrs. Armstrong are both graduates of Alma College. Dr. Armstrong finished there in 1926, went to the University of Michigan for his medical training, and returned to Charlevoix to practice with his father. Mrs. Armstrong took her college degree at Alma in 1928 and later studied violin in New York. She then became instructor in violin at Central State Teachers' College at Mt. Pleasant. She is popular in musical circles in Saginaw, Lansing and other nearby cities.

Following a ten-day honeymoon, Dr. and Mrs. Armstrong will be at home to their friends after July 10 at 201 Nichols street.

CREDULITY

Some people believe almost anything they are told. They accept any and all statements without the slightest evidence of the truth of such statements.

The more exactly some unfounded statements accord with their prejudices, the more quickly do they accept them, and the more often do they repeat them.

The result is they lend themselves to distributing misinformation which, in the minds of discerning people demanding facts, stamps them as credulous, if not lacking in the "upper story."

Credulity is really not only a mental but also a moral weakness, the only cure for which lies within the man himself who suffers from it. —By Frank B. Craig.

MANY CHANGES IN HUNTING RULINGS

HUNTERS NEED TO "BRUSH UP" BEFORE FALL

Squirrel Season Closed; Shorten the Season on Rabbits—Many Other Changes by Legislature

A careful review of records of the 1937 Legislature by conservation authorities has revealed so many alterations that Michigan's 1937-1938 game law digest will have to undergo almost complete revision.

Numerous changes in seasons and general regulations have been brought to light. Some of these were made by the Legislature in the last-minute rush toward adjournment and were completely lost sight of by interested observers. While not all of the changes have received the governor's signature, it was expected that all eventually will become laws.

Some of the innovations and alterations in the laws which will appear in the new game law digest now being prepared are listed as follows:

Year-around protection for bald eagles and ospreys.

State regulation of private roadside zoos and wildlife exhibits.

A closed season this fall on squirrels.

Shorter season on cottontail rabbits and snowshoe hares in the Lower Peninsula. Season was from October 15 to January 31, and is now from October 15 to December 31.

Sets fine of $100 to $500 or imprisonment in county jail from 90 days to one year, or both, for violating laws relative to moose, elk or caribou.

Placed skunk on unprotected list and subject to legal shooting yeararound.

Provides for general trapping license, except for beaver and otter for which special license is necessary. Small-game hunting license hereafter will not entitle licensee to any trapping privileges.

Non-residents may not trap and may not take raccoon.

Dogs running deer may be killed by officer, but not by others without criminal or civil liability. Presence of dog in woods, etc., during deer season no longer prima facie evidence of unlawful use.

Provides for non-resident small game license fee of $15 in zone three which is that area in Southern Michigan south of north line of Town 16 north and east of Saginaw Bay, including all of the Thumb area; and a non-resident small-game fee of $5 in all of Michigan north of the north line of Town 16 north and west of Saginaw Bay.

Requires all hunters and trappers to make reports to Department of Conservation of number and species of game birds and animals taken in season under license. This applies to bow-and-arrow and regular deer hunters as well as small-game hunters and all trappers.

Prohibits setting of fires in marshes or other lands for purpose of driving out wild birds or animals.

Sets season on pheasants, ruffed grouse, prairie chickens and sharptailed grouse in Upper Peninsula from October 1 to October 12, inclusive; in Lower Peninsula, from October 15 to October 31, inclusive. Prairie chickens and sharptails still protected in zone three and pheasant shooting forbidden by commission action in Upper Peninsula.

No permit necessary to carry firearms by persons entering hunting areas within five days of open deer hunting season.

MUSKEGON CENTENNIAL OFFERS BIG FEATURES

World's Largest Cow and Steer to Be Exhibited There July 17-31

"Lone Star," largest cow in the world, weighing more than 3,000 pounds and standing nine feet in height, will be exhibited in a modern Noah's Ark at the Muskegon Centennial and Lumberjack Festival to be held at Muskegon, Mich., July 17-31. Owned by O. K. Maulsby, of San Antonio, Tex., she was a feature of Chicago's Century of Progress in 1934.

In a marine exhibit will be seen strange fish, baby whales, whaling and harpoon guns and other paraphernalia.

Cast of Local and Summer Residents Appear in Three-Act Comedy-Movie at Gymnasium

The curtain on the Board of Commerce production, "Movie Queen," will rise at 8:15 o'clock Thursday evening at the high school auditorium, revealing three acts of sparkling musical-movie comedy.

A cast, of both local and summer residents, has been in rehearsal for two weeks. The cast is as follows:

Mary Brown, played by Marie Novak; Jimmy Cain, by George Packawski; Goldstein, of Goldstein, Goldstein, Goldstein, Inc., by Paul Rothchild; Monsieur Flowers, the French dress designer, portrayed by Fay Bradley; Director VonVonheim, played by Franklin Left; Ma Brown, Monica McHugh; the mayor of Charlevoix, played by Rollie L. Lewis; Mr. Suave, manager of the Grand Hotel, A. C. Belding; the four Hollywood G-Men, played by Dean Davenport, Maurice Foster, "Chick" Gallagher and Billy Hanna; Kenyon, played by Omer McCann; Barrymore Cohen, portrayed by Junior Zelley.

There are also scintillating tap dancing choruses and Hollywood models.

Everyone is a potential character in the last act. Perhaps the candid camera "got" you when you weren't looking.

The cast and chorus is prepared to present a professional performance of comedy revealing how stars are made in Hollywood. The identity of the "Movie Queen" will be revealed. The manner in which pictures are written and produced will be shown.

The Board of Commerce has arranged a matinee for Thursday afternoon for the kiddies at 3 o'clock. Each child will be presented with a free ice cream cone.

Election of Three Trustees and Other Business Coming Up

Election of trustees, reports, etc., will be major items of business.

SCHOOLS IN GOOD STATE OF FINANCE

WILL START 1937-38 TERM WITH SUBSTANTIAL BALANCE

Clarence B. Meggison Re-Elected, Clair S. Webster Succeeds Harker Kirby as Board Member

The annual meeting of Charlevoix school district No. 1, city and township, drew an attendance of around 50 persons Monday evening, the largest turnout in recent years, but not a very representative gathering in view of the number of taxpayers.

Two members of the board of education were elected, Clarence B. Meggison to succeed himself for three years, and Clair S. Webster to fill the unexpired one-year term of Harker Kirby, resigned. There were three nominees and three ballots to fill vacancy, and four nominees and two ballots to choose the other trustee.

Patrons assembled listened to skeletonized reports of the secretary and treasurer, a complete report of the city librarian and voted their acceptance.

The treasurer's report revealed a comfortable balance on hand to start the 1937-38 school year and the secretary's report detailed numerous improvements which included enlargement of the manual training room, a large program of redecoration within the school buildings, and the exterior as well, and the building of facilities at the south side athletic field, perhaps the most complete layout of its kind in Northern Michigan. The purchase of a new school bus for transportation of pupils from outlying districts and for use in transportation of athletic teams during the season of sports was also reported.

A proposal to either grant or express approval of granting the American Legion a 20-year lease on the south side ward school building used as the Legion quarters for several years, upset the earlier tranquility of the meeting. The original motion to grant the lease was succeeded by a couple amendments and finally one to table the matter. Discussion got out of control of the presiding officer apparently, and finally a hand-raising vote, which meant very little in the confusion, was held as patrons got up and walked out of the meeting. The occurrence precluded any discussion of school matters which may have been raised and provided the conclusion of an unsatisfactory incident.

ELEPHANT FEATURE OF COMING CIRCUS

MARY LOU IS CLAIMED ONE OF LARGEST IN COUNTRY

Many Attractions Billed for Lewis Brothers' Three-Ring Show Here on Thursday, July 22

Lady Lou, one of the largest elephants in America today, who stands well over 10 feet in height and weighs approximately five tons, will perform here with Lewis Brothers' Big Three Ring Circus Menagerie and Trained Animal Show on Thursday, July 22, on the south side athletic show grounds, under the auspices of the American Legion.

When first brought to this country and trained, Lady Lou was taught to perform the feat of completely covering the body of her trainer with no part of her huge poundage resting upon him. During a performance at Michigan City, Ind., the ground was sandy and soft and the huge animal refused to obey the command of her trainer to lie down, fearing that she would crush and greatly injure him. Some 20 years later this animal was brought to the same spot which has now been worked over, and the land more firm and could easily bear the weight of the huge animal without any serious difficulties. It was on the same ground, and Lady Lou remembered so well the surroundings that it was almost impossible to get her to walk upon the grounds, let alone perform.

Lady Lou is considered to be one of the largest elephants in America today, and of course will be a great treat to the kiddies, as well as the grown-ups who come to see her perform with Lewis Brothers' Circus. In addition, there will be lion acts, bear acts, horse acts, pony acts, monkeys, aerialists, acrobats, funny clowns, etc. The performance lasts two full hours and is chuck full of thrills and surprises. The show will make two appearances at 2 and 8 p. m., rain or shine.

PROVIDE TRAPPERS TO ASSIST FARMERS

Instruction In Campaign Against Coyotes and Wolves Is Offered

Seven experienced trappers are to be trained by the Department of Conservation to serve as instructors to sheep ranchers, farmers and others who want to trap coyotes and wolves under provisions of the new Michigan bounty law enacted by the 1937 Legislature.

Three of the trappers will be assigned to the Upper Peninsula and four to the Lower Peninsula.

Farmers and ranchers experiencing trouble from coyotes and wolves may request assistance from their local county agents, who will, in turn, ask for a trapping instructor from regional conservation headquarters. In the Upper Peninsula these instructors will be assigned by the Marquette regional office, and in the Lower Peninsula by the Roscommon regional office.

The seven instructors will be on a full-time salary basis and will be entitled to no share of the bounties received by those whom they have instructed.

CAR STICKER DEADLINE IS AUGUST 1

ALL CARS WITHOUT LICENSE WILL BE STOPPED

Estimate Nearly Half Million Car Owners Have to Get Plates Before Deadline Limit

Several thousand owners of motor vehicles will be barred from driving in the streets and highways of Michigan on Sunday, August 1, because they delayed too long to buy 1937 license plates to replace their half-year "stickers," it is estimated by Leon D. Case, secretary of state.

It has been computed that by July 16, with only 10 working days remaining before August 1 — the "sticker deadline" — about 375,000 motor vehicles will still be equipped with stickers which their owners plan to replace with 1937 plates by August 1. This takes into consideration cars which will be junked when stickers expire, together with stickers already replaced with plates.

Nearly 1500 car owners, in and around Charlevoix, are driving with sticker plates. In other words, nearly 1500 cars must be supplied with 1937 plates between now and July 31.

It is a physical impossibility to handle more than 100 plate applications per day in an office of this size.

Every car owner who possibly can is urged to purchase 1937 plates at once to avoid delay and disappointment. Every applicant will be expected to present a completed application when applying for plates.

CHERRY FESTIVAL OPENS WEONESOAY

BIG THREE-DAY PROGRAM AT TRAVERSE CITY

Many New Features Announced for Tenth Annual Event—Thousands Expected to Attend

All roads lead to Traverse City this week as the 10th edition of the nationally famous National Cherry Festival gets under way Wednesday morning with an aerial bombardment of the city.

For three days over 100,000 spectators will be royally entertained by a celebration planned for their enjoyment and in honor of the successful harvesting of another Michigan cherry crop. In the past, every Festival has been bigger and better than the last one, and this year the tradition will be maintained. An elaborate program that occupies every waking moment of the three days has been set up. It has been planned so that there will be something doing every day to suit every taste. For the children there will be the carnivals with their merry-go-rounds, the Prince and Princess coronation, stunting airplanes and nautical stunts on Grand Traverse Bay, and fireworks. For visitors of 'teen age, there is the Queen's Ball with music by Maurie Sherman, late of the Casino Parisien, Chicago, and the Mummers' Night Ball, the coronation of Cherry Queen Eliene Lyon, swimming and boat races, and the Mummers' Night Parade. For adults there is provided the opportunity of seeing the Honorable Hirosi Saito, Japanese ambassador to the United States, recognized as one of the world's best liked and most astute diplomats, and an opportunity of hearing an important discussion of the issues of the day in Michigan by Governor Frank Murphy. And adults, of course, will get as much kick as the youngsters out of the carnival atmosphere of this year's festival.

Charlevoix Independents dropped another close ball game Sunday, losing 5 to 4 to Indian River on the latter's diamond.

Although Charlevoix out-hit the winner 12 to 9, they were unable to produce hits with men on base for scores. Amos John and Ager led the local attack with three hits each.

The Independents play at home Sunday, meeting the strong Cheboygan Merchants in a contest which has promise of being close and interesting. Charlevoix lost to Cheboygan by a narrow margin in a previous game, and is planning to even the count. The game will be called at 3 o'clock at the south side diamond.

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Six months of history at the state capital have done much to reveal the personality of Frank Murphy, governor.

Working quietly with apparently no effort to assume the Rooseveltian role of aggressive leadership, Governor Murphy obtained results from the Legislature that surprised his critics. One month ago prospects for a July 1 record of achievements were dismal indeed. The two houses were caught in a quagmire over civil service; labor relation bills appeared in a bewildering succession.

The one tendency in legislation which appeared early in the session and continued until the hectic night of adjournment was an indulgence to help home districts solve their local problems of government by granting liberal state aid.

Murphy's Philosophy

Differing from President Roosevelt in his philosophy of government, Murphy believes in the traditional balance of government. He has kept "hands off" of the Legislature even to the point where responsible party leaders charged him with being

When Over the Fence Was Out

GIL CAMPBELL'S "Homer" is Gone With the Wind

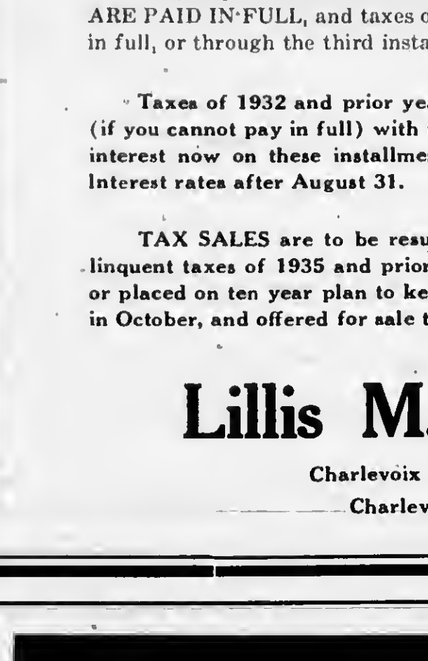
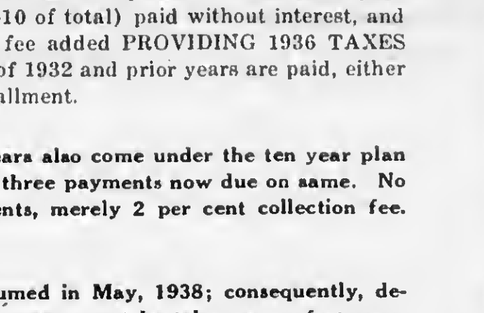
THE boyhood cry of "Over the fence is out", is usually associated with ballgames played in spare lots and back alleys. Here's when it came true in the major leagues with Gilly Campbell, Reds young catcher, as the victim.





PLAYING a tough game with the Dodgers at Ebbets Field, the Reds were losing 5 to 4 as they came to bat in the ninth. Campbell up . . . determined to tie the score. He picked out a fast ball and slammed it high, wide and handsome into deep right field.

THE right fielder raced back. The ball passed over his head . . . over the wire screen . . . then curved back as the wind caught it. A desperate leap against the screen and the fielder had it. Campbell's bid for a homer was gone with the wind.

AND HERE'S A FAMOUS PAIR THAT'S ALWAYS OUT . . . IN FRONT!

CAMP CHARLEVOIX WEEKLY NEWS COLUMN

Edited by Ed. Taylor

During the past week many things have happened here at camp, and many more are on the program for this week. Things are going full force and every one is having a great time.

Last Wednesday evening was cabin stunt night. Several cabins gave short skits and all were well received by the group.

On Thursday night each section took a short trip and had a cook-out. The seniors took the sailboats and went across the bay, while the juniors went in the canoes and rowboats to a spot down the bay. The intermediates stayed in camp and ate down on the shore.

Several overnights were out of camp last week. Thursday night Herm Everhardus and Jim Voyce took their cabins over to the Hardwood Forest district near Thumb Lake. In the first group were Bill Gram, Jim Abbott, Lyons Howland, Bud Porter, Joe Craig, and Bob Miller. In Voyce's trip were Bob Stevens, Frank Bowen, John Sweeny, Steve Bnits and Dick Tonerny.

Doc Darling and his cabin took a trip over to Walloon Lake the same night. Accompanying him were Andy Frostic, Dave Hunting, Dave Bennett, Walt Fader, Jim Wickwire and Bill Ladwig.

On Wednesday night, Erwood Edgar took Jack Farr, Tom Bennett, Ted Ford; Guy Greene, John Avis, John Worsester and Sheldon Dickinson to the same spot.

Saturday night the first boxing show of the season took place under the auspices of Bud Boetticher. Eight fast bouts were run off. In the first event last year's junior champion, Hap Hubbard, was dethroned by a newcomer, Ned Greenthal. A return bout is in the offing for this week. Jimmy Robinson used his long reach to a good advantage and outpointed Sam Greenwalt.

Bruce Laing and Bill Palmer, both undefeated last year, fought a hard battle, with Laing gaining the edge. Both boys are good fighters, and Bill gave away almost 30 pounds to his heavier opponent and still put up a stiff fight.

But Boetticher and Chuck Sutton were next on the program. Boetticher fighting under wraps, gained an easy decision over Chuck, but the latter showed some of old Jim Braddock's ability to take it and put up a good fight. Jackie Farr whipped Tom Bennett in the next battle of the evening.

Gil Haynie and Don O'Hara fought three fast rounds with Haynie getting the decision at the end. In the semi-final bout But Summerfield trounced Bob Miller.

The main event brought together Herm Everhardus and Killer George Cunningham. Everhardus managed to duck most of the Killer's punches and did a little slugging on his own. At the end of three bruising heats, Everhardus' hand was raised in victory.

Next week's show will feature the "Battle of the Aged." The grand old man," Ken Smith, will come out of retirement to defend his overweight title against "Big Jim" Voyce. Swords at 20 paces have been chosen as the weapons. Every one is waiting for Saturday night to come and the big surprise that is in store for them when these two bold gladiators enter the arena.

Monday afternoon Bob Bogue and Johnny Nenninger started down the Manistee River on a three day trip. This is the first expedition from camp to make the trip, and many new thrills and experiences are in store for the group. Those going on the trip are Bruce Laing, Bob Patterson, Charlie McKean, Bob Kittredge, William Palmer, George Cannon, Bill Clausen, Howie Fitzgerald, Bill Palmer, Maynard Swan and Ward Howland.

Tuesday afternoon four teams will journey to Camp Hayo-went-ha for a return battle with the campers there. The intermediates went to play softball, tennis and swim, while the seniors will compete in a sailing race.

Wednesday night is the first dance with the girls from Kairphree Camp and it has been rumored that the girls' hearts have been beating extra fast for over a week while they have been waiting for the big night to come. There will be extra hot water so all of the seniors and intermediates can get the neck and ears real clean.

AT THE MOVIES

"Greater Love Hath No Man" New Film Theme

A story of great nobility of soul and sacrifice for love has been written against a background of modern war-torn Spain to produce "The Last Train From Madrid," the new picture which opens Sunday, July 18, at the Palace Theatre.

Woven into the plot are the destinies of several other persons caught in the maelstrom, fighting for a pass for a coveted place on the train. Among these are Lew Ayres, a "debunked" American newspaperman who, during the bombardment, discovers the love he had been seeking for years; Olympe Bradna, a member of the famed "Women's Battalion"; Robert Cummings, a deserter and coward who finds himself; Helen Mack, a street waif, who snatches at life and love, offered to her for the first time while the city is being bombed; Karen Morley, an adventuress who continues to play her game; Lee Bowman, a gigolo, Lionel Atwill, commander of the city, and many others.

Famed Placerita Canyon Becomes Brushwood Gulch for "Way Out West" Plot

Placerita Canyon, world famous as one of the early places where gold was first discovered in California, served as the locale for Laurel and Hardy to cut up their funny capers in the latest Hal Roach-M-G-M feature comedy, "Way Out West," coming Saturday, July 24, to the Palace Theatre.

KAMP KAIRPHREE NEWS COLUMN

By Ann Oakman

First Overnight Starts Out

Tuesday night, July 6, the Rangers (seniors), counselled by Miss Lucy and Miss Jean Dornblaser, start out over a calm sea headed for an unknown destination, later discovered to be "Charlevoix Bare Camp." Everything went well and a most unusual bonfire was built to enjoy toasted graham crackers. At the same time, things were going on at camp that we missed. First of all, the Explorers (juniors) go horseback riding in the afternoon, returning in time for their cook-out down at the grove fireplace, and where they remain exclusively through assembly which, incidentally, is spent by the Pioneers loafing and singing songs out on the dock.

On Wednesday the overnighters return, happy, a bit on the wet side as the waves became slightly giddy, and leaving trails of sand on tentmate's side of the floor. Later, loud practicings were heard off stage of "My kitten, my kitten, it has strayed away!" Next evening, in assembly, all was revealed by the most excellent portrayal of "The Fatal Quest," directed by Miss Mickey, and as the King (overpowering) was Veitch Purdom, who arose to new heights in the delicate art of miniature windmill blowing! And the King was necessarily supported by the beauteous Queen, Miss Jean Reimann (the pride and envy of all due to her unusual ability)! Quote from Kurtain Kritic (our director): "In the juvenile leads were Constance Lorch and Marjory Killins. Miss Lorch as the Duke topped all previous performances. Miss Killins as the Princess topped the Duke. Attired in Scotch plaid with the simplest of bows about her head, she was ravenous. Mention must be made of her astounding display of muscular cooperation in her scene of the Shapely Arms! Probably the most difficult and singular piece of character portrayal was given by Miss Ethel Barrymore Smith as the Sheen Sifter. A close second to Miss Barrymore was Ann Ophelia Oakman. In the role of the Curtain she was All-fall." So fell the play. Wednesday night assembly was taken up with Murder being played by the left behind Rangers and Explorers, later a dip, one extra late star gazing and to bed.

Thursday there is riding and the day seems dedicated to laundry and hair washing due to the return of the two previous overnights.

Friday, regular activities, and about 5 o'clock Mrs. Louis Gram arrives with Priscilla Ehlers, who will stay with us in camp for a few days. Mrs. Gram's daughter, Ruth, is in camp and her son, Bill, is at [illegible] Charlevoix. We all leave for the sunny shores of Lake Michigan and were they welcome, though the water was exhiliarting—even to the hardened bodies of Kamp Kairphree-ites. A fine supper was had and, about 9, we once again roll into camp singing "And now we're back in dear old Kamp Kairphree."

Saturday, we have a free afternoon and those who don't have the ambition to do general good to trunk, laundry, etc., go riding. For evening assembly, we go out across the lake and sing in the canoes, our echoes returning clearly across the calm water.

Sunday we feel refreshed, if a bit sticky, for the rain the night before. Around noon, Mrs. Putnam, with her daughter, Ruth, an old camper, calls for a very short visit before going on to see her son in Camp Charlevoix. Later, Mr. Purdom with Dean Edmonson arrives from Ann Arbor to visit his daughter, Veitch. In the afternoon we have our Vesper service, led by Miss "Mid," who tells us how to learn beautiful living by appreciation of everything beautiful about us.

The choir is made up of our juniors singing "Onward Christian Soldiers," and "Now the Day Is Over." Kehutter comes out in the evening, and we all happily go to bed.

RANGE SHELTERS PROTECT PULLETS

Losses in pullet raising during hot summer months can be shifted into healthy gains and profitable fall eggs with wise use of a portable range shelter.

Although a shelter able to handle 125 pullets to maturity may cost $20 to $30 for materials, the equipment makes a good investment, according to J. A. Davidson, member of the poultry husbandry department at Michigan State College.

One suitable type advised by the college has a frame nine feet by ten feet. When this is placed in an acre of green feed range, the pullets are away from adjoining flocks and the shelter can be moved often enough to avoid contaminated range. Alfalfa or sod is suggested for range. In a sod orchard the better the sod, the less the contamination.

HUNTING LAWS WILL REMAIN UNCHANGED

Same Small Game and Deer Season Decided by Commission

The State Conservation Commission, at its July meeting near Baldwin, voted to leave small game and deer hunting season unchanged from the limits set by the Legislature, the department reported.

Hunting will be permitted in the same areas as last year, the commission decided.

The commission approved leases on 13,000 acres of wildcat oil land for $4,800 and voted to purchase a mile of frontage on the Black River in the Pigeon River forest.

The next commission meeting will be held near Blaney on August 10 and 11.

"Taxes are to be lower next year maybe," is the latest message from Washington. That's the trouble with this tax business — it's always next year, and mostly maybe.

With the arrival and installation of equipment, the new lunch room at the L. P. Adams & Son store, occupying an addition to the former quarters, has been opened.

The new kitchen is electrically equipped with stove, refrigeration, toasters and other necessary appliances. George Eckert, of Palm Springs, Calif., is in charge of this department.

Chromium steel chairs, with tables to match, have been installed in the lunch room and attractive drapes and other furnishings are in harmony.

The new department gives Charlevoix one of the most modern and up-to-date lunch rooms in Northern Michigan, and reflects credit upon the management of the store.

JUNE SHIPPING RECORD BEST IN LOCK HISTORY

Figures Show Tonnage Higher Than Boom Traffic of 1929

Isaac DeYoung, superintendent of the Sault ship canal, said Thursday June freight traffic was the heaviest for that month than in any previous year.

The 1937 June tonnage, he said, was 14,160,810 as compared with 14,075,844 tons in June, 1929, the highest previous year.

Iron ore tonnage last month totalled 10,881,790. In June, 1936, 6,931,326 tons of iron ore went through the canal.

There were 2,904 vessel passages last month and 4,335 passengers.

Tonnage for the entire season, to July 1, is 13,456,979 tons ahead of the total of 19,422,581 tons for the corresponding period a year ago.

SUNBURNED PIGS TAKE MORE FEED

Sunshades for hogs might seem like an expensive luxury. But experiments and experience at Michigan State College prove that a sunburned pig delays gains for two or three months before recovery and that the pig costs more to place on the market.

A hot summer in which considerable rain occurs is a season in which the irritation shows up the most, according to V. A. Freeman, extension specialist in animal husbandry at the college.

BAKING BUSINESS IS BIG EMPLOYER

Head of Michigan Bakeries, Inc., Gives Bread Volume Facts

"In spite of all the latest labor-saving equipment used in large, modern bakeries, the American baking industry is the third largest employer among our various industries."

This statement came from Percy Owen, president of Michigan Bakeries, Inc.

"The baking industry employs 200,000 wage earners with a payroll of approximately $250,000,000 annually," Mr. Owen further commented. "And with better hours, better wages and better working conditions have come greater efficiency."

Referring specifically to the payroll of Michigan Bakeries, Inc., bakers of "Michigan" bread and rolls, he said that the total amount was in excess of $450,000 annually, with 350 persons being employed.

The following additional facts, relating to the volume of bread ingredients used by Michigan Bakeries, he also cited: 85,000 barrels of flour; six tons of lard per week; eight tons of sugar per week; and 15 tons of yeast per month.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT

Community Program In Immunization and Vaccination of the Younger Age Group

Recently the newspapers published the news release issued by Dr. C. C. Slemons, state commissioner of health, in which he stated that children are dying of diphtheria in Michigan today when such deaths are a discredit to any community. He made this decisive statement upon reading the statistical reports that had been laid on his desk that morning which indicated an 82 per cent increase in diphtheria mortality for the early months of this year. Already 302 cases have been reported throughout the state since January, and each could have been prevented if every infant were immunized before he became one year of age. Twenty deaths have already occurred compared with 11 at this time last year, and yet such deaths are absolutely preventable. The cause of diphtheria is known and how it sprends, and since it is so easy to administer the one-dose toxoid to each child, why should parents risk the hazard of having their children contract this disease?

The responsibility for protecting their children lies with the parents in safeguarding them against the foes of diphtheria and smallpox. The ideal time to protect the child from diphtheria is nine months of age; prior to this time he has acquired enough immunity from his mother to resist the disease. Protection against smallpox may be given as early as 10 days of life and this, too, is an ideal time to protect the child since the "take" is less severe.

Many communities are sponsoring infant and preschool clinics during the summer months, at which times vaccination and immunization protection are being offered by the District Health Department in the counties of Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego. You, as a parent, owe it to your child to have him protected against these two diseases; ask your family physician for this protection or plan to attend a clinic in your community this summer. Remember that 80 per cent of all diphtheria deaths occur during the first five years of life, so be wise and immunize your children.

AN ACE AMONG DRIVERS

There is a story about a motorist who found fault with most other car drivers. As he sped along he would point out to his wife their shortcomings—how they were always in the wrong traffic lane, turned the corner too wide, never signalled for a stop, dawdled here and there so he could never tell what they meant to do.

"John," said his better half finally, "do you think all drivers are in the wrong, and that you are the only perfect one?"

It would do most drivers good to have a handy list of driving imperfections, and to check up on themselves every little while. They might be chagrined to find their average score below 50.

Driving a motor car with skill and safety usually brings out the best qualities in any man. It takes mental poise as well as confidence. It takes patience and alertness, tolerance of the shortcomings of others, and a courteous disregard of the boorish self-assertiveness os common among certain drivers.

Bad temper has no place in the equipment of any driver. If you are "sour" on the world, better leave the car in the garage.

SOCIAL SECURITY BRIEFS

Blind people who have no means of their own receive cash payments monthly through the public-welfare authorities of many states. Under the Social Security Act, the federal government provides approximately one-half the money for this purpose to states that have plans approved by the Social Security Board.

Twenty-eight states and the District of Columbia have plans for aid-to-the-blind approved to date by the Social Security Board. More than 30 thousand blind people are receiving monthly payments from federal, state, and local funds.

State agencies have authority to decide how much will be granted in each case of aid to the blind. The Social Security Board leaves that matter entirely up to the state authorities. The federal government, however, will not contribute toward payments to a blind person who is in a public institution, or who is at the same time receiving old-age assistance under the federal-state program.

Application for aid to the blind should be made to the nearest public-welfare agency. If there is no such agency in the community, write to the State Department of Public Welfare or the State Relief Administration at the state capital. The Social Security Board cannot and does not handle such applications.

"aloof." He considers that the judiciary should retain its independence. He exalts the function of the executive branch.

Declining to impose a "must" program on the Legislature, Murphy invited leaders to hear his views. He let it be known that legislative prerogative would be respected by the executive office.

The results were obvious. The Legislature went on a spending spree, adding approximately 25 millions to the previously record high budget of the state. Only two new important sources of income were added: (1) A use tax designed to obtain revenue from out-state sales, and (2) higher liquor prices through a 55 per cent gross profit instead of 40 per cent.

Faced with a huge deficit, Murphy pleaded with legislators on the final night for a saving clause by which he could pare appropriations 10 per cent. This privilege was extended, and if the budget is balanced, Murphy can claim credit personally for doing it.

Liberal Legislation

It is rather risky to use the word "liberal" these days, for that phrase means one thing to the A.F.L. and another thing to the C.I.O.

This is best illustrated by the labor relations bill which as finally adopted was the fourth one to bear the numerical title of "House Bill 571." First came the original bill sponsored by the governor, drafted by his legal adviser with the aid of the attorney general's office. Labor objected to a requirement of mediation before the right to strike, so a substitute bill was brought out of the House labor committee with the governor's personal endorsement. This measure swung to the other extreme, in the opinion of employers.

The Senate sought a compromise through three Democrats and three Republicans, and a Senate substitute bill emerged for the House substitute bill. Passed by the Senate, the new substitute bill went to the House where laborites protested loudly.

It was about 1:30 a. m., June 26—90 minutes after technical adjournment—that the fourth bill arrived from Murphy's office with the blessing of the A. F. of L. It was later that morning when the new bill was finally passed by both the House and the Senate. A threatened House revolt was averted by Speaker George Schroeder who proclaimed the measure to be as near ideal as Michigan legislators could make it.

The C.I.O. Objects

While the American Federation of Labor approved the setup for peaceful picketing—really the heart of the new bill—the Committee on Industrial Organization has announced vigorous objection. What is liberal to the A. F. of L. is reactionary to the C.I.O.

All of which merely proves that labor is in disagreement over policies and principles.

Murphy has refused repeatedly to use force to require compliance with state law, as contrasted with the Democratic governors of Ohio and Indiana. He has been consistently friendly with labor in its struggle for new power.

If he signs the new labor relations bill over the protest of the U.A.W. and the Conference for Protection of Civil Rights, mass picketing of plants by non-employes will become illegal. (The Monroe incident would have been a violation of law.) The C.I.O. thus will find its greatest weapon suddenly taken away by the state.

As the final bill was passed only through his personal pleadings, Murphy is again at the crossroads.

Profits from Liquor

The Legislature's revision of state liquor regulations brought a change in basic policy.

In the name of obtaining needed revenue to enlarge hospital facilities, the Legislature authorized the State Liquor Commission to increase the state's "take" in profit from 40 to 55 per cent. This additional 15 per cent is expected to bring in about three millions annually.

Whereas the Fitzgerald administration hewed to the line of regulating traffic, the Murphy policy has become that of increasing profit. Higher prices will appear soon. Half of the special liquor dispensaries are to be lopped off, and about 30 new state stores are to be opened. At present about 75 per cent of all liquor sold is handled by non-state agencies. But Commissioner V. F. Gormley plans to reverse the percentage.

Extension of the state control over liquor has been tempered by a tightening of enforcement of liquor laws. A "flying squadron" is in action, and errant night clubs have been closed. Furthermore, sale of beer to youngsters under the age of 21 was outlawed in the same statute that signalized the return of the saloon bar to Michigan.

Weather Is News

Southern Michigan is mired from heavy rainfalls. Rivers have been pouring flood waters into nearby lowlands. Vegetable gardens are a disappointment, as crops rot in the wet ground. Rain and hot sunshine in too close succession have ruined much of the celery crop.

Up-state, however, farmers have been complaining of drouth. Cloudy skies but no rain has been the rule.

The combination bids well to insure higher prices for the consuming public next fall and winter.

UNCENSORED VERSION OF "ECSTACY" COMING

Will Be Shown July 15-17 at the Temple Theatre in Petoskey

"Ecstney," the film that was originally banned by the U. S. government, has been finally admitted into the U. S., and is coming to the New Temple Theatre, Petoskey, on July 15-17, inclusive.

This film had a hectic career throughout the entire world. It is frank and to the point. After considerable controversy in the courts, the U. S. Customs has finally admitted its entry.

Hedy Kiesler, star of "Ecstacy," has received praise from Max Reinhardt, who labels her as "The loveliest girl in Europe." "Ecstney" is her first motion picture, and from present indications it will be her last, for her husband, Fritz Mandel, president of Austria's Hirtenberg Ammunition Works, is determined that she shall not appear in any other motion picture, and is making every endeavor throughout Europe as well as America to buy up all the copies of "Ecstacy."

It is said that Miss Kiesler gives one of the most poetic expressions that the camera has ever recorded. "Ecstasy" was considered the finest picture at the International Film Congress held at Venice, Italy, competing with American films such as "Little Women," "Death Takes a Holiday," "Viva Villa," "Wonder Bar," and "The Invisible Man." The intelligence with which the theme is handled is what has caused this film to be elevated to the heights it has attained.

SMITH-WILLIS WEDDING PRETTY EVENT SUNDAY

First Church Wedding at Greensky Indian Mission in 37 Years

A very beautiful wedding ceremony took place Sunday evening, July 11, at 6:30 o'clock at the Greensky Hill Indian Mission, when Anna Willis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Willis, of Bay Shore, became the bride of Nathaniel Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith, also of Bay Shore.

Mrs. Dorothy Willis Johnson and Raymond Willis, of Bay Shore, were maid of honor and best man; and the couple were also attended by Mr. and Mrs. James Smith, of Petoskey. Little Anna Marie Hagar, of Petoskey, was ring bearer, and John Willis, father of the bride, gave her to Nathaniel in marriage. Rev. John Alexander, assisted by George Greensky, performed the ceremony. Amos Kahgee, of Petoskey, and Lazarus Willis, of Charlevoix, were ushers.

The ceremony was preceded by several violin numbers by Miss Evelyn Alexander, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. John Alexander, who also accompanied Kenneth Rackoff, of Bay Shore, who sang "I Love You Truly" and "O Promise Me." Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played by Mrs. Alexander and daughter, Evelyn.

The occasion was of special interest to the members and friends of Greensky Hill Indian Mission, since only one other wedding had taken place at the Mission in all its history, that of Sarah Willis and Charles Green, 37 years ago. Mr. Green was one of the guests at the wedding Sunday.

SPECIAL LEGISLATIVE SESSION IS PROBABLE

Governor Indicates Meeting July 29 Will Be Extended

Gov. Frank Murphy is quoted as saying that the reconvening of the 1937 Michigan Legislature on July 29 "quite likely" will be extended into a special session to consider five key issues which failed to pass so far in the regular session.

Added to the labor relations act and civil service as probable issues which Murphy will submit to the Legislature in event that he extends its meeting into a final session were teacher's tenure, rural electrification and revision of the unemployment compensation act.

SEEK CONVICTION NET DESTRUCTION

SIX MEN HAVE EXAMINATION AT BELLAIRE, TUESDAY

Conklin & Bissell, Local Operators, Lost Eleven Nets, Find Violators and Briog Charges

Four Antrim county and two downstate men will be given examination Tuesday at Bellaire on charges of destroying and tampering with commercial fishing nets in Lake Michigan.

On complaint of Walter Conklin and Joe Bissell, operating from Charlevoix under the name of Conklin & Bissell, warrants charging destruction of nets have been issued against Richard Bence, operatur of Torch Village Inn and three boats for deep sea trolling at Eastport, Ivan Mannery and Kenneth Fox, employes, and H. B. Zimmerman, of Flint, the party guided. Robert Hirt, another Bence employe, and H. C. Grimm, of East Lansing, a customer, are charged with tampering with nets.

The charges resulted from loss of nets by Conklin & Bissell in Grand Traverse Bay, off Eastport. On Thursday, July 8, the operators set a gang of nets valued at $1000, five miles north of Eastport. The following Monday they found 13 nets, valued at $300, missing. A portion of a broken oar blade was found in the nets. The loss was reported and Sheriff Rushton, Bellaire, Jess Baird, Antrim conservation officer, and a state trooper from Traverse City conducted an investigation which resulted in finding the broken oar in one of Bence's boats.

Following questioning by officers, Fox is said to have admitted that he and Zimmerman cut off 11 nets, took 40 pounds of trout from them. The nets, later recovered, had been damped into the lake a mile off Bence's dock. They were badly damaged. Hirt, it is claimed, admitted he and Grimm took a fish from two nets which have not been recovered. Bence has denied implication, it is understood, although one of his employes is said to have admitted that taking fish from nets in Grand Traverse Bay waters has been a common practice for many years. In most instances local commercial fishermen have been the losers. Similar depredations are frequent off Cross Village, also, confined largely, however, to the theft of fish.

If convicted of the charges brought against them, the six men are liable to a fine of $500, imprisonment for six months, as well as payment for damage. Commercial fishermen have been nttempting to check the loss of nets for years, and this is the first time that a case has been actually obtained. Antrim county officers, Conservation Department officers and state police are bending every effort to obtain a conviction in this case to provide a warning against future violations.

INDEPENDENTS WINNER OVER CHEBOYGAN TEAM

Evened Season's Count With 10 to 4 Victory Sunday Afternoon

Charlevoix Independents evened the season's count with the Cheboygan Merchants here Sunday afternoon, winning by a 10 to 4 score.

Charlevoix's seven-run barage in the third inning provided enough scores to win and during the remainder of the contest play was even. Charlevoix had two triples and as many doubles during the rally.

Amos John, pitching in fine form, held Cheboygan to six well scattered hits, while his team-mates gathered 13 from two Cheboygan harlers. Johnny Walker led the Charlevoix attack with a triple and two singles in four times at the plate. The largest crowd nf the season was out for the contest.

Charlevoix plays at home again next Sunday. They take on Indian River in a return game and will endeavor to even the season's score with this team also. Indian River won a previous contest at home.

NRS PROVIDES MANY JOBS IN THIS COUNTY

Report Shows 65 Given Employment In First Six Months of Year

The National Reemployment Service found 65 jobs for residents of Charlevoix county during the first six months of this year, Major Howard Starret, state reemployment director, reported today.

The semi-annual report of the NRS, a division of the U. S. Employment Service operated under the Department of Labor, showed private jobs were seven times what they were for the same period a year ago.

Throughout Michigan, 63,029 persons were sent to work. Only 6,115 of these persons were sent to federal relief projects in contrast to a total of 38,665 sent a year ago.

"This simultaneous increase of private jobs and decrease of relief jobs is due to business activity and efforts of the NRS to place people in private jobs whenever possible," Major Starret said.

During the last twelve months ending June 30, the NRS placed 157,546 people in jobs, Major Starret said.

Every county in the state was represented in the report on placements during the last six months. The Muskegon district in which Charlevoix county is located was credited with 4,143 jobs through the NRS, according to Major Starret.

SEEKING MAN WHO ATTACKED PETOSKEY GIRL

Hitch-Hiking Daughter of Emmet County Farmer Molested Sunday

Authorities are seeking a tall, unshaven man about 40 years old, described by the 15-year-old daughter of an Emmet county farmer, as the man who abducted and attacked her Sunday night after heating her on the head with a hammer.

The girl told police she was hitchhiking from her farm home to visit friends in Petoskey when the man offered her a ride in his coupe. Against her protests, she said, the man drove her to a woods on the outskirts of Petoskey. Her assailant struck her with the hammer, dragged her from the car and attacked her, she said.

After the attack the girl fled down the highway where other motorists took her to Petoskey hospital. Her assailant apparently ambushed himself in the woods until the girl was out of sight and then escaped west on US-31.

Physicians said the girl would recover from head lacerations and other injuries.

WATER CARNIVAL AND BOAT PARADE SUNDAY

AUGUST EVENT SET AHEAD FOR ENTERTAINMENT OF YACHTSMEN COMING FOR FOUR-DAY VISIT

Program of Water Contests, Band Concert, Novelty and Singing, Gorgeous Venetian Boat Parade and Fireworks to Greet Members Great Lakes Yachting Ass'n

While definite information is still lacking, it is anticipated between 35 and 40 yachts will come from Green Bay, Wis., following the annual regatta held there during the Chicago-Mackinac Island races. The Board of Commerce stands ready to provide entertainment during the four-day visit and is now awaiting the pleasure of the yachtsmen to anticipate their desires. The climax of the evening will he the gorgeous Venetian hoat parade, for which Charlevoix has become famous, and thousands gather to witness. Clair S. Webster, heading the committee in charge of the parade, has 25 hoats registered at the present time for the parade. The closing feature will be a beautiful fireworks display over Round Lake harbor.

Through the courtesy of Socony Vacuum Oil Co., of Detroit, distributors of Mobil products, and W. H. Wallace, local dealer, a sound car is being sent to broadcast the events. Another interesting feature will be the appearance of the Goebel Brewing Co. team of six white horses, which comes Sunday. STRIKES ARE DELAYING LAUNCHING NEW FERRY

Strikers are delaying the launching of the state's new carferry, City of Cheboygan, the State Highway Department has revealed.

Completion of the vessel, which was recently purchased by the state, awaits two pieces of machinery, delivery of which has been delayed because of strikes in the companies making them, the department reported. Both firms are outside of Michigan.

NEW YACHT SLIPS FINE IMPROVEMENT

EAST PARK PROJECT PROVIDES SIXTEEN DOCKS

Additional Facilities for Yachting Parties Fills Need Long Felt—Will Contioue Improvements

While the project is quite a ways from completion, the new municipal yacht slips at East Park will be ready for the arrival of the fleet of Great Lakes Yachting Association cruisers on Saturday.

Twelve docks have been constructed. Three are 16 feet long, two are 14 feet, and the balance at 12 feet. The dock farthest south is being equipped with a permanent diving platform, which, incidentally, will be ready for Sunday's water sports.

Work yet to be completed will provide a concrete walk seven feet in width behind the docks, concrete steps and walk from Bridge street through the park to the docks. Grading and landscaping of the park and the installation of recreational facilities will go ahead in the future in accordance with the city's ability to finance the work.

While labor has been furnished by WPA, the city has been required to finance purchase of material and construction, requiring an outlay up to the present time of approximately $6,000. The improvement, in view of its provision uf much needed docking facilities, is a very commendable one, however, and a continuance of the program would meet widespread approval.

NATION'S EDITORS VISITING MICHIGAN

FOUR-DAY STATE TOUR OF SCENIC ATTRACTIONS

Visit Muskegon, Traverse City, Take In Cross Village Drive oo Way to Mackinac Island

The Charlevoix Courier, cooperating with 270 daily and weekly newspapers in Michigan, will serve jointly as host this week to approximately 350 newspaper editors from all parts of the United States at a three-day convention in Detroit and a four-day state tour.

Through the medium of the Michigan Press Association, newspapers are taking the lead in a movement to publicize industrial and vacation resources of the state, awarding a Pontiac de luxe sedan to the outstate editor who writes the best published presentation of Michigan.

Speakers at the Detroit convention, which opened Monday, July 19, included Edgar Guest, poet; W. G. Cameron, of the Ford Motor Company; Charles F. Kettering, of General Motors; W. F. Wylie, Cincinnati Post; and James G. Stahlman, Nashville Banner, president of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association. Gov. Frank Murphy and Mayor Couzens were also invited to speak.

Editors visited Greenfield Village at Dearborn, and the Pontiac automobile plant. The three Detroit daily papers were host at a formal banquet.

A special air-conditioned train will take the visiting publishers from Detroit to Grand Rapids Thursday morning, July 22, where Senator Arthur Vandenberg has been invited by the two Grand Rapids daily newspapers to speak at a luncheon at the Pantlind Hotel. At Muskegon the editors will visit the Lumberjack Carnival and Centennial Exposition, following a dinner at the Elks' Club with Archie McCreu, editor of the Muskegon Chronicle, serving as toastmaster.

Taking a Pullman train out of Muskegon at midnight, the party will arrive early Friday (July 23) at Traverse City in time for breakfast at Leelanau county resorts. Thence they go by train to Petoskey for an automobile caravan over the famed shore drive of scenic beauty to Cross Village. Indian maidens will serve refreshing drinks; a tribe will conduct ceremonial dances.

At Mackinaw City the party will be conveyed by State Highway Department ferry over to Mackinac Island and thence by horse carriages to the Grand Hotel for two days' stay. A Pullman train will return the editors to Detroit, Monday, July 26.

The State Hignway Department and the four tourist bureaus are cooperating with the Michigan Press Association in helping to handle the state tour and to arrange constructive publicity for the state. Philip T. Rich, Midland Daily News, who is chairman of the press convention bureau, telegraphed an invitation to President Roosevelt to address the editors at Mackinac Island. A personal invitation was also conveyed to the White House by Senator Prentiss Brown.

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

The occasion is the visit of approximately 350 newspaper editors from all parts of the United States—New England, East, South, Middle-West, and the great West—for the annual convention and tour of the National Editorial Association. What these editors say about Michigan will be read by more than 1,000,000 persons—a vast audience.

Michigan newspapers have a personal interest in the party, as 272 of them—members of the 62-year-old Michigan Press Association—are the official host. Today (July 22) the editors leave Detroit by a special air-conditioned train for Grand Rapids. Grand Rapids' two dailies—Press and Herald—and nearby weekly newspapers will show the editors why the city is known as the furniture capital of the world.

At Muskegon the publishers are to be met by a caravan of automobiles, provided by proud citizens, who will take them on a sightseeing tour. A dinner at the Elks' temple will be an exposition prelude with a newspaper

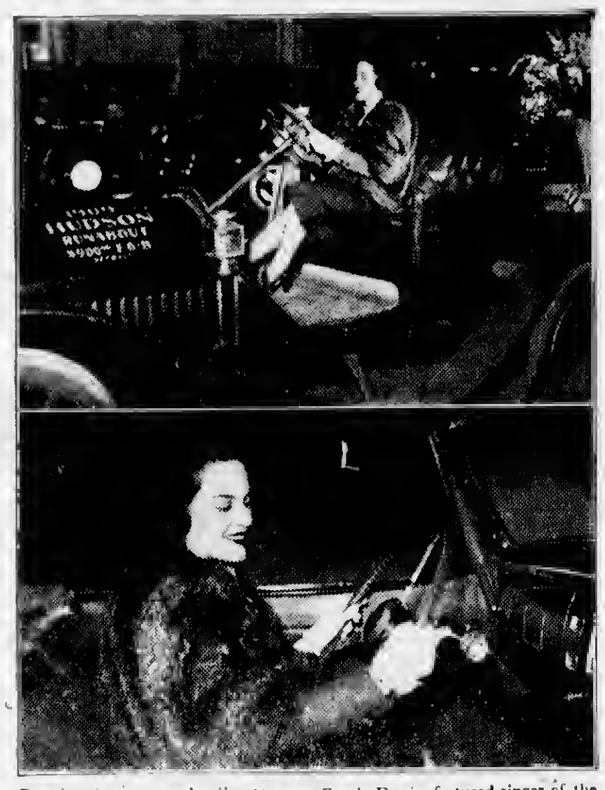
Contrasts the Old and the New



Broadwayites are nearly all automobile fans and anything out of the ordinary along the "Row" interests them greatly. Recently one of the first Hudsons built, a 1909 model, was placed on exhibition beside the 1937 cars, on the floor of Hudson's big Broadway salesroom. Theatrical folk from all along the famous Avenue tried the contrast of sitting in the seat of what was one of the snappiest cars of its day and the latest model with its finger tip gearshift. Miss Gracie Barrie, featured singer of the Broadway production the "Show is On", is shown here at the wheel of both cars, the old and the new. She was most intrigued by the difference in equipment and the methods of control. The 1909 car had no windshield or top. Its kerosene lamps copied the horse and buggy style and it is a far cry from the external gearshift lever to the new selective automatic shift which is controlled by the flick of a finger.

WHY HE BECAME A CITIZEN

The radio commentator, Boake Carter, recently gave his reasons for becoming an American citizen in "The Commentator."

Here is a part of Mr. Carter's interesting comment. "For me the desire for American citizenship came from two sources: First, gratitude and desire to make a small humble repayment for the opportunities that America gave to me, and second, a desire to be free to serve a country which permits you to be a person and not simply a cog in a great wheel.

"America is one of the most fortunate countries God ever created. She is more nearly self-sufficient economically than any other, and she is bordered by two great oceans and two friendly neighbors.

"The peoples of foreign nations are taught by their leaders to hate by reason of their geographical setting and the economic vicissitudes that beset them. And it makes them wretched and miserable people."

Schedule Meets for Beekeepers

Several billion workers in Michigan are going to get themselves talked about the end of this month when the several hundred members of the Michigan Beekeepers' Association gather in a series of three meetings for their annual summer district meetings.

Beekeepers of Charlevoix county are invited to attend the meeting at Traverse City to be held Saturday, July 31. Northern Michigan beekeepers are invited to meet with James Hilbert, at Traverse City, Saturday, July 31, at 1 p. m.

The honey business has its ups and downs this year in different parts of the state. Volume of production is spotted. One of the features important in summer care is swarm control. Speakers in the meetings will show why it is important this summer to adopt control measures, cut out queen cells at nine day intervals and provide sufficient super room.

Speakers at the three meetings have been scheduled in a series of district meetings in several states. Michigan's meetings will be attended by E. R. Root, Medina, O.; Mrs. M. F. Jensen and Miss Willah Goodman, of Madison, Wis.; Charles Reese, of the state department of agriculture at Columbus, O.; Dr. W. E. Dunham, of Ohio State University; V. E. Mock, state apiary inspector, Lansing; Floyd Markham, Ypsilanti beekeeper; Clifford Muth, Cincinnati, and R. H. Kelty, of Michigan State College.

Battle Against Elements Makes Sea Epic Most Hazardous of All Screen Pictures

Through the wizardry inherent in film processes, the producer of pictures is now in a position to conquer most barriers which years ago handicapped him so severely. Today he is master of time and place; without traveling, he can "shoot" Hollywood actors against Algerian backgrounds, and weather no longer bothers him.

Only one natural handicap remains to thwart the Hollywood genius for offsetting nature's obstinate disregard for production budgets, the comfort of actors and the urgency of finishing on time. So far, Hollywood has had its hands full in attempting to conquer the high seas.

Pictures dealing with rugged sea backgrounds have been prime favorites with the theater-going public ever since the first serious dramatization of this subject in "Down to the Sea in Ships." Since then sea pictures have been amazingly popular. Last year's "Mutiny on the Bounty" was one of the industry's sensations, and this year Twentieth Century-Fox makes a bid for similar honors with "Slave Ship," which, with Warner Baxter and Wallace Beery as co-stars, opens Sunday, July 25, at the Palace Theatre.

Powell and Luise Rainer Stars of New Palace Hit

In another compartment, Luise Rainer gazed through the window to the railway station scene—but Powell and Miss Rainer did not meet.

But the two stars who last were teamed in the acclaimed best motion picture of 1936, "The Great Ziegfeld," winner of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences award, were together again in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Emperor's Candlesticks," which will be shown at the Palace Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday, July 27-28.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS
By Ann Page

Hot weather has at least temporarily halted the rise in meat prices by reducing consumer demand. Egg prices are comparatively steady and fish is plentiful and reasonable.

The list of vegetables which are plentiful and cost little includes beans, beets, cabbage, carrots, celery, cucumbers, lettuce, peas, potatoes, squash, spinach and tomatoes.

Plums are the outstanding fruit value but new apples, apricots, various small fruits, melons and peaches are reasonable in price.

Low Cost Dinner

Cold Meat Loaf — Creamed Potatoes
Buttered String Beans
Bread and Butter
Watermelon — Cookies
Tea or Coffee — Milk

Medium Cost Dinner

Broiled Chicken
Mixed Vegetable Salad
Cuqrrant Jelly
Bread and Butter
Peach Ice Cream — Sponge Cake
Tea or Coffee — Milk

Very Special Dinner

Melon
Cold Roast Lamb — Minted Pears
Stuffed Tomato Salad
Marinated Vegetables
Hot Biscuits — Butter

WEEVILS ARE COSTLY IN BINS OF GRAIN

Farmers Warned to Clean Up Bins Before Storing New Grain

Profits possible in the grain crop now being harvested in Michigan easily can be tossed into the stomachs of weevils. For the pests, eating up the last of grain stored from previous seasons, are waiting to pounce upon newly threshed grain.

Clean up the bins before a new crop is poured in, warn members of the entomology department at Michigan State College. Wheat, a good crop this year, especially is subject to weevil attacks. Rye, barley and oats also should be protected.

First in the cleanup campaign is the wielding of a stiff strawed broom. Any sweepings gathered up should be burned to destroy the boarders.

Then the bins should be scrubbed with a solution of lye in water. One pound to a gallon makes an effective solution that will not leave sufficient residue to harm the grain. Bins then should be dried and aired out before the grain is stored.

Further protection can be obtained. More farmers should line their grain bins with metal, or at least with paper, the college men suggest. Metal lining will help keep out rats. Even paper lining has advantage because if the bin of grain becomes infested with weevils it will be tight enough to permit fumigation.

State Soon to Get Better Car Titles

The familiar buff colored automobile title form will shortly be replaced with another of different color and style, Leon D. Case, secretary of state, has announced.

Two reasons cause the new form: a color against which typewriting is more legible, will be chosen; the 1937 Legislature passed an act which requires additional information on the face of the title.

The new law, passed with immediate effect, but not yet operative, will require that all chattel mortgages taken on motor vehicles to guarantee payment of accessories and the like, be endorsed on the face of the car's title, with a true copy filed with the secretary of state, in addition to the original filed with the register of deeds of the county in which the contract is made.

The purpose of the law is to protect innocent subsequent purchasers of cars on which chattel mortgages previously taken and never discharged, might be executed. In such instances, the new owner would have the choice of completing payment for an accessory he believed included in the car's purchase, or of surrendering the car to the seller of the accessory.

Heretofore cautious purchasers of used cars were faced with the nearly impossible task of checking the chattel mortgages recorded with the registers of deeds in 83 counties. Case endorsed the new law as a protective measure.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY

Sunday morning service, 10:45.
Sunday school, 12 o'clock.
Meets first Wednesday evening each month at 7:45 p. m.
Reading room open Saturday, 3 to 5 p. m.

We cordially invite the public to our service and reading room.

"Truth" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, July 25.

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Ps. 119: 18, 142): "Open thou mine eyes, that I may behold wondrous things out of thy law. Thy righteousness is an ever-lasting righteousness, and thy law is the truth."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 174): "The thunder of Sinai and the Sermon on the Mount are pursuing and will overtake the ages, rebuking in their course all error and proclaiming the kingdom of heaven on earth. Truth is revealed. It needs only to be practised."

A good way to relieve the monotony of your job is to think up ways of improving it.

4-H CLUB DAIRY TOUR IS SET FOR JULY 30TH

Winners in Cattle Judging Will Be Sent to Gaylord Club Camp

The annual outing of the 4-H Dairy Club members in Charlevoix county will be held Friday, July 30. Mr. Pearson, of Michigan State College, will give instruction in judging the various classes of dairy cattle, after which he will conduct the judging contest.

The highest scoring boys will either be selected to represent Charlevoix county at the Gaylord Club camp, or will be given further instruction in judging before the club camp, which will be held the week of August 9.

The tour will start at the Ecklund farm at 1:30 o'clock where a class of Holsteins will be judged. From here the tour will go to the Elliott farm to judge Guernseys, after which the last stop will be the Meggison farm to judge Jersey cattle.

MICHIGAN BAKERY BUSINESS AT PEAK

Production Supt. Returns From West With Knowledge of Best Flours

Roger Brandenburg, in charge of all production operations for Michigan Bakeries, Inc., in announcing an all-time high record in production of "Michigan" bread and rolls during the week just closed, stated:

"For the past six months our company has successively broken all previous week's record of production in the history of the company. From the greater increasing demand which normally comes with the advent of the summer season, both from the old customers who have used our products for years and from the greatly increased number of new customers, it looks as if Michigan Bakeries, Inc., would continue to top records for weeks to come.

"The company has a greater number of employes than ever before with resultant larger payrolls which mean larger community purchases by Michigan Bakery employes."

Mr. Brandenburg, with L. C. Wall, purchasing agent for Michigan Bakeries, Inc., has just returned from a trip to Kansas where he visited the leading flour mills and scouted extensive wheat fields. Such a trip periodically prefaces the purchase of the flour which goes into the making of "Michigan" products, to insure that Michigan Bakeries, Inc., gets the best quality flour on the market for use in its bread and rolls.

As further assurance that the flour and other ingredients of its products are of first-quality, Michigan Bakeries, Inc., maintains its own baking and testing laboratory—the only one of its kind in the state—where everything that goes into a loaf of bread and the bread itself it tested for quality, purity and food value.

Alligators, we learn, are harmless as long as you can keep their mouths closed. So are snakes and gossips for that matter.

DISCOURAGEMENT

When a door is closed by defeat, we frequently look so long and regretfully at the shut door that we fail to see anything else. Yet when one door closes, another usually opens. Defeat is nothing but education, the first step toward something better.

SENATOR ROBINSON

Senator Robinson's friends were more numerous than his party supporters. For he had the capacity so essential to the working of representative government to be a staunch partisan without injecting into his political struggles the poison of hatred and irreconcilability. He fought cleanly, and he passes away leaving a multitude of opponents who are still his friends.

It is a tragic pity that he had to die when he did, as the leader of a cause that he would never have espoused on his own personal convictions alone.

No doubt he was doing his duty as he saw it. And though the last acts of his life are associated with a cause that is discredited, he will be remembered for the essential honesty and good will which marked his leadership.—Walter Lippmann.

WORLD PEACE

The decision by Rotary International at its recent convention in Nice, France, to raise a peace fund of $2,000,000 is a welcome recognition by the business men of the world that in these torubled times they must accept responsibility for active peace education and promotion. "Through international institutes, exchanges of students and children by Rotary families, and also a frequent get-together of round table conferences in America, Europe, Asia and Africa," according to the Christian Science Monitor of June 11, this peace fund will "aid every one of the 4,289 clubs" in the world. A pioneering institute of international affairs, sponsored for the past three years by the Nashville Rotary Club, has been so successful that it has been followed by similar institutes in Syracuse, N. Y., Beloit, Wis., and elsewhere. It is not impossible that the men of this country will catch up with their women folks in the course of a few years both in understanding of international affairs and in the promotion of peace, internationally, nationally and locally. — Peace Action.

TEMPERANCE DRAMA METHODIST CHURCH

"The Aftermath" to Be Given at 8 P. M. Friday, July 23

"The Aftermath," a temperance drama, which is to be given in the Methodist church Friday evening, July 23, is described by press bulletins as full of humor, pathos, facts, tragedy and melodrama.

The two characters are enacted by Judge M. C. Summers, an outstanding lecturer on economic topics and financial laws, and Mrs. Summers, an acknowledged authority on child welfare and director of religious pageantry.

Rev. Harold S. Stewart, pastor of First Baptist church, Oak Park, Ill., writes: "'The Aftermath' held old and young alike. It is tremendous." Another pastor writes: "If 'The Aftermath' does not arouse sleeping Christians, nothing will."

Charlevoix citizens are urged to attend. The hour is 8 p. m. Offering only.

ANNUAL AIR TOUR IS COMING HERE AUG. 1ST

Largest Entry in History of Event Is Expected to Start July 26

Michigan's cavalcade of tourists traveling by land and water will be joined by a group of aerial tourists on the morning of July 26 when participants in the Ninth Michigan Air Tour begin a 1,200 mile trip over Michigan's vacation land.

Wayne J. Sheldon, manager of the 1937 tour, said that this year's tour would exceed all previous years in size with more than 50 planes expected to enter. He said that entries had been received from all parts of Michigan and from many pilots in other states. "Men, women and children are taking part in the 1937 tour," he said. "In fact, our youngest passenger will be 20-months-old Roger Dale Baker, who will accompany his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Baker."

The tour will leave Lansing airport at 9 o'clock Monday morning. The planes will be in Alpena for luncheon and St. Ignace for the over night stop. The schedule of stops for the remainder of the tour follows:

Tuesday, July 27—Noon, Blaney; night, Escanaba.

Wednesday, July 28—Noon, Crystal Falls; night, Calumet.

Thursday, July 29—Noon, Ontonagon; night, Marquette.

Friday, July 30—Noon, Newberry; night, Sault Ste. Marie.

Saturday, July 31—Noon, Rogers City; night, Petoskey.

Sunday, August 1—Noon, Charlevoix; night, Traverse City.

The tour ends on Monday, August 2, with a luncheon stop at Muskegon and the final landing at Lansing. Arrangements have also been made for smaller planes to stop at Midland, Ludington, and Grand Rapids for refueling.

At Crystal Falls the fliers will take part in the dedication of the new A. L. Haight airport. The arrival of the air tour will also be a feature of a dedication program at the new Marquette county airport. A new hangar will be officially dedicated at Rogers City. At each town en route, local agencies have arranged an entertainment program for tour members. Pilots will take passengers on sight-seeing trips at each stop. The tour will start the morning flights at 9 o'clock, and afternoon flights at 2 o'clock.

Three separate agencies are sponsoring the 1937 tour—the Michigan Board of Aeronautics, the Department of Michigan American Legion, and the Michigan Air Tour Association.

Sheldon described the purpose of the tour as an "effort to interest pilots in Michigan as a vacation playground for air tourists." Entertainment programs at the various stopping points will emphasize tourist and resort facilities. Local commanderies of the American Legion will be active in entertaining the fliers and in handling arrangements at the airports.

Roland Crosby Made Score of 47 to Take First Meet Held Here

With a score of 47 out of a possible 50, Roland Crosby, of Traverse City, won the invitational skeet shoot conducted at the Belvedere range Sunday by the Charlevoix Skeet Club.

A turn-out of around 40 came for the event, the first held here, and there were 12 competitors for the President's Cup, presented by John Knight, Club president, and won by Crosby.

Others placing in their order were J. H. Dockson, Detroit, score of 46; W. B. Champaign, of Alpena, score of 45; Frank Gruler, Petoskey, score of 43; William Fessenden, Charlevoix, score of 40.

Participants came from Petoskey, Cheboygan, Alpena and Traverse City. Assisting in conducting the "shoot" was Charles VanStuddiford, representative of the Western Cartridge Co.

URGES DEFEAT SUPREME COURT "PACKING" BILL

Marjorie Roemler Kinaird, Indianapolis Attorney, Addressed Kiwanis

Marjorie Roemler Kinaird, Indianapolis attorney and Belvedere Club summer resident, spoke to the Kiwanis Club on President Roosevelt's supreme court proposal Tuesday evening.

The speaker labeled the compromise proposal now before the Senate as being as vicious in purpose as the original measure, and urged her listeners to be vigilant while there is yet time. She pointed out that an independent judiciary is necessary that people may retain their liberties, freedom of speech, freedom of worship, and freedom of the press.

SPECIAL SESSION SETS PRECEDENT

WILL CONVENE LEGISLATURE ON 30TH OF JULY

Eight Measures Will Be Offered the Solons for Enactment by Gov. Frank Murphy

Administration leaders are striving to make the special legislative session called by Gov. Frank Murphy as brief as possible.

They were faced with a precedent-making situation.

The Governor called legislators into session July 30 at 2 p. m. immediately after the regular session adjourns sine die. What it will be asked to do will be outlined in a special message from the Governor, but he was considering submission of eight measures, each of which was a major issue of the 59th Legislature.

Each legislator was sent a letter by the Governor urging him "to make every effort to be in Lansing July 29 when the Legislature convenes preliminary to final adjournment."

Murphy had a precedent for his hope for a short session in the only other special session held in August. The 36th Legislature met for four days in August, 1892, and that was the shortest special session on record in Michigan.

But his call established several new precedents. It was the first time a Governor called a special session to begin immediately after a regular session. One special session followed another special session on March 20, 1912, but there always has been several days between regular and special sessions.

The Governor's plans to revive legislation given up for dead June 25 at the sine die adjournment session also were precedent shattering. Usually legislatures meet, receive the report of the Governor on bills acted upon, and then adjourn. Several times legislatures have overridden gubernatorial vetoes and revived legislation voluntarily, but legislative attaches could recall no previous instance of a Governor reviving bills.

This will be one of the few times the Legislature has been asked to consider more than one issue in a special session. And it was this fact more than anything else that made legislators skeptical that the session would be over by midnight of July 31 as Murphy hopes.

MANY LAW INFRACTIONS REPORTED BY OFFICERS

Fourteen Violators Sentenced and Fined by Justice H. R. Fowler

Law infractions, particularly drunken driving, drunk and disorderly, and peddling without a license have kept police officers and the justice of peace office busy the past week.

Records of Justice of Peace Horace R. Fowler's office show 14 recent convictions. George Shananquet, taken for drunken driving, was sentenced to 10 days in jail, fined $50 and costs, and in default of fine must serve an additional 30 days. Elliott Francis, arrested on a drunk and disorderly charge, received a 20-day sentence, fine of $10, costs of $5, 10 days more for default. Amos John, taken on a similar charge, received the same penalty, as did also Frank Hofferman, who served five days and was released upon payment of fine.

A. M. Jackson paid $15 fine and costs for drunk and disorderly; Travis W. Potts, Petoskey, $30 fine and costs for reckless driving; Eugene Klaus, driving without chauffeur's license, $5.35; Mrs. Ray Gibson, driving without operator's license, $5.35; Leslie Loper, reckless driving, $35 fine and costs; Margery Thompson, hawker and peddler, $5; Aboud Nader, Albert Nader and Nauigder Neman, peddlers, costs of $10.

PICNIC EVENT AT INDIAN RIVER STATE PARK ATTRACTS MANY

Emmet, Cheboygan and Charlevoix counties were represented at the 12th annual Spanish War Veterans' picnic held Sunday at Indian River State Park. Approximately 100 registered for the all-day event.

R. T. O'Reilley, of Alanson, was master of ceremonies and introduced the following speakers: Department Commander Duncan J. L. McCall, of Detroit; department quartermaster, Lester Graves, of Lansing; Dad Stewart, past department commander of Michigan; commander, Guy E. Connor; Mr. Swift, of Detroit and Harbor Springs; department president of the auxiliary, Mrs. Clara Weringa, Grand Rapids, and past department president of auxiliary, Mrs. Eva Myers, of Grand Rapids. A letter was read from Ethan Thompson, formerly of Petoskey and now Detroit, who was unable to attend.

ME AND THE PRESIDENT

Gov. George H. Earle, of Pennsylvania, who has shown pronounced leaning to John L. Lewis' C. I. O., rushed himself by air to disturbed Johnstown recently to make a speech in support of a plan to force steel companies to hold collective bargaining elections. When he said "You don't need acts of violence when you have Franklin Delano Roosevelt in Washington, a liberal Congress and a governor like me!" we wondered how he managed to refrain from mentioning himself first.

Annual Report of the Secretary, Board of Education

A very satisfactory school year has just passed. Our bonded debt on the new building is $50,500 and is being reduced at the rate of $10,000 per year. We invite your inspection of the school buildings,—they are in excellent condition inside and out. The manual training room has been enlarged and much new equipment added, especially the drawing department.

Much school furniture has been replaced with new and modern and a modernte expenditure each year will now keep the furniture in shape.

A new school bus has been purchased. We have found that owning our bus has been very satisfactory and most economical. School organizations and athletic teams will now be able to use the bus, thus providing greater safety and better management of such organizations.

The athletic field on the South Side school grounds have been improved. A fine running track has been built—football, softball courts and a baseball diamond improved. Bleachers have also been erected. In addition to this the North Side school grounds have been graded and reseeded.

At the library the lighting has been improved.

The County Tax Allocation Commission has again allowed us four mills on a valuation of $2,708,000 in the district. The tax levy for operation will thus be $10,832, some of which will not be collected. The remainder of the income comes from the state, $5,000 for High School tuition, $7,000 from the primary fund and $18,000 from state aid, plus an estimated $2,000 delinquent tax collection.

Respectfully,
C. B. MEGGISON, Secretary.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT

Many Contributing Factors in the Reduction of the Infant Death Rate Throughout the Nation

The principal causes of death in the first month of life are difficult labor, complications of confinement, birth injuries, maternal toxemia, syphilis and prematurs birth. The two most important causes of death after the first month of life are respiratory diseases and gastro-enteritis.

Of the deaths of children under one year, 40 to 45 per cent are due to difficult labor, injury at birth, prematurity, and developmental diseases, while approximately 25 per cent are due to respiratory diseases (including whooping cough and measles), 10 to 15 per cent to gastro-enteritis, and approximately 20 per cent to other causes.

The infant mortality rate remained practically stationary for many years before the present century, but during the last 30 years the decline has been considerable and continuous. This decline has been due to many contributing factors. During and after the Great War the economic conditions of the working classes have been greatly improved, and in the post-war period there has been an increased and successful attack upon those factors which are detrimental to racial development. As a result of the maternity and child welfare service that the community generally has enjoyed, school medical service was established in 1907, and the National Health Insurance was inaugurated in 1912—the latter including maternity benefits for the insured.

The infant mortality this past year in District Health Unit No. 3, comprising the counties of Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego, was on the decline, the rate being 55.4 per 1,000 live births. The infant mortality rates for the last six years have been as follows in this unit:

1931	75.1 per cent
1932	49.3 per cent
1933	50.8 per cent
1934	59.6 per cent
1935	57.1 per cent
1936	55.1 per cent

There has been a marked reduction in the mortality rate of our infants when we review the rates existing before the formation of the District Health Department in this area. For instance, the year of the health department's establishment, which was November, 1930, the rate was 91.3. Since that time there has been a gradual decline until we are a little above the state rate this year which is 50.6. However, health authorities still maintain that a further reduction in the infant mortality can be made throughout the nation by securing additional improvements in the general sanitary environment, particularly in housing; by extending and improving the present maternity and child welfare schemes with a view to securing better education of mothers in the care and management of their children, and, finally, and most important of all, much further improvement can be secured by the education of the community in all matters of public and personal hygiene.

An educational program of interest to mothers will be arranged this fall in Charlevoix and Otsego counties. This program is a series of eight lectures to be conducted by Dr. Pearl Toivenen, of the State Department of Health, on maternal, infant, preschool hygiene, communicable disease, and first-aid. These classes have been taught throughout the state and have proven very helpful in the mother's everyday life. Further announcement regarding these lectures will be made in the future.

How Playboy Threw Away a Million

An article, in The American Weekly with the July 25 issue of The Detroit Sunday Times, tells of a man who, reduced from a $60,000 house and palatial steamer suites to boarding houses and busses, had to go to jail with his third wife because they could not pay a $20 fine—but he certainly had his money's worth of excitement.

"The Ferocious Cave-Bear." First of a series of dramatic paintings by the distinguished artist-scientist, Charles R. Knight. Reproduced in full color in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with next Sunday's Chicago Herald and Examiner.

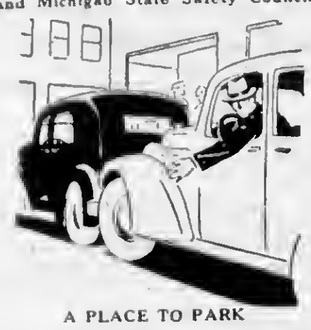
Safe and Sane DRIVING

BY THE NATIONAL SAFETY COUNCIL and Michigan State Safety Council



A PLACE TO PARK

You know by experience that you can back into a very small space at the curb, while a much longer space is needed if you try to drive in with the front wheels first.

But is this parking place a legitimate one? Are there no official prohibitory signs? Can you park a proper distance from the fire plug, the safety island, and the street intersection? You are not blocking some citizen's drive-way, are you?

For the safety of your car, park with your right wheels only a few inches from the curb, and parallel to it. On narrow streets many accidents are caused by the corner of some parked car projecting into the traffic lane. Leave parking lights on, if it is night. Climb out on the curb side, of course.

When you come back to drive away, make doubly sure that traffic is clear. Use your left hand, extended straight out the window, to signal your intention; but give passing cars a decent opportunity to get by first.

Cities and towns may have a variety of parking rules. It will pay you to learn and observe these in force in your community.

editor, Archie McCrae, of the Muskegon Chronicle, serving as master of ceremonies.

Lumberjack Festival

Once the lumber capital of the Great Lakes, Muskegon is today an enterprising industrial and resort center, taking full advantage of its strategic location with the aid of an up-and-coming chamber of commerce.

Along the harbor front Muskegon has created a miniature world's fair —an exposition devoted to a portrayal of the city's 100 years of history. On the very site of the exposition once stood a bustling lumbermill, roaring out lumber by the millions of feet for boats to rush to Chicago in its reconstruction days after the great fire.

The part that the lumberjack played in the early days of Michigan is being commemorated by this Muskegon fair.

Next Sunday (July 25) a concert will be given by the National High School band of Interlochen under the personal direction of Percy Grainger, composer. This event will take place at Hackley Field, high school stadium, accommodating 30,000 spectators.

Leelanau Peninsula

Taking a midnight Pullman train, the editors travel on Friday to Traverse City where they will be met again by a courtesy caravan of automobiles and taken to lake resorts in the scenic Leelanau peninsula for breakfast.

In this little finger of land, jutting out between Grand Traverse Bay and Lake Michigan, is situated the famed Glen Lake of National Geographic fame since it was once called one of the most beautiful lakes in the entire world.

At Leelanau, which is an Indian word for "delight of life," you will find the Sleeping Bear dune, largest of its kind in Michigan. This dune is a five-mile ridge of sand more than 300 feet high near D. H. Day State Park at Glen Haven. Conservationists favor a movement to link Sleeping Bear with the state park.

"Cherry Capital"

Traverse City, a community of 14,000 people, claims the title of being the cherry capital of the world, home of the National Cherry Festival and site of the world's largest cherry packing plant.

Traverse City, like Muskegon, was once a humming lumbermill town. For nearly a half century mills whined and corks-booted lumberjacks strode the streets. As many as 26 schooners have been tied to the docks, awaiting cargoes of pine woods to be hurried to Chicago.

Mayor C. H. Foster, a retired circus official, started the park a few years ago. He has gathered a collection of all animals native to Michigan except the extinct wolverine. He built an aquarium for specimens of native fish. A museum houses the best collection of Indian relics in Michigan outside the University of Michigan museum.

The popular attraction, however, is not the aquarium nor the zoo, but is a model of the entire city carefully built to scale. Passenger and logging trains run over miniature tracks (if you deposit a nickel). Airplanes drone overhead; boats sail its lakes.

Petoskey Is Next

At 1 p. m. Friday the editors' special train will arrive at Petoskey to be greeted again by an automobile caravan that will take the visitors for a drive over the noted drive along Lake Michigan to Cross Village. This drive through lake-skirting forests truly merits the acclaim which it has received.

For his zealous care of the forestway, State Highway Commissioner Van Wagoner recently was given national honors. Tall tree sentinels have been preserved. Your car must drive slowly, lest you miss much of the grandeur that nature provides and that man has guarded.

Indian maidens are to serve luncheon to the visitors at Seven Mile Point whose high bluffs give spectators an unrivalled view of the lake.

At Mackinaw City the newspaper guests will be shown the state highway dock and will be taken over the Straits to Mackinac Island on a state-owned and operated ferry.

Mackinac Island

Amid an atmosphere of the Old World, Mackinac Island has been a favorite of vacation seekers for many decades. Air-conditioned every minute of the day by bracing breezes, the island is free from objectionable hay fever pollen and mosquitoes are unknown.

United States Senator Prentiss Brown owns much of the property there. A newspaper publisher, Col. Roger Andrews, of Menominee, is chairman of the state park commission. The most active promoter of the island is Stewart Woodfill, who manages the Grand Hotel on a Hollywood scale, providing gorgeous suites for "The Governor of Michigan" and also for "The President of the United States."

An enthusiast for Michigan, Mr. Woodfill believes in spending money to make money. This year he has expended $50,000 into new furnishings for the "world's largest summer hotel." There, miles from a metropolis and situated like a gem in a setting of island forests, the Grand Hotel offers the simplicity of old-fashioned New England and at the same time the modern tempo of a night club and a smart spa.

COLLECTING LIQUID RUBBER ON FIRESTONE PLANTATIONS IN LIBERIA

An ever-increasing supply of rubber comes from these plantations. Savings made by controlling raw materials and by more efficient manufacturing and distribution make extra values possible at no extra cost.

BECAUSE in Firestone Standard Tires —

YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST BLOWOUTS — eight extra pounds of rubber are added to every 100 pounds of cord by the Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process. By this process every cord in every ply is saturated with liquid rubber. This counteracts internal friction and heat that ordinarily cause blowouts.

YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST PUNCTURES—because under the tread are two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords.

Before leaving on your vacation trip, join the Firestone SAVE A LIFE Campaign by equipping your car with a set of new Firestone Standard Tires—today's top tire value.

THAT last year highway accidents cost the lives of more than 38,000 men, women and children?

That a million more were injured?

THAT more than 40,000 of these deaths and injuries were caused directly by punctures, blowouts and skidding due to unsafe tires?

At right is a section cut from a smooth, worn tire, with non-skid protection worn off. Tires in this condition are liable to punctures, blowouts and skidding.

KAMP KAIRPHREE NEWS COLUMN

By Aon Oakmao

A number of interesting things happened last week. A dance was put on by the Explorers Monday night, directed by Miss Margaret Small. Miss Small also read a delightful story.

Tuesday our famous Jordan River trip came off. Miss Lucy Brauns and Miss Mildred Small were the counsellors in charge. The girls who enjoyed this first river expedition were Connie Lorch, Marjory Killins, Ruth Gram, Penny Shaw, Priscilla Ehlers (who is visiting for the week), Dorothy Hildinger, and Veitch Purdom. In spite of a rainy evening, they reported a marvelous time.

Probably the most outstanding event of the week was the Camp Charlevoix dancing party, which was enjoyed immensely by one and all of the Kairphree girls.

Thursday, the Pioneers had a fine time at a cook-out down at Lone Pine Shack. That same evening, the Explorers spent the assembly hour at The Entrance Inn. There was much secrecy as to the goings on, but it leaked out that they had consumed a large watermelon!

Friday's schedule was broken by a trip in the afternoon to Young's State Park. Some hiked, while the less ambitious chose auto transportation. Playing on the sand and swimming against the heavy breakers built up our appetites for a delicious supper, including hamburger and onions (!)

For our assembly Saturday evening, the Explorers put on an outstanding production, The Sing-A-Song Man. The stars were Nancy Marin, Mary McColl, Mary Elizabeth McNulty, Patsy Brown, June Rosen, Marcia Smith, and Marjory Mills. Relatives and friends visiting for the evening, as well as all the campers, thought it had been very worth while.

During the week, our visitors from South Bend were Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Small and family, George Rump and Bob Fitzgerald (the latter of whom entertained us with his guitar), Mr. and Mrs. James Hilmore and son, David. Mrs. L. M. Gram, of Ann Arbor, who spent the week in Charlevoix, called upon us several times. Miss Miriam Cary, also of Ann Arbor, was welcomed, particularly by the old campers, who had known her as a counsellor. From Detroit, Dr. and Mrs. Clark McColl came to spend the day with their daughter, Mary, one of our campers.

The reading of our weekly paper followed peacefully by a series of songs, successfully closed our third week of camp.

A Matter of Convenience

If those people who never have the right change in making purchases and those people who often find they have left their money in their other clothes and those people who have the worry of carrying cash would only try a checking account at this bank, they would never revert to the old method.

A checking account is safe. A checking account is convenient. Come in and talk this plan over with us.

THE WOODBOX

In an old farmhouse a big woodbox was built at the side of the huge fireplace chimney in which to keep wood either for a fireplace or the wood-burning kitchen stove. Ten baskets of wood were required to fill it.

One summer two different men had the job of keeping the kitchen supplied with wood. The first man brought in wood only when he was asked to do so by his wife, the cook. Usually she had to call him from some other task. He would bring in one armful, toss it down, and say, "There I guess that will hold you until I get around to bring in more."

A more sensible system was used by the second man. First of all he had the woodbox thoroughly cleaned. The bark that had accumulated at the bottom was taken out and burned. Then he brought in basketload after basketload until the box was filled. Thereafter he merely kept it filled, bringing in no more than one or two loads at a time.

The two men represent the people of the world. There are those who are improvident, who live from hand-to-mouth, who never think ahead, who make no savings, whose work is always crowding them, who are hard workers because they are bad planners.

Then there are the people with foresight. They think ahead. They plan to make their work easier. They save to build up reserves so that they are prepared for emergencies. They get somewhere; they succeed.

How do you fill your woodbox?

FRIENDSHIPS

Friendship as an inspiration and asset has been stressed a great deal of late. Close acquaintance increases understanding and removes prejudice. Surface impressions magnify a lot of little faults, and make one unwarrantedly suspicious. Finding out the other fellow's problems develops a sympathetic attitude. When one holds coldly aloof he is likely to get the false notion that the other fellow is purely selfish, that his thought and effort are centered on self with no concern for the popular welfare. Knowing people is of surpassing importance. Rubbing shoulders mellows feelings and is mutually helpful. One finds the average person loves flowers and birds and children, and has a nature usually attuned to life's purest and noblest creatures. Cultivating friendships finds the best and builds content. The designing individual with bad motives, uncovered in the process of extending acquaintance, is an exception.

If this age business is really serious with supreme court justices, appoint only women to the bench, then we need not worry about the matter.

Mr. Girdler doesn't believe in making a "slip of the pen."

INSTITUTE OF CONSERVATION AT MSC

All Counties of Michigan to Benefit Through Institute Work

Opening of an Institute of Conservation, first of its kind in the United States, is getting under way at Michigan State College with the appointment of L. Roy Schoenmann as director.

Every county in Michigan will be affected through the work of the institute, which is to coordinate many of the present agencies for wild life, and use and land policies in the 83 counties. Cooperation by the Michigan State Department of Conservation has been offered and has been accepted by the college, says E. L. Anthony, dean of agriculture and chairman of the council of conservation.

Three phases are to be attempted. One is to coordinate present instruction on the campus in conservation series of courses. Another is to develop new research work especially in game management and forestry. The third will afford assistance to counties and public agencies interested in the problem of conservation.

LAST WORD ON TRAILERS

Reports on trailer population and forecasts for the future owners have run from thousands to the million mark.

However, while great numbers believe that "A rolling home gathers no mortgages," the trailer as a home is definitely limited, and the trailer builders themselves turn thumbs down on them as permanent dwellings.

They want them to be known as a vehicle. Mr. Sherman, leading trailer manufacturer, says, "What we're selling is a vacation." The trailer is not a substitute for a house but rather just a "family kennel on the prowl." As another manufacturer says it, "Apart from every other consideration, the lack of privacy and room would have the average family at one another's throats."

GOOD COUNTRY ROADS

No highway department has accomplished its best work unless it has given a fair share of its time and money toward the improvement of rural roads.

When farms are isolated in bad weather and when farmers are handicapped by poor roads the entire community suffers a loss.

Country roads are also pleasant lanes of travel for the tourist, but he must be assured of safe traveling.

When all side roads are improved an increase in state revenue will be noted because these roads will demand road industries for the convenience of the tourist.

Let us look to the steady improvement of our country roads.

"If the Supreme Court goes, all other American institutions begin to crumble one by one. This is not the wreckage of a day or a month or a year. The sabotage continues over a generation as the cycle of discredited democracy brings fascism seemingly as the only alternative." — David Lawrence.

THE TRUTH PAYS

The first day that John Wanamaker opened his Philadelphia store he took in the sum total of $34.

The next day he put the entire sum into newspaper advertising. This copy was a trail-blazer in modern merchandising, for it told the exact and literal truth.

John Wanamaker never departed from that course. He said in the later years of great success—"The shrewdest people in the world are those who tell the truth consistently and persistently."

Well, it is not difficult to tell the truth consistently. The truth is the thing you don't have to remember! On the other hand, a liar is always between the devil of his own invention and the deep sea of actuality.

And there are many ways of lying in addition to the spoken lie. Ten lies are acted for every one spoken. A shrug of the shoulders may dissemble truth. A lift of the eyebrow may hide knowledge. Silence may be the shroud of falsehood.

Such artifices fail in the long run. They are hardly worth the mental agony they occasion at any time. Unless a man is willing to see his good name and reputation for integrity become a byword, he would do well not to fall into the habit of disregarding the truth.

Tell the truth "consistently and persistently." It pays.—Grit.

CAMP CHARLEVOIX WEEKLY NEWS COLUMN

Edited by Ed. Taylor

Has anyone seen the Mugwump? It seems to have disappeared from its hiding place and despite the efforts of the committee to locate it we are still without it. The Greys claim that the Greens stole it from its hiding place and the Greens deny seeing it. Several loopholes have appeared in both stories, though, and several Greens finally confessed finding it and hiding it, but now they can't find it. Both sides are claiming points and accusing the other side of swiping it, so the committee had to call off all Mugwump competition till the thing can be found.

Wednesday night the Manistee River trip came in and reported a fine two days on the beautiful Manistee River. They paddled about 70 miles down the river and saw many wild animals and some beautiful scenery. George Cannon was selected as the best camper on the trip and was named to give the report on the trip to the whole camp.

This week will see the first edition of the Camp Charlevoix newspaper. Reporters have been snooping about all week getting news and looking for dirt to spread. Bill Gram, Fred Pinkham, Bruce Laing, Tom Upham, Doug Stock, Charles Lemick and Fred Mathaei form the news staff, while Dave Palmer is the one-man circulation staff. He said that he couldn't write, so we made him a newsboy.

The Camp Charlevoix Symphony Orchestra made their debut Saturday playing the overture for the Musical Show. Led by Bob Erwin, the personnel of the group included John Sweeny, Dickson Jarvis, Sheldon Putnam, Chuck Sutton, Gene Williams and Jack Vander Beulen.

Ken Smith and Herb Johnson presented the Camp Charlevoix Collegiate Jamboree. A musical show combining college songs with the music of "Pinafore" and several other operas made n very unique production.

Bill Gram, Chuck Sutton and Tom Hart had the leads. In the chorus was Tom Hunter, Allyn Wright, Doug Stock, Charles Helmick, Fred Matthaei, Bob Million, Bob Huber, Vern Evans, Bud Porter, Bob Miller, Lyons Howland, Bob Paterson, Bruce Laing, Jack Hood, and Al Clausen.

Carter Sales has finally completed his chicken coop and now has two setting hens setting on two dozen eggs which he hopes will hatch into chickens in n few weeks. Stanford Brown has now organized a committee to build a house for the duck.

Saturday afternoon Camp Algonquin came over for a rifle mntch and a baseball game. Charlevoix emerged victorious in both events. The baseball team won 8-7 behind the pitching of Al Clausen. Bob Million caught.

Sailing races nlso have been included on the schedule of events. Last week a crew from the Torch Lake Yacht club came to cnmp and defeated our crew in a match race with the Charlevoix boats. The crew went to Camp Hayo-Went-Ha last Tuesday, hut the wind died down and it was impossible to sail at all.

The intermediates went to Hayo-Went-Ha for a ball game and tennis match and lost both contests. The ball team lost 20-9, while the racqueteers were downed 6-0. Dave Bennett, Fred Mathnei and Alex Galton pitched for the Green and Grey, while Bill Sill caught.

Monday night Herb Johnson's cabin took an overnight to the Hardwood Forest. Fred Mathaei, Doug Stock, Chuch Helmick, Tom Hunter and Jim Leonard accompanied him.

Tuesday night Gil Maynie and Dick Blewett took their cabins to Whiting State Park. Going on the trip were Hap Hubbard, Pete Stroh, Tom Bennett, Ned Greenthal, Jim Bulkley, Jack Huebner, Larry Higbie, Ben Paddock, Dave Palmer, George Renick, Sam Greenwald and Bill Hahn.

Wednesday night Dod Herbert and Chet Opper plan to take Alex Riker, Jack Hood, Grant Wedthoff, Frank Sinks, and Bill Wilson on a horse trip to Walloon Lake. Thursday night Cabin No. 16 will go to the Hardwoods.

Dad's Day will be on Saturday, July 31. At that time all Dads are urged to be here with their boys. Mothers and friends are invited to Mrs. Reimann's At Home from 3 to 5 in the afternoon. Due to the large number of campers this summer, only Dads will be able to have their meals in camp. Mothers and friends though are invited to visit during the day. The camp will be running on Eastern Standard Time at that date.

The running score of the Green-Grey competition is not up to date hut the two sides seem to be going along very evenly. The Greens won the junior watermelon splash Monday afternoon and got to eat the prize. In the intermediate section the Greens won the baseball game but the Grey seniors won their game to keep the count close.

MSC WILL SHOW FARMING SCIENCE JULY 30

Many New Innovations Will Be Displayed Farmers' Week

There may be "nothing new under the sun" but the staff of Michigan State College intends to show a parade of new agricultural science to the thousands of farm visitors in the annual Farmers' Day program on the campus at East Lansing Friday, July 30.

New type barn roof construction is involved in one agricultural engineering demonstration. Miniature buildings will be tested for stresses and roof load limits. New floor finishes for cement, wood and linoleum will interest farmers as well as their wives.

Grazing management and time of cutting alfalfa are farm crops offerings during the day. In addition the department will show results of sugar beet transplants, time of plowing sweet clover for benns, soybean varieties and culture and potato experiments.

END OF LENIENCY

The fact that Robert Irwin was once pronounced hopelessly insane and then permitted to go free is a staggering argument against the plea of insanity in court trials.

What happens? Confinement for a period of years, good behavior (which the person frequently displays), and eventually freedom.

Robert Irwin had intelligence enough to outwit the law for several months. He knew enough to change his name, his whereabouts, his looks. Why show him any mercy?

Men like Irwin and Albert Dyer should be given lightning punishment. This is the only way to convince would-be murderers that justice can not be sentimentalized or blindfolded.

KEEPING ONE'S CREDIT GOOD

There is no excuse for a man not keeping his credit good. It may happen, as it does to most of us, that the income isn't what was expected or that one month's expenses fell extra heavy. When the jab comes there is only one way out, a request from our creditors for extra time plus an honest effort on our part to cut corners and rise above the whirlpool.

A man never realizes the value of his credit until ba loses it.

Believe in yourself.

Several local Indian preachers and exhorters will also help.

The Indian pageant, for which preparations are now under way, will be directed by Miss Elsie Greensky, of Detroit, who will be assisted by her sister, who has returned from Montana, also a group of other young people. The pageant will depict the daily life of western Indians in the Dakotas, Minnesota and other western states, as well as the progress that has been made by more civilized tribes. Some of the Indian dances to be used have never been shown in the east. The earlier life and the formerly unknown religion of the red man will also he shown. The progress made will be dramatized through classical songs such as "The Indian Love Call" and others.

Visitors are always welcome at Greesky Indian Mission. Services are held each Sunday at 1:30 p. m., Sunday school and preaching at 2:30, and an Indian preaching service at 7:30 p. m.

Border Hopping

By CHARLES GORDON

© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate WNU Service.

THE long, mustard-green arm of the customs officer beckoned furiously, "Hey, you! Go into Mexico through that other gate."

The bronzed young man looked up quickly from his preoccupied study of a pnir of very blue eyes beside him and waved an impudent hand at the irate officer.

"Darling, you mustn't." The girl who owned the very blue eyes moved her slim young body closer to him. "He'll probably remember you."

"When I start my rum running?" he teased her. "How do you like being a bootlegger's bride, Sally?"

Sally gazed at him adoringly. A young engineer at the Boulder dam, tall and brown and with a sudden smile that had quickly and completely captivated her.

"How exciting everything looks, Herb." Sally waved an eager hand at the bizarre Nogales saloon fronts. "Can't we stop and snoop a little, and you can promote the peach brandy for your father."

"I hope he appreciates our risking life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness for a little brandy for him." Herb swung his long legs over the roadster's sporty side and lifted Sally bodily up on the high sidewalk.

"Here's the Old Jail cafe. I've heard a lot about it." Tucking Sally's hand possessively through his arm, he led her out of the blistering Mexican sun into the coolness inside.

"What a perfect love of a place, Herb." Sally cried. "Do look at those walls and that queint ceiling. Look like they were cut out of solid rock—like a real dungeon." She shivered ostentatiously.

"By Jove," Herb grinned expansively, "now I know how the count of Monte Cristo felt. I never really appreciated his feelings before." Sally laughed appreciatively, and Herb, inspired with the combination of Creme de Cacao and an attractive and attentive audience, enlarged upon his theme. "Sally, some one, say a chap with imagination and initiative could make a real place out of this. Waiters wearing penitentiary stripes. Some of them in balls and chains in the corners. The head waiter carrying a rifle like a jail guard. The orchestra playing behind bars—"

"I can agree with you about the orchestra," From rouging her lips, Sally looked up gaily at the orchestra that sat pecking sleepily at lazy strings. "But let's make a jail break out of here."

Sally sauntered out into the hot sun, while Herb paused in earnest consultation with the bartender. Presently he joined her at the car.

"Seems like a good-sized flat, Herb." Sally speculatively measured the bottle that he displayed to her. "What'll we do with it?"

"I'd say drink it. We better get it across the border and mail it to dad before we do." Herb slipped the bottle under his shirt in back and beneath his belt.

They fell in behind a string of cars headed across the international line, waiting for the customary search. Herb busied himself with a cigarette, while Sally, leaning curiously over the side of the car, watched the progress of the inspection.

Suddenly she gave a stifled little shriek. "Herb, look. That officer you snooted at a little while ago is taking a bottle of liquor from that car. What will happen to those people?"

"Oh, not much," Herb was nonchalant, "Maybe a warning or something like that."

But Sally was not satisfied. She beckoned to a young officer. "What will happen to those people who had the liquor?" She tried to appear merely curious.

"Can't say, lady," the officer grinned amiably. "Maybe a fine. Maybe confiscate their car."

"A pint is as bad as a carload to Uncle Sam."

Sally thanked him bleakly, as he turned to join the other officers that swarmed over a decrepit old Ford just ahead of them, driven by a very black negro. One officer went directly to the left front wheel, wrench in hand, and removed the hub cap, taking out two small white packages which he referred to as dope.

The old negro began declaring vehemently that the presence of the dope was a complete surprise to him, but notwithstanding was vigorously seized and led awey.

"Herb," Sally whispered hoarsely. "That officer must be psychic. What chance have we?"

"All right, you're next." The uncanny officer eyed their car with what seemed to Sally a menacing look, a look that boded an good for smugglers of peach brandy.

Pitifully Sally forced a smile. "How clever of you to catch that colored man," and, gathering courage at the officer's male susceptibility to flattery, "I don't see how you knew that dope was under his hub cap."

"Well," the officer rested one foot on their running board. "We had a tip about that guy. We pay for tips like that. This one was phoned in by the fellow who sold the stuff to him down in Sonora. He saw the coon hide it under the hub cap. . . . . Bring anything across?"

"Only what's under my belt," Herb said literally.

"O. K.," the officer smiled broadly, misconstruing Herb's pun. "You can bring across all you can carry—under your belt. Go ahead."

All of the ceremonials and customs will be explalned to the audience by the director, Elsie Greensky. She will give the historical background of all events to be dramatized. Some of the ceremonies have come from Minnesota, therefore have not been shown in Michigan. Progress made through the influence of Christianity will be shown. Some fine musical seleetions will be given such as "The Indian Love Song," "By the Waters of Minnetonka." Ovena Greensky and Jay Oliver will sing these songs.

MICHIGAN AIR TOUR STARTED MONDAY

THIRTY-SEVEN PILOTS TOOK OFF FROM LANSING

Tour Will Arrive in Charleveix for Step at Neon on Sunday, Aug. 1st—Plan Welcome Here

Officials of the Charlevoix Board of Commerce are making plans for welcoming pilots of the annual Michigan Air Tour when they arrive at Charlevoix airport for a noon stop on Sunday, August 1.

Thirty-seven pilots took off from Municipal Airport at Lansing, Monday, on the start of a 1,200-mile, seven-day air tour of Michigan.

The ninth Michigan air tour was Intended, according to Manager Wayne J. Sheldon, "to interest pilots in Michigan as a vacation playground for air tourists." It was sponsored jointly by the state department of aeronautics, Michigan American Legion, and the Michigan Air Tour Association.

State air tours were started in Michigan in 1929, but for several years they have been on a smaller scale and more in the nature of "sportsmen's tours," according to Sheldon.

Itinerary of the tour:

Monday — Leave Lansing, noon stop at Alpena and night control in St. Ignace; Tuesday — Blaney at noon, Escanaba at night; Wednesday —Crystal Falls at noon, Calumet at night; Thursday — Ontonagon at noon, Marquette at night; Friday—Newberry at noon, Sault Ste. Marie at night; Saturday—Rogers City at noon, Petoskey at night; Sunday—Charlevoix at noon, Traverse City at night; Monday—Muskegon at noon, Lansing at night.

WATER CARNIVAL A FINE SUCCESS

RECORD ENTRY CONTESTANTS COMPETED IN WATER CONTESTS CONDUCTED SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Rain Caused Cancellation of Several Features and Entire Evening Program — William Howell, of Walloon Lake, Winner Charlevoix Marine Club Trophy

Despite the fact rain caused a late start and cancellation of several events, the annual Charlevoix Marine Club water carnival held Sunday afternoon was the most successful on record.

The carnival drew an entry of 63 contestants even after many who had registered withdrew, and several thousand spectators watched the program until rain drove them away. The many points from which contestants entered gave an indication of the interest in the carnival program.

Rain caused cancellation of canoe races and canoe tilting, a program of novelties and singing, band concert and Venetian boat parade, scheduled for the evening. These events will be conducted Sunday, August 1.

William Howell, of Walloon Lake, won the half mile race for men, feature event of the water contests. He succeeds Robert Bergmann, winner both in 1935 and 1936. Bergmann placed second in the event.

Following are the results of water contests:

Senior girls 100-yard free style—1st, Ann Pearl, Detroit; 2nd, Dorothy Roach, St. Louis, Mo.

Senior boys 100-yard free style—1st, William Howell, Walloon Lake; 2nd, P. S. Carpenter, Grand Rapids.

Junior diving — 1st, Al Clusen, Camp Charlevoix; 2nd, Jane Pearl, Detroit.

Senior diving—1st, Bob Hall, Detroit; 2nd, Robert Bergmann, Charlevoix.

Balloon race, junior boys — 1st, Billy Eccleston, Bellaire; 2nd, Gene Bergmann, Charlevoix.

Junior boys, 50-yard — 1st, Tom Cooper, St. Louis, Mo.; 2nd, William Goodall, Cincinnati, O.

Junior girls, 50-yard — 1st, Jane Pearl, Detroit.

Egg and spoon race, juniors—1st, Billy Eccleston, Bellaire; 2nd, Gene Bergmann, Charlevoix.

Exhibition diving was an interesting part of the program. Spectators were given an unusual treat through the performances of Mrs. Tom Darling, of Grand Rapids, Al Rogers, of Camp Hayo-Went-Ha, and Charles Laing, of Lansing, the latter putting on clown diving stunts. Their exhibition was of professional merit.

Judges of the contests were Mrs. Tom Darling, Allie Moore and Al Rogers. Robert Carpenter, of Grand Rapids, acted as starter. Coast guards were on hand in case of emergencies, and, in every respect, the program went off nicely. A Mobil sound car announced the various events.

Attorneys of 11th and 12th Districts Invited to Session

President Roscoe O. Bonisteel, of the State Bar of Michigan, today announced that the largest meeting of Michigan lawyers ever held in the Upper Peninsula is scheduled at Blaney Park, Schoolcraft county, on August 6 and 7. All the lawyers in the eleventh and twelfth congressional districts have been invited to attend the convention, which President Bonisteel described as a "working meeting."

Section meetings will be held to study and discuss subjects of particular interest to the Bar. A careful analysis of the new legislation passed by the 1937 Michigan Legislature will be presented and legislative leaders will be present to participate in the open forum discussion on such legislation. Section meetings on federal legislation and taxation, local bar organization and activities, legal aid and unauthorized practice of law are also planned.

President Bonisteel stated that the meeting is being held in response to numerous requests from lawyers in the northern part of the state.

ANNUAL OPEN NET MEET ANNOUNCED

13TH CHARLEVOIX TOURNEY TO BE HELD AUGUST 12-15

Event at Municipal Courts Precedes Michigan Riviera Championships Scheduled for August 16-22

Opening its summer program with the first of two annual tournaments, the Charlevoix Tennis Club will stage the Charlevoix Open at the municipal schools courts, August 12 to 15, inclusive.

This year, the 13th for the open event, the tournament will precede the Michigan Riviera championships, scheduled for August 16-22, inclusive, at The Inn courts.

Held as an entertainment feature for summer residents and enrollees of the many summer camps in this region, the tournament has always drawn a large and strong entry. Inquiries regarding the tournament indicate the usual outstanding field.

The tournament will be conducted by Gordon Todd, activities director of the Board of Commerce. Events listed are men's singles and doubles, women's singles, singles for junior boys and girls, age 15 to 18 years, inclusive, and singles for boys up to 13 years. Entries, closing at noon on Wednesday, August 11, are to be made with Mr. Todd at the information bureau. The fee is 75 cents for each event, with players to furnish balls. Suitable prizes will be awarded winners.

Last year's champions were: Men's singles, Arthur Kaiser, Chicago; men's doubles, Arthur Kaiser, Chicago, and Dr. George Buttrick, New York City; women's singles, Miss Betty Mower, Detroit; junior singles, Bud Reynolds, Atlanta, Ga.; boys' singles, Ken Gann, of Midland.

In view of the fact most of last year's champions are summering in Charlevoix, they will most likely play in defense of their titles.

RAIN CAUSED CANCELLATION SUNDAY BALL GAME

Rain and a flooded diamond caused cancellation Sunday afternoon of the scheduled baseball game between the Charlevoix Independents and Indian River. The game will be played at a later date this summer, it is understood.

CITY CLEANING UP AFTER BAD STORM

CHERRY CROP OF REGION IS HEAVILY DAMAGED

Many Orchards Claimed to Be Total Loss; Grand Traverse Region Is Hardest Hit

Charlevoix citizens had a clean-up day on Tuesdny, removing debris scattered by Monday's unseasonable storm, the worst this region has experienced in years.

Wind and rain combined to ruin thousands of dollars worth of fruit and crops in farm areas. The cherry crop, now in the process of harvesting, bore the brunt of damage. Many county orchards are reported a total loss. In the Grand Traverse region, four million pounds of cherries, valued in excess of $150,000, were ruined. Two weeks of picking remained in the orchards of that district, in which the storm raised greater havoc than locally.

Local damage was confined largely to sign boards, broken windows here and there, and the breakage of foliage from shade trees. The city electric light department put in a busy day maintaining service interrupted by short circuits caused by wires whipping against trees. Service was out for a brief period in the business district during early morning.

Numerous small craft, not securely moored, went ashore in Round Lake and Lake Charlevoix. Coast guards were kept busy during a greater part of the morning lending assistance on the lakes. They also maintained a close lookout for any entrants in the Chicago-Mackinac Island sailing race which might have met distress in this area. None of the boats had reached this north area in Lake Michigan, however.

Coast guards report the wind reached early winter velocity Monday morning. A 45-mile gale was estimated. On the brighter side of the incident, is the fact that ground crops, long-suffering from lack of rain, were greatly aided. The Charlevoix region was fortunate in the fact that the full force of the storm struck south of this district.

Yachts of the Great Lakes Yachting Association cruiser division, expected here for a four-day stay, are reported scattered on Lake Michigan by storm conditions. That many will not arrive here as earlier planned, is anticipated.

BELVEDERE CLUB ANNUAL MEETING AUG. 10

Election of Trustees and Annual Reports Will Be Given

The annual meeting of the Belvedere Club has been anaounced for Tuesday, August 10, by E. J. Edwards, warden.

Three trustees will be eleeted to fill the expired terms of James B. Balch, Logan G. Thomson and Mrs. Irene E. Bisbee.

In addition to the election of trustees, annual reports of the secretary, treasurer and various committees will be given. The meeting is at 10 a. m. in the casino.

FORMER LOCAL WOMAN IN EMMET CO. COURT

Mrs. L. A. Hill, former Charlevoix resident, was bound over to circuit court last week at Petoskey on charges of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Annual Bazaar and Bake Sale of the Pilgrim Circle will be held Saturday, July 31, on the Congregational church lawn, starting at 11 o'clock. Lunches will be served together with home-made ice cream and cake. Adv30t1

Venetian Boat Parade Will Be Held Sunday

Postponed Event, Band Concert, Program of Novelties and Singing, August 1st

Postponed last Sunday evening because of rain, the Charlevoix Marine Club's third annual Venetian boat parade will be held Sunday evening, August 1.

While disappointed by not being able to present the event for the many spectators who had gathered last Sunday, the additional time has given officers of the Club an opportunity to line up more boats and, as a result, the best event of its kind ever held is in prospect.

Sunday evening's program will open with a concert by the city band at Memorial Park at 7:30 o'clock. A program of novelties and singing, featuring a group from Camp Charlevoix, will follow at 8:30.

The Venetian boat parade and beautiful fireworks display is scheduled for 9:30 o'clock. At least 30 boats, decorated with lighted colored lanterns, will take part.

LANSING LETTER

MACKINAC ISLAND — Holding their annual outing at this historic island at the crossroads of the Great Lakes, newspaper editors of Michigan had an opportunity last week-end to study the recreational resources of the Upper Peninsula. They were impressed anew, as all Michigan residents are sooner or later, that Michigan is a big state—the only one in the country to comprise two peninsulas, separated by a straits of water between two large inland seas.

Despite a mild winter that interfered somewhat with winter sports and a frequent labor turmoil that prompted some executives to cancel summer vacation reservations, Michigan's tourist industry has been doing good business this year.

Proof of that is seen in the unprecedented traffic jam which occurred at the Straits preceding the July Fourth holidays.

According to our four tourist bureaus, Michigan is attracting more and more tourists each year, and even 1937 is no exception.

Cities spend great sums on parks and the state does the same on the state parks. That money is spent to create and to preserve beauty. Nowhere would state or city dream of letting that effort be thwarted, and that beauty ruined, by ugly sign boards. In the country we have the same kind of beauty provided without cost, greater beauty and more of it than can be bought at any price. Why should that not be conserved also? Why throw away with one hand what we try to reclaim and buy back with the other?

RUST HITS CROP OF STATE'S WHEAT

Normal Fields Maturing in Time to Escape Serious Damage

Just when Michigan wheat growers were ready to capitalize on the misfortunes that have hit farmers in the west, some of the western wheat troubles have floated into the state, borne by the wind.

From out in the state have come reports of serious damage by black stem rust, the worst infestation in years, county agricultural agents are reporting to men on the staff at Michigan State College.

Normally Michigan's wheat fields are maturing in time to escape serious damage, explains E. E. Down, plant breeder at the college. In his work he has experimented in an attempt to breed wheat that would be more resistant to the black stem rust. The problem is that it is difficult to combine resistance with good yield and a desirable stiff straw.

Michigan has worked for two decades to eliminate the hazard of rust. Japanese barberries have been hacked out and salted in every county in the state. The barberry serves as a host for the spores of the rust when it is not working on a crop. Because the barberries are gone, the spores that arrive with winds from the south and east usually settle down in Michigan after the wheat is matured and past possible danger.

This year a late spring and damp growing weather caused the wheat to grow more slowly and gave the rust spores a chance to work. In some sections of the state estimates of the damage run as high as 30 per cent of the expected yield. The rust mycelium stops plumping of the wheat kernels, lowering yields and cutting test weights.

IDEA BEARS LIKE PIG DIET PROVES WRONG

Black Bear Enters Pens Near Gaylord, Don't Molest Pigs

The old notion that a pig is preferred food to a black bear hardly holds up in view of what's been happening at Pigeon River CCC Camp, northeast of Gaylord. Several bears have made a rendezvous of a pig pen near camp and not only ignore the pigs but cuff them aside so as to monopolize the trough.

The bears are reported to have been visiting the place regularly, more often at night, and actually climb into the pen. No casualties have appeared among the pigs, which either retreat to a safe corner or get cuffed away as the bears head for the camp refuse. The pen is maintained by one of the camp enrollees.

Black bears seem numerous in the Pigeon River State Forest region. One member of the Pigeon River camp reported seeing five black bears in one day, including a she-bear and two cubs.

Not knowing what the styles will be 20 years from now, it's a little hard to say where the children should be vaccinated.

Enrich Soil for Alfalfa Growing

Building Up Fertility Most Important, According to an Authority.

By R. J. Harris, Superintendent Experiment Station Farm, Colorado State College.—WNU Service.

The first step in growing alfalfa is to build up the fertility of soils on which it is to be planted unless it is already in good condition.

When the soil is acid, one to three tons of lime should be applied to the acre. Soil that has been neglected or which is in a poor state of fertility should have heavy applications of manure early in the spring. The manure should be mixed into the soil with a disk harrow. Then a crop of soy beans should be grown and turned under.

In the fall the field should be plowed and allowed to lie fallow during the winter freezes. Sow lespedeza in February and turn it under when it has reached maximum growth, which should not be later than September 1. The crop should be disked well before being turned under. Then the lime should be disked into the soil and the field left to stand for two weeks. Next should be an application of 600 pounds of 4-12-4 fertilizer per acre and another disking, followed by a seeding harrow and then a cultipacker.

Following the two seasons of preparing the soil, at least 25 pounds of quality alfalfa seed should be sown to the acre by drill or by hand between September 15 and October 15. If the fall seeding does not produce a full stand, another seeding may be made about March 1 to 15 or sooner if the weather is favorable.

Double inoculations give the best results. Bacteria cultures and soil from fields which have been growing alfalfa are good inoculants.

Farmers whose soil is in a high state of fertility may start their alfalfa crops this fall without going through the two seasons of preparation mentioned above.

Tar Treatment Is Urged for Sheep Having Grubs

Sheep that are suffering from grubs are not infested with worms, but the larval form of the sheep gad fly. The fly deposits eggs about the nostrils of the animals in the warm summer weather, and these work their way up through the nostrils to the sinuses or spaces in the head. Here they remain through the winter and drop out the next spring, pupate in the soil for a few weeks, and then hatch into flies, to repeat the egg-laying process the following summer. There is no practical treatment for removing these larvae grubs from the nostrils, once they are there, but something can be done to prevent the gad fly from laying her eggs on the sheep. This is accomplished by offering the flock a darkened place to retreat into during the hours of bright sunshine on summer days, and by smearing the nose with pine tar every three or four days. The tar can be applied with an old glove or by making a salt box with a lid in which holes about a foot apart and three inches in diameter have been bored. Smear the edges of the holes with tar and put salt in the box. As the sheep reach through for the salt, they smear the tar on their noses, and this has been found effective in repelling the flies which lay the eggs.—Wallaces' Farmer.

Scours in Dairy Calves

Scours is usually caused by improper feeding and it is much easier to prevent than cure, says the North Carolina State college. When the first symptoms appear isolate the calf and reduce the milk feed by half. The substitution of grass hay for legume hay will also aid in the recovery. One to three tablespoons full of castor oil, depending upon the age of the calf, should be given followed by a teaspoon full of a mixture containing one part of salol to two parts each of subnitrate of bismuth and bicarbonate of soda. Repeat dose at intervals of about six hours until diarrhea is stopped. Prevention, however, is the best cure and the cause of the trouble should be located and removed.

Bothersome Goat Grass

Where wheat is grown continuously, eradication of goat grass is difficult. Some farmers sow infested spots while the plants are still green and burn the straw as soon as dry. Others avoid infested spots in harvesting, and later pile straw on them and burn it. Still others disk fields as soon as the grass seedlings are well up in the fall and before the wheat is sown. Control of goat grass is not difficult where rotation with row crops is possible. It is easily killed by cultivation. The only complicating factor is the difficulty of killing plants growing in fence rows, roadways and other waste places. The grass does not compete with native grasses in undisturbed sod.

Potato Resists Disease

The katahdin, a new variety of potato which the Department of Agriculture has been testing for several years and which has proven valuable because of its disease-resistant qualities, has reached the market. For several years efforts have been devoted to breeding sufficient stock to supply the market once it was introduced. Potatoes are subject to a variety of diseases. It is to overcome these drawbacks that the department has been experimenting.

CAMP CHARLEVOIX WEEKLY NEWS COLUMN

Edited by Ed. Taylor

Saturday is Dad's Day and about 60 Dads are expected to be in camp to spend the day with their boys. A real day has been planned by the committee in charge. Besides the regular events which have been the custom in the past, several new ideas have been added. The camp is now running on Eastern Standard Time.

Tuesday the Cheboygan trip finally left camp for a two day paddle on the chain of lakes up near the top of the peninsula. Going on the trip were Jim Voyce, Don O'Hara, Bob Stevens, Fred Palmer, Bob Armstrong, Bill Sill, Alex Gnlton, Dickson Jarvis, Burr Needham, John Sweeney, Dick Toncray and Steve Baits.

Last week several overnights went out for short trips. On Wednesday night Dod Herbert, George Cunningham, Chester Opper, Alex Riker, Grant Wedthoff, Bill Wilson, Frank Sinks and Jack Hood took the horses to Walloon Lake. On the next night Doc Darling, Andy Frostic, Dave Hunting, Dave Bennett, Don Barrett, Walter Fader, Jim Wickwire and Walter Ladwig took a trip in the truck to the same place.

Sunday we had as our guests Dr. and Mrs. Jean Piccard. During their stay in camp they told about their recent experience with the multi-balloon aircraft. Mrs. Piccard told about how the craft was made and then the famous doctor told about his flight and experiment with the craft. Later they both expect to go into the atratosphere in a balloon made up of more than 1000 small balloons. They brought their three sons, John, Paul and Don, with them, and the latter two will spend the last four weeks here in camp.

Also coming for the last four weeks are Brad and Bob Nolan, Bennett Wandell, Ken Wright and Jack Leonard. Several others are expected to come in this week to swell our numbers to over 100.

A big ten bout boxing card has been arranged for Saturday. Opening the performance will be Bud Boetticher and Gil Haynie. Tommy Bennett and Ned Greenthal will mix in a junior bout, while Sammy Greenwalt will swap punches with Dave Bennett. Jim Robinson will box Jerry Dickinson and Jack Fnrr will face John Avis. Another bout will bring together Happy Hubbard and Popeye Ford. Dickson Jarvis and Bob Armstrong will clash, while George Cannon and Don Blue will furnish the punches in the elghth bout. The semi-final go will feature Mel Donnally and Burr Needham. The final bout of the evening's card will see Killer Cunningham, the killer who got killed, fighting Chuck Sutton, the Kalrphree Kid.

Last Saturday night saw the presentation of two plays by the Johnson Players. This year's plays have been unusually good and have been well appreciated by the boys and visitors. A Russian drama featured Bill Gram, Herb Johnson and Bob Stevens. The other play had in its cast Dick Toncray, Ward Howland, Dickson Jarvis and Bill Clausen. Cabin 17 was awarded the prize as putting on the best night at the Wednesday night performanee.

Monday night Jessup the Magician came to camp and gave the boys some real magic. His tricks were both bewildering and entertaining to all. His presence was made possible through the courtesy of George Cannon's father, who left some money for a treat at the start of the year.

The intermediates came through in grand style and took Algonquian into camp 8-2 in their ball game here last week. Don Barrett pitched a real game and all the Green and Grey did their part in the hitting. The rifle team of George Cannon and Bob Patterson lost a close match to the visiting sharpshooters.

MANY A "NEW WRINKLE" FOR COOKS, SAY HOMEMAKERS

There's still many a "new wrinkle" to be learned about the oldest of the civillzed arts — cooking, say women enrolled in home economics groups sponsored by the Michigan State College extension service.

For instance, a summary of the year's foods work done in 14 of the 79 Michigan countise having home economics extension work revealed that the women learned new ideas ahoat foods subjects, ranging from using whole grains for breakfast cereals to newer methods for preparing appetizing roasts.

In the 14 counties 414 women indicated that they now obtained better flavored and more tender roasts by using a low constant temperature instead of following the old method of searing the meat first in n hot oven.

Good nutritional ideas were taken seriously in the various groups, as shown by the fact that 382 homemakers reported increasing the amount of iron in the meals for their families and 398 reported using more whole grain cereals in the form of brenkfast foods, breads, and wafers. That essential elevent in the making of blood — iron — was obtalned hy placing in the diet egg yolks, old-fashioned beet greens and leafy vegetables. Nutrition specialist Roberta Hershey stressed the use of Michigan-grown products as the economical choice for obtnining the necessary quantity of iron.

In the 79 of the 83 Michignn counties having home economics extension work, in foods, the 9,135 women regularly enrolled helped to carry the ideas they learned to 16,253 other women, according to Margaret Harris, assistnnt state home economics extension leader. A total of 28,000 women were enrolled in the five divisions of home economics work — foods, clothing, child development, home furnishing, and home management.

SELF OWNERSHIP

In Europe there is a break-down of a system of government which once threatened a large part of the world. Communism as it was known at the time of the Russian Revolution, is disappearing.

It is evident that any government starting out on the plnn of state ownership eventually evolves into a type of organization recognizing private ownership.

No longer do we meet violent radicals highly sympathetic with the Communistic type of government. The two opposing forces of government today are the principle of dictatorship and the principle of democracy. Dictatorship is the immediate threat to this country. It is so easy to get something from Washington, and the inevitable result of a government doing for an individual that which he should do for himself, is a drift to centralization, regimentation and bureaucracy.

Democracy is the only type of social organization which stresses both individual freedom and self-ownership. Let us be careful lest we lose our political rights, the profit motive, property rights and the opportunity of being different.

HOW ORPHANS LOSE OUT

Joseph Harrington, writing in the McCalls Magazine, tells how he and Mrs. Harrington tried for many months to adopt a child, without success. He states that 10,000 families applied for children last year without obtaining them, even though orphanages are brimful of children.

One of the chief reasons for such a situation is that unless a home has its full quota of orphans it will not receive its full subsidy and many employea would be thrown out of jobs.

We sympathize with anyone who atrives to hold a job but regret that by doing so these people are denying thousands of children their right to normal life and happiness.

A guarantee by wealthy aponsors or by the state that such institutions would be open even though empty of children, might help solve the problem.

There's getting to be so many auto aceidents it looks like a fellow will have to go to church for safety's sake.

PROOF OF GREAT SERVICE

Since 1927, the average domestic electric rate charged by utilities has declined from 6.80 to 4.59 cents per kilowatt hour—a decrease of 32½ per cent.

The average annual use per residence has increased from 444 to 740 kilowatt hours—a gain of over 67 per cent.

During the same period, taxes paid by the utilities have increased from 9.46 to 14.1 per cent of gross revenues—a jump of 49 per cent.

Here, in uncontestable figures, is the best possible proof of this great industry's increasing service to the American people.—Michigan Manufacturer and Financial Record.

WILL INSTALL FLASHING SIGNAL ON M-66

Co-Ops Crossing Included in New State Highway Safety Program

Charlevoix is included in a program announced this week by State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner, which includes installation of flashing signals at 44 railroad crossings.

A flashing signal will be installed on M-66 at the Co-Ops crossing south of this city, at a cost of $2,500.

The program also includes the construction of 13 grade separations. Federal funds will finance the entire grant with the exception of right-of-way costs for grade separation construction.

The flashing signals will be timed to flash 20 seconds before a train traveling 70 miles an hour reaches the crossing.

RETIREMENT ACT AID RAILROAD EMPLOYES

Fifty-five Thousand in Michigan to Come Under New Benefits

More than 55,000 railroad employes in Michigan will benefit from the national railroad retirement act which has just been put into operation.

The plan is said to be the most comprehensive ever worked out for the age or disability retirement of employes in any industry. It was evolved in negotiations between the railroads and the rail brotherhoods at the request of the President. Nationally, 1,500,000 rail employes come under the plan, which functions independently of the Social Security Act.

Under the plan, employes may retire voluntarily at 65 years of age. Compulsory retiremant is not provided for. An employe may retire at 60 following 30 years of service, his annuity to be slightly reduced. If he continues to work after 65, his monthly wage tax continues but he receives no credit for the additional service. Persons totally disabled are eligible to retire if they have completed 30 years of service regardless of age. A death benefit is also provided for. The retirement annuity is to be paid out of the U. S. Treasury from funds provided by a tax on wages starting at five and one-half per cent monthly and increasing gradually to a maximum of seven and one-half per cent after 12 years, to be paid jointly by the railroads and the employes. The act is to be administered by a retirement board of three members, located in Washington.

Employers are required to file application for a social security account number for each employe who dies or who leaves his service without first having an account number known to the employer. Application blanks—Form SS-5—can be obtained from the nearest Social Security Board office.

SKIM MILK ADDS PROFITS FOR PIGS

Efficient Farmers Find Addition to Diet Is Producing Dividends

Michigan's pigs that live on the farms of the more efficient farmers are enjoying skim milk and buttermilk diets this summer.

At least experiments conducted by the animal husbandry department at Michigan State College indicate profits in feeding fairly definite amounts of skim milk. At present, considering prices of corn and tankage, skim milk is considered worth 40 to 50 cents a hundredweight, with an additional return for labor involved in feeding the liquid.

Tests conducted at the college by V. A. Freeman of the animal husbandry department hold some hints as to the most efficient feeding of the skim or buttermilk.

Pigs out on pasture drank up three to four pounds daily with efficiency. When they were compared with pigs getting all they wanted, the three pound limit proved twice as efficient. On dry lot the most efficient rate was six to eight pounds of skim a day to each pig.

The college department found out some other facts worth money to hog growers. The milk was fed in the trough. Self feeders were used for feeding ground grain. This saved time. There is no objection to mixing ground grain with the skim milk, but neither becomes more efficient as a feed and the process takes extra labor.

Sweet or sour skim is approved. But don't change the diet back and forth, Freeman advises. The pigs get accustomed to one or the other and if shifted from sweet to sour or sour to sweet, their stomachs become upset.

NOW LEGAL TO DRINK STANDING IN MICHIGAN

New Law Signed by Murphy Changes Old Liquor Rulings

Gov. Frank Murphy has signed into law the liquor law amendment not which will open the way for drinking while standing in Michigan.

Other changes in the present law permit boosting the state's gross profit markup from 40 to 55 per cent with the revenue from the extra 15 per cent earmarked to defray at least partially costs of the $3,088,000 a year hospital building program.

Specially designated distributors will be granted a 10 per cent discount on liquor purchased from the state, while Class C license holders will receive a 15 per cent discount on liquor for resale consumption on premises but with no maximum refund as previously set.

The act makes revocation of licenses mandatory upon the commission on complaint of local governing bodies.

Salaries of the commissioners were boosted from $5,000 to $7,500 a year.

This act will permit nearly doubling of state stores by allowing their establishment in all municipalities of 3,000 population or more. It also provides for granting of three-months licenses in the resort areas.

LOWER AGE LIMIT FOR PENSION QUALIFICATION

After January 1, 1938, Persons 65 Years Old Are Qualified

Gov. Frank Murphy has signed the state welfare reorganization act.

The act substitutes a five member bi-partisan Michigan Public Assistance commission, takes over duties of the state emergency welfare relief commission, the old corrections commission, welfare commission, old age assistance bureau, welfare department and director of the state welfare department.

The old age assistance law changes lower the age limit for pensioners effective January 1, 1938, from 70 to 65 years. Non-citizens are made eligible for old age assistance, trust deeds are no longer required from property owners, collection from the estates of deceased recipients is discontinued, and liability of relatives for support is relaxed.

Old age assistance changes are expected to increase cost for this aid to $10,000,000 a year.

The reorganization also provides for county welfare commission to coordinate work with the new state setup.

SUMMER RESIDENTS REQUEST NEW PIER

Ask Council to Build Dock at Foot of Chicago Avenue

A petition, signed by 37 summer residents of the north side, has been presented to the city council, requesting that a pier be built at the foot of Chicago avenue.

The site is at the end of the extension of Chicago avenue across the Pere Marquette tracks on Lake Charlevoix. The petition cited the need of a pier for water sports and facilities for boats on Lake Charlevoix. Other than the privately-owned Chicago Club pier, there is no dock serving the north side since The Inn pier was torn down a couple years ago.

UPPER PENINSULA HUCKLEBERRY CROP SHORT

The huckleberry crop which looked promising in the Upper Peninsula last spring has been limited in some sections by insufficient rain, says H. R. Sayre, chief of conservation field administration. Sayre stated that so far this year the most serious fire hazards have existed in parts of the Upper Peninsula as a result of drought condition.

Some Unusual Bequests Found in Ancient Wills

If you have a taste for practical jokes and enough imagination to enjoy them without seeing the result, you can have a lot of fun making a will. Here are some freak bequests from the Golden Book Magazine:

I give nothing to Lord Saye, and I do make this legacy willingly, because I know that he will faithfully distribute it to the poor.

Seeing that I do menace a certain Henry Mildmay, but did not thrash, I leave the sum of 50 pound sterling to the lackey that shall pay unto him my debt.

I give to Lieut. Gen. Oliver Cromwell one of my words, the which he must want, seeing that he hath never kept any of his own.

PHILIP, Earl of Pembroke.

To my steward I leave nothing; because he has been in my service for 18 years.—Abbe De La Riviere.

To his sister Catharine Greeo, during her life all his lands in Melbourne and Derby, and after her decease to others in trust, upon condition that the said Catharine Green should give four green waistcoats to four poor women in a green old age, every year, such waistcoats to be lined with green galoon lace, and to be delivered to the said poor women on or before 21st December yearly, that they might be worn on Christmas day.—Henry Green.

I give unto my wief my second best bed, with the furniture, and nothing else.—William Shakespeare.

Island of St. Helena Is Reduced in Population

The island of St. Helena is located 1,200 miles from the west coast of Africa, and contains an area of about 47 square miles. It was discovered in 1501 by Juan de Nova Castella, a Portuguese navigator, who gave it its name because he first saw it on the day consecrated to St. Helena. In the following century the Dutch took possession and retained it until 1673 when it was seized by England, notes a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

When Napoleon was first banished to the island and held there as a political prisoner under British surveillance, the population was about 800, the soldiers numbering 200 and the slaves about 300. Subsequently, the population increased until it exceeded 6,000. Emigration has since reduced it.

One of the factors which lessened the importance of the island was the opening of the Suez canal, and the consequent rerouting of the Indian trade. It has still a great value, however, as a naval station, and is one of the strong keys to English power in the south Atlantic.

Negro Hair Cuts Itself

How often it happens that in searching for one thing another thing is found. The Wool Industries Research association set itself to solve the problem of the too easy breaking of the wavy wool of the merino sheep, and in the process discovered why the negro has close frizzy hair. It seems that frizzy hair and wavy wool have a circular way of growth before they appear above the skin level, and this continues during external growth. Both hair and wool are found to be thinner at the bends than in the rest of the curls, and at these thin places both break easily. Thus, when a negro in civilization brushes his hair, or in the jungles of Africa rubs it with his hands, it breaks off, and saves him the trouble of having it cut. As far as merino wool is concerned a corrective is in sight, and perhaps the negro will use the same device for taking the kink out of his wool!—Tit-Bits Magazine.

ALL MOTOR CAR ACCIDENTS ARE AVOIDABLE

THE UNAVOIDABLE ACCIDENT

If there were a school for drivers in every community, one fundamental precept would doubtless be taught first to every student driver: "All motor car accidents are avoidable!"

Do you question that precept? Suppose, then, you name over the various accidents with which you are familiar and which you believe were unavoidable. But stop a moment. After naming each one, ask yourself this further question:

"Was it not humanly possible for someone, by doing something either before or at the time of emergency, to have prevented that disaster?"

The fact is that the vast majority of motor vehicle fatalities and injuries are caused, directly or indirectly, by the mistake, the incompetence, the failure of someone—sometimes more than one. Even the small number of accidents traceable to mechanical failure might have been prevented by thorough and frequent inspection, by less speed, or by more expert driving at the moment.

Yes, there may be, rarely, an accident which falls in the "Act of God" class. But even these may often be prevented by foresight.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

Inexpensive Fly Sprays Protect Horses and Cattle

Inexpensive and highly effective spray mixtures for controlling flies on horses and other livestock were outlined this week at the Michigan State College entomology department.

The cheapest fly spray that the farmer can make for himself is composed of one pint of pine oil to one gallon of used crank case oil. The objection to this spray is that it stains the coat of the animal and therefore can not be used on show stock. The spray, however, will be found to be highly effective, say the entomologists.

A spray mixture which is somewhat more expensive and one that can be used on show animals is made from one-half pound of ground pyrethrum (obtainable at drug stores) added to one gallon of mineral spirits or oil of oleum. The pyrethrum should be soaked in the oil for 48 hours with an occasional agitation to enable the oil to take up all of the chemical possible. After that, the clear liquid should be taken off and is ready for use as a fly spray. The residue should be discarded.

Beaver Island Bull Clubs Visited Last Week

On the 21st and 22nd two days were spent on Beaver Island for the purpose of visiting the four bull association animals, and discussing rural electrification, soil conservation and dairy improvement.

It is well to remember that these four purebred shurthorn bulls were placed on Beaver Island May 1, 1935. Also that this is the largest bull association group in the state.

It was found that an improvement has been made already. The offspring showed more type and more quality as a result of the use of these purebred sires. It is hoped that a greater use will be made of these animals by those not members of the four associations.

It was also decided to change these animals either late this winter or next spring. When this is done one of the objectives of the organizations has been accomplished. Usually a farmer can only use a sire for two years. In this case these four animals can be moved from one association to another and in that way extend the years of service without any inbreeding taking place.

Landscape Tour Held Last Week Included Six Stops

The first landscape tour in the county proved to be highly interesting and instructive to many in the county interested in making their home surroundings more beautiful. O. I. Gregg, landscape specialist of the Michigan State College, accompanied the tour and pointed out the various features at each stop.

The first stop was at the farm home of George Klooster, at East Jordan, and demonstrated the rapid progress that can be made within a short time. The noticeable feature was the fact that his shrubbery had done remarkably well without being watered artificially. The second stop was at W. K. Straw's, at Charlevoix, and showed one of the most pleasing effects found in the county. It is indeed a show place to visit this farm. Sometime while on a pleasure trip, why not stop in and enjoy the beauty that abounds on all sides?

At the Charlevoix County Nursery the tour saw first hand the great variety of shrubbery and ornamentals. Especially were the evergreen plantings enjoyable. Next a picnic dinner was enjoyed at the Whiting County Park with coffee furnished free by the extension department.

The fifth stop was at the city home of Leo Close, in Boyne City. In this landscape project emphasis was placed on the border plantings which included the cedars, ninebark and other native shrubs. The last stop was at Ben Gardner's, in Boyne City, and here was found no doubt the most ambitious plans of any in the county. It is indeed a beauty spot and included practically all of the ideals of landscaping that might be used by any individual in the county. Here were found specimens that have had seven years growth.

Northwestern Michigan Jersey Parish Show Will Be Held at Charlevoix County Fair

Plans are being rapidly developed for the Northwestern Michigan Jersey Parish Show, which will be held in connection with the Charlevoix County Fair. This will be one of seven to be held in various districts in the state of Michigan, and will be an exhibit that all lovers of dairy animals should see.

The exhibit will include what is called "county herds" from the various counties in the district. Instead of each owner showing a large number of animals, a selection will be made from each herd in the county to make up the "county herd." Then each animal in the same class receives the same amount of premium money, disregarding the official placing of the animals in the class. In addition there will be a get of sire and a produce of dam.

The county fair board is contributing the amount normally awarded to the Jersey breed for this purpose and, in addition, the state of Michigan is contributing, all of which will make this exhibit most attractive and educational.

Last week, H. E. Dennison, state Jersey Cattle Club representative, A. C. Baltzer, dairy extension specialist, accompanied your county agent in visiting the various Jersey herds in the county. Already the representative animals for Charlevoix county have been selected to compete against other counties. In future years if this exhibit proves to be successful, other dairy breeds may be placed on a similar basis. With the fair dates September 21-24, it is expected that a larger number of livestock entries will be made. In the same way, without a doubt, the fruit, vegetable and crop departments should be larger, as the lateness of the dates will permit full maturity of most crops.

From Washington comes news that the National Park Service is interested in a proposal for a 128,000-acre national park between Little Girls' Point and Union Bay.

This area would include the famed Porcupine Mountain range of Ontonagon county which is clothed with a velvety sheen of virgin hardwood timber — a bright green cloak of beauty. This tract would include the Lake of the Clouds which is at the highest altitude in the central west, directly at the foot of Government Peak, the giant of the mountain chain.

Wealth of Scenic Lures

The Upper Peninsula country, called the "Land of Hiawatha," may be visited easily in a week's time, so Michigan editors are advised by George Bishop, of Marquette, secretary of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau.

On your first day you should visit Mackinac Island and Les Cheneaux. On the way to Sault Ste. Marie a side trip might be made to the quaint old village of DeTour.

The second day would take you to the Sault Ste. Marie ship locks and then to a river trip to Tahquamenon Falls, driving to Munising and the Hiawatha National Forest in the early evening. On the third day the tourist party will see the Naples of America, the Pictured Rocks, Miner's Falls, and Grand Island.

The fourth day could be occupied well by a brief inspection of the Marquette cities and iron range. Perhaps to Witch Lake, and then on to the Copper country.

The fifth day would reveal such scenic grandeur as the Porcupine Mountains and the Lake of the Clouds, accessible only by foot trails. Next morning you visit Agate Falls, the Gogebic range, Mount Zion Park and its wonderful view, Watersmeet, the Ottawa National Forest, Crystal Falls, Iron River, Iron Mountain, the Menominee iron range, and Menominee.

For your seventh and last day the circle route leads through Escanaba and the Bay de Noc country, Kitchiti-ki-pi Spring, Indian Lake, Manistique, outstanding Blaney Park, Manistique Lakes, the 60,000 acres of the Hiawatha Sportsmen's Club, and the Brevort lake shore drive into St. Ignace.

It is approximately a 1,000-mile swing over water and mountains and through an unspoiled wilderness.

Whether it is possible for a tourist party to see all these sights comfortably in seven days, we cannot vouch for personally. George Bishop is our authority for the statement.

"Roof Garden"

According to Bob Becker, of the Chicago Tribune, the Upper Peninsula is the "roof garden of the United States." This entire peninsular region is air conditioned by Superior and other northern Great Lakes. It is free from dust, smoke, and pollen, preferred by hay fever sufferers because of the air's tonic quality.

In these days of widespread tourist promotion, it is interesting to note that many Michigan residents are not familiar with their own state. Many of them have never visited the Upper Peninsula. This "roof garden" is yet to be discovered by thousands of Michigan people.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT

Defects Hinder Child's Progress In School

Mothers of preschool children who will enter school next September will be concentrating their attention during the summer months on the correction of any defects especially noticeable in the child. This is an ideal time to correct these defects so that the child will be physically fit to compete with his fellow classmates when he enters school. Of the thousands of examinations made of entering children, approximately 60 per cent suffer with easily correctable defects which lessen their progress and hinders them from competition on an even basis with children who are physically fit.

The most common defects found among this under six age group are of the nose and throat, teeth, vision, malnutrition, defects of hearing, diseases of the skin and nervous system, and posture. Studies of children of preschool age have shown particularly the need for more extensive use of cod liver oil and Vitamin D in various forms in order to prevent rickets and defects of bone growth and teeth.

Diseased tonsils may harbor poisonous germs which are liable to cause throat trouble and which may be carried through the blood stream to various parts of the body where they set up infection. Perhaps the most common physical defect found among children is dental decay. A famous doctor once said that more than 80 per cent of all diseases had their origin in the teeth or mouth. Teeth which are allowed to decay often give off pus constantly. This pus is absorbed by the child and does a great deal of harm to the growing body. Many parents have neglected filling cavities of temporary teeth, which is a great mistake. The American Dental Association advocates filling all temporary teeth. If they are allowed to decay, it is probable that the permanent teeth will come through already defective.

Among the most serious considerations, particularly in times of economic depression, is the question of nutrition. Far too often a child is sent to school with a glass of milk as his only breakfast and sometimes merely a bite of fruit. The growing child should not go to school without a good breakfast. Dr. Mary Schwartz Rose, one of the most eminent authorities on nutrition, has said, "One year of good feeding at the beginning of life is more important than ten years of feeding after forty years of age."

The development of proper posture in the young child largely influences the ultimate shape of growing bones. Round shoulders and a sunken chest may encourage the development of tuberculosis.

The progress of a child entering school can often be retarded by defective vision. However, if this trouble is detected before the child enters school, perhaps all that will be necessary is to ask the teacher to let him sit in a certain part of the room where he can best see the blackboard; possibly it will be advisable to have the child fitted with glasses. Often glasses worn during childhood and early adolescence may be discarded later when the eyes have become stronger or the condition has been corrected in some way.

In the preceding paragraphs we have pointed out the most prevalent defects found in the several hundred examinations of infants and preschools performed over a period of years in District Health Unit No. 3, comprising the counties of Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego. Now is the time to think of your child's health. Take him to your family physician for a thorough check-up before he enters school or bring him to the preschool clinic that will be conducted in your vicinity this spring by your health department.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY

Sunday morning service, 10:45.

Sunday school, 12 o'clock.

Meets first Wednesday evening each month at 7:45 p. m.

Reading room open Saturday, 3 to 5 p. m.

We cordially invite the public to our service and reading room.

"Love" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, August 1.

Among the Bible citations is this passage (I John 4: 18): "There is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear; because fear hath torment. He that feareth is not made perfect in love."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 571): "At all times and under all circumstances, overcome evil with good. Know thyself, and God will supply the wisdom and the occasion for a victory over evil. Clad in the panoply of Love, human hatred cannot reach you."

FAMOUS GOEBEL HORSES VISITORS HERE THIS WEEK

Brought to Charlevoix for Exhibition During Water Carnival

Eight distinguished visitors were in Charlevoix from Saturday until Wednesday. They were Frank, Johnny, Laddie, Sandy, Jim, Prince, Tony and Jolly—all champion Clydesdales belonging to the Goebel Brewing Company, Detroit.

Charlevoix and its water carnival were high spots in a tour they are making of the larger cities throughout Michigan. The Goebel hitch represented approximately 12,000 pounds of thoroughbred horseflesh—each horse weighing about 2,000 pounds, or 600 pounds more than the average.

Paul Pritchard, who has driven the six huge Clydesdales to many victories, brought them here in a special van 42 feet long and having six stalls, each four feet wide and 10 feet long. It also contains an electric stove to heat their drinking water.

PLANNING FOR COUNTY WIDE DENTAL PROGRAM

Representatives of School Districts to Meet Tuesday at Boyne City

On Tuesday, August 3, at 2:30 p. m., representatives from the various rural school districts and city schools in Charlevoix county will meet in the basement of the Boyne City library to discuss plans for their 1937-38 health projects.

At the spring meeting of the Charlevoix County Child Health League it was decided to bring the dental correction of all school children as near 100 per cent as possible.

Charlevoix county has reason to be very proud of the 1936 and 1937 school year, which saw nine rural schools either reach the 100 per cent mark or so near that they deserve honorable mention. These schools include Tainter (pioneer school in this enterprise, having enjoyed their fifth consecutive year of having reached 100 per cent), Knop, Ironton, Clarke, Murray, Bay Shore, Marion Center, North Bay and Undine.

This year the company has a strong cast of players and they will present the latest New York stage successes during their brief stay here with all new scenery and electrical effects for each play. Popular prices will prevail and the usual ladies' free night on Sunday night.

PERMANENT DEADLINE AUTO LICENSES SET

Extension Beyond March 1 Prohibited; Sticker License Increased

Gov. Frank Murphy last Friday signed an act setting March 1 as the absolute deadline for securing automobile license plates.

The new act advances the legal deadline from January 1 to the date through which extensions have been made by the secretary of state in recent years. Further extension beyond March 1 by the secretsry of state will be prohibited by the new law.

The act also opens the way for issuances of half-year license plates to replace the sticker system now in use.

In the future motorists purchasing half year licenses will have to pay 25 cents in addition to the regular license fee.

HEAVY DEMAND SEEN FOR LOW NUMBER DEER TAGS

In view of the demand received for low-number deer license tags last year and so far this summer, the department of conservation announced that a limited supply of low-number licenses will be reserved again this fall for deer hunters who want them. The licenses must be purchased directly from the Lansing office.

EDITORIAL

THE FLYING SQUADRON

To those of us who have opposed the President's Supreme Court Reform bill it is pleasant news to read that this piece of legislation has been returned to the Judiciary Committee in the Senate. Which, as one paper aptly puts it, is giving it the tradtional kiss of death. However, it seems the battle has just begun. The remainder of this infernal piece of legislation may be favorably reported out of the same committee and, if passed, America would have a "Flying Squadron" of federal judges which could be sent into any district in this country to sit at trial on uny and all controversial cases affecting New Deal legislation. It is then a simple matter to imagine how many cases of this nature would ever reach the highest tribunal of the land. Surely every liberty loving American now has cnuse to think seriously about the thing called freedom, of which he so proudly boasts before the world.

Again we repeat, "price of freedom is ETERNAL VIGILANCE." We must carry on the fight. In our humble opinion we do not see the necessity of having any such squadron of federal judges thereby making it possible for them to sit in judgment against citizens of this country in order to favor legislation which may or may not be for our mutual better welfare. Instead we are content to rely upon those judges already in office who have not sworn allegiance to any political party or creed of un-Democratic principles, and who will render decisions which in their eyes will uphold the Constitution of the United States.

Watch your newspaper for further information concerning the remaining portion of the Court Reform Bill. If it is reported out of the Senate Judiciary Committee, write your senators and congressmen a request to vote against the measure.

THE GREATEST ENTERPRISE

The other day we stood on the sidewalk watching some carpenters busy at building a new home.

Many people have never thought very much about a home. We live in a home. We help to build, pay for or maintain one. We think of home as a happy place. We sing about it. Generally we know what a home is or should be. But we seldom think about the importance of a home in the business life of a community.

That new home was using lumber. That meant that trees must be cut and timber sawed. The plumber had to work. The electrician was busy. There was need for brick and bricklayers. The plasterer got some work. The painters and paperhangers were called in. The yard must be graded. Trees and plants had to be set out.

There is not a single person in the community who does not benefit, directly or indirectly, from the construction of a new home.

When the house is built business really begins in a permanent fashion.

Furniture must be bought. The village gets a customer for current. The electrical store sells appliances, everything from hair curlers to radios. There is need for dishes, towels, sheets and blankets. The telephone company has another name for its directory.

Even now we have just begun. When the home is established there must be coal in the basement, canned goods in the cellarway and food on the shelves. The doctor has calls to make. The dentist has cavities to fill. The home pays taxes and they are spread about to everyone in the community.

The home is the economic foundation of the land. More than that it is the superstructure which houses happiness and prosperity.

Those who encourage the construction of homes and those who make them financially possible are community benefactors of the highest order. —Grand Rapids (Minn.) Herald-Review.

SERFS OF GENERAL STAFF

What do you think of this plan?

One man to have—

First. Absolute power over employers and employes, so that all may be at the disposal of the government, ready to carry out such duties as may be assigned, at wages fixed by the government.

Second. Full power to close all stock and commodity markets and control prices.

Third. One hundred per cent control over the economic structure of the country, full power to take over any factory, seize the entire transport system.

Fourth. Elimination of all middlemen, suppression of speculation and taking over all distributing stores.

Fifth. Power to seize, upon payment of a price to be set by a government board, any private property which the state might require.

Sixth. Creation of a special fund of half a billion dollars.

Is this the plan of some new revolutionario in Europe or South America?

No, no indeed. It is simply the synopsis of a confidential memurandum worked out in the War Department and circulated privately, to insure that, in the event of war, the United States would cease instantly to be a demuerucy and be turned into a totalitarian state over night, with the President of the United States the dictator, able tu regiment the United States.

The circulation of this memorandum was pushed and backed up with reports that Germany, Britain and France had similar plans on the griddle. The generals and the admirals felt that Congress would pass their proposition in jig time—in case of a world war.—Boake Carter in the New York Mirror.

NON-PROFIT LABOR UNIONS

Col. Frank Knox, of the Chicago News, believes the way out of labor difficulties in this country is to follow closely the method adopted in England since its great labor disturbance in 1926.

Mr. Knox, who has spent several months studying the labor situation in England, recommends legislation which will compel a strict accounting of every dollar of every labor union with its books thrown open to show how each dollar is expended. This will make for responsibility in leadership.

He believes that discipline for both employer and employe is necessary, and that a contract must be a contract, as much for one as the other.

Without this discipline there can be no sense of responsibility on the part of either.

It is not our idea to add any fuel to the flame by showing the wrong of either side because there is plenty on both, but instend to point out any means of solution which seems sane and practical. This attitude should be the motive of any element desiring to bring stability out of the present chaos. We believe, therefore, that active public support should be given the Knox plan in the hope that the right kind of legislation will soon be enacted. Thinking people are bound to accept and aid in a constructive evolution toward genuine social justice. Stagnant reaction can never be a credit to a progressive people.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE NEWS BULLETIN

State May Issue Eight Car Plates

Back in 1909, citizens affluent enough to drive motor cars in Michigan had "life-time" licenses in the form of small metal discs on the dashboards. For many years, there was only one form of license plate, even nfter plates were bolted to cars annually.

In 1937, Michigan had five different kinds of motor vehicle license plates—in 1938, this numher may be jumped to eight.

Next year, house trailers will carry distinctive plates for the first time. A new special plate will have to be devised for the "50-cents-n-hundredweight" class of motor vehicles, nuthorized by the 1937 Legislature. Leon D. Case, secretary of state, was given authority by the same Legislature, to deside between "stickers" and metal license plates for half-year permits. His decision still pends.

Hearses, ambulances aml privately-owned farm trncks used in the owner's farming business, will drop from the $1.25 rate to the 50 cent rate in 1938, the Legislature ordered. The rate for passenger cars is 35 cents per hundredweight.

It requires 650 tons of steel and 6,000 gnllons of jnint for the production of the 1,500,000 sets of plates for 1937. If plates are used for half-year permits, instend of stickers, the figures on steel nnd paint will jump nhout one-third. Michigan's prison industries can make about 15,000 sets of plates a day; those for 1937 took about 100 days to make. Additional work would be ercuted hy the making of more plates.

MAKE MOTORIST SUFFER

If motorists could be cumpelled for a brief period each year to take a turn at walking there might be more consideration given to the harried pedestrian.

To get across any busy thoroughfnre is almost an impossibility. Every day we read a death nccount of some pour citizen who made the attempt.

Even with the light or policeman's whistle indicating his right to cross there is no proof that a half-dozen cnrs will not round the corner to knock him down, or that some errant driver will not "run the light," forcing him to dash for his life. And most of this type of carelessness gues unnpprehended.

Office supplies of nny description may be obtained quickly through this office. Charlevoix Courier.—Adv3tf

SPECIAL LIQUOR DISTRIBUTORS ARE OUT

Two Local Dispensaries Are Affected Io New State-Wide Ruling

Saturday, August 1, will terminate the liquor dispensing permits of the special designated distributors for the Michigan Liquor Control Commission, under a ruling passed by the commission at a meeting July 14.

The rule reads: "There shall be no S. D. D.'s within a three-quarter mile radius of a state liquor store," thus taking the permits away from many drug stores that had secured special licenses to sell liquor.

This new ruling affects two local stores, the Central Drug Store and Adams & Son, who must dispose of their liquor stock through sale by August 1, or return it, together with all liquor sales equipment, to the state liquor store from which it was purchased.

It has been reported that S. D. D.'s throughout the state are circulating petitions asking that the ruling he abandoned and the matter referred to popular vote.

Another ruling passed in the July 14 meeting states that "No new appointments of special designated distributors will be allowed in communities served by a state liquor store or a S. D. D."

SENATOR BROWN IS OPPOSED HIGH COURT BILL

Was Among Senate Members Voting to Bury "Court Packing" Measure

Without doubt a large majority of voters of the 11th Congressional Disrtict will be pleased with the fact that U. S. Senator Prentiss M. Brown, of St. Ignace, opposed President Roosevelt's "court packing" proposal.

The action of Senator Brown is highly lauditory, for he has been a staunch defender of the present administration on most issues coming before the Senate, as he was during the two years that he served as congressman from the 11th district.

RUBAIYAT WINNER IN MACKINAC RACE

COLUMBIA YACHT CLUB ENTRY FIRST TO FINISH GRIND

Thirtieth Annual Classic Sailed Under Worst Conditions in History — Only Six of 42 Boats Finish

The Rubaiyat, Chicago entry, was first to finish the 30th annual Chicago-Mackinac Island sailing race Tuesday, reaching Mackinac Island at 5:13 a. m. It was apparent winner of the race, which is judged on the corrected time basis governing handicaps.

The trim 43-foot craft, owned by Nathaniel Rubinkam and skippered by Henry Rubinkam, crossed the finish line in clear and cool weather with not another competitor in sight.

Southern Cross, a 55-foot yawl owned by Commodore Robert P. Benedict of the Lake Michigan Yachting Association, was second in the general cruising division and first among the Class A cruisers.

Terrific winds and waves forced out of the race all but six of the 42 contestants which started the race from Belmont Harbor, Chicago, last Saturday. One person was injured as the boats fought the storm. The annual 331-mile race, longest fresh water race in the world, was sailed under conditions termed by sailors as the worst in the history of the event.

The Rubaiyat's elupsed time was 62:43:21, and her corrected time was 54:42:14. The Southern Cross's elapsed time was 64 hours and five minutes and her corrected time was 59:10:14.

While local interest in the annual race always runs high, this is the first time in several years that a Charlevoix entrant has not participated in the classic. Other boats of the fleet are scattered throughout lower Lake Michigan ports. With better weather now prevalent, it is expected many will continue north and are expected to visit this port.

HUNTERS MAY TRAIN DOGS NEXT MONTH

Training Season in Lower Peninsula to Open on August 16

Dog owners may begin legally to train their dogs on wild game next month.

In the Lower Peninsula the legal training period begins Monday, August 16, and in the Upper Peninsula, Monday, August 2. These training periods continue through the hunting seasons to March 15, 1938.

Under the law dogs may be trained on wild game during the 60 days next preceding the open hunting seasons on the respective types of game, but the dog owner is forbidden to carry a gun and must confine his training operations between the hours of sunrise and sunset.

WELL KNOWN LOCAL COUPLE OBSERVED 60TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Shoares, well known and highly respected pioneer Charlevoix couple, observed their 60th wedding anniversary at their home, 508 Michigan avenue, on Thursday, July 22.

"Granma" and "Pa," as they are affectionately known to most everyone, were kept busy throughout the day receiving congratulations and well wishes of their many friends. They were remembered with many lovely anniversary cards and gifts as well as telegraphed congratulations, one from as distnnt as Booth Bay, Maine.

The home was prettily decorated with beautiful flowers sent by relatives and friends. A huge wedding cake occupied the center of the table and was cut by Mrs. Shoares, who served it to her guests with ice cream and punch. About 11:30 p. m. all guests had left and Mr. and Mrs. Shoares retired after having spent one of the most happy days of their life.

Mr. and Mrs. Shoares, parents of a large family, were fortunate in having all their living children with them. They were Mr. and Mrs. Archie Nowland (Kate Shoares), of Rhinelander, Wis.; Mrs. Mary Dixon (Mary Shoares), of Charlevoix; Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Shoares, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Feuless (Atha Shonres), of Gloucester, Mass.; Miss Grnce Shoares, Mr. and Mrs. Tim Shoares and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Davey (Edythe Shoares), of Charlevoix.

UNUSUAL BAPTISM SERVICE CONDUCTED ON LAKE CHARLEVOIX LAST FRIDAY

An unusual baptism service was held on Lake Charlevoix near Chula Vista resort last Friday afternoon when Patricia Anne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer O. Simon, of Youngstown, O., and Jean Anne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Simon, of Pittsburgh, Pa., were baptized by their grandfather, Rev. G. W. Simon, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Niles, Mich.

The rite was performed under an arch of cedars, crowned hy a cross of white birch. The baptism bowl was made of birch bark. Tommy Boslopper, of Grand Rapids, who was saved from drowning in Lake Charlevoix a few years ago by an uncle of the infants, sang two solos. The banked cedars and the colorful waters of beautiful Lake Charlevoix gave a suitable and impressive environment for such a service.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 42 NUMBER 31 | EIGHT PAGES | THE CHARLEVOIX COURIER, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 4, 1937 | PRICE $2.00 PER YEAR

AIR TOUR VISITED AIRPORT SUNDAY

PILOTS AND PASSENGERS IMPRESSED BY VISIT

Air Tour, Ninth Staged in Michigan, Gave Local Citizens View of Large Number of Ships

Nearly 30 airships and twice as many people, from all sections of the state and even from out-state, settled down on Charlevoix's airport Sunday.

The stop was only for a few hours, but if the expressions of the pilots and passengers may be taken as an indication, they left with a most satisfactory impression of Charlevoix and its airport facilities.

The flight, which came from Emmet county airport, left at 2 o'clock for Traverse City and an over-night stop, then to Muskegon and return to Lansing, starting and finishing place of the 1937 Michigan Air Tour.

The flight was smaller than the expected 57 planes, due to the fact many dropped out at the start because of bad flying weather, and others stopped at points along the route.

The air tour, ninth of its kind, afforded Charlevoix citizens the opportunity to see the largest collection of planes ever assembled here, the heavier-than-air craft ranging from several two-passenger Aeroncas to a large Ford tri-motor job. It was a most interesting sight to observe the efficient manner in which the pilots dropped their planes to the landing field. Each plane was described, its pilot and occupants were named, and other pertinent information was given by means of a sound car furnished by the Automobile Club of Michigan, which was on hand at each tour stop-over.

Among the personages accompanying the tour were State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner, of Lansing; the sheriff of Kent county with an official county plane; Wayne J. Sheldon, tour manager; Neil Brackstone, manager of Pontiac airport and tour referee, and numerous others. Each gave brief remarks as did also Floyd Brown, local airport manager; Sheriff Floyd Ikens, and others.

The idea behind the Michigan Air Tour, according to Wayne J. Sheldon, manager of the tour, was to interest persons from ootside the state in what was planned. To this end a carefully selected list of ship owners was circularized over a period of several months previous to the start of the takeoff. The result was that four planes from out state showed up. One came from Pennsylvania, one from Illinois, one from Ohio, and one from Indiana.

LOW CCC ENROLLMENT FOREST FIRE MENACE

Camp Crew Membership Too Small to Provide Needed Protection

Failure of quotas of new enrollments to bring Michigan CCC camps up to full strength together with high weather hazards is causing a serious forest-fire situation in the northern part of the state, P. J. Hoffmaster, director of conservation, says.

Individual CCC camps are permitted maximum strength of 160 men, Hoffmaster said. Because of lack of enrollments under the quota which extended to July 31, camps now have an average strength of but 100 men.

"Last summer when Michigan faced the highest fire hazards in a decade, losses were held to approximately 50,000 acres," Hoffmaster stated. He attributed much of the credit for this low loss to the fact that thousnds of CCC enrollees were on continuous call as fire fighters.

Youths between the ages of 17 and 23 are eligible for enrollment in a CCC camp through application to the county welfare administrator. It is not necessary that their families be on the welfare, but the boys must be out of jobs at the time of application. Enrollment periods are for six months.

TROUT LICENSE IS HIGHER NEXT YEAR

RETAIN OLD ROD LAW, BUT INCREASE TROUT FEE

Non-Residents Must Have License for Great Lakes—New Age Limit for License Set at 17 Years

Several major changes in Michigan's fishing laws were made by the state Legislature to become effective January 1, 1938.

The most notable change is the one requiring that residents who want to fish for trout to pay $1 for their license. Under the dollar license, resident fishermen will be permitted to catch not only trout, but all other species of legal gamefish in any of the waters over which the state has jurisdiction.

The old rod license remains in effect, except that it no longer permits the holder to fish for trout. In the case of resident male fishermen this license will continue to sell for 50 cents. No changes were made in non-resident fishing license fees.

Non-residents will be required to buy a fishing license in 1938 nnd thereafter to fish in the Great Lakes and connecting waters snd Saginaw Bay for all species of fish except perch, catfish, bullheads, blue pike, sand pike, ciscoes and carp.

No change was made in the regular trout season by the Legislature which left the opening date, the last Saturday in April, unchanged. The Legislature also amended the fishing laws to require all persons over 17 years of age to huy a license.

LOCAL WOMAN, AT 92, FINDS AIRPLANE RIDE ENJOYABLE

Mrs. William Ashdon, 92, mother of Ray Ashdon, local mail carrier, had her first airplane ride Sunday during the visit of the Michigan Air Tour. She found the experience a very delightful one and enjoyed the ride greatly.

GAYLORD 4-H CLUB CAMP OPEN AUG. 9

MEMBERS LOOKING FORWARD TO ANNUAL EVENT

Charlevoix County Delegation Numbering Twenty-Nine Chosen to Attend Summer Outing

(By B. C. Mellencamp)

Of all events held during the year, no occasion means as much to the many 4-H club members in the county as does the annual Gaylord club camp. Over 400 representative 4-H club members from 30 different counties will spend a week at this camp.

Each day is devoted to class room work, project instruction, field work, and recreation and amusement. All members are selected as delegates because of their splendid accomplishments. The expenses of the week are paid from the special appropriation allotted each county in the state, so why shouldn't any club member be pleased to receive this trip in recognition of their special activities?

The following club members from this county have been selected as delegates, and doubtless will enjoy the week: From Charlevoix are Homer Willis, Bobby Straw, Eleanor Ecklund, Jessie Potter, Lucille Mae, Elinor Howe and Albert Routley. Delegates from East Jordan include: Glenn Trojanek, Clifford Gibbard, Margaret Strehl, Leroy Nicloy, Howard McDonald, Wilbur McDonald, Viola Carson, Irene Brintnall, Jessie McDonald, Marjorie McDonald and Einer Olstrom. From Boyne City are sent: Oramel Griffen, Bertha Barkley, Jack Urman, Marion Smith, Ada Clute, Helen Tompkins, Lena Jodway. Wesley Dingman and Clyde Kent are from Clarion, and Florence White from Ironton, and Pearl Badgley from Vanderbilt.

In addition to these delegates three more will be selected for participation in the dairy judging contest. A picnic and judging contest is to be held Thursday night, August 5, at Barnard Grange hall for the purpose of making this selection.

INSTALL "CHARLEVOIX" SIGNS AT CITY LIMITS

New Reflectors Obtained from Highway Department Put Up

Tourists entering Charlevoix from any one of three directions will be greeted by new "Charlevoix" signs installed by the Board of Commerce.

The new reflecting signs, bearing the word "Charlevoix," were obtained through the State Highway Department. They are located on US-31 at the north and south city limits, and on M-66 near the Co-Ops.

VENETIAN PARADE COLORFUL EVENT

BEAUTIFUL SPECTACLE WAS ON ROUND LAKE SUNDAY

Thirty-Five Boats Owned by Local and Summer Residents Took Part —Concert, Singing Enjoyed

Surpassing in its grandeur and in the number of participants any previous event of its kind staged here, the third annual Venetian boat parade sponsored by the Charlevoix Marine Club, furnished entertaiament for thousands of spectators Sunday evening.

Every vantage point around Round Lake harbor was packed with spectators, many of whom had driven considerable distance to witness the event which won the acclaim of being the most beautiful ever staged here.

The entry of 35 boats owned by local and summer residents eclipsed that of any previous year. The boats, lighted with colored Japanese lanterns and made more beautiful in the darkness by displays of colored flares, sparklers and Roman candles, entered Round Lake from Lake Charlevoix. Unlike previous years, when the craft were towed by a lead boat, this year's parade was conducted in a "staggered" fashion, with each under its own power. A majority expressed the belief this plan provided a more colorful parade.

COMMERCIAL FISHING REGULATIONS CHANGED

Cannot Issue Licenses to Non-Resident to Fish in Lake Michigan

All non-resident commercial fishermen will be prevented from fishing legally in Michigan waters, as a result of an act of the last Legislature.

Under this act, the director of conservation cannot issue commercial fishing licenses to residents of neighboring states whose regulations as to seasons, sizes and gear do not conform to those of Michigan.

Last year a score of fishermen in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois and Wisconsin obtained non-resident commercial fishing licenses from Michigan to take fish from Michigan waters, the total revenue from these licenses amounting to approximately $5,000.

"None of these states has regulations that conform to our commercial fishing laws," said Fred A. Westerman, chief of fisheries operations. "The result is that these fishermen will not be able to get 1938 non-resident licenses."

The Legislature's action pertaining to non-resident licenses, however, is expected to further stimulate the desire of all Great Lakes states for an uniform code of commercial fishing regulations as a means of helping to conserve the commercial fish supplies.

NEW STATE FERRY SERVICE SUNDAY

FOURTH VESSEL TO BE PLACED ON STRAITS RUN

Christening Saturday at Cheboygan Will Be Attended by Officials of Highway Department

The "City of Cheboygan," latest addition to the state-owned fleet of ferry boats operating at the Straits of Mackinac, will be formally christened at Cheboygan Saturday afternoon, August 7.

For this lakeshore community in whose honor the new vessel has been named, it will mean a city holiday and celebration. Officials from the north country and newspaper editors will be invited to attend the celebration along with state officials.

State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner will deliver the main address of the christening program. Mayors of Cheboygan, St. Ignace, and Mackinaw City—the three "ferry cities"—will also participate in the program.

After the christening, the boat will make a trial run to Mackinac Island. Its first regular run between Mackinaw City and St. Ignace will be made Sunday.

The new boat was formerly the property of the Ann Arbor Railroad Company, having been purchased by the state for $25,000. It has a gross tonnage of 1,778 and an overall length of 270 feet. The vessel has an average automobile and truck capacity of 85 vehicles.

With the addition of this boat, the State Highway Department starting Sunday will be operating four state-owned and one leased vessel. The latter operates almost exclusively for truck traffic.

VISITORS' DAY AT BIOLOGICAL CAMP

PUBLIC INVITED TO U. OF M. CAMP NEXT SUNDAY

Annual Inspection Day Provides Public Opportunity to View the Work at University Station

The biological station of the University of Michigan cordially invites the public to attend its tenth annual visitors' day, August 8, 1937, from 2 to 5 o'clock Eastern Standard Time.

This is the only day in the year when the biological station is open for general inspection by its neighbors and the general public. There will be exhibits of an edueational nature which will include plants and animals of the region as well as certain kinds of class work and scientific investigations now in progress.

The biological station is located on the southeast shore of Douglas Lake, Cheboygan county, on the old Cheboygan-Petoskey road 13 miles southwest of Cheboygan. The roads from Cheboygan, Topinabee, Brutus and Pellston will be posted with signs directing visitors to the station. There will be plenty of room to park, help in parking, guide service, and free admission to all places of interest. Renders of this notice are requested to bring this event to the attention of their friends and neighbors, and especially to the attention of summer residents. Come and see what this division of your state university is doing in your midst.

The first session of the biological station was held in 1909, and a session has been held every summer since that time. The study of animals and plants in their natural surroundings has always heen given special attention at the station. For this work Northern Michigan, with its great variety of aquatic and terrestrial situations, is peculiarly well adapted. Inspection of the long list of lakes of all sizes within easy reach, bog lakes, bogs, swamps, cold brooks and rivers reveals that nowhere in the state is there a better area for work with plants and animals that live in water. Great tracts of unoccupied wild lands including the pine plains, jackpine plains, the hardwood forests, the fir, spruce and cedar swamps and sand dunes on the shores of the Great Lakes, together with farm lands furnish an extremely wide variety of conditions for the study of land animals and plants. Friendly neighbors have been of great assistance in permitting classes to collect upon their property and by enlling attention to unusual plants and animals.

The enrollment of students this year is 116, nine greater than last year, and eight more than the former maximum which was reached in 1931. Among the 116 students are 91 who hold first degrees, and 26 have the master's degree. There are 68 men and 48 women. Sixty-two are engnged in teaching during the year and 54 nre students. Twenty-one married couples are included among the student body.

Buck Deer Stampeded Garage Crew Tuesday

Went in Front Door, Out Rear Window in Dash Thru Residence, Business District

Charlevoix citizens were provided with a bit of unscheduled and unusual entertainment Tuesday morning.

Two buck deer, one a large eight-pointer and the other a smaller spike horn, presumably driven into the city by dogs, invaded the south side district. They were first seen with their horns locked in a fence around a garden behind the Catholic church.

Mrs. Frank Coatta first called Gordon Todd, stating two calves were in the garden. The animals turned out to be deer upon investigation and, frightened hy the approach of Todd, who had been joined by Lyle Beaudoin, the smaller deer dashed into the fance, was rendered momentarily unconscious, got to his feet and departed in a southerly direction. The larger deer started north through the residential district. Reaching Antrim street, he hurdled an automobile and barely missed crashing through a plate glass window at the Auto Electric Service garage. A horn, in the velvet, was picked up after the scramble as evidence of the incident.

Scrambling to his feet, the buck entered the front door of the W. F. Meyer garage and departed through a back window, breaking the pane of glass and leaving a group of frightened and bewildered workmen. Landing in the car storage lot behind Brown's garage, the buck crossed Mason street, jumped the fences around the Pfeister property, continued on through the residential district, and entered Lake Michigan at the municipal hathing beach. Coast guards watched the animal swim across tha bay and come out on shore near North Point.

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

By vetoing his own labor relations bill, Gov. Frank Murphy strengthened the belief of many political observers that he is grooming himself for the 1940 presidential race. For the second time since the much-amended bill was first introduced under his name, Murphy acceded to demands of labor leaders and left legislative sponsors high and dry.

It is only in the light of the next national election that a complete key is found, we are convinced, to the governor's flexible attitude on labor matters.

Inopportuned by Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers, to veto the labor relations bill, the governor complied the next day after the State Senate had declined to change its mind along with his. He vetoed the measure, risking the possibility that Michigan might be without any strike mediation law. The situation thus reverted back to where it was at the beginning when labor turmoil was at its height.

White House Guest

Simultaneous with the veto action at Lansing came an invitation from the White House inviting the Michigan New Deal governor to be the

Testing of Cattle for Bang's Disease Again in Full Swing

The program of eliminating Bang's Disease from cattle is receiving considerable attention at the present time. After no progress being made in the county for the last two months, it will be welcome news to dairymen to know that five inspectors are now making follow up tests on some 300 different herds.

This county occupies quite a distinguished position in that it is as close to being accredited as any other county in the state of Michigan. Many of the tests being made are second and third tests which means that around 250 herds will be accredited at the conclusion of the present concentration.

As a result of many changes in the personnel and the great number of re-tests being made, it is regretted that some herds have not had their initial test. A sincere plea is made to anyone in the county who has not had his cattle tested, to report his name and address to the county agent. In this way it will be possible to get all herds tested and speed up the date when we can say the job has been completed. So if you know of any herd untested, send us the name and protect the interests of those who have tested.

Interest in Septic Tanks on the Increase

More and more farmers are becoming more anxious to make their homes more convenient. During the last seven days three different farmers have built septic tanks. All waste products from the bathroom and kitchen may be handled in a sanitary manner with the septic tank.

Roy Hardy, Boyne City, Ralph Rananey, of East Jordan, and William Mayne, of Charlevoix, with the assistance of the county agent, are the three who are installing bathrooms and thus making the house a better place to live in. Also A. J. Bolhuis, of Charlevoix, is planning to construct a tank this coming week. Duriag the last 10 years approximately 30 of these tanks have been constructed and, as far as known, are still giving wonderful service.

Extra Drenching Needed to Control Sheep Parasites

Michigun sheep and lambs may think that they are getting more than their share of medication this year, but weather conditions make necessary extra drenchiag if sheep internal parasites are to be controlled.

The usual recommendation is that lambs and ewes be drenched every four weeks during the pasture season. Because of the unusual weather this year which makes conditions ideal for parasite infestation, it has been found necessary to drench the flocks twice monthly. The small additional cost for drenching animals is good insurance, as many losses can be attributed to parasitic infestation.

One ounce of copper sulphate, one ounce of black leaf 40, added to three quarts of water will make sufficient solution to drench 24 mature sheep. A mature sheep should have four ounces of this material, while the yearlings should have three ounces and the older lambs two ounces. This materiul is poisonous aad should be used in wooden, glass or earthenware receptacles.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT

Formation of Good Habits Io the Care of the Baby

The time to protect a baby's health is during the nine months before he is born. If the mother eats the right foods and keeps herself in good condition, the prospective baby stands a good chance of being well huilt and happy.

Good hahits at the beginning of baby's life are all important. "Habit is a cable. We weave a thread each day and it becomes so strong we eannot break it." The baby needs long hours of sleep—22 hours at first; 20 hours of sleep each day until he is six months old, and 16 hours each day until one year of age. His feeding periods should be regular and his bowels should move every day.

When the baby weighs 10 pounda he may be given exercise daily. In the summer time he may be taken outdoors after the first week. In the winter he should be taken outdoors when the weather is mild and only ufter he in a month old. It is advisable to accustom the baby to sunlight. Normal growth of bone is dependent not only on food that the child eats but also on the direct sunlight that he receives. The tanning process must he gradual until the whole body is exposed for two houra daily.

The hreast fed baby is far more healthier than the baby artificially fed because the breast fed baby has many more chances to live than the bottle fed baby; he is likely not to get contagious diseases; he is likely not to get summer diarrhea; he will have firmed muscles and will develop normally. Both bottle fed and breast fed babies should be given cod liver oil regularly. It is advisable to atart with three or six drops a day when ha is four or five weeks old. Increase the amount grudually until by the time he is a year old, he gets a teaspoonful three times a day.

Protecting the baby from communicable disease is very important for it is much easier to keep the baby well than to eure him after he becomes sick. Some diseases caused by germs from which babies often suffer are: common colds, whooping cough, measles, mumps, pneumonia, infantile paralysis, scarlet fever, diphtheria, smallpox and typhoid fever. It is not true that every one must have some of these diseases. If the child gets through the first few years without them, he is less likely to have them later. If he does get them later they are less dangerous than they are in the first few years. Many of these diseases start with the common cold or discharging nose, sore eyes, cough or a sore throat. Keep the baby away from people with colds. Every child should be taught to use a handkerchief, and cover his mouth when coughing or sneezing. It may mean preventing a serious illness.

Fortunately, science has developed protective means whereby the control of smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough and typhoid fever has been made possible. Physicians are advising vaccination against smallpox in the early infant at the age of 10 days; whooping cough protection and diphtheria prevention can he administered at the age of six months. Typhoid fever protection may be given any time after the first year of life. Mothers will do well to avail themselves of these protective measures, thereby safeguarding the future of youngsters against these diseases.

In the hot weather the baby is more likely to have digestive disturbances than in the winter. To avoid these:

1. Keep the baby from being too hot. Put only a few clothes on him. In the hottest weather a cotton shirt and diaper are enough.

2. Keep him outdoors as much as possible, except in the hottest part of the day. Give him more boiled water to drink. Give more baths. Two or three cooling sponge baths every day in hot weather. The breast fed baby will be sure of a proper milk supply.

3. The mother of the bottle fed baby must be especially careful to see that the milk is fresh and that the feedings are properly prepared. "No uncooked food except orange juice in the hot weather" is a good rule for the child under three years of age.

The District Health Department has a variety of helpful pamphlets on the care of the infant, among which are: "Infant Care," "Sunlight for Babies," "Keeping the Well Baby Well," "Breast Feeding," "The Baby," and a large variety of pamphlets on communicable diseases, dental hygiene, food and milk and others you will find interesting and enlightening in the care of your baby. Feel free to drop in and select any of our pamphlets at Charlevoix or communicate with your county nurse who will gladly supply you.

Where a joint account is maintained on the records of an insured bank, as for example, "John Smith and Mary Smith, balance to the survivor in the event of the death of either," this account is insured up to $5,000.00.

If John Smith also has a separate account in his name, his account is insured up to $5,000.00 and if Mary Smith has an account in her name, her account is insured up to $5,000.00. The insurance protection on the three accounts would be $15,000.00.

KAMP KAIRPHREE NEWS COLUMN
By Jean Manwaring

The past two weeks of camp life have been crammed full of overnights, banquets, farewells, and greetings. Many old campers have been leaving and equally as many new arriving for the second month of camp activities. Those who have left us these last weeks are Miss Elizabeth Bilby, Ruth Gram, Mudgie Killins, Veitch Purdom, Marjorie Mills, Ann Oakman, and Connie Lorch. The new campers who have come to fill these vacancies are Doris Ann Chase, Floralee Levitt, Doris Bruckner, Lucille Nolan, Jane Lundell, Lucille Nyquist, and Martha Peet.

Another river trip went out Monday, July 19. The people who were lucky enough to go were Miss Lucy Brauns, Miss Mae Dunaway, Jean Reimann, Ann Oakman, Mary MacDonald, Ethel Smith, Barbara Buell, Maxine Grutton, and Lillian Smith. Those left in camp had quite a volleyball game in the evening.

On Tuesday the river trippers returned, and we spent most of the afternoon dressing the tables and ourselves for the Birthday Banquet. The July babies we were honoring were Daddy Swain, Miss Helen Mary Quirin, June Rosen, and Mary Elizabeth McNulty. Gum drop horses, gum drop trees, tissue paper leis, and the music of Miss Mid Small's guitar all added to the Waikiki atmosphere of the banquet; and, of course, Momma Youngs and Edna worked together in the kitchen to give us a delicious, delectable, de-lovely dinner.

Wednesday of that week, 13 of us went to Mackinac Island for the day, but those in camp also had a few surprises. Mr. Hart, of Camp Charlevoix, and Homer Jones, a friend of Dwight Adams, one of the camp boys, manned two sailboats loaded with Kairphree-ites over the waters of Lake Charlevoix.

Late Thursday afternoon we gave the Explorers a send-off for their overnight. They were accompanied on their trip by Miss Jean Frances Woodruff, Miss Elizabeth Bilby, Mrs. Hart, and Jean Reimann. Early the next morning Daddy Swain went after the group in the Buick, as the lake was too rough for them to paddle. Saturday they made up for what they had lost when they were allowed to get their canoes and paddle home.

Saturday evening we were greatly entertained by a dramatic sketch by the Pioneer group. The drama produced was "All In a Summer's Day," and the leading parts were taken by Dottie Hildinger, Penny Shaw, Jean Oglesby, and Lillian Smith. Nice work, girls!

Sunday we were very happy to hear that our new honor girls are Mary Elizabeth McNulty and Jean Oglesby.

Tuesday was a very busy day around Kamp. The reason? It was moving day! Everyone was rushing from one tent to another loaded with books, clothes, suitcases, and many other various and sundries.

In the blue and white baseball game Wednesday morning the blues came through to win by a score of 11-3. This was the first competition between the two teams since the captains have been chosen. The new leaders are Jean Reimann, white, and Jean Manwaring, blue.

Thursday the blues again showed the stuff of which they were made when they won two out of three volleyball games from their opponents. Tents four and five went to Gilead Grove for a cook-out and from all reports those luscious tomato 'n' bacon sandwiches were just the thing. Those who mutilated them were Miss Margaret Small, Jean Reimann, Jean Manwaring, Mary MacDonald, Doris Chase, and Ethel Smith. Also on Thursday, Miss Lucy started work on life-saving by showing us several approaches.

Friday we all joyfully greeted the Kittredges, who joined our happy throng for the week-end.

Tennis is now one of the foremost activities around Kamp. Jean Reimann reached the top of the ladder in the tournament by defeating Mary MacDonald, the former champion.

Saturday evening the Rangers put on a dramatic pantomime, "The Flirtation." The whole camp is saluting the dramatics councellor, Miss Mickey Woodruff, for keeping the participants, Ethel Smith, Doris Chase, Jean Manwaring, and Jean Reimann, quiet for one evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Shaw visited Penny Sunday and stayed for dinner. Misses Margaret and Mid Small welcomed their brother and sister-in-law for the day, and Jean Manwaring entertained Miss Jane Baits. Raspberry ice cream for dinner, Mother Swain directed vespers, and Kchatter came out.

CAMP CHARLEVOIX WEEKLY NEWS COLUMN
Edited by Ed. Taylor

The Dad's Day week-end was really a big success. About 45 dads were in camp to spend the day with their sons and when evening came they were all tired but happily admitted that they had had a day that would be hard to beat.

Who fired the cannon? Although several of the dads are under suspicion of riding up Oyster Bay in front of the cabins at 6 o'clock in the morning shooting off a cannon or some awful noisy device, it seems that most of the evidence leads to Mr. Farr. Mr. Galton, the culprit of last year's prank, claims to be innocent, and furnishes evidence that he was still asleep in town when the "bombing happened." Also it was rumored that Mr. Farr had on his old clothes and was disappointed because he didn't get thrown in the lake.

In the morning the dads defeated the boys in two straight sail boat races. Mr. Langdon Hubbard skippered the Dads' boat in both heats, while Bob Million was at the helm for the campers. The dads continued their sweep of the athletic events when they won all three of the baseball games in the afternoon.

Before supper the big boxing show was run off. Ned Greenthal defeated Happy Hubbard in a close bout and took a two tone lead in their series of matches during the season. Before the bouts started, Bud Boetticher, camp boxing instructor, gave a short talk to the parents, explaining what he had been trying to teach the boys during the summer. Then he and Gil Haynie gave a three round exhibition.

Pete Stroh outslugged Johnny Avis to win the second bout of the program. Larry Dickeason then won a decision over Jimmy Robinson. Dave Bennett turned in a win over Sam Greenwald with a last round rally. Mel Donally showed plenty of skill in beating a heavier opponent in Burr Needham. In the semi-final bout, Dickson Jarvis outpointed Bob Armstrong. The final match Don Blue won over George Cannon.

Mr. Fred Matthaei was elected to succeed Mr. R. M. Farr as chairman of the Dads' committee to work with the Chief and the staff. At the banquet in the evening, Ken Smith acted as toastmaster. Don O'Hara, Bruce Laing, Mr. Matthaei and the Chief all gave short talks after a short musical program. Herb Johnson's proteges presented two short plays after the banquet. One was an original skit written by Bill Gram, and the other was a Negro play. Cabin 17 did the first one, with Bob Erwin, Chuck Sutton and Ken Smith playing in the second.

Tuesday morning nine juniors and intermediates, accompanied by Chief Reimann, Erwood Edgar and Chuck Willoughby, left for Beaver Island and will return Friday. The Chief went over with the group and helped them locate a good camping spot, and then returned to camp. Going on the trip were Happy Hubbard, Tom Bennett, Dave Bennett, Dave Hunting, Al Wright, John Avis, Walt Fader.

Parents please note! The final banquet will be Friday, August 20, and the boys will leave on the train that night, arriving in Detroit Saturday morning. Those going by auto will be free to go on Friday night or Saturday. This is a correction for the announcement made at the banquet Saturday night.

During the past several weeks the Camp Charlevoix sailors have competed in quite a few races. The first race with Camp Hayo-Went-Ha was cancelled due to lack of wind. The Torch Lake Yacht Club crew defeated us in a race with our boats here, but in the return race at their club the two teams each won a race. The girls from Camp Chippewa Trails were defeated in a race that was marked by a sharp decline in wind that left the girls becalmed.

Tuesday night Andy Frostic and Jack VanderMeulin took Cabin 3 on an overnight to Walloon Lake. Those going on the trip were Tom Upham, Jim Krentler, Larry Wilkinson and Tom Stock.

Wednesday will be Campers' Day when the boys take over the counsellors' duties for a day and run the camp. Friday night will be a return party at Kamp Kairphree, and next Saturday, August 15, the carnival is scheduled to come off.

RESPECT THE FLAG

The following editorial is published at the request of Charlevoix Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars:

Somebody may titter. It is in the blood of some to deride all expression of noble sentiment. You may blaspheme in the street and stagger drunken in public places, and the bystanders will not pay much attention to you; but if you should get down on your knees and pray to Almighty God or if you should stand bareheaded while a company of old soldiers marches by with flags to the breeze, some people will think you are showing off. But don't you mind! When Old Glory comes along, salute, and let them think what they please! When you hear the band play "The Star Spangled Banner" while you are in a restaurant or hotel dining room, get up even if you rise alone; stand there and don't be ashamed of it, either!

For of all the signs and symbols since the world began there is none other so full of meaning as the flag of this country. That piece of red, white and blue bunting means five thousand years of struggle upward. It is the full-grown flower of ages of fighting for liberty. It is the century plant of human hope in bloom.

Your flag stands for humanity, for equal opportunity to all the sons of men. Of course we haven't arrived yet at that goal; there are many injustices yet among us, many senseless and cruel customs of the past still clinging to us, but the only hope of righting the wrongs of men lies in the feeling produced in our bosoms by the sight of that flag.

Other flags mean a glorious past, this flag a glorious future. It is not so much the flag of our fathers as it is the flag of our children, and of all children's children yet unborn. It is the flag of tomorrow. It is the signal of the "Good Time Coming." It is not the flag of your King—it is the flag of yourself and of all your neighbors.

Don't be ashamed when your throat chokes and the tears come, as you see it flying from the masts of our ships on all the seas or floating from every flagstaff of the Republic. You will never have a worthier emotion. Reverence it as you would reverence the signature of the Deity.

Listen, son! The band is playing the national anthem — "The Star Spangled Banner!" They have let loose Old Glory yonder. Stand up—and others will stand with you.

This tribute to the flag is offered to the country in appeal to all men and women of all races, colors and tongues, that they may come to understand that our flag is the symbol of liberty, and learn to love it.

—Alvin M. Owsley

The city of Indianapolis is now levying a tax on children's bicycles, which seems to us like teaching our young the facts of life too soon.

I think that more economic blunders have been perpetrated by Congress in the name of starving people who never starved and freezing people not one of whom has ever frozen than the imagination can conjure up. —Senator Glass.

HARBOR WINNERS OF SUNDAY'S BALL GAME

Defeated Independents 5 to 2 in Ten Innings—Boyne Hara Sunday

The Charlevoix Independents lost a thrilling contest at south side ball park Sunday afternoon, dropping a 5 to 2 decision to Harbor Springs in 10 innings.

The contest was a tough one to lose for Charlevoix. Behind the wonderful hurling of Amos John, who struck out 16 batters, the locals led by a 2 to 1 score going into the ninth inning. Harbor evened the score in this frame and in the extra inning combined two hits and an error to put across two runs. It was Harbor's second victory of the season and was witnessed by the largest crowd ever to attend a ball game here in recent years.

UPPER WATER MAIN BROKEN BY DREDGE

U. S. Mead Hooked Up Pipe Line in Channel Off Belvedera

Whatever benefit the city derived from deepening of the upper channel through dredging operations of the U. S. Mead was more than offset by damage caused when the dredge broke the water main crossing the channel opposite the government supply depot.

With the big water main broken by the dredge, the city is back in the same position it was before the much needed main was put down several years ago. In all likelihood a heavy financial outlay will be necessary to repair the damage or otherwise place the main down to a depth where in the future it is safe.

LOW INTEREST RATES CONTINUED TWO MORE YEARS ON $78,949,000

More than 31,700 Michigan farmers are affected by the continuation of the present interest rates on federal land bank loans and the redaction in rates on commissioner loans, under the new law recently enacted, says the Federal Land Bank of St. Paul. The total volume of loans in the state of Michigan on which these rates apply was $78,949,000 on June 1 this year.

The three and one-half per cent rate on land bank loans made throagh national farm loan associations will apply to all interest installments falling due in the year beginning July 1, 1937; while the rate will be four per cent on all installments falling due within the following 12 months.

"Direct loans"—those made by the land bank directly to individual farmers, not through associations—will be one-half of one per cent higher.

Commissioner loan interest rates were reduced from five to four per cent for two years from July 22, 1937, for all installments falling due within that period.

KROGER STORES SHOW SLIGHT INCREASE IN SALES FOR PERIOD

A slight decrease in sales, of less than one per cent, was reported today by The Kroger Grocery and Baking Company for the seventh four-week period of 1937, ending July 17, over the same period of 1936. The Kroger Company, which has its general offices in Cincinnati, O., gave its sales for the period as $18,607,600, as compared with the $18,728,603 sales for the seventh period of 1930.

Cumalative sales for the first seven four-week periods of this year, however, are eight per cent higher than the cumulative sales for the same seven periods of last year. The Kroger organization reported these sales as $130,790,019 on July 17, a gain of $10,602,960 over the $126,187,059 camalative sales for the first seven periods of 1930.

The company had 4,203 stores in operation at the end of the seventh four-week period of 1937, compared to 4,238 at the end of the same period last year. This is a decrease of 35 retail units.

AT THE MOVIES

Ruggles Heads Cast of Musical Mirthquake

Music and laughter are equal ingredients mixed in liberal proportion in "Turn Off the Moon," Paramount's newest musical comedy hit which begins on Thursday, August 12, at the Palace Theatre.

Charlie Ruggles heads the cast of movie and radio stars assembled for this latest "must" on your movie list. He is aided by Eleanore Whitney, Johnny Downs, Kenny Baker, Phil Harris and his orchestra, Ben Blue, Marjorie Gateson and the Fanchonettes.

The latest Paramount musical mirthquake marks the debut of Fanchon, famous for her Fanchon and Marco stage units, as a full fledged motion picture producer. Under her expert supervision, dance director LeRoy Prinz has created a new terpsichorean craze "Jamming" that Hollywood expects to be as popular as the famous Charleston.

"Turn Off the Moon" is an original screen play by Marguerite Roberts, Harlan Ware and Paul Gerald Smith. In a light vein the story kids astrology as a royal aid to romance and an additional headache to Charlie Ruggles' frustrated sweetheart.

The music was written by Sam Coslow and includes three songs that are bound to be successes, "That's Southern Hospitality," "Turn Off the Moon" and "Jamming."

GIVES SAFETY RULES TO PREVENT HORSE OVERHEATING, INJURY

As the farm horse goes iato strenuous summer work, extreme caution must be exercised on the part of the caretaker and driver to reduce summer losses or prevnet permanent Injury to the horse, saya H. F. Moxley, extension animal husbandryman of Michigan State College.

The proper care of the horse's feet to prevent lameness Is always of paramount importance as a lame borse is not a serviceable horse. Feet should be trimmed regularly, and excessive growth should be removed to prevent breaking high, thus causing the horse to become tender and to prevent both toe and quarter cracks. Horses that are on the road in many eases wear the wall faster than it grows and lameness Is the result if horses are not shod. Inasmuch as shoeing for farm work during the summer Is a protection to the foot only plates are recommended, says Moxley.

During the extreme heat of summer, there is much danger of overheating, particularly if the horse is not well-conditioned and hardened to work. It is a danger sign when a horse stops sweating on a hot day when hard at work, warns Moxley. It is doubly dangerous if the horse pants. In cases of overheating, the team should be taken to the shade, returned to a cool barn and a veterinarian consulted. As a precaution against heat prostration, horses at work should be watered frequently (at intervals of one hour if possible) and given n liberal allowance of salt. It is recommended that a horse get at least three-fourths of an ounce of salt dally nnd if used to salt, it be allowed free choice.

During the hot summer months the shoulders should be aired at intervnls to prevent scalding, and particular stress always exercised to keep the shoulders and collars clean and collars well fitted.

Regular feeding and watering are essential factors thnt should be practiced. Seldom is it necessary to feed more than one pound of grain, such as oats, per 100 pounds of live weight per day unless the horse is at henvy work. Alfnlfa hay, a most common and approved horse feed, can he fed up to one to one and one-fourth pounds per 100 pounds live weight per day with good results. Good pasture is always recommended.

Many mares working regularly in the team are also raising a foal, and as a result their ration should be increased, says Moxley. Colts should never be allowed to follow the mare while at work. They should be kept in the bnrn and always given a liberal allowance of grain. Feeding them free choice of oats is recommended. The amount they will consume varies with the size of the colt and how well the mare milks. It is always a good practice to let the mare cool off before allowing the foal to nurse.

STAIN REMOVAL TIPS GIVEN BY SPECIALIST

Vacation time and summer are harmonious with bright, washable frocks and the latter frequently acquire stains while on a picnic or a motor trip. Julia Pond, extension specialist In home management at Michigan State College, has some suggestions which may aid those who fail to see "fresh paint" warning signs or whose washable dresses come in contact with grease or fruit stains. One of the most Important points in successful stain removal Is promptness; either remove the stain as soon as it appears or before the cloth is washed and ironed.

The type of stain—whether it Is sugar, fat, protein, or chemical—determines the method to be used In removing. One should also consider the fiber in the garment and the effect of the remover upon the color uf the fabric. Sugar stains on washable fabrics are removed by clear water, while grease spots may be removed by warm soap suds or by a grease solvent such as carbon tetrachloride. If black automobile grease or tar, Miss Pond suggests that the stain be saturated with kerosene and left to stand for a short time before being washed in warm soapsuds.

Protein stains, including those caused by milk, cream, and perspiration are removed by washing first in clear, cool woter and then in warm soap suds. Chemical stains, such as those caused by ink, rust, and medicine must be removed by a reagent suited to the particular stain. For ink, the fabric should be washed in warm soap suds or soaked in milk. If the stain remains, one may npply an oxalic acid solution. This solution is made by dissolving one teaspoonful oxnlic acid in one and one-half cupsful of water. Stretch the stained material over n bowl filled with hot water, moisten the spot with water and apply the acid by means of a medicine dropper. To avoid rotting or weakening the cloth, one should be careful to rinse thoroughly.

Fruit stains may be removed by stretching the fabric over a bowl and then pouring boiling wnter on the stain from a height of two or three feet, followed hy washing in warm soap suds. If any stain remnins, apply Javelle water by means of a medicine dropper and rince sarefully. Paint stains should be sponged or sonked with kerosene or turpentine before being laundered. Grass stains should be washed in hot water and soap and any remaining color bleached by Javelle water, followed by thorough rinsing.

AFTER THE ACCIDENT

Your newspaper often reports: "After the accident, the driver put on speed and disappeared." His guilty conscience flogged him as he tried to run and hide. But he nearly always leaves a clue, and the law enforcement officers usually run him down.

It is a criminal offense to leave the scene of a motor car accident without establishing your identity. Whether you are responsible for the crash or not, to run awoy stamps you as the guilty party. Aid the injured, if possible; then, for your own protection, make written notes of the following:

1. Name and address of each person involved.
2. Name and address of each available witness.
3. License numbers of vehicles involved.
4. Exact locntion, time and date of the accident.
5. Wenther nnd road conditions.
6. Extent of injuries nnd property damage.
7. A rough diagram of the accident scene and posltion of cars.

If police have not arrived on the scene, nfter helping the injured to a doctor's office or the hospital, make n report of the accident to the nenrest police station. Then hold yourself in readiness to assist at any subsequent officinl inquiries.

president's personal guest over the week-end. It is generally accepted as a fact that Murphy enjoys a close contact with President Roosevelt and that his labor attitude has been in close harmony with that of the White House.

Following the passage of the labor relations bill last June, the governor went immediately to the East where he delivered a public address on the new labor measure, outlining his philosophy of social justice. This creed has centered around the Rooseveltian motive to better the conditions of America's "ill-clad, ill-housed, and ill-paid third."

In Pennsylvania a New Deal leader, Governor Earle, was successful in obtaining the passage of a "Little Wagner act" that closely resembled the national labor act in granting many privileges to labor without the price of legal responsibilities. As Earle has been mentioned prominently with Murphy as a 1940 presidential possihility, if Murphy was interested st all in Earle's labor position, he had no choice but to make another move in tho political chess game.

Issue for 1938?

The Michigan Republican State Senate refused to chsnge its sttitude as he has done for the second time in that many months. Murphy may seize upon this as an Issue for the 1938 contest when ho is expected to run for re-election as governor. For If Murphy is to continue as a contender for the White House, he must have an overwhelming victory in 1938. Next yesr's campsign thus becomes a prelude to 1940. Of course, the whole picture could be changed drastically if Murphy accepts a position in Roosevelt's cabinet, foregoing the 1938 hurdle.

Like Woodrow Wilson's campaign slogan, "He kept us out of war," Murphy has one ready to pull out of bis hat: "He settled the strikes without loss of one life." Scarehead banners from newspapers in Illinois and Obio will be displayed to prove the point.

More and more it becomes clear that Murphy's decisions on state legislative matters should be interpreted In the light of 1940. Even passage of a civil service bill would be immediately followed—unless our guess is badly wrong—by speaking engagements of Governor Murphy in other states.

Good Crops, Good Times

Better times are ahead for Michigan farmers, according to the State Department of Agriculture.

Prospects of a good wheat crop are the best since 1898, and the acreage is the largest since 1922. The potato crop will be the fifth longest in history. Frequent rains and moderate temperature have produced splendid fruit yields.

Here are the percentage increesses for 1937 in comparison with last year: Apples, 50 per cent; peaches, 66 per cent; plums, 49 per cent; cherries, 24 per cent; grapes, 65 per cent. The cherry crop is the largest on record, and consumer prices are going to be high.

At a time when all food prices are considerably above those of one year ago, Michigan's harvest augurs well for happier days on the farm. And when the former has money in his pocket, Michigan's Main Street hums with prosperity.

Babson's Forecast

The financial sage of Babson Park, Massachusetts, tells us that America's crop prospects are the best in ten years while our purchasing power is the highest since 1929. Adjournment of Congress would give business a much-needed "breathing spell," he says.

In Michigan labor trouble curtailed sales last spring, but there appears to be every indication that industrinl wage increases will swell farm spending for o period of good times during the last quarter of the year.

If you doubt it, scan these Babson statistics:

On o national scale fnrm income is $12,000,000 per week higher than it was one year ago. Wage-workers are getting $70,000,000 weekly more in pay than they did last year at this time. Even the dividend checks of investors are $10,000,000 higher per week, while vacationers are spending another $20,000,000 per week.

Increased retail sales will result in more orders to factories, more jobs and more wages.

In the forecasts of bumper crops in Michigan and general better times throughout the country, progressive retailers should find inspiration to plan aggressive snles campaigns. Main street centers that have lagged behind the procession in recent years will have an unusual opportunity this fall to effect n comeback and regain lost trade. It is reasonable to expect that community cooperotive efforts will be renewed on a larger scale than ever before.

CHEVROLET BUILDS ANOTHER MILLION CARS

Current Year Is Third in Succession for Million Production

The year 1937 takes its place as the third successive year in which Chevrolet has produced more than one million units and the sixth time in the history of the company that more than one million cars of any one model have been built.

The millionth 1937 model Chevrolet was completed at the company's Flint, Mich., assembly plant two weeks after the production of the 13-millionth car since the founding of the company 25 years ago.

The first year in which Chevrolet produced more than a million units was 1927. In 1928 and again in 1929, the company built more than a million cars and trucks. Production passed the million mark again in 1935, repeating the achievement in 1936. Chevrolet led the entire automobile industry in sales during eight of the past ten years.

WRONG ADDRESS STOPS MANY DRIVERS' CARDS

Improper Information from Applicants Hinders Prompt Returns

Among other things that thousands of people do when they apply to the Department of State for any of the various kinds of licenses and fees issued, are two: they give the wrong or an incomplete address, or they move without leaving a proper forwarding address, before the license or permit can be mailed to them.

For years this has been a problem of the Department of State. Chiefly negligent in the matter of proper address have been those applying for new car titles. They give their telephone numbers instead of their correct street addresses, and lapse into other errors which are popularly ascribed to the excitement of buying a new automobile.

Lately, however, with a higher tide of operators' permit applications, people have deprived themselves of such permits by similar errors in their applications. In cases where the United States postal service is unable to deliver such licenses or permits because of incorrect or incomplete address, the only course open to the Department of State is to hold them subject to inquiry. At present approximately 9500 operators' permits are on file as undeliverable due to improper or incorrect address of applicants. They are being returned by postal authorities at the rate of from 100 to 200 a week.

HARBOR POINT YOUTH KILLED BY SPEEDBOAT

Struck by Propeller After Falling From Craft Last Friday

Barry O'Meara, 19-year-old great-grandson of one of the founders of Harbor Point, was killed Friday when he was caught in the propeller of a speed boat on Little Traverse Bay between Harbor Springs and Wequetonsing.

According to those in the boat, O'Meara was attempting to climb from the front seat to the deck when he slipped and fell into the water. He was caught in the propeller as the boat passed by.

The boy's body was nearly severed at the waist, his wrist broken and his hand cut. It was necessary to tow the boat to a dock and jack it up before the body could be removed.

A California man is reported to have sold his wife for $20. And yet there are those who say we do not need to fear inflation in this country.

The head of the Georgian state in Soviet Russia has been removed and there are rumors he may be sent to prison or executed. The head of the state of Georgia in the United States is still holding on but he isn't in so good with the powers that be.

"SCOOTER" CLASSED AS MOTORCYCLE NOW

Department of State Sets $4 License Fee for Small Vehicles

The newest kind of motor vehicle to greet the eyes of Michigan's city dwellers recently, a two-wheeled motor-powered "scooter," on which the operator stands while riding, has been classified as a motorcycle for license purposes, by Leon D. Case, secretary of state. The annual license fee for motorcycles in $4.

There is no "sticker" permit for motorcycles, but as with all weight tax fees, the cost is halved annually, at a date heretofore selected by the secretary of state. Thus, for 1937 "motor scooter" plates bought hereafter, the cost is $2 per vehicle. The weight tax for a "motor bike," a bicycle with a motor geared to the rear wheel, is $2.50 a year, or $1.25 for 1937 plates at present.

Once a person experiences the joy that is to be found in helpful service, all other rewards seem commonplace indeed. The happiest people on earth are those who have contributed something to the welfare of others. Try to do one good deed every day.

AIR TOUR VISITED AIRPORT SUNDAY

This is the beginning, Mr. Sheldon hopes, of a drive to get air tourists into the state to as large an extent as motor tourists now come. These four flyers saw how the state was equipped to handle air traffic. They also saw the beauties of the state from the air and were particularly impressed with the northern portion. In time, Mr. Sheldon hopes, the word will be sufficiently passed about so that many fliers will spend their vacations here, just as motorists are doing at present. He further predicts that organized tours will have an increasing number of entrants each year.

LOCAL KIWANIS INVITED INTERLOCHEN PROGRAM

Gounod's Comic Opera "The Frantic Physician," on August 11

Local Kiwanis president M. A. Levinson has announced that an invitation has been received from the Traverse City group to join them in mass attendance of the presentation of Gounod's comic opera "The Frantic Physician" at the Interlochen Music Bowl on August 11.

Directors Arthur Ward and Harry Bland of the National Music Camp are in charge of production and state that the opera gives promise of being one of the outstanding presentations of the 1937 season. The fact that all scores will be sung in English and that none of the hilarious vein has been sacrificed in the translation from the original French adds much to the charm of the feature.

According to word received, Kiwanis Clubs in Manistee, Petoskey and Cadillac have also been extended an invitation to join the group. Dinner will be served in the Bowl Hotel, the presentation of the opera following immediately.

ISSUE NO PERMITS FOR CLOSING OF HIGHWAYS

Celebration and Festival Permits Are to Be Denied in Future

State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner has served notice that he will issue no further permits to close trunkline highways for local festivals and celebrations.

The commissioner made the announcement as a flood of requests came to his desk for trunkline closings for Labor Day. All such requests are being rejected.

Exceptions will be made only for "one or two-hour" closings for parades in connection with community festivals or celebrations, the commissioner said.

CENTRAL LAKE

Fred Patterson is bringing our water works project to a close.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Liskum are planning on attending the big district camp meeting of the Free Methodist church at Manton this week.

Charles Dawson and family, of Detroit, are visiting the Sydney Dawson people, northwest of town, this week and picking cherries for Mr. Dawson. Times are a little slow in Detroit since the Ford shut-down.

G. A. Morse and son, Harold Dawson and C. H. Morse were rogueing radishes in Wexford county last week. This week, C. H. Morse is huckleberrying in the Upper Peninsula, expecting to return Wednesday.

The storm of a week ago Monday destroyed from one-fourth to one-half the cherry crop in this vicinity. Ellsworth and East Jordan, where the crop has been marketed, expect to finish the cherry canning this week.

Mrs. Eva Morse Peterson has returned to her home in Detroit after a month's stay here on account of the illness of her father, who has been ill since a year ago last December. He is now somewhat improved again in health.

Claude Benner, of this place, is in the hospital suffering from gun-shot wounds sustained in handling a gun last Friday. His recovery is expected. A few years ago he was injured when coming in contact with a high voltage electric wire.

Arthur Williams and family are resorting at their cottage over at Eastport, having arrived from their home at Detroit last Saturday. The Norton Pearl family are again stopping at their resort cottage at the head of Torch Lake at Eastport.

Many relatives and friends are grieved this week at the sudden passing of Mrs. Fred Brooks, of Antrim City. She was a faithful Christian lady, and member of the Congregational church. Her death was caused by heart trouble. Funeral services were held from the Antrim school house Tuesday afternoon.

The Ellsworth and East Jordan canning factories are closing their canning work on the cherry crop this week. Many cherries have had to be thrown out on account of being bruised by last week's big storm. Some big truck loads have had to be sent back home as the pick was so poor. The local factory has been running, the crop to be paid for as soon as sold, in about 30 days.

There were 23 present at Creswell, 25 at Turner, 24 at Grand View, 35 at Eastport, 54 at Pentecostal, and 54 at M. E. Sunday schools last Sunday. Rev. G. A. Jackson, of this place, filled the pulpit for Rev. Rauch at the Eastport Baptist church last Sunday afternoon as Rev. Rauch was slightly indisposed. Mrs. Vivian McLachian did some missionary work at Creswell Sunday by bringing 15 of her cherry pickers to Sunday school with her.

ELEVENTH ANNUAL EVENT SET FOR SATURDAY

Big Parade Friday Afternoon — Full Program of Entertainment Features Is Announced

(By Ed. Taylor, Camp Correspondent)

Carnival time at Charlevoix . . . with the boys from Camp preparing their 11th annual event. Things start off with a bang on Friday, with the parade . . . in which the King and Queen of the Carnival will make their triumphant tour of Charlevoix with their court . . . featuring dazzling floats, gorgeous costumes, beautiful horses, comical burros, a spectacular band . . . in short, what the movie magnates would term "colossal."

Saturday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. the fun begins in earnest. The entire camp will be turned over to the visitors (and there will be a big crowd, for the Carnival is free) and things will get into full swing. Donald Duck, one of the campus pets, will be the center of attraction with the "Ring a Duck." To really appreciate this amazing game, one must see it.

The "Mouse Race," "Charlevoix Carriage Ride," "E-Gyp-Gyp," and "Sling-Pong" are other special attractions, to say nothing of the old standbys, "Toss a Ring" and "Conk a Clown."

Saturday evening at 7:30 p. m. the Junior section, 31 boys strong, will present a pageant depicting the history of this region from Father Charlevoix and the Indians to the advent of Kairphree. In keeping with the spirit of the day, this promises to be a particularly colorful production.

Following this, the last dramatic presentation of the season and a program of special music will be held in the club house, starting at 8:30 p. m.

All in all, the Camp Charlevoix Carnival is one event you cannot afford to miss. Butter, the goat; Donald, the Duck; Flapper, Dynamite and Gunpowder, the three burros; and all of the boys send a cordial invitation.

The camp is located on Oyster Bay on Lake Charlevoix six miles from town. To reach the camp go on US-31 to the Boyne City-Charlevoix road and turn to the right. Go one mile south on this highway and turn to the right into the camp road.

BEN EAST HERE RETURNING FROM CANADIAN TRIP

Ben East, outdoor editor of The Grand Rapids Press, together with Mrs. East, visited Monday in Charlevoix while en route home from a trip to the Hudson Bay district in Northern Canada.

The party killed several polar bear and obtained many species of polar game and bird life for museum purposes. There is a possibility that Mr. East may return to Charlevoix in the fall to lecture on his northern trip.

INMAN-HUTZLER MARRIAGE IS SOLEMNIZED

Pretty Ceremony Saturday Evening Unites Local Young Couple

At a pretty wedding solemnized Saturday evening at the home of the groom's parents, Miss Phyllis Inman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Inman, East Jordan, became the bride of George Hutzler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hutzler, Park avenue.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. R. Parker, pastor of the Congregational church. The rooms were very prettily decorated in pink and green and masses of flowers which, with lighted candles, was very attractive.

The bridal party entered the room to the music of a wedding march, the bride on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She wore a gown of white satin. The bride was attended by her sister, Edna, who wore a gown of blue lace. Edward Heise, Jr., acted as best man.

Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served to 30 guests.

TENNIS WILL PROVIDE ENTERTAINMENT HERE

ANNUAL CHARLEVOIX OPEN EVENT STARTS THURSDAY; RIVIERA CHAMPIONSHIPS OPEN AUGUST 16

Large Field to Compete for Open Titles; Advance Entry for Riviera Includes Ernest Sutter, Defending Champion; Walter Senior, California Star, and Others

The 13th annual Charlevoix open tennis tournament, sponsored by the Charlevoix Tennis Clubs, opens Thursday morning at the municipal court on the school grounds.

Preceding the Michigan Riviera championships which start Monday, the Open provides a warm-up event for many players who will compete in the larger tournament.

Arthur Kaiser, of Chicago, winner last year in men's singles, is the only defending champion among the 45 entries now in the hands of Gordon Todd, activities director of the Board of Commerce, who will have charge of the tournament. It is expected Bud Reynolds, junior title holder, and Ken Gann, boys' champion, will be among the competitors, however. While entries close officially at noon today, post-entries will be received up to the time play starts Thursday.

Wilbur and Andrew Kaiser, sons of the men's singles champion, are favored entries in the younger classes. Kaiser, Sr., winner of the Chicago veterans' title many years, has been a tennis figure in Chicago over a long period.

Harold Kaplan and Sam Tack, Detroiters, are favored players in the men's singles field. Kaplan was former Riviera champion, and Tack, ever a consistent player, never fails to reach second or third round play. Members of the Charlevoix summer colony are well represented in the entry, as is also Camp Charlevoix, which always furnishes a large number of players, and last season produced the boys' title holder in Ken Gann, a Midland youth.

While only a few entries have been received so far in the women's division, it is expected a good field will be listed when play starts.

Some of America's leading tennis stars will compete in the 12th annual Michigan Riviera championships, Charlevoix major summer sports event, which opens Monday, August 16, at The Inn clay courts.

Entries now in the hands of tournament officials indicate a field as strong or stronger than 1936, when no less than three national champions competed for Riviera honors.

Ernest Sutter, of New Orleans, La., who last year added the Riviera to his national intercollegiate and Western titles, will return. Sutter also holds the Riviera men's doubles crown with Ramsay Potts, of Atlanta, Ga.

Although Sutter will be the defending champion, he will not rate the highest position in the high caliber field of contestants. Walter Senior, tall, hard-hitting Californian hailing from San Francisco, rates above Sutter. Senior won the 1936 California state championship and was runner-up the same year to Donald Budge in the Pacific Coast championships. He recently won the Illinois state championships at Skokie Country Club, defeating Wilmer Allison, former national singles and doubles champion, former member of the Davis cup team and present holder of the 1937 Houston Invitation, Spring Lake and Longwood bowl championships. Senior is ranked number 12 nationally, while Sutter is number 21 in the national rankings.

Other prominent players will include Frank Kovacs, of Berkeley, Calif., regarded one of the nation's foremost junior players; John Moreno, of Hollywood, Calif., another ranking junior; Russell Ball, El Paso, Tex., recent winner of the Western Cennda championships and doubles partner of Kovacs in the national junior championships. These players are sure to provide a busy week for Sutter in defense of his title.

The women's field is expected to be a strong one. Catherine Wolk, Elkhart, Ind., defending champion, is expected to compete. Opposing her will be Helen Fulton, Winnetka, Ill., present Wisconsin state champion and ranked 16th nationally; Elizabeth Kesting, St. Paul, Minn., 1935 Riviera champion, runner-up in 1936 and present northwestern sectional champion.

ALL STATE EMPLOYES NOW ON CIVIL SERVICE

Governor Murphy Signs New Law Passed by Legislature

Gov. Frank Murphy has signed the civil service act placing all state employes under a merit system after January 1, 1938.

Surrounded by a large group whom the governor referred to as "friends of civil service," Murphy signed the act which provided the most controversy of the prolonged regular 1937 legislative session.

Admittedly not as stringent as the original study commission plan and branded by Republicans as "a mere hoax," the new law provides:

1. Creation of a three-member commission to rule some 15,000 state employes under civil service.

2. Appointment of the first civil service director by the governor.

3. All state employes must take qualifying examinations to retain their jobs six months after it becomes effective.

4. New state employes after the act goes into effect will be selected on the basis of competitive examinations given by the director after consulting department heads.

Charles Fox, Jr., is chairman of the committee in charge of the tournament and is being assisted by Austin Leland and George McKay.

The annual Belvedere handicap golf tournament is scheduled for August 17 to 20, inclusive. R. Vernon Clark, chairman of the golf committee, has announced that the qualifying round will be held Tuesday, August 17, and match play on the 18th, 19th and 20th. The defending champions are Willard McGuire, of Chicago, and Mrs. Elizabeth McGuire White, of LaPorte, Ind., the brother and sister winners of the 1936 tournament.

Other events listed for the remaining weeks of August include the annual cabaret party to be held Friday evening, August 20, at the casino, and the annual masquerade and children's party, listed for August 26. Mrs. Tom Darling will have charge of the latter affair, and will assist in arranging talent for the cabaret party. The masquerade program will feature pupils of Mrs. Darling's summer dancing classes.

THREE ADMIT PASSING COUNTERFEIT MONEY

Trio Arrested at Bay City Flooded Northern Michigan Region

State police issued a warning about two weeks ago notifying local people that a counterfeiting gang was operating in this region. It was announced this week that three were arrested in Bay City for passing bad bills, and it is believed this is the same crew which worked for a while in this region.

The three, Mrs. Theresa Portsman, 21; Miss Evelyn Woodcock, 23; and William Hackett, 25, pleaded guilty to passing and possessing counterfeit money in upstate cities.

They admitted passing bad $10 bills in Sault Ste. Marie, Au Gres, East Tawas, Alpena, Rogers City, Cheboygan, Petoskey, Charlevoix, Traverse City, Gaylord, Grayling, Evart, Mt. Pleasant, St. Ignace, and Rudyard.

The notes were printed on thin paper and contained blurred portraits, according to George F. Boos, chief of the secret service at Detroit.

Miniature Lighthouse Provides Tourist Attraction

Has Revolving Light, Automatic Fog Horn, Built from Government Specification

More mechanically perfect than last year, the miniature lighthouse mounted on the shade platform forming the center of the fish pond in Memorial Park, is attracting deserved attention of local and summer residents, yachtsmen and tourists.

The model, the work of Clarence "Buster" Bartlett, is three feet, six inches high and built from government specifications. A 110-volt lamp provides illumination for the revolving light which is operated by clock works. An automatic fog horn, a new feature from last year, blows every 20 minutes. It gives the marine signal, three long and two short blasts.

The light has lens and reflector. The windows are set in copper and the construction is of wood. The miniature has been classed as near-perfect by fanciers who are in a position to make such an assertion.

Mr. Bartlett, who specializes in wood working, built the lighthouse in spare time.

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

The conclusion of several commentators at Lansing is that Governor Murphy has swapped issues in getting the Legislature to pass a civil service bill and in vetoing his own labor relations bill. Whereas labor relations might easily become a liability to the administration that carries favor with labor unions, because of the picketing restrictions in the bills, civil service is a non-partisan cause that resounds with governmental righteousness.

At least, such is one interpretation that is being given.

In the meanwhile, the governor's strategy for 1938 is becoming more apparent. He seeks to put the Republican Senate on the defensive. He plans to keep the Legislature on the job, wear down the leaders' resistance as he did in labor mediation efforts, and get them to pass new bills.

Cards in the deck of his "New Deal" for Michigan include rural electrification, a bid for farm votes; teachers' tenure fund; lower minimum hours for women in industry; and central finance control "to balance the budget." Some sort of a state NRA plan for industry and business, giving to intrastate commerce what the federal hour-wage

Mr. Brenner, who was injured recently by discharge of a gun, is reported as recovering slowly at the hospital.

Charles Dawson and family have been visiting the James Dawson family and other relatives before returning to Detroit.

North Holland church protests the making of Sunday one of the celebration days of the homecoming. We heartily endorse, although this objection probably should have been made at the meeting.

East Jordan and Central Lake Pentecostal Sunday schools were so favorably impressed with the Twin Bridges picnic grounds that they are holding their Sunday school picnic there this week Friday.

Doyle Morse has taken over the work at the Henry Waasnar garage, that was formerly done by Lyle Gordon, now at Rockford, in garage work. They are remodelling old trucks, etc., into farm tractors which are now being used quite successfully.

John and James Dawson made a short visit with relatives and friends at Detroit, Wednesday and Thursday.

There were 12 at Creswell, 18 at Turner, 17 at Grand View, 31 at Eastport, 51 at Pentecostal, and 68 at South Milton Sunday schools last Sunday. South Milton held its annual Visitors' Day last Sunday.

Quite a serious accident occurred at the Larabee Corners, northwest of town last Friday evening, when Bert Marlas, of Torch Lake, upset his car on the corner, quite badly injuring a boy who was with him in the front seat. Mr. Marlas, with the other two men in the back seat, were not badly hurt. The car was a total wreck.

Many will regret the passing of Betty King, 11 years of age, and a faithful attendant at Turner Sunday school. She died of lung trouble last week Wednesday, funeral being held from the Congregational church last Friday. She was the daughter of Ernie King, south of Central Lake. She had been injured several years ago when her mother backed over her with a car.

Rev. W. H. Rauch, of Charlevoix, preached an interesting sermon at Eastport Baptist church last Sunday. He said there is more trouble inside the church from gossiping members, etc., than from outside the church by people of the world. He deplored the habits of dress, or want of dress by many people of the present day, and spoke of the driving out of Charlevoix of the Salvation Army. Rev. Rauch preaches the straight Gospel without fear or favor, and it would be well if more pastors did the same.

Those who attended Twin Bridges Sunday school picnic last week Wednesday were not disappointed in having a fine time, although the weather was threatening in the morning. Rev. McClintock, of Mancelona, gave a fine address on "Hedges and Snakes," in which he deplored the bad morals of the country since the advent again of the saloon. Rev. Weaver, the missionary, gave a splendid talk, and Jordan River, lately organized, a fine selection by its orchestra. Bay View had a fine Bible exercise, Bush a large chorus song, Green River a recitation by Eunice Bradley. The exhibits in the river by Rev. Weaver, of merry-go-rounds, water-wheels and whirligigs, attracted much favorable comment. Everybody appeared to enjoy themselves, and we hope all will come back again next year.

COMPROMISERS

We Americans are fast becoming the world's outstanding compromisers. We may not realize this, but it's a fact.

We compromise with crime, permitting criminals to plead guilty to offense less serious than that which they committed.

We parole convicts, cutting short sentences none too heavy for the crimes for which they were convicted.

In business and industry we compromise with violators of law, oftimes in such way as to give them justification for violating it.

We have compromised our boasted American institutions and would compromise our constitution if our supreme court permitted.—Frank B. Craig.

PLAN SERIES MOTHERS' CLASSES IN COUNTY

Esther Nash, of State Health Dept., Contacting Key Women

Miss Esther Nash, representative of the State Health Department, spent a few days in Charlevoix county contacting key women in each township regarding a series of mothers' classes to be taught in the county this fall beginning some time during the month of October.

This series will consist of seven classes and will continue for seven weeks—each group meeting at the same time each week. It is hoped that in each area in which a class is being planned that there will be a minimum of 15 members—mothers, grandmothers, or any girl over 10 years of age. There is no maximum number—classes in some counties having had enrollments of between 50 and 85 mambers. If 15 interested people in each area do not respond by September, when Miss Nash will return to definitely organize and arrange the schedules, no class will be conducted in that respective area.

The classes are free—there is no definite responsibility exacted save faithful attendance and active discussion. They will be taught by Dr. Block who has recently joined the Michigan State Bureau of Child Hygiene after having spent several years in Korea in active maternal and child health work.

The federal government in Washington alone paid for 17,142 telephones in 1930. Today it pays for 32,882.

MANY MICHIGAN FARM EARNINGS HIGHEST SINCE '28

Earnings on many Michigan farms in 1936 improved for the fourth consecutive year and in several sections were the highest since 1928, show figures released today by E. B. Hill of the Michigan State College farm management department.

Hill's report was based partly upon the records of 178 central Michigan farmers who participated in the 1936 farm accounting project, which showed the average farm income (receipts less expenses) to be approximately $2,500 in 1936 as compared with $1,751 in 1929. Most of the farms were located in Clinton, Ingham, Barry, Livingston, Washtenaw, and Jackson counties.

In the general farming and livestock areas of Michigan farm earnings have improved since 1933. Hill explained, however, that earnings in all sections of the state have not improved consistently.

Employers must have the Social Security Account number of every person who has been in their employ since December 31, 1936, in order to make out the required informational tax return, SS-2, and wage record reports, SS-2a.

Learn the address of your nearest Social Security Board office and go there for help with problems arising out of the law. As of July 10, 184 field offices had been opened by the Social Security Board to bring administration of the law close to employers and workers.

CAMP CHARLEVOIX WEEKLY NEWS COLUMN

Edited by Ed. Taylor

Monday morning the big trip of the year, the Tahquamenon River expedition, left for the Upper Peninsula to return to camp late Friday. Tom Hart was in charge of the group assisted by Bob Stevens. The boys going on the canoe trip were Mel Donally, Steve Woodruff, Jim Karn, Sheldon Putnam, Don Blue, Fred Matthaei, Joe Craig, George Cannon, Bruce Laing, Bob Kittredge, Bob Patterson, and Ken Wright.

The Tahquamenon trip and the Beaver Island trip are honor trips which are given to the first 20 boys enrolled in camp. The first 10 juniors get to go to Beaver Island, while the first 10 seniors and intermediates are given the trip to the famous falls. Already several enrollments are in for next year and the Chief urges the boys who want to go on these special trips to enroll early.

Tuesday morning the two sailboats left on a three day cruise around Lake Charlevoix. Johnny Nenninger was in charge of the trip, and going with him were Bob Million, Don McHenry, Vern Evans, Charlie McKean, Al Clausen, Harris Willis, Charlie Marcus, Bennett Wandell, Bruce Palmer and Brad Nolan.

Wednesday nine juniors went on an all day fishing trip to Susan Lake. They were Stan Brown, Dick Palmer, Dave Palmer, Jack Huebner, Larry Higbie, Bill Hahn, Ben Paddock, Gordon Mathes, and Dan Matthias.

Last Friday night the seniors went to Kamp Kairphree for a party. Everyone had a swell time, especially Big Jim Voyce, who was the life of the party. Butter, the goat, was sent down as a week-end guest but, due to obnoxious behavior, Butter came home special delivery Saturday.

Monday evening Mrs. Reimann gave her annual birthday party for the boys who have their birthdays during the camp season. The affair was in the form of a ranch party and everyone had an hilarious time.

Sunday morning at chapel the service was in charge of the Greensky family from the local Indian Mission. The Indians presented several native songs and dances. As a part of the ecremony Gari Hooker was officially adopted into the Ottawa tribe and given an Indian name. He was christened Wab-Me-Me, which means Grey Dove.

Last week the counsellors successfully defended a challenge by the campers in a hard ball game. Herm Everhardus and Johnny Nenninger formed the staff battery, while Bob Million and Bud Summarfield alternated on the mound and behind the bat for the losers.

Last Wednesday was Campers' Day. For one day the boys took over the staff members' jobs and handled the problems of running the camp. Harpo Porter took over the Chief's job, while Bob Huber directed the activities in place of Harry Edgren.

Friday evening the Beaver Island trippers raturned from their successful journey. They had such a good time that they stayed an extra day.

Saturday is Carnival Day at camp and we are planning to put on a bigger carnival than ever before. Details can be found on the front page. It will start in the afternoon and run for several hours and then in the evening the Juniors' Pageant and the dramatic production will feature.

Let us remind you parents again that camp will close with the final banquet on Friday, August 20. Boys will be free to go by auto that night or Saturday, and those going on the train will leave Friday night and arrive in Detroit on Saturday morning.

KAMP KAIRPHREE NEWS COLUMN

By Doris Chase

With the end of camp only two weeks away, busy campers are trying to pack each day to its fullest. River trips, overnights, a Charlevoix-Kairphree dance, birthdays, rehearsals, and sports are keeping us busy. The next two weeks will see mostly traditional events.

Little change has been made in the camp group, but there have been a great many visitors. Nancy Murtin and Barbara Brooks are with us again, und Jean Manwaring, editor of Kchatter, has left. The new editor of Kchatter is Doris Chase. Sunday, Lucille Nolan and Mary McColl were visited by their parents. Their brother and sister-in-law visited the Misses Mid and Margaret Small. After dinner, Mr. Arnold Small played his violin for us. Mother Swain's daughter-in-law and grandson are here, and Mr. and Mrs. Case made a fleeting stay. The Schoolerys are with us for a week.

Sports continue to hold interest, despite the warm weather. Jean Reimann is still at the top of the tennis ladder, but she has a potential rival in the person of Barbara Brooks. Saturday the Blues and Whites played a volleyball match. The Whites, of course, were victorious to the tune of 2-0. Lifesaving is another prominent activity—in fact, it's gotten to the point where some of the girls are arising before Reveille to practice. Miss Mae Dunaway has organized and led several hikes this week. Barbara Buell equalled the previous camp record of this summer, 38, made by Ethel Smith.

There have been two river trips and two overnights this week. Monday night the Explorers, accompanied by Miss Mid Small, Miss Mae Dunaway, and Mrs. Hart, had an overnight at Gilead Grove. Tuesday morning a river started out and, outside of a little (?) rain, the girls reported "a good time was had by all." Thursday the Explorers go down the Jordan River to East Jordan. Miss Jean Dornblaser had a group of nine on a horseback overnight Suturday. Thay rode from Camp Charlevoix to the Maple Grove school house, where they camped for the night.

The big event of the week was the Charlevoix-Kairpbree dance last Friday night. We played hostess to the Charlevoix boys.

Rehearsals are under way for the all-camp minstrel show to be given at the end of the camp season. Miss Mickey Woodruff has charge of the skits for it; and Miss Margaret Small is responsible for the music and tap dances. Miss Jean Dornblaser is training a group in the modern dance for it. The modern dance hus enjoyed a successful first year here at camp.

Fishing is enjoying a spotlight, too. Wednesday Daddy Swain took Jean Reimann and Dottie Hildinger out, and Saturday he had Miss Pudgie Quirin and Miss Alice Frayer with him. Jean and Dottie didn't do so well, but the others report a record catch.

Interest in music is on the up and up, for the annual song contest will be held soon. Miss Mid Small and Ethel Smith are receiving congratulations on their election as the song captains of the Blue and White teams respectively.

Sunday, a free day, ends another week at Kamp Kairphree. We have peanut ice cream for dinner, Miss Mid Small directs vespers, and Kchatter comes out.

MICHIGAN FOREST FIRE LOSS IS LOW

Believe Danger Period Will Pass With Record Lower Than 1936

Michigan's forest fire loss up to August 1 covered nearly 13,000 acres of land. Authorities have recorded a total of 827 forest fires, the largest burning approximately 3,000 acres in Presque Isle county.

If conditions continue as they have been authorities say there will be u good chance of finishing the fire-hazard season with a loss well below the total of approximately 53,000 acres for 1936. Last year was one of the most serious fire-hazard seasons in 15 years.

FINAL PAYMENT MADE ON BOALS PROPERTY

Portion of East Park Land Contracts Completed by Council

Through action of the city council Monday night, authorization was given for final payment on the Boals property, first parcel acquired for what is now known at East Park.

The park property, located on the east side of Bridge street between Mason and Clinton streets, has been improved this summer through the construction of 15 new yacht slips fronted by a concrete walk, water facilities for yachts and diving platform. Recreational facilities are included in the program for improvement of the park.

THE OLD CAR HAZARD

Of all cars involved in motor vehicle fatalities, about 15 per cent are found to have some mechanical defect that contributed to the accident.

It is interesting, then, to note that 57 per cent of the automobiles on the streets and highways today are five years old, or more. How many of these cars have defects that may soon cause a serious accident?

The mere fact of "maturity," however, need not condemn any old automobile—that is, as long as it isn't too old. You may own an old car and keep it in perfect condition. You may be fond of your old car and take care of it like a baby. You may even tell your friends it has qualities they will look for in vain in the new models.

That is as it should be. Old friends can be depended upon as a rule. Keep the engine humming smoothly, keep the brakes and steering mechanism in good trim, lubricate the old joints and knuckles with care, renew the tires when necessary, inspect frequently and may you live long to enjoy the service your old car will give you.

But if you have allowed your old car to degenerate into a mere makeshift vehicle, either put it in good condition or get rid of it.

SPECIAL SEASON FOR ARCHERS IS ASSURED

Technical Omission in General Game Laws Does Not Alter Ruling

There WILL be a special open season on deer and bear for bow-and-arrow hunters in Michigan this fall.

The season will run from November 1 to November 14, inclusive.

It will apply only to the counties of Newaygo and Iosco, as intended and provided by law.

The special bow-and-arrow season thought at first to have been invalidated because of a technical omission by the Legislature in the general game bill has been saved by another technicality.

After study of the bow-and-arrow law and the general game bill, conservation authorities have found that two sections in the bow-and-arrow law are not affected in any way by the general game bill. One of these sections sets forth the time and place for the special bow-and-arrow season and, in the opinion of the state attorney general's office, stands as law.

Following discovery of the technical omission in the general game bill, the Department of Conservation cancelled an order for special bow-and-arrow licenses and license tags for hunters, since the apparent oversight alone would invalidate the bow-and-arrow season. The oversight has been corrected by discovery of another technicality which makes the season possible. The Department of Conservation has renewed its order for special bow-and-arrow licenses and tags for hunters and so Michigan archers will have their special open season after all.

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

By Congressman John Lesacke,
11th Michigan District

Action!

Congress at last has gone into high gear. Things are popping and the atmosphere is tense — wages and hours — h o u s i n g — sugar — tax avoidance — these are the issues which were before the members during the week. Wages and hours will come up Thursday in the House, and housing is scheduled tentatively for Tuesday and Wednesday. The members are raring to complete their work and the slightest mention of adjournment is met with a demonstration of handclapping and shouting. There is a non-adjournment bloc who are determined to stay until a farm program is enacted—the outcome of their efforts is doubtful.

Music

Washington is not only the capital of national politics—it is also the capital of the nation's music. Perhaps no other city can boast of so many open air band concerts. During the past week 20 concerts were scheduled.

Housing

The Senate in adopting the Wagner Housing Bill once more broadened the scope of federal activities in the private affairs of the people. The need for such a program is evident. The slum areas of the larger cities are becoming a problem and apparently governmental subsidy is the only solution. The low-wage earner group can never accumulate sufficient funds to build their own domiciles and private capital can not take the risk of investment in such real estate. Low cost housing is becoming to be recognized as a public responsibility. Most of the European nations have undertaken such projects. London alone is just completing a $600,000,000 program, while we are only adopting a $726,000,000 program for the nation as a whole.

Farm Legislation

Speaker Bankhead and Majority Leader Rayburn appeared before a caucus of about 40 members of the cotton bloc in the House and told them that general farm legislation would be the first order of business before Congress when it meets again in January.

The Speaker said: "My principal purpose in coming here is to give assurance to this group and have it transmitted to the President and the farmers, if you will, that it will be the program of the leadership that farm legislation will have the absolute right of way over every other thing proposed in the next session."

Rep. Rayburn told the group that, in company with Speaker Bankhead and Senate Majority Leader Barkley, he visited the President and told him that farm legislation would be the first thing on the program in January.

The President assured the farm bloc he would use his power and the money under his control to prevent a major collapse in the markets for major agricultural crops.

Price Stabilization

The Senate agriculture sub-committee headed by Senator Thomas (D-Okla) will continue hearings next week on a monetary control bill introduced by the Oklahoma senator.

The bill would set up standards for increasing and stabilizing prices at a level determined to be in the best interest of creditors, debtors, and other classes.

House Rebels

Despite vigorous administration opposition, the House late last Friday passed the sugar bill with restrictions against Puerto Rico and Hawaii still intact. The vote was 165 to 55.

Passage of the measure was a foregone conclusion, since earlier in the day the House had defeated by a vote of 135 to 92 an amendment by Chairman Jones (D-Tex) of the House Agricultural Committee, an administration spokesman, to strike from the bill the provisions placing restrictions on imports of refined sugar from Hawaii limited to 29,616 short tons and for Puerto Rico 126,033 short tons. He said: "If you want legislation I believe these amendments should be adopted. The administration, including the President, is very much opposed to these two paragraphs remaining in the bill. I hope you won't permit a relatively unimportant amendment to jeopardize the bill." Jones declared it probably will not make much difference in the amount of refined sugar that will be brought in from Hawaii and Puerto Rico in the two or two and one-half years covered by the bill. The administration's position is a matter of principle to oppose discrimination against any group of American citizens living under the American flag.

FURNITURE GROUPED FOR USEFULNESS SUGGESTS ACTIVITY

Grouping furniture for usefulness such as for reading, sewing, or writing, makes the room inviting because it suggests what one may do when he enters, say extension specialists in home furnishing at Michigan State College.

The furniture should be grouped for a purpose, and separate pieces should not be left alone. Single pieces appear isolated and useless, as few persons sit down and do nothing. Desks are useless without a chair and a lamp, and so are tables unless they are near a person who is sewing, reading, or working on a hobby, say the extension specialists.

Activities of the various members of the family should be considered when one is planning the various furniture groups, suggest the home furnishings specialists. For instance, the living room may have one or more reading groups. These reading groups usually consist of two chairs turned toward each other with a table and a lamp between. Readily accessible bookshelves are necessary, of course. Low home-made shelves of simple construction often fit into the furniture arrangement better than the larger, more elaborate, ready-made type, say the specialists.

Besides the reading group, the homemaker should consider provisions for writing, sewing, rest, conversation, and perhaps a play corner for children.

Every living room needs a day bed, a couch, or a davenport to enable one to rest without having to use a regular bed. If there is no space in the living room, the day bed may be placed in the dining room, or even in a corner of the kitchen.

Provisions should be made so that two or three people may sit together to visit, without the inconvenience of first carrying chairs across the room.

In addition to adding an appearance of order and neatness, grouping the furniture gives the effect of added space.

40 ACRES OF "SPUDS" TO BE SHOWN ON POTATO FIELD DAY

Forty acres of potato demonstration and test plots will be on exhibit for Michigan potato growers who attend Potato Field Day at Lake City, September 2. About 2,500 growers are expect to attend.

This event, sponsored by Michigan State College and under the supervision of H. C. Moore, potato specialist, will include various exhibits and demonstrations of machinery showing the latest types in planting, spraying, digging, and grading. Other exhibits will show new and standard potato varieties, the best methods of disease and insect control, and how to harvest and grade potatoes to get the better prices.

AT THE MOVIES

"Exclusiva" Is Smash Dramatic Film Success

A brilliant cast, an excellent story and superb direction, well spiced with action, comedy and tense drama, combine to make of "Exclusive," the motion picture which opens August 15 at the Palace Theatre one of the season's real hit films.

Using a battle between two rival newspapers as its background, the story concerns the sacrifice a father is forced to make when he must choose between strict adherence to the newspaper code or betrayal of his own daughter. The cast is headed by Fred MacMurray, Frances Farmer and Charlie Ruggles, and includes Lloyd Nolan, Fay Holden, Ralph Morgan and a score of other noted players.

"Captains Courageous" Magnificant and Stirring Version of Kipling's Sea Epic

"Captains Courageous," Rudyard Kipling's famed tale of the heroic Gloucester fishermen and the boy whom they regenerated through ideals of courage and humanity, comes August 19-21 to the Palace screen in a spectacular, picturesque and compelling screen version by the company who gave the screen that earlier triumph of the sea, "Mutiny on the Bounty." And once again Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has captured, in terms of camera magic, the spirit and beauty of the sea and of the men who go down to it in ships.

As for the cast—it is as perfect as a cast can be. In a portrayal surpassing even his acclaimed role in "David Copperfield," the brilliant child star, Freddie Bartholomew, brings to life the spoiled hero of "Captains Courageous," making the boy a creature of warmth, sympathy and understanding. Equally effective is the outstanding work of Spencer Tracy as the Portuguese fisherman, Manuel, who is the first to instill ideals of manhood in his little protege's mind and who becomes his fast friend to the very end.

Then there is the always to be depended on Lionel Barrymore in a picturesque role as the ship's captain, and Melvyn Douglas in an effective and sympathetic part as the boy's father who only in the climax of the story is able to claim his son's affection.

TAPPING RUBBER TREES ON FIRESTONE PLANTATIONS IN LIBERIA
From these plantations comes an ever increasing supply of the world's finest rubber. Economies in producing raw materials, manufacturing and distribution make it possible for Firestone to give you so much for your money.
PRICES AS LOW AS $6.40

Why Firestone STANDARD TIRES are EXTRA SAFE

YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST BLOWOUTS—eight extra pounds of rubber are added to every 100 pounds of cord by the Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process. By this process every fiber in every cord in every ply is saturated with liquid rubber. This counteracts dangerous internal friction and heat that ordinarily cause blowouts.

YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST PUNCTURES—because under the tread are two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords.

Firestone Standard Tires give you all these extra value features because they are first-quality tires built with high-grade materials and patented construction features. You SAVE MONEY because you buy this high quality and extra value at such low prices.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT

Protecting the Water Supply

The germs of disease are invisible to the naked eye and may be present in water that looks clean. Water analyses are made by Department of Health laboratories to determine the nature of the foreign matter which may be present in the water.

The tests used to determine the hygienic purity of a water supply, whether the tests are chemical, or bacteriologic, have as their immediate object the detection of contnmination in the water.

Surface waters are, in general, softer than ground waters but they are always subject to pollution no matter what precuutions are taken for protection. Some form of artificial purification should always be required. The examination of n single sample does not give sufficient data on which to pass judgment. The larger the number of samples tested the more dependable the results.

Private wells need protection against pollution. The greatest danger is from entrance of foul water at or near the top of the well. This can be guarded against by causing the ground to slope away from the well curb, by providing a water-tight cover and by making the sides of the well water-tight for n few feet down from the top. Wells should not be located near cess-pools, water closets or manure piles, but no actual pollution of the well is likely to occur unless the ground is gavelly or unless the well is located in rock that contains seams or channels as does limestone.

Driven wells in sandy soils are almost invariably snfe. Wells in limestone regions are always subject to suspicion. Polluting substances may travel in open channels in the ground for long distances. Wells in clay regions in which shrinkage cracks may occur must also be watched.

The surest and best method of safeguarding the quality of a puhlic water supply is by artificial purification. Wonderful strides have been made in this art in the last 35 years or more.

When water is stored in a reservoir or basin a certain amount of purification takes place. This is due largely to settling. While a stored water may be less dangerous than an unstored one, reliance cannot he placed on this method. Either filtration or chlorination or both must be used.

Two methods of filtration are in use for puhlic water supplies. One of these consists in passing the water through a bed of sand, which has been carefully selected. In a short time a slimy, gelatinous material forms on the surface of the sand and acts as a filter to remove germs. Very pure water may be obtained in this way, but a large area of land must be availahle and the labor costs of the maintenance of the filter are likely to be high as the surface of the sand must be cleaned from time to time.

The other method involves the addition of alum and sometimes a weak alkali. A flocculent, or woolly, precipitate is obtained. This precipitate absorbs color or suspended matter, including bacteria, from the water and is itself then removed by settling and filtration. The filtration is carried on at a rapid rate so that relatively little filter area is required.

Final protection is afforded by chlorination. This consists in the addition of a small amount of chlorine (usually less than one part of chlorine in one million parts of water and sometimes as little as two tenths of a part of chlorine) to the water before it passes into the service mains. Chlorine is a disinfectant and will serve to eliminate any harmful bacteria that may have passed through the filter or casually entered the supply.

The reduction in the death rate from typhoid fever in cities in this country and in Europe is sufficient evidence to warrant the comparatively small expense required for satisfactory artificial purification.

Last of Dalton Boys Dies "With Boots On"

An artiele disclosing how the sole survivor of a notorious band of train and bank robbers, which helped make American history, passed away, respectable, is one of many human interest articles which you will find in The American Weekly, the great weekly magazine, with the August 15 issue of The Detroit Sunday Times.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE NEWS BULLETIN

Case Still Holding Many "Lost" Checks

Leon D. Case, secretary of state, is custodian of about 500 checks averagiag $4 each, wbich the state of Michigan has been trying to return to their rightful owners for more than three years.

In 1934, the Legislature reduced the weight tax rate on passenger cars, from 55 cents to 35 cents per hundredweight. But before the act was passed, thousands of motor car owners had already bought their 1934 plates. Refunds were obviously in order, and accordingly checks were made out and mailed to those entitled to receive them. After three years, delivery has still heen impossible in some instances.

Only occasionally is a check claimed but much more frequently people apply for refunds which they think they never got until their signatures on cancelled checks are turned up from the records. The great bulk of refund checks originally returned unclaimed in 1934, were claimed the next year; car owners when buying 1935 plates, noticed the cost was less, inquired concerning it and in hundreds of cases were presented with their refund checks.

The checks are always good, but from all appearances virtually no more of them will ever be claimed. Incorrect addresses, or changed ones are believed to account for the condition.

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Ps. 27:4): "One thing have I desired of the Lord, that will I seek after; that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the days of my life, to behold the beauty of tbe Lord, and to enquire in his temple."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 247): "The recipe for beauty is to have less illusion and more Soul, to retreat from the belief of pain or pleasure in the body into the unchanging calm and glorious freedom of spiritual harmony."

"The Treacherous Road," a new serial of love und adventure in the powder barrel that is modern India, starts in This Week, the magazine with next Sunday's Detroit News. Don't fail to read this thriller by that master story-teller, Talbot Mundy.

G.O.P. Campaign

A rally in Bay City the middle of September will mark the opening of the Republican campaign for the 1938 electione. Governor Murphy's attitude on labor mattere, regarded to be vascillating by Republican critica, has led to a feeling thet the 1937 minority party has a chance in 1938 to effect a comeback in popular favor. Local favorites are being groomed for the gubernatorial nomination.

Republican leaders expect that Murphy will run for re-election. But if the governor accepts a federal post at Washington, the picture would be drastically changed, as the logical candidate in Michigen would probably be Murray D. Van Wagoner, state highway commissioner. Van Wagoner demonstrated his ability as a vote-getter in an off-election year, running ahead of local Republican candidates in severel upstate counties.

Former Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald, a one-termer, is being mentioned as a candidate for the United States Senate should Arthur Vandenberg resign in 1940 to try for the presidency. Hoisting a liberal banner with an eye for industrial votes, Fitzgerald last week endorsed the Wagner-Steagall low-cost housing bill with thie indictment: "We face the inescapable fact that our present economic system has failed to provide decent homes for many thousands of deserving, industrious citizens."

Unemployment Compensation

The bounce-back which resulted from the governor's veto of his own labor relations act — a re-decision which left many eastern admirers gasping for breath—may have had aamething to do with hie unexpected signature of the revised unemployment compensation act.

Frank Picard, chairman of the unemployment insurance commiesion, had lobbied actively to persuade legislators to put every employe under the wings of the social security benefit. Largely through efforts of Republicans in the Senate, Picard's program was balked. They wrote features into new amendments which Murphy found to be very distasteful.

Whereas Picard's every employe provision would have brought some 250,000 additional persons under the act in industries covered by the state and federal statutes, the new law says that Michigan will go only as far as the federal government is willing to go. In other words, employers who have less than eight employes are exempt from the jobless insurance tax.

The previous exemption has been $0,000 on every payroll.

Picard and Murphy also favored advancing the date for first payments of benefits from January 1, 1939—after the fall elections—to July 1, 1938. At futuro sessions of the Legislature attempts will be made, the governor announced as he signed the act, to amend the law.

Liquor by the Glass?

There is one issue that, like the poor, is always with us. What to do about liquor has always been a social problem, and today is no exception.

Seeking a source for additional state income, the Legislature authorized the state liquor control commission to increase public prices 15 per cent. The increased funds were to be spent in providing needed hospital facilities. The Legislature also put its stamp of respect on the old-fashioned saloon by permitting the bar to return. Paradoxically, it restricted drinking to persons of 21 years or more in age.

At a national liquor control conference at Mackinac Island, Governor Murphy deplored a tendency to exploit liquor in order to get more taxes. Public morality must come first, he declared.

Then came Edward McFarland, commission chairman, with the declaration at Ishpeming that Michigan has too many drinking places and that prices should be reduced so that saloon keepers could compete with bootleggers.

Of direct interest to local communities is the fact that the legislative body of each municipality must declare before September 19 whether they want liquor by the glass within their jurisdictions. Model resolutions are being sent to each town and city by the state commission. If cities fail to act and citizens do not effect a referendum, all present liquor-by-the-glass places will continue until May 1, 1938, when licenees will be cancelled and no new ones will be issued.

The wet-dry battle is on again.

SOW ALFALFA IN AUGUST

NOT FOR YEARS HAVE CONDITIONS been as favorable for seeding alfalfa as they are now. We have plenty of moisture in the soil. On well prepared seed beds,—limed if necessary—prospects are very good for August seedings. Even in September, it is likely to pay to risk 40 pounds or so of Farm Bureau alfalfa seed on five acres.

WE RECOMMEND FARM BUREAU'S CERTIFIED Hardigan or Grimm. They have no superior for yield or quality of hay. Eligible for producing certified seed. We also recommend highly our Michigan Variegated, which is seed produced from fields that were sown to Grimm, Hardigan, Ontario Variegated and other splendid strains. This seed is not certified, but it ranks with the best for hay and pasture, and the seed crop is in demand. The price is a money saver. These seeds are Michigan grown, thoroughly cleaned, high test, and guaranteed to their cash value to be as represented on the seed tag. Only Farm Burau guarantees seed to its full cash value.

WE ALSO OFFER these reliable, high producing western varieties: Utah-Idaho Grimm, Montana Grimm, Kansas Common, Utah Common. We have some Michigan Variegated containing a little sweet clover and June. It's priced right. The first cutting eliminates the sweet clover.

Rye for Fall Pasture

FARM BUREAU RYE sown in August will make good fall pasture by October, and again early next spring. Sow a bushel to a bushel and a half per acre.

FALL GRAINS

Certified wheat and rye out yield common stock considerably. The small extra cost for certified seed is a good investment. See your Farm Bureau Dealer.

FIVE HONORED AT GAYLORD 4-H CAMP

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY MEMBERS GET STATE FAIR TRIP

Clara McGhan, Charlevoix, Chosen as County Health Champion; Four Others Recognized

(By B. C. Mellencamp)

The 12th annual Boys' and Girls' 4-H Club Camp was held from Monday, August 9, to Friday, the 13th. The largest attendance ever to attend club camp enjoyed the week filled with project activities, contests, demonstrations and recreation. Over 400 delegates from some 30 counties participated in the camp. This county was represented by 23 club members and leaders.

Charlevoix county was honored when five outstanding club members were awarded trips to the state fair as a result of winning in various contests.

Clara McGhan, Charlevoix, was selected as the health delegate, which is one of the greatest honors available. Einer Olstrom, East Jordan, placed first in the Achievement Contest. Einer has a most wonderful list of accomplishments. He has already won a trip to Chicago in the crops judging competition and has led his club the last two years. Melvin Somerville, Boyne City, placed second in the wood identification contest and likewise receives a trip to Detroit. To make the record of Charlevoix county more impressive, on the last day, just before camp broke up, Howard und Wilbur McDonald, East Jordan, won their trip in the crops demonstration on the new soil conservation project, and should permit the boys to be well up in the state contest.

Miss Irene Brintnall, East Jordan, was initiated in the Service Club in recognition of her many years of loyal and conecientious service. Mrs. Anna Warner, Charlevoix, was also initiated as a local club leader who has a splendid record of leadership to her credit.

A. G. Kettunen, state club leader, and many of the assistants from the club department at Michigan State College, were present for the entire week. In addition the club members had many group discussions conducted by specialiste. Thureday night a wonderful banquet was not only enjoyed by the club members, but by a large number of guests and visitors as well.

PLACE TROLLING BOATS UNDER STATE LICENSE

Commercial Fishing Law Specifies $10 Fee for Lake Trout Fishing

Michigan's popular deep-sea trolling eport has at last "come of age" and le now recognized by the State Legislature as important enough to be placed under u special license claesification.

The commercial fishing law amended hy Act 348, P. A. 1937, which went into effect August 5, will require that those who operate boats for hire for the purpose of trolling for lake trout puy a fee of $10 a year per boat.

This license fee is the same as required for use of commercial fishing nets without a boat or for rowboats of 16-foot size or less used by commercial fishermen in their operations.

In Michigan the deep-sea trolling aport where operators eupply boats and gear and in some cases guides for fishermen who want to troll for lake trout has becoma an industry with many boats operating from this and other Northern Michigan clties.

FOUR ACTIVE TB CASES WERE FOUND AT CLINIC

Examination Sponsored by District Health Unit In County

Discovery of four cases of active, adult type tuberculosis among the Charlevoix county residents recently X-rayed at the Christmas seal clinic of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association was announced this week by officials of that organization. Nine were found to have the less dangerous childhood type of the disease.

The clinic, one of a series being held throughout the state, was sponsored locally by the District Health Unit No. 3, under the direction of Dr. Carleton Dean, and was financed almost entirely through the sale of tuberculosis Christmas seals. Since November of 1931 more than 125,000 Michigan people, most of them school children, have been tuberculin tested by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association. During the same length of time over 35,000 chest X-rays have been made.

The Charlevoix county clinic is an instance of the steps that are being taken today to combat tuberculosis through modern weapons.

FINAL ACTIVITIES CONCLUDED FRIDAY NIGHT

Eleventh Year Was Most Successful Since Organization of Camp — Over Hundred Boys Enrolled

Camp Charlevoix will close its 11th and most successful season Friday night when many parents and friends of the boys will attend the big final banquet, after which the 100 boys will leave by train and auto for their many homes in various states.

The camp, which is owned and directed hy Mr. and Mrs. Lewis C. Reimann, of Ann Arbor, has had its largest enrollment in history. One hundred and six boys were in camp during the eight weeks period, und 100 of thom stayed for the full camp session.

Highlights of the season were the annual Dads' Day and Carnival Day, when many visitors were in camp.

Prospects for next year are very bright, and it is most probable that there will be a waiting list for next season. Twenty boys have enrolled already for the 1938 season and more enrollments are expected to come in before the camp closes.

During the season the camp brings many visitors and guests to Charlevoix. It is looked upon by local business men as one of the largest stable institutions in the Charlevoix region. Many parents of boys are so impressed with the attractions here that they continue to spend their summers in this vicinity. Some have rented or bought homes here.

CITIZENS URGED TO PAY UP TAXES

INSTALLMENT SYSTEM AN AID TO DELINQUENTS

Ample Provisloo Has Been Made for Those Who Are Willing to Help Themselves

In order to bring to the attention of the people of Michigan the danger of neglect to pay delinquent taxes, the State Administrative Board has authorized a state-wide campaign of advertising which calls attention to Public Act 28, passed in the 1937 session of the Legislature. (See our advertising columns.)

Tha Act clearly provides that properties delinquent for taxes for 1935 and prior yeare will go on sale in May next unless advantage is taken of tho provisions for partial payment, before September 1, 1937. The Legislature has recognized that a method of relief is necessary in tha case of some property-owners and has made possible the payment of back taxes on a "10 and 10 plan."

GEORGE T. GUNDRY
Auditor General

According to Auditor General George T. Gundry, who is charged with the duty of supervising the operation of this law, all 1933, 1934, 1935 back taxes, as well as taxes levied in prior years, must he paid before September 1, 1937, or else it is mandatory to place such properties on tax sale in May of next year.

The "10 and 10 plan," says Mr. Gundry, helps those property-owners who cannot puy in full at this time, by permitting the payment of 10 per cent of taxas due up to and including 1935, and allows the halance to be paid on a 10 year plan. It is decidedly to the advantage of taxpayers to use this plan. Interest and penalties have been cancelled and the only added charge is a two per cent collection fee on the amount paid.

In order to take advantage of tha provisions of the law it is necessary that 1936 taxes be paid in full. County treasurers are fully acquainted with the Act and are already receiving applicatione from many taxpayers who welcome this method of discharging their tax obligutions and keeping their properties from the certainty of tax sale next May. It is very important, however, that arrangements be made before September 1, after which no further relief can le granted.

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Michigan is one of three states in which the federal government has found eggs to meet requirements for fancy grade. Other states are Washington and Oregon.

These facts, almost unusual enough to merit Ripley's "Believe It or Not," were revealed the other day by John B. Strange, agricultural commissioner, in announcing the adoption of federal grades for egg production in Michigan. The agreement puts the state egg industry under federal pure food laws which prohibit the sale of eggs unfit for human consumption, and it takes the place of the previous "egg-by-the-pound" regulation.

Henceforth, Michigan eggs can be sold to the Mid-West market by four grades: Fancy, and A, B, and C. Have your choice!

Bigger and Better

Michigan's farm crops continue to grow bigger and better, according to the August estimate of the federal crop reporting service. Prospects are improved for corn, beans, apples, cherries and potatoes.

The winter wheat crop dropped about four million bushels to 19,670,000 during the month. Small declines were reported in oats, pears,

PLAN NOW TO GET PASTURE IN 1938

Late Summer Plantings Are Urged by Michigan State College

Mother Nature may be showering down sufficient rainfall this year to provide better pastures than usual, but wie dairymen are beginning to plan pastures that will provide economical feed for herds a year from now.

Pastores this year have held up remarkably well in most sections of Michigan, remarks A. C. Baltzer, extension dairyman at Michigan State College. Maturing of pasture plants, however, is causing some of the grazed plants to head out, they become unpalatable and have less nutrition.

Stretching pastures, Baltzer defines as a process not involving fence fixing, but rather some simple planning that permits herds to get low cost grazing two weeks earlier in spring and at least two weeks later in fall.

Rye or rye and vetch accomplish the early spring stretch. Seeding rye in the last corn cultivatin offers late fall grazing and early spring feed.

Some of the qualities that pactures ought to have include pocketbook angles nt entirely based on cost of feed. Labor saving, less necessary harvesting by letting the cows do the job and saving machinery costs are some of the values desired. Another point cited by Baltzer is that lands kept under green cover suffer less from erosion that fields in a brown state or under tillage.

How the Mind Influences the Body

Do you know that had mental habits may cause stomach trouble, arthritis and heart disease? An article discussing these startling effects — and showing that faith can help in stopping the growth of cancer and in curing a rattlesnake bite, is one of many fascinating features in The American Weekly, with the August 22 issue of The Detroit Sunday Times.

Since 1933 more new federal jobs have been created than in the first 100 years of the nation's existence. They are being added to at the rate of 100 per day.

DRIVING
BY THE NATIONAL SAFETY COUNCIL
and Michigan State Safety Council
HE THOUGHT HE HAD THE RIGHT OF WAY

WHOSE RIGHT-OF-WAY?

Many a driver's tombstone might bear an epitaph reading: "He thought he had the right-of-way." Maybe he did have it, too; but what good is it now?

The fact is that the right-of-way is an elusive possession. Courts have defined it to their own satisfaction, but the average driver too often thinks he has it just when some other motorist has the same idea. The result is a smash-up.

If you want to be sure about it, ask for an expert opinion after you have slowed down and let the other car go first. That, you will agree, is the safe way.

After all, isn't the safety of your self and your passengers the most important thing? You may justly be incensed at the discourteous driver who always insists upon beating you past the corner. But take it calmly.

Read your next day's newspaper. You can be sure your name is not among the list of injured in motor car accidents. And you can find satisfaction in the knowledge that you were not in any way involved in the gruesome story of highway death and injury that has become a daily feature in most newspapers.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE NEWS BULLETIN

Case Warns "Crash" Drivers of Cost

With the tide of highway accidents in Michigan on the upgrade, with its accompanying rising toll of life, limb and property damage, Leoo D. Case, secretary of state, has pointed out an act of the 1937 Legislature which will make accidents more expensive than ever for the person deemed responsible for them.

In 1933, the financial responsibility law was passed, barring from the roads any operator unable to satisfy a judgment of $300 or more in property damage, or for any amount in personal injury, as the result of an automobile accident. Drivers are barred until they pay their judgments, and even after that, in order to regain the privilege of driving, a driver must prove his future financial responsibility, as the law directs. "Proof" must he in the form of the posting with the secretary of state, of $11,000 in cash or negotiable securities, or the filing of a special form of liability insurance.

The 1937 Legislature reduced the unsatisfied judgment provision from $300 to $150, which means, Case points out, that more drivers than ever will probably become involved in the law.

The most interesting feature of the law's operation, however, is that the overwhelming number of persons brought under the law are those convicted of drunk driving, rather than those unable to meet damage judgments. Operators are barred from driving for three year periods following conviction of a number of motoring offenses specified in the financial responsibility law.

It is believed, however, that with the lowering of the amount which will involve drivers in the law's provisions, that lack of financial responsibility, rather than lack of sobriety, will eventually be a major cause for disbarment from highways.

CAMP CHARLEVOIX WEEKLY NEWS COLUMN

Edited by Ed. Taylor

The final days of camp are nearing and everyone is busy finishing up projects and getting in their final activities. Friday will be packing day and then on Friday night the boys will begin to filter homeward both by auto and by train.

Monday night the famous Indiana-Michigan basketball game took place. The Wolves aided by Dick Blewett's six feet, five inches, won 30-8. Playing for the Michigan five were Blewett, Everhardus, Edgar, Willoughby and Sutton. In the Hoosier's line-up were Boetticher, Haynie, Cunningham, Taylor and Million.

Sunday morning the boys all went to town to church where they were the guests of our good friend Rev. Parker. In the afternoon the juniors went to Lake Michigan in the truck while the seniors played a hardball game against Leelanau. The Charlevoix nine lost 3-2 in a close game.

Saturday was the big carnival. Friday afternoon we held a parade in Charlevoix in which everything from the burros to the covered wagon particlpatad. The carnival itself proved to be a big success. All the booths were busy from the time the starting gun was fired to the very end.

Thursday afternoon the whole camp will go to see a show with the money that they made on the carnival. "Captains Courageous" will be the picture that was chosen to reward everyone for their hard work.

Wednesday night the Greys will entertain the Greens at the annual banquet. The Greens won 10-6 in the final standings for tha year. The fun was taken out of the competition this year when some unspurtsmanlike soul stole the mugwump and refused to tell where it was, and so the spice was taken out of the inter-camp scoring.

Last Thursday our intermediates went to Camp Sherwood for a ball game and lost 19-12. Don Barrett and Burr Needham formed the battery. The senior team entertained Sherwood and lost 2-0. The senior rifle team also lost to Sherwood by a small margin.

Thursday will be the final council ring ceremony with the awards to be given out for departmental honors and the arrow "C" being presented to all the campers. Friday night will be the scene of the final banquet.

We hope that through this column we have been able to keep you parents informed as to what your sons have been doing at camp this summer and hope that you have enjoyed reading this weekly epistle.

KAMP KAIRPHREE NEWS COLUMN

By Doris Chase

Summer camp fires are burning low, and campers are beginning to think of the homeward trail. Each day is packed to the fullest, but campers realize with a pang that each happy day means one day nearer the end of camp.

The last two weeks of camp are mainly filled with traditional events. Wednesday the campers arrayed themselves for the fancy dress party. The Marx Brothers and the turtles were tops in my estimation. On Thursday the annual August birthday celebration took the form of a Lake Michigan picnic. Hiking and swimming filled the afternoon. Came Friday, and the Jubilee Dinner. We all sat in fear and trembling for one person from each table is called upon to speak extemporaneously. Sunday night saw one of the most beautiful of our traditions, the candlelight ceremony. Mother Swain directed the service. Monday of this week was campers' day, and the campers reigned supreme with Ethel Smith as head counsellor.

Last Tuesday the last river trip went out. The lucky people were: Miss Lucy Brauns, Miss Jean Dornblaser, Miss Margaret Small, Miss Mickey Woodruff, Chuck Potts, Martha Peet, Lucille Nolan, and Doris Bruckener.

The Explorers gave a puppet show entitled "A Joke On the Sun," Friday night. Those who took part were: June Rosen, Mary Elizabeth McNulty, Mary McCoil, Marcia Smith, Patsy Brown, and Nancy Marin. Miss Alice Frayer and Miss Mickey Woodruff did the dialogue.

Tennis still holds the interest of the camp. Jean Reimann continues in number one position on the ladder. Last Monday she was challenged by Barbara Brooks, and almost lost her position. The final set score was 10-8. A ping pong tournament was started, and is coming right along. The July champion, Ruth Gram, has left.

Saturday we went over to Camp Charlevoix's Carnival. Sailing interested most of us, but we were "damply" enthusiastic. In the evening the Charlevoix boys presented two plays. Jean Reimann played the part of Josephine Paris in "The Valiant." June Rosen, Dottie Hildinger, Penny Shaw, Mary Elizabeth McNulty, Jean Oglesby and Maxine Gratton did some tap dances between the plays.

Coming events are eagerly looked forward to. The annual song contest is Tuesday, and Wednesday new members will be initiated into the august and honorable Society of Truth. Friday night we will have the Final Banquet. After that there will be a puppet show by the Explorers, and then an all camp minstrel show. Martha Peet is interlocutor, and Penny Shaw and Dottie Hildinger will act as end men. Saturday morning there will be a horse show in the riding ring at Camp Charlevoix under the direction of Miss Jean Dornblaser.

The official end of camp is Saturday noon, but campers are free to leave Friday night. "And so goodbye dear Kamp Kairphree."

MICHIGAN BELL ISSUES 5TH POLICE DIRECTORY

Copies Distributed to Law Enforcement Officials of Michigan

The fifth edition of the Michigan Police Telephone Directory, published as an aid to law enforcement officers in their war on crime, is being distributed to local, county, state and federal authorities throughout Michigan by the Michigan Bell Telephone Company. C. L. Johnson, manager for the company in this area, has delivered copies locally to Clarence Coblentz, chief of police, and Floyd Ikens, sheriff.

The new issue of the directory is eight pages thicker and somewhat more comprehensive than previous editions have been, containing additional information and listings, as well as designations to indicate the 22 police offices that are connected with the Wayne County Police Teletype System, a network by means of which those departments obtain a continuous exchange of information having to do with their work.

Listed in the directory are the namas and telephone numbers of the heads of all Michigan municipal police departments; sheriffs of the state's 83 counties; commanding officers of all of the 34 State Police posts, and the several federal law enforcement bureaus or branches in Michigan, such as the Bureau of Narcotics, Bureau of Investigation, the Immigration and Naturalization Bureau, Post Office Inspectors, etc.

Program for Producing Cleaner and Better Keeping Milk

If you are a dairyman producing milk or cream for the public, check these suggestions with your practices.

1. Rinse all utensils with adequate chlorine solution to protect milk from dirt and germs that may have gotten on utensils since washing.
2. Clean floors and gutters of cowstable to keep sediment and odors from milk.
3. Clean flanks with brush and damp cloth to reduce chances of dirt falling into milk pail while milking.
4. Wash udders and teats with clean cloth and water to clean off dust and dirt that might fall into milk pail. Some dairies use the chlorine water left from rinsing the utensils for this purpose. Udders and teats should be wiped with dry clot after washing to prevent chapping.
5. Wash and dry hands, preferably in chlorine solution, to prevent human disease germs from getting in tha milk. The milk stools should be clean at each milking so the milkers' hands won't get soiled from handling them.
6. Milk first stream of milk from each quarter into small cup and watch for abnormal milk. Do not use any milk from cows with a suspicious quarter. By discarding the first milk from each quarter 90 per cent of the bacteria in the teats are kept out of the milk and the milker has a chance to notice any abnormal conditions of the milk or udder before part of the milk has gone into the pail.
7. Each pail of milk should be taken directly to milk house for straining. Straining milk in barn increases bacteria count from flies and dust that light on strainer, and also delays cooling of milk.

General procedures:

1. Keep udders and flanks clipped to make them easier to clenn and to keep dirt from clinging.
2. Feed no roughage while milking to keep stable air free of dust that might get in milk pails.
3. Use only covered top milk pails. Partially covered pails will keep out a proportional amount of sediment that would get in milk from air and cows.
4. All milk handlers should wear clean outer clothes as dirt on clothes has many opportunities to fall into milk.
5. No person should handle milk while he has any disease. This includes sore throat and bad colds as well as more severe diseases, since milk is an excellent carrier and spreader of disease germs and only a few germs may multiply in milk sufficiently to infect many consumers.
6. Keep manure hauled out of barnyard to reduce fly breeding and chances of cows getting infections from manure piles.

AT THE MOVIES

Kipling's "Wee Willie Winkie" Stars Temple, McLaglen in Heroic Adventure

Kipling's colorful characters live glamorously, adventurously and courageously on adventure's last frontier in the Twentieth Century-Fox picturization of his famed "Wee Willie Winkie," which opens Sunday, August 22, at the Palace Theatre, with Shirley Temple and Victor McLaglen in the starring roles.

From the heart of mighty India, where all the world is wild and strange, where the British raj ends at Khyber Pass, in the land of the Bengal Lancers, comes this glorious adventure of the Scottish Highlanders in action and of the little girl who won the right to wear their plaid.

The most spectacular production in which Shirley Temple has yet appeared, "Wee Willie Winkie" gives Victor McLaglen a powerful role as a fearless, fighting fool, and provides splendid opportunities to C. Aubrey Smith, June Lang, Michael Whalen, Cesar Romero, Constance Collier and young Douglas Scott.

OIL-PLATING is a plain extra benefit that other oils do not even claim to give you! I mean Oil-Plating can't get scraped off or pushed away while you're speeding along on sizzling hot days. And it won't go up in smoke, but lasts and lasts. Neither can Oil-Plating run down off the job while the engine's stopped... No ghost of a chance for Oil-Plating to be among the missing every time you start the car. So your Oil-Plated engine is the big exception, when engineers say that bum oiling at the start—summer, same as winter—makes more than half of all engine wear. They positively don't mean you, with your engine Oil-Plated by Conoco Germ Processed oil. The longer life of your Oil-Plated engine naturally takes a little while to prove... but right now, from the minute I put in Germ Processed, you can't mistake the coolness and quiet due to Oil-Plating, or the way your oil level stays up.

MISS FLORENCE SPRAGUE SPEAKER SUNDAY AT IRONTON CONG. CHURCH

Miss Florence Sprague will speak at the Ironton Church, on Sunday, August 22, on the subject "A Year in the Orient." She has just returned from this year of travel and has occupied her Ironton cottage since the first of August.

Miss Sprague lives in Toledo, O., where she is interested in all international and peace movements. This is her second year's journey around the world, in which she has made something of a study of economic and social conditions.

When she landed in Shanghai last August, she was a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rawhuson. Mr. Rawhuson was killed last Sunday as a result of the Chinese-Japanese aerial battle.

Miss Sprague spent six months in Peiping, which she says in China is pronounced Bay-ping, and visited Nankaw Pass through the Great Wall which the Japanese are attempting to take; also Tungchow, the great Japanese headquarters, and Nankai University in Tientsin, which the Japanese demolished as its students had been so outspoken against Japan.

During the three weeks she spent in the Philippines, she was impressed by the splendid health work and the excellent school system developed by the Filipinos with American cooperation.

She visited Jara, Bali, Singapore, Penang, Ceylon, and spent two months in India, four weeks of which were in the Himalaya Mountains, on a house boat in the valley of Kashmir.

The service in the Ironton Church will begin at 10 o'clock a. m. The public is cordially invited.

LANSING LETTER

peaches and burley. Despite heavy rains, the sugar beet estimute remained unchanged at 646,000 tons.

Other August estimates were: Beans, 3,570,000 bags and 3,170,000 bags; cherries, 39,100 tons and 37,-120 tons; apples, 13,120,000 bushels and 12,792,000 bushels; potatoes, 31,130,000 bushels und 29,715,000 bushels.

Legislative Graft?

An inquiry into charges of Paul H. Todd, chairman of the state public utilities commission, that the State Legislature failed to enact rural electrification legislation b e c a u s e "some members were employed by private utility interests" may he authorized by the State Senate ut the next special session.

Todd declared: "There is nothing to prevent legislators from being employed by special private interests on a retainer basis. We need a change in the statute so that publicity can be given on all such retniners by special interests."

The Senate state affairs committee, of which Senator William Palmer, Democrat, Flint, is chairman, refused to report out in special session a House hill giving vast powers to rural electrification associations. Palmer's action led to a physical attack upon him by Senator James Burns, Democrat, of Detroit.

Other senntors mentioned us opposing the REA bill were J. Neal Lamoreaux, Democrnt, C o m s t o c k Park; Earl W. Munshaw, Republican, Grand Rapids, and Earl L. Burhans, Paw Paw.

Declured Lansing's pro-labor senator, Harry F. Hittle: "The thing to do is to introduce a resolution at the next session asking Todd to appear before us and to name the members he's talking about."

Unless the sensational charges by Todd can be substantiated, it is not unlikely that they will serve as a boomerang against possible passage of the bill. The Senate takes its dignity seriously, thanks mostly to Lieutenant Governor Nowicki.

Politics Warming Up

The September issue of "True Story" contains a popularized article af Governor Murphy's "own life atory." A recent issue of "Graphic," the social workers' publication, carried a signed article by the governor extolling the "model" labor relations act, since vetoed by the author.

Postmaster General Farley established a reputation as a political seer by forecasting Roosevelt's victory in 46 out of 48 states. With an eye already on 1940, he recently declared that "it looks like Vandenberg—the Republicans haven't anyone else."

Farley's reference to Arthur H. Vandenberg, Michigan's senior senator, prompted William C. Sterling, a Democratic candidate for Congress, ta sound a call at a Jackson rally of Young Democrats to "atop Vandenberg."

It looks like we're going to have an intoresting winter!

"Deserving" Newspapers

Announcement by George Gundry, state auditor general, that contracts to advertise state delinquent tax land sales in 1938 would be awarded to "deserving" newspapers, has served to emphasize the trend of Michigan weekly newspapers from party organs to non-partisan independent journals. Even Secretary of State Leon Case's newspaper, the Watervliet Record, is listed officially as an independent newspaper.

More and more you will find your home-town newspaper reporting both sides of a political controversy in a spirit of tolerance and fair play. Philip T. Rich, editor of the Midland Daily News, declared recently in an editorial: "A great proportion of the newspapers of the state, large and small, made a sincere attempt in last fall's campaign to present the news fairly and fearlessly. This was done regardless of how the editor felt personally.

"Hundreds of weekly newspapers which crossed our desk carried both Republican and Democratic claims side by side. We ran these together with dozens of cartoons from both parties in addition to local, state and national claims. It was a fair picture; a well-rounded story. Any person reading these newspapers could make up his mind from the many facts present. If he was interested in the editor's personal view, he could find it in his personal or editorial column."

The Midland newspaper, until May 1, was called the "Midland Republican." Now it is independent in name as well as in politics.

"Stories of the Stars," a full page in Rotogravure depicting life stories of screen celebrities in photographs, will again be published in The Detroit News starting Sunday. Watch for this page Sunday showing highlights in the life of Ginger Rogers.

NEW LEGISLATION BENEFITS SCHOOLS

FORTY-FOUR NEW LAWS GO ON STATUTE BOOKS

Increased State Aid, Social Security for Teachers Are Among New Laws Enacted

Public education received favorable attention at the hands of the 1937 session of the Michigan Legislature, which adjourned recently after enacting 44 new laws that directly or indirectly affect schools. Increased state-aid for public schools, a more adequate program of social security for Michigan teachers, and opportunity for school districts to provide tenure for teachers are among the new laws enacted.

While the State Legislature demonstrated keen interest in the welfare of Michigan's public schools, it indicated also that the control of these schools should remain in the local districts. In granting increased state-aid for public schools, the Legislature required that local school districts likewise must provide more money for schools in order to become eligible for the state-aid; and in passing a Teachers' Tenure Law, the Legislature provided that the voters of the local district must first approve the measure before it becomes effective within the district.

Social Security Granted Teachers

As the result of the revision of the Michigan Teachers' Retirement Fund law, teachers in Michigan's public schools now have a social security program which compares favorably with the National Social Security Act. Teachers are specifically exempt from the national act.

The new Michigan Teachers' Retirement Fund Law provides that contributions from Michigan teachers will be supplemented by state contributions in establishing and maintaining a sound system of retirement for teachers. Each year, under the provisions of the new law, the Teachers' Retirement Fund is to receive an appropriation of $325,000 from the state.

Teachers who have taught at least 30 years and who have attained the age of 60 are eligible upon retirement for annuities ranging from $600 to $1200 annually. The amount of the annual annuity will be determined on the basis of yearly salaries paid while the teacher was in service.

In commenting upon the new law, Dr. A. J. Phillips, executive secretary of the Michigan Education Association, the professional organization of 32,000 Michigan teachers which endorsed the passage of the revised Retirement Law, stated: "In providing a more adequate social security program for Michigan teachers the 1937 session of the Michigan Legislature provided for better schools for Michigan children. As the result of low salaries, many teachers have been seriously concerned about their financial future. An adequate retirement system will not only relieve much of this worry, but will aid in keeping efficient teachers in the teaching profession."

State-Aid Increased $5,000,000

Recognizing that better times and rising prices mean increased costs in operating Michigan schools, the 1937 session of the Legislature increased the amount of annual state-aid for Michigan schools from 38 million dollars to 43 million dollars.

School Revenues Less Than in 1931

"While this increase in state-aid will do much for Michigan schools," said Dr. Phillips, "parents must keep in mind that the amount of money available for educating their children is still 15 million dollars less this year than in 1931, in spite of this increase in state-aid. Local districts also must bear their just share in supporting Michigan schools if our educational institutions are to be maintained on an efficient basis."

Districts Vote on Tenure

The Teachers' Tenure Law, which was passed in a special session of the State Legislature directly following adjournment of the regular session, is designed to protect competent and efficient teachers from unjust dismissal. A referendum clause in the law provides that voters in local districts must approve the measure before it becomes effective.

A probationary period of two years is provided, after which a teacher is regarded as having full rights of tenure as provided by the law and cannot be dismissed except for just and reasonable cause. If the vote of a school board to dismiss a teacher is less than unanimous, the teacher is regarded as being on continuing tenure and has the right to appeal her case and to require either a public or private hearing before the board. Decisions of local boards may be appealed to a State Tenure Commission of three members to be appointed by the Governor.

New School Laws Considered Progressive

Of the 44 new laws enacted pertaining to Michigan schools, 18 relate to school financing, 16 concern administration of schools, three pertain to transportation of school children, two affect the school curriculum, three pertain to teacher welfare, one refers to junior colleges, and one concerns school textbooks.

"Virtually all of this new legislation affecting education may be considered as beneficial," said Dr. Phillips. "These 44 laws contribute toward a better instructional program, toward more efficient administration and supervision, and toward the goal of more equal educational opportunities for all of Michigan's million public school children."

ENORMOUS GAME KILL ESTIMATED FOR STATE

Over Three Million Rabbits, Million Pheasants Are Reported

If all the rabbits shot legally in Michigan each year were laid and to end they would reach one thousand miles, or from Lansing to the Gulf of Mexico.

Such is the estimate of game men of the Department of Conservation after checking a sample portion of the 1936 license stubs on which 390,000 hunters reported their kill for the previous season of 1935.

The total estimated count of rabbits went to 3,500,000 bagged by licensed hunters and killed during the open hunting season. It was also estimated from the compilation that 40 per cent of the rabbit hunters bagged 11 or more rabbits during the 1936 season and that the average kill for all hunters was about 11 rabbits per man.

The same sample of license stubs was checked for the ringnecked pheasant kill. The estimate in this case was about three-quarters of a million pheasants legally shot by an estimated 270,000 pheasant hunters. This compilation sustains previous estimates of game authorities, based on bird hunters' tally cards. The authorities have believed that the numbers of pheasants killed legally during an average hunting season would be about 750,000.

Under a law enacted by the 1937 Legislature, it will no longer be necessary to wait until license stubs are returned to the Department of Conservation by license agents to compile statistics on game kills. The new law makes a report by each individual hunter compulsory. The report must state the total number of each kind of game bagged under each license during the open season and must be sent to Lansing by February 15 immediately following the close of the respective open seasons.

CHAIN STORE TAXES ARE PROVING TO BE LESS POPULAR IN '37

That protests from consumer and farm groups are putting the brakes on legislation which forces chain stores to raise their prices to consumers, is shown in a survey of bills proposed and laws enacted by state legislatures in their recent sessions. Altogether 98 anti-chain store tax bills, intended to cripple chain stores, were introduced in the legislatures of 32 states during their 1937 sessions. But only five of these once popular measures becanie lsws, the other 93 being killed or failing to pass.

Wisconsin and Maine led in the trend away from special burdensome taxes on chains. Maine repealed its anti-chain store tax, enscted three years ago, and turned a cold shoulder on three hills to increase the levy. Repeal of the tax wss brought about almost entirely by farmers and farm associations, who objected to the tax on the grounds that the chain stores are their best markets and that any laws which injure markets injure the farmer's income.

Likewise in Wisconsin. Due lsrgely to farm opinion, Wisconsin allowed its tax of $250 on each storo over 25 in a chain to expire, and failed to pass three other proposals to continue this type of taxation.

Further indication of tho growing unpopulsrity of anti-chsin store legislation is seen in the failure of the United States Senate to enact a bill taxing the larger chains $550 a store in the District of Columbia. Although the proposal to soak the chains was advanced by strong opponents of chain stores in the House as an example to the rest of the country, it received little consideration in the Senate committee, where it was quickly killed.

The turning of the tide against taxes intended to penalize the chain stores started in Csliforni.s. There a huge tax on chain stores was passed by the legislation and submitted to the people to vote upon during the last national election. To the surprise of the politicians favoring the tax, it was voted down hy their constituents in 57 out of 58 counties. Since then, law-makers have stopped to wonder if special taxes on the stores which sell st low prices and make it possible for the masses of people to buy at low prices might not be boomerangs after all. For the public is coming to realize that special taxes on food chains mean higher prices, and farmers are already on record to the effect that they mean smaller markets and fewer sales.

WALTER SENIOR IS RIVIERA CHAMPION

DEFEATED ERNEST SUTTER IN FINALS SUNDAY

Elizabath Kesting, St. Paul, Minn., John Moreno, Hollywaad, Calif., Wamen's and Junlar Champs

Finals Saturday and Sunday brought to a close the 12th annual Michigan Rivlera tennis championships at The Inn clay courts. New champions were produced in all divisions.

Walter Senior, San Fruncisco, Calif., 12th national ranking player and recent winner of the Western championships at Harbor Springs, succeeds Ernest Sutter, New Orleans, La., as men's singles champion. In Sunday's finals, Senior defeated Suttar by scores of 4-6, 7-5, 6-0, 6-1. Sutter's strongest bid to retain his title was in the first set, overcoming a 4-1 lead and winning five straight games to take the set. He carried the second set to deuce, but in the last two succumbed to the driving game of his higher ranked opponent.

Elizabeth Kesting, St. Paul, Minn., regained the women's singles title she won in 1935 and relinquished last year to Catherine Wolf, Elkhart, Ind. She won the title through victory Saturday over Helen Fulton, Winnetka, Ill., first runking woman player in the middle west, by acores of 6-3, 5-7, 6-2. Miss Kesting's victory over the higher ranking player was the second in Northarn Michigan tournament tennis. She defeated Miss Fulton the previous week at the Western championships.

John J. Moreno, Jr., Hollywood, Calif., is the new junior champion, succeeding Julius Heldman, another Californian, who was national junior champion in 1936. In Saturday's finals, Moreno defeated Larry Dee, San Francisco, Calif., a protege of Walter Senior, in a straight set victory by scores of 6-4, 5-2, 6-4.

Russell Ball, of El Paso, Tex., and John Shostrum, of Chicago, the Western Canada and Western championships doubles winners, annexed the Riviera doubles crown Sunday through victory over Ernest Sutter and John J. Moreno, Jr. The victory was in straight sets by scores of 8-6, 7-5, 6-2.

The tournament drew one of the finest fields of players in recent years and, while the entry was smaller, this fact did not detract from interest in the event.

What is thought to be the largest Mackinaw trout caught trolling in Lake Michigan off Charlevoix this aeason fell the prize Monday of Frederic Fechhelmer, Chicago, local summer resident.

The fish, weighing 17½ pounds, was taken while a party composed of Mr. Fechhelmer, Isaac H. Mayer, well known Chicago attorney, and S. J. T. Strauss, also of Chicago, was fishing with Don Clothier of the Charlevoix Trolling Camp.

STRAITS TRAFFIC SHOWING A STEADY INCREASE

Ferries Handling Betweaa 2,400 and 3,000 Autamabiles Daily

State Highway Department officials report "unusually heavy" traffic across the Straits of Macklnac this month.

Capt. E. H. Doner, commander of the fleet of four state-owned ferry boats operating across the Straits, said the vessels were carrying an average of 80 vehicles every half-hour und the longest wait required of motorists was about three-quarters of an hour.

"Traffic umounted to between 2,400 and 3,000 cars daily during August," he reported. "Last August we hauled an average of 2,100 daily and traffic is always heavy during this month."

It was revealed that the City of Cheboygan, new state ferry put into service recently, is carrying approximately 800 cars a day and provided substantial relief for the service at the Straits. This boat has a present maximum capacity of 88 vehicles, compared with 76 cars for the Straits of Mackinac and 65 each for tha two smaller state-owned boats in the fleet.

SEPTEMBER FIRST IS TAX DEADLINE

AUDITOR GENERAL SOUNDS A WARNING TO DELINQUENTS

Only Six Days Remain to Pay an Installment Plan and Keep Praperty from Tax Sale

Issuing a note of warning to delinquent taxpayers, Auditor General George T. Gundry again calls attention to the fact that after September 1, the delinquent taxpayer will, automatically, come under the provisions of Act 28, passed by the 1937 Legislature, an Act which leaves no option to public officials on the matter of property delinquent for taxes.

After September 1, Mr. Gundry points out, "If the 1936 taxes are not puid in full, and if the matured installments of 1932 and prior years have not been paid, and if the first installment of 1933, 1934 and 1935 taxes have not been paid, (prior to September 1), the taxpayer has completely lost his opportunity to take advantage of the ten payment plan."

"If payments are made before September 1, there is a saving in fees amounting to 34¼ per cent on 1933 tax, 25¼ per cent fees on 1934 tax, and 16¼ per cent fees on 1935 tax."

The penalty for default of any installment is that the entire halance of the tax is offered for sale at the next tax sale, which is in May, 1938.

Couhty treasurers, continues Mr. Gundry, are greatly encouraged by the response to the state and county advertising concerning delinquent tax collections and it is anticipated that hy the time September 1 is reached, that the total delinquency for taxes will be substantially reduced.

AID UNDER-PRIVILEDGED CHILDREN

TAG DAY IN COUNTY ON SATURDAY, AUGUST 28

Charlevaix County Child Health League Spansoring Campaign ta Raise Benefit Funds

The Charlevoix County Child Health League, at its spring meeting, decided to adopt as one of its major objectives for the year 1937 and 1938 the raising of a fund to care for the underprivileged children in this county.

A large group of interested people met at Boyne City for the purpose of organizing a campaign throughout the entire county. Mrs. Addie Marsh, of Walloon Lake, the pioneer in the 100 per cent dental correction program in the schools, was elected generul cnunty chairman.

To secure the necessary finances to carry on this program various methods were suggested. The rural areas will devote their major efforts toward dental correction and will continue as they started—children's activities, children earning their own money, programs, cake walks, box socials, etc. The city areas—having more demands—decided on a general county tag day.

Friday, August 20, representatives from the three citles of Charlevoix county met at the March Inn, Walloon Lake, to complete their plans for their tag day. The following attended: Mrs. Addie March, Walloon Lake; Mrs. Harrison, Mrs. Kit Carson, Mrs. Joseph Bugai, and Miss Mary Buser, R. N., East Jordan; Miss Caroline Geiken, R. N., and Mrs. Russell Barden, Boyne City; Mrs. Oakley Hammond, Mrs. Ray Faulkner, Mrs. Louis Orlowski, Mrs. Joseph Foster, Mrs. Engle VanAllsburg, and Miss Deane Rinck, R. N., Charlevoix.

Saturday, August 28, was selected as tag day for Charlevoix county, Mrs. Joseph Bugai was appointed chairman for East Jordan; Miss Caroline Geiken (Boyne City school nurse), chairman for Boyne City, and Mrs. Engle VanAllsburg, chairman for Charlevoix. This tag day is entirely under the auspices of the Charlevoix County Child Health League and all funds obtained will be used for the benefit of Charlevoix county children.—Contributed.

SUSPECT MURDER IN MAN'S DEATH

SIDNEY COMMER, OF DETROIT, FOUND INJURED IN CAR

Died Monday af Pneumonia at Charlevoix Hospital — Blow an Head, Missing Money Indicate Robbery

Sidney Commer, 28, of Detrolt, died at 11 o'clock Monday morning at Charlevoix Hospital with mystery surrounding the cause of death.

He had failed to gain consciousness aince being found in the back seat of his car on a side road off US-31 near Bay Shore 24 hours before. An autopsy performed by Coroner F. P. McMillan before a hastily drawn jury revealed a scalp wound. Death, however, was attributed to plural pneumonia and, aside from the fact that the man had heen robbed, his death might have been considered accidental or from natural causes. The stomach has been sent to Ann Arbor for examination to determine if an over-dose of sleeping potion may have caused death.

Information gained from the dead man's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Commer, of 11813 East Jefferson avenue, Detroit, who had come here upon notification of their son's condition, revealed that the young man, suffering from hay fever, left home sometime early Friday morning after having the previous night told tha parents of his intention of coming to Northern Michigan for relief.

At 6:30 Friday evening the pareats received a telegram, later found to huve heen sent from Petoskey, which stated: "Wholly useless, returning home." The next word the Commers received of their son was through local officers of his heing found and his condition.

Commer's car, it is said, was first noticed on the road near the Frank Burnett farm in Hayes township Friday evening. It later disappeared and then was seen again Saturduy. Mr. Burnett looked inside the car and, seeing a man lying in the back seat, assumed he was asleep and moved on. Noticing the car again Sunday morning, he entered and tried to arouse the occupant. Failing in his effort and believing Commer dead, Mr. Burnett called Sheriff Floyd Ikens.

Commer's parents stated he had $50 in cash with him when he left home, and this, together with the fact the money was gone, has led to the theory of robhery.

Officers have found no tangibla clues to follow. State police are cooperating with Sheriff Floyd W. Ikens. An inquest to determine the cause of death will be held, ulthough the time has not been announced.

Office supplies of any description may be obtained quickly through this office. Charlevoix Courier.—Adv3tf

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Only five days remain for owners of nearly a half million Michigan farms, homes and vacant lots to save their property from being forfeited to the state for nonpayment of delinquent taxes.

To the press of Michigan has heen given the educational job of informing taxpayers how they can save their homes and farms through the payment before September 1 of one-tenth of the delinquent levies. The state government, utilizing the medium of the printed word, is expending $25,000 to acquaint the people with tha facts.

Tax delinquencies involve 1,500,000 pieces of property of which nproximately one-third are in Wayno county.

Owners of these properties may pay one-tenth of the total tax amount, plus a two per cent collection fee, and thus can redeem the property at once. Otherwise, owners face penalties up to 35 per cent. Property that is not redeemed will go to public sale next spring.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

Field Day at Lake City Experimeot Farm on Thursday, September 2

The Lake City Experiment Farm will be host to thousands of farm visitors on Thursday, September 2, when the annual Field Day will be staged. The main attraction will be some 40 acres of potatoes, including many varieties that are grown for demonstration purposes. This acreage will include irrigation tests, variety plots, and fertilization experiments. Also a very fine potato machinery demonstration is planned that has practical applications on every farm producing potatoes.

Activities will begin promptly at 9:30 in the morning and continue all day. Farmers in this county interested in potatoes should arrange to make this trip. The distance is not too great, the roads fine, and you will enjoy a most profitable day. Remember the day and date, and why not make your arrangements now so that nothing will prevent you seeing this Field Day?

Alfalfa Needs Month Vacation

Alfalfa, the crop that gives Michigan a national crown covering one and one-quarter million acres, needs a month vacation during September.

From experiments at Michigan State College and demonstrations that have been carried out in nesrly every county in the state by members of the extension service, proof is found that the vacation is necessary.

Alfalfa is one plant that needs to have a chance to get ready for winter. S. T. Dexter, college specialist in farm crops, explains that much of the winter damage to alfalfa is the result of improper fall management. Second cuttings, if taken at all, ought to be off the field by the middle of August. Then the plants have a chance to put out new growth and store up food in the roots to defy freezing temperatures.

Even September pasturing is not advised. After n cutting is made, or while alfalfn is being pastured, the new growth that shows up is at the expense of food stored in the roots. New leaves then put back this food. If the alfalfa is cut so late that the leaves cannot grow or do not have time to restore the food supplies to the roots, winter killing occurs.

Avoid cutting or pasturing alfalfn in September, Dexter ndvises farmers who plan to use a field the following year. If a second cutting is taken late in August, further cutting or pasturing is considered unwise.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS
By Ann Page

Are tomatoes being used in your household as freely as their fine quality and low price would suggest? Fresh tomatoes eaten sliced, in salads or cooked in any of almost numberless ways, are popular in most households. Corn and lima beans are also at their cheapest but they must be carefully chosen for quality.

Bartlett pears, seedless grapes and apples are unusually plentiful and cheap. Other good fruit values will be found in plums, peaches, and honeydew melons.

Beef prices are still tending higher, veal is steady, pork prices are somewhat lower and lamb offers best value. Poultry, egg and butter prices are up but eggs and butter are still lower than last year.

Communicable Incidence of Disease In the Younger Children

The incidence of communicable disease remained comparatively the same as in 1935 in the under six age group. In 1935 we had a total of 99 preschool and infants attacked by some communicable disease; 1936 found 90 reported in the same age group. Whooping cough led the list with 29 cases compared to seven in the previous year; measles ranked second with 23 reported cases to that of 49 in 1935; scarlet fever attacked 21 youngsters compared with 11 in 1935, and chickenpox was fourth with 17 cases this past year compared to 26 in 1935. Another fortunate year passed with no known cases of diphtheria or smallpox. Only one death resulted from communicable disease in this age group and that occurred in an infant with measles.

Medical science is learning more and more how to prevent these diseases, how to modify them so they will be less severe and how to avoid those which they do not yet know how to prevent. The growing child may lose certain temporary immunities to communicable diseases acquired from his mother and his coming into contact with more children and adults makes him more susceptible to disease than when he was a baby. For this reason it is urged that this necessary immunity be provided through protection from your family physician.

In preventing diphtheria, the one-dose alum precipitated toxoid may be administered at the age of nine months. For protection against smallpox, vaccination may be given as early as 10 days of life and from then on it is advisable to give it at five to seven year intervals, and always during an epidemic. The most approved method for the prevention of whooping cough is the Sauer's vaccine. This protection may be given at six months of age. Typhoid vaccination is advised at one year of age.

By the administering of these protective measures to your youngsters at an early age you are insuring a safer, happier future for him—one that will be built free of the afflictions and handicaps often resulting from these diseases. If you are preparing your child for school next fall be sure that some of these protective treatments are given at the time of his physical examination by your family physician or your local health department. The District Health Department will be conducting infant and preschool clinics with diphtheria immunization and vaccination against smallpox in the counties of Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego during the months of May, June and July. Watch your newspapers for their announcements.

Old age benefits under the Social Security Act and unemployment compensation under the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Act should not be confused. Old age benefits are paid only to those who have reached the age of 65 and have complied with certain standard requirements. They are handled exclusively by the federal government. Unemployment compensation will be available after July 1, 1938, to all who are in occupations covered by the Michigan act and who become unemployed. Compensation is handled by the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission.

It can be said of the school of experience that a fellow never has to take his books home.

LANSING LETTER

izing $526,000,000 for loans and grants, Michigan municipal officials are surveying their local housing needs and hoping that something can be done.

Particularly concerned are two Michigan cities—Pontiac and Flint—where welfare families are being housed today in tents. Along with the spiraling cost of living, rents have gone up. Vacant houses are scarce. In many municipalities there exists an outright shortage for the first time in a decade.

The federal measure contains safeguards against the construction of de luxe homes and apartments for the purpose of slum clearance. Furthermore, a state statute in Michigan limits the jurisdiction of existing state housing authority to cities over 500,000—in other words, to Detroit.

In the judgment of several Michigan congressmen, the State Legislature should be asked in its special session this fall to amend the law, permitting other cities to participate in the half billion housing fund.

Canning Wages Increase

One of the leading industries in Michigan — one which provides welcome spending money for thousands of families—is the canning industry.

When crops are good and money is plentiful, the canning factories hum with activity. Such is the case this year in Michigan, thanks to a bountiful season.

It is good news to everyone to hear that the average weekly wage for July was $16.64 this year, compared with $12.72 a year ago. George A. Krogstad, state commissioner of labor and industry, reports that employment in these food plants increased 17.8 per cent.

Because of their seasonable needs, canning plants have been signally free from labor trouble. In contrast with their happy condition is the furniture industry which has experienced sagging employment and payrolls.

Slot Machines

While the State Legislature has officially and legally adjourned, subject to a second special session in the Fall, several legislative committees remain at work. One of these is investigating the gambling industry in Michigan with the naive idea of finding out who is running it and how much graft is being paid for protection.

Hearings are being conducted in secrecy by Representatives Carl DeLano, of Kalamazoo, a Republican, and John Hamilton and Chester Fitzgerald, of Detroit, both Democrats.

The investigators declare that criminal action may be sought if evidence justifies. The legislators' dilemma is quite obvious. If the committee finds what it is looking for, it will have dynamite on its hands, for gamblers and politicians are likely to exert unusual pressure to block disastrous disclosures. If the committee finds no evidence, critics will suspect that pressure was applied successfully.

Representative Hamilton introduced a bill last spring to legalize gambling through a state licensing system.

Wages and Rates

In the Legislature session last spring, two lobbies pitted their strength against each other in seeking passage of bills affecting transportation in Michigan.

The railroads, facing prospects of wage increases, sought legislation to protect them against the ever-increasing competition of motor trucks.

Motor truck people, organized into a well-functioning lobby, asked special legislation to rescue their business from what some leaders termed to be "impending bankruptcy."

Then came the threat of a nation-wide strike of railroad workers; a wage increase averted this. The truckers then experienced a strike, as drivers demanded more wages under union conditions. A month's truce was effected.

Last week the state public utilities commission ordered a mandatory increase in freight rates for truck carriers. The higher rates may enable tuck carriers to incease wages of divers, and the same rates may return some of the diverted business back to the railroads. Even Commissioner Glenwood of the state commission admits that the rate change is experimental.

More than seventy million workers are covered by compulsory unemployment insurance laws in the United States and in Europe. Eight countries have voluntary systems of insurance, covering ten million additional workers. All 48 states and possessions of the United States have unemployment compensation laws.

The State of Michigan now has a $14,000,000 reserve unemployment compensation fund in the United States Treasury, bearing interest and making money for Michigan's future unemployed.

BUILDING WORKERS' HEALTH

An increasingly large number of industrial concerns are adopting "between-meal" food service to improve the health of employes, with consequent gains in production efficiency.

Researches on the subject made by Drs. Haggard and Greenborg, Yale University physiologists, have demonstrated that between-meal feeding produces this favorable effect. Similar studies have shown energy sustained throughout the day with consequent greater enjoyment of recreation and a marked decrease in absences from work when extra food was added. Actual experience, as indicated by the testimony of factory executives bears this out.

A study of "industrial fatigue" and how it can be counteracted by "between-meal" feedings was made by Haggard and Greenborg in a footwear factory. Workers were divided into three groups: those who skipped breakfast, those who ate three times a day, and those who—in addition to the three regular meals—included milk at mid-morning and mid-afternoon.

In terms of average hourly production of shoes, the results were: the no-breakfast group, 172 shoes hourly; three-meals group, 183 shoes hourly; three meals plus supplementary feedings group, 191 shoes hourly. Among a group of young women workers in another industry, milk between meals corrected underweight conditions while health of the employes was so improved in two years that absenteeism was reduced 01 per cent.—Michigan Mfg. and Fin. Record.

USE WHILE PAYING

Are installment sales again increasing to the danger point, which a number of observers and government officials maintain is happening?

When we sustained the first shocks of the '29 depression, most of us quickly realized what trouble we had piled up for ourselves in the form of installment accounts. We had considered ourselves most prosperous and our incomes limitless. The latter idea was increased by the too easy credit allowed to us on all articles from clocks to automobiles.

We struggled through several depression years carrying the time payment load of pre-depression purchases, resolved that thrift and economy would be our watchwords when good times returned.

It is interesting to note, therefore, that installment buying has again increased rapidly—purchases for 1936 being 25 per cent greater than 1035. What is more, the percentage of installment sales for 1936 was 12.3 per cent of all retail sales, compared to 13 per cent, the 1920 record.

UNCONSTITUTIONAL

This word has come to play a very important part in the vocabulary of America, and especially so, during these last few hectic months. We had hoped to see it dropped for a while now that the Supreme Court fight has finished, but it seems this is not to be. Senator somebody from somewhere claims to have discovered a clause in the new wages and hours bill just passed by the Senate of the United States, which may be unconstitutional. When the White House was informed of this fact, it is said, there was loud guffawing because this would make it possible to introduce more Supreme Court legislation. Our point is this. Isn't it about time someone informed the White House that the Constitution has clauses within itself which make it possible to change it whenever a changing world or conditions demand a change, and that continued efforts to belittle the Court in the eyes of the public by the introduction of unconstitutional legislation will not alter this Court's prestige before the public.

PEDDLERS

The summer season brings with it the usual invasion of itinerant merchants. Housewives are pestered by all kinds of peddlers and salesmen, who are here today and no one knows where tomorrow. Sometimes these housewives get fair value for the money spent with these door-to-door solicitors, but more often they do not. None of them will ever do better than they could do with the home town merchants.

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 51): "His consummate example was for the salvation of us all, hut only through doing the works which he did and taught others to do."

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCHES
Charlevoix and Ironton

We are going to do, what some might think, an unpardonable thing: preach a Labor Day sermon one week in advance. Next Sunday the pastor will speak from two seemingly contradictory texts. They are statements of Paul: "Work out your own salvation with fear and trembling." Phil. 2:12. And "For by grace are ye saved through faith; . . . . Not of works, lest any man should boast." Ephesians 2:8, 9.

This sermon was prompted by remarks made by Dr. Larsen in his splendid address of last Sunday from our pulpit. It will cause any serious minded person to think.

LIVING COSTS SHOWN TO BE RISING HIGHER

Costs Average Wage Earner 32 Cents More Per Week Now Than 1936

It cost the average Michigan factory worker 32 cents a week more to feed his family during July than it did a year ago, records of the State Department of Labor and Industry showed today.

The cost of buying 33 staple grocery and meat items for a family of four, a survey showed, was $8.06 a week in July and $8.13 in June of this year.

Statistics set the average base price for the period from 1923 to 1926 at $9.67 a week.

The figure for July, 1936, was $7.74 a week.

A four to five cent jump in meat prices was more than offset by a three to seven cent decline in vegetable prices and accounted for the drop in living costs in Michigan industrial cities from June to July, State Department statisticians said.

STATE FARM HARVEST BEST IN NINE YEARS

Crop Production to Show 20 Per Cent Gain Over 1936 Yield

Michigan farm harvests today were forecast as the largest in nine years and 20 per cent larger than a year ago by the cooperative crop reporting service.

Verne H. Church, senior agricultural statistician for the service maintained jointly by state and federal departments of agriculture, said the outlook "is generally good for all of Michigan's important crops."

His survey showed the composite condition of 16 leading crops as 81.2 per cent of normal, the highest for this month during nine years and a gain of 2.2 per cent over the July 1 figure. The corresponding condition a year ago was 61.9 per cent of normal.

AGE LIMIT RAISED

One of the important changes in the new state liquor law is a provision which requires purchasers of any alcoholic liquor to be 21 years old. Signs describing this provision of the new act must be posted in each room where alcoholic liquors are sold.

While 21 years has always been the legal majority age for the purchase of hard liquors, the 1933 act permitted the sale of beer to persons who had attained the age of 18 years. The new act is now in full effect and licensees are responsible for compliance with it. The change in the age limit should not be confusing to any retail liquor dealer. It means simply that no licensee or any of his employes may sell any alcoholic beverage to any person who is not yet 21 years of age. This includes beer and wine as well as all stronger liquors.

The Liquor Control Commission's policy concerning compliance with the age limit law has been very positively and definitely stated. It will be strictly enforced and licensees found guilty of selling to minors need not expect leniency. Minors, under 21 years, must not be sold or furnished any kind of alcoholic liquor.

Retail liquor dealers will be wise to watch this regulation very carefully. The dealer may use any method of ascertaining the correct age of his customers, as long as he does gain that very essential information. It is solely the licensee's responsibility. If there is any doubt as to the age of his customer, he will be safe in refusing to sell or serve him any type of beer, wine or spirits. He may lose a customer or several customers, but he will probably save his license.

The liquor commission's enforcement policy is preventative rather than punitive. The members prefer advice and warning to the necessity for punishment, but after all the state liquor commission cannot assume all the responsibility of protecting licenses for the retail liquor dealers.

In Washington there are 50 federal agency legal divisions, 34 agencies dealing with government bonds, 34 bureaus with acquisition of land, 16 with wild-life preservation, 10 with government construction, and nine with credit and finance.

VANDENBERG SPEECH HIGH LIGHT OF RALLY

Outstanding Candidate for G.O.P. Nomination to Be at Bay City

The scheduled address of United States Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg in Bay City during the two-day Republican rally, September 17-18, is expected to attract nation-wide attention due to his prominence in the national political picture, being one of the outstanding candidates for the G.O.P. presidential nomination in 1940. This, coupled with the fact that it will be Senator Vandenberg's initial public appearance on the platform since his dramatic efforts to defeat the court packing legislation proved successful, is being given by party leaders as the reason for so much interest in his forthcoming address.

Senator Vandenberg will bring with him from Washington, Congressman Dewey Short, only G.O.P. member of the House from Missouri. Congressman Short is well known in Michigan for his orutorical ability. He is a bitter opponent of the New Deal and his talk on the evening of September 18 is expected to be one of the high points of the rally.

Every state-wide Republican organization is behind the committee in charge of arrangements for the Bay City gathering. State Senator Miller Dunckel, of Three Rivers, as secretary of the Michigan League of Republican Clubs, is chairman of the committee. Officers of other G.O.P. organizations are assisting him in mapping out the extensive two-day program.

PREMARITAL PHYSICAL EXAMINATION REQUIRED AFTER OCTOBER 29TH

Michigan will be in the foremost of those states protecting the health of the family when the new marriage law passed by the 1937 Legislature goes into effect October 29, Dr. C. C. Slemons, state health commissioner, declared today.

The new law requires that "all persons making application for license to marry shall at any time within 15 days prior to such application be examined as to the existence or non-existence in such person of any venereal disease." The medical examination to be performed by any licensed physician must include a blood test for syphilis. The blood test will be made by the Michigan Department of Health or any laboratory registered by the department. Tests made by the department laboratories will be performed free of charge.

Surprising Exploits of An English Ex-Rector

How he led a blameless life until around 60, then made ardent love to pretty working girls, went around in a barrel, starved in a glass coffin and finally made the fatal mistake of stepping on a lion's paw while playing "Daniel in the Lions' Den," is told in an article in The American Weekly, the great weekly magazine with the August 29 issue of The Detroit Sunday Times.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE NEWS BULLETIN

"Gas" Bootleggers Due to Be Snagged

Suspected bootlegging of gasoline and other kinds of taxable motor fuel, into the state of Michigan, is due to receive a blow, as the result of operation of one of the acts of the regular session of the 1937 Legislature.

The statute makes it mandatory that all motor vehicles engaged in the business of transporting any kind of motor fuel, must bear permanently painted in a conspicuous place on its body, the name and address of its owner. Leon D. Case, secretary of state, has notified all concerned, that these letters must be not less than four inches high. In the case of wholesale distributors, the trucks must also show the "gasoline tax license" number, indicated by the letters "G.T."

The purpose of the act is to make police detection easier in instances where it is believed an attempt is being made to bring motor fuel into the state without payment of the state's three-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax, for sale at rates which recognized retailers could not meet.

Joseph Hadley, director of the gasoline tax division of the Department of State, points out that recognized dealers in all phases of the oil and gasoline industry, who have always cooperated with the state in observance of its gas tax collection law, will be benefited by operation of the statute. The act was immediately effective, but reasonable time for observance is being permitted by the Department of State.

LOADING RUBBER ON SMALL BOATS IN LIBERIA FOR TRANSPORTATION TO OCEAN FREIGHTERS
From the Firestone plantations in Liberia comes an ever-increasing supply of the world's finest rubber. Money saved here and in manufacturing and distribution enable Firestone to sell a safer, first-quality tire at lower prices.
Why FIRESTONE MAKES A SAFER TIRE AT A LOWER PRICE
PRICES AS LOW AS $6.40
Firestone

IN THE Firestone Standard Tire, you get extra value in the form of extra safety. It costs more money to build a safer tire. But Firestone can build a first-quality tire made of top grade materials and sell it for less money, because Firestone controls rubber and cotton supplies at their sources, manufactures with greater efficiency and distributes at lower cost.

YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST BLOWOUTS — eight extra pounds of rubber are added to every 100 pounds of cord by the Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process. By this process every fiber of every cord in every ply is saturated with liquid rubber. This counteracts dangerous internal friction and heat that ordinarily cause blowouts.

YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST PUNCTURES — because under the tread are two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords.

You need all of these features to make your car tire-safe on your week-end or vacation trip. Firestone gives them to you at lower cost. Join the Firestone SAVE A LIFE Campaign today by equipping your car with a set of new Firestone Standard Tires — today's top tire value.

UNEMPLOYMENT ACT CHANGES OUTLINED

DEDUCTION OF $6,000 FROM PAYROLL ELIMINATED

Eight or More Employes Now Necessary for Paymant — Benafit Date Is Advanced

A digest of the amendments to the atatc's unemployment compensation act, just approved by Governor Frank Murphy, was made today by Frank A. Picard, chairman of the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission.

"Thesc changes in our act vitally affect every employer and every worker in Michigan," Mr. Picard said. "With collection of state contributions on the first half of 1937 payrolls soon to start, I feel that every employer and employe should be familiar with these new provisions of our act."

Principal changes in the state act were listed by Mr. Picard as:

1. Elimination of the $6,000 deduction on total annual payrolls and change of coverage from employers of one or more to employers of eight or more workers.

2. Advancing the date on which benefit payments to unemployed workers may begin from January 1, 1939, to July 1, 1938,—six months earlier.

3. Three new types of employment exempted under the act: service performed by insurance salesmen on commission; part-time service where the worker's occupation during the school year is attending school (this applies mainly to newsboys) and employes whose work is performed mainly in a foreign country (this applies principally to employes of railroads entering Michigan from Canada).

4. Insertion of "teeth" in the act for the collection of delinquent contributions. This amendment gives the commission about the same powers as the state sales tax division now has, Mr. Picard said.

5. Appointment of an appeal board to hear disputed benefit claims by the Governor instead of the commission. The three-man board now will be appointed in April, 1938, instead of November, 1938, and will not be under the control of the commission.

6. Where formerly benefits could be denied workers who "financed strikes," amendments now provide that payment of "regular union dues" will not disqualify an unemployed worker from receiving benefits provided he is not on strike. The act makes strikers ineligible for benefits for as much as nine weeks of unemployment plus the three-week waiting period at the discretion of the commission.

7. Any service and any employer subject to the federal act now is subject to the Michigan unemployment compensation act if the service is performed in Michigan.

8. No benefits to be paid for a month of partial unemployment before January, 1939.

"The change in the definition of an employer was not the change we asked the Legislature for, nor was it the change Governor Murphy wanted," Mr. Picard said. "The Governor and our commission feel that the benefits of unemployment compensation should be given every worker in covered employment. By this amendment which eliminates the $6,000 exemption and covers only employers of eight or more, we estimate about 325,000 workers are eliminated who would have been covered had the one or more provision been adopted."

The advancement of the date for the start of benefit payments, however, was praised hy Mr. Picard as a "forward step."

"That amendment means that about $20,000,000 in benefit checks will be paid out to unemployed workers during the last half of 1938 providing the commission finds that by so doing it will not impair the right of Michigan employers to get their credit against their federal tax payments under Title IX of the Social Security Act."

Mr. Picard estimated that about 1,100,000 Michigan workers will be eligible to draw unemployment compensation benefits, when they become unemployed through no fault of their own, starting next July.

"A workman who is laid off or dismissed must report to the nearest state employment office which this commission soon is to establish in every part of the state," he said.

"He must report regularly at the employment office to prove he is available for work. If he does not obtain a job at similar, suitable work at the end of three weeks he begins to draw his weekly benefit checks.

"Benefits will amount to a maximum of $16 a week for a maximum of 16 weeks. In general a covered worker will receive about half his average weekly earnings in benefits, not to exceed $16."

Mr. Picard pointed out that the new definition of an "employer" covered by the act is: any employing unit which employed eight or more individuals in each of 20 different weeks during the current or preceding calendar year.

"It makes no difference whether such 20 weeks are consecutive nor does it make any difference whether or not the eight individuals were employed simultaneously or whether the same eight workers were employed in each of the 20 weeks," he said.

"In this respect the Michigan act differs from the federal act which provides that the eight employes must be employed on the same day in each of 20 different weeks."

This definition of "employer," Mr. Picard said, supercedes the former definition in the original act which included any employing unit with a payroll of $50 or more in each of three months in any calendar year, plus a $6,000 deduction on total annual payrolls.

"Another provision of the amended act is that any combination of small employers owned and controlled by the same interests is covered regardless of whether the individual units employ elght or more workers themselves," he said.

"This operates to prevent chains of gas stations, stores, etc., all owned or controlled by the same interests, from splitting up and avoiding the state contribution for unemployment compensation."

While he approves of most of the changes in the act, Mr. Picard said he will back Governor Murphy's attempt to have the Legislature extend the coverage to employers of one or more at the next special session of the Legislature.

4-H CLUB CONSERVATION SCHOOL PLANNED

Four-Day Session at Pigeon River Headquarters Sept. 13-17

What is expected to be the largest conservation school for 4-H club boys and their leaders so far held in the Great Lakes region is scheduled for the Pigeon River state forest headquarters from September 13 to September 17, inclusive.

It is expected that 100 young men and 20 leaders from 4-H groups in every section of the state will be in attendance. Instructions and demonstrations in the various phases of conservation work will be given.

The school will be sponsored jointly by Michigan State College and the Department of Conservation. The dormitory, mess and recreation facilities used by the Department of conservation in its regular training school for conservation officers will be placed at the disposal of those attending.

There are 4,900,000 people receiving their living from federal funds. When their dependents are added in, one out of every eight of the country's entire population is supported by the federal treasury. That makes it plenty tough on the other seven.

CONVICT SHIP

The Oldest Ship Afloat

This Wonderful Vessel Has Made History During Three Centuries

She marked the beginning and the end of England's monstrous penal system.

She has held lurid horror and dreadful iniquities beside which even the terrible stories of the Black Hole of Calcutta and the Spanish Inquisition pale into significanee.

She is the oldest ship in the world and the only convict ship left afloat of that dreadful "Fleet of Ocean Hells," which sailed the Seven Seas in 1790 A. D.

She is unchanged after all these years, nothing being omitted but her human freight and their suffering from the eruelties and barbarities praeticed upon them.

Aboard her are now shown, in their original state, all the airless dungeons and condemned eells, the whipping post, the manaeles, the branding irons, the punishment balls, the leaden-tipped eat-o'-nine tails, the eoffin bath and the other fiendish inventions of man's brutality to his fellow man.

From keel to topmast, she eries aloud the greatest lesson the world has even known in the history of human progress.

Is Hubby getting just a wee bit suspicious at your oft-repeated "Well the butcher is to blame"? Is he patiently enduring those little dinner tragedies when the prize cake is brought in looking as though it's been sat on? How many times has he looked at you with mute protest in his eyes?

In preparing a meal, you know, as in nearly everything else, it's the little things which count for success or failure. Just a little difference in the amount of vinegar will turn a tasty dressing into so much stove polish . . . . an oven too hot will ruin the labor of hours.

MRS. HELENE SAILER

Mrs. Sailer is known wherever better cooking is discussed. Her articles and lectures are followed by countless women. She has been engaged by The Courier to conduct the cooking classes the week of September 10-11.

In mother's day, to correct these culinary faults would have meant a long and patient apprenticeship to a skilled cook . . . . her mother, no doubt. Today, there's an easier way.

Under the auspices of The Courier, Mrs. Helene Sailer, long time lecturer on finer cookery and domestic science, will deliver a series of interesting talks and demonstrations.

"How to Prepare a BETTER Meal," held Friday afternoon, Friday evening and Saturday afternoon will deal with the preparation of every type of food. It will be worth your while to attend these classes. They're FREE . . . they're instructive . . . they're interesting. Be sure to come, and bring your friends.

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

By Congressman John Luecke
11th Michigan District

Highlights

The adjournment of Congress, President Roosevelt's now noted Lord MacCauley speech, and his flaying of the Tydings "Price-fixing" rider as he signed the D. C. Tax Bill to which it was attached, and the confirmation and swearing-in of Senator Black as an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court were the outstanding features in a crowded week.

Of greatest significance to the world of business was the signing by President Roosevelt of the District Tax Bill with its controversial Tydings "resale price maintenance" rider.

In signing the bill, the President flayed the "vicious practice" of attaching totally unrelated measures to important and specific bills. He called attention to the delicate position in which such a practice placed him and expressed the hope that there would be no repetition in future Congresses.

Special Session

Scarcely had the rumblings of adjournment died away when the possibility of a Special Session of Congress came to the fore as a topic of discussion. There is a distinct possibility that President Roosevelt may call a special session of Congress late this fall to act upon some of the Administration's favored measures which have been shelved by Congress until next session in its mad rush for adjournment.

The Chief Executive intimated this in a recent conference with the press. For the first time since the question of an extra session was first broached, the President did not turn it lightly aside.

It is known that the President is disappointed over the failure of Congress to put through legislation he deems "desirable" at this session. So political observers believe there is a sound basis for predicting a Special Session. Among the pet administration bills which Congress has relegated to various committee pigeonholes until the next session are the Food and Drug Bill, Water Pollution, Wages and Hours Bill, Farm Legislation, and a more drastic Government Reorganization Bill.

U. S. and Brazil

Tha governments of the United States and Brazil are "standing pat" with regard to their agreement for the leasing of six American war vessels to the South American Republic, despite the opposition to the move on the part of other nations.

The Argentine Government called upon both Brazil and the United States to explain the "significance" of the move, which it was claimed will upset the balance of naval power in South America.

European nations too look upon the warship lease as a violation of the spirit if not the letter of the navnl treaty between the major powers.

In a joint statement, the U. S. and Brazil asserted that the lease is but a gesture in the "good neighbor" policy existing between American countries.

Shanghai

The State Department is practically entirely engrossed in the Sino-Japanese hostilities in Shanghai and vicinity, and every effort is being made to evacuate American nationals from the danger zone as expeditiously as possible, Secretary Hull said at a late press conference.

Hull said that an additional warning has been sent out by the Department to American nationals urging them to leave the country as soon as possible. Nearly 8,000 U. S. citizens have been evacuated.

H.O.L.C. Loans

President Roosevelt's support for a move to bring about a reduction in the number of foreclosures of homes financed through Federal Loans by lowering the interest rates was urged by Represetnative Ellenbogen (D-Pa) at a recent White House conference.

MICHIGAN STATE NURSERY IN NEW SERVICE

Offers Large Variety of Trees and Shrubs to Michigan Farmers

Service of the forest nursery of Michigan State College is being expanded to help wild life and game in the state with plantings suitable for food and shelter, it is announced by P. A. Herbert, head of the forestry department at the college.

Of the more than two million trees available to farmers and owners of rural land this year, some of the stock will include berry and nut bearing shrubs and those that will offer browse and shelter to game. The service is pioneering, as no other state is known to offer such material.

Since start of the nursery in 1903 more than 20,000,000 forest trees have been placed in the hands of farmers. Many of the trees have made saw lumber and others continue to protect livestock and households from raw winter weather or to serve as windbreaks and woodlots.

A second nursery operated by the Michigan State College experiment station is located as part of a substation 18 miles south of Sault Ste. Marie. This serves the Upper Peninsula.

Price lists of available material now include nearly 40 kinds of nursery stock, sold at cost to those who can qualify. The conditions under which the material is sold to landowners include restrictions that the stock may not be planted within corporate limits of cities or used for ornamental purposes, or resold with the roots attached.

Christmas tree planting stock has been included in the material sold to growers. The original stock, offered through financial cooperation from the United States Department of Agriculture, included white, Norway and Scotch pine and Norway spruce. Scotch pine fell into disfavor because seed has been gathered from the short, crooked trees in Europe and seedlings grew short and crooked.

CONSULT GEOLOGIST ON GOLD MINE PROPOSALS

Advice Free of Charge Available at U. of M. or Michigan State College

Residents of this state as well as those from out-of-state who are invited to help finance gold-mining ventures in Michigan are advised by R. A. Smith, state geologist, to consult competent authorities before buying stock in any such mining promotion.

The office of the state geologist at Lansing and the geology departments of Michigan State College and the University of Michigan, can be consulted without charge as to the likelihood of gold being present in paying quantities anywhere in the state.

DAIRY HERD IMPROVEMENT

George Meggison's Jerseys tied for first place in production last month among the medium-sized herds in Northwest Michigan Dairy Herd Improvement Association. Average per cow was 508 pounds milk and 29.0 pounds butterfat.

Richard Paddock's herd of Jerseys was second in the same class with an average per cow of 554 pounds milk and 28.5 pounds fat.

Ecklund Brothers' herd of Holsteins was second among the large herds with 646 pounds milk and 24.7 pounds fat per cow.

Most herds showed considerably less production for July than for June. Average per cow throughout the association for July was 554 pounds milk and 23.6 pounds fat, as compared with 670 pounds milk and 28.7 pounds fat for June. Poor pasture conditions were largely responsible. Some members were using alfalfa for pasture, but even this was below normal condition.

FAMOUS CONVICT SHIP ARRIVING WEDNESDAY

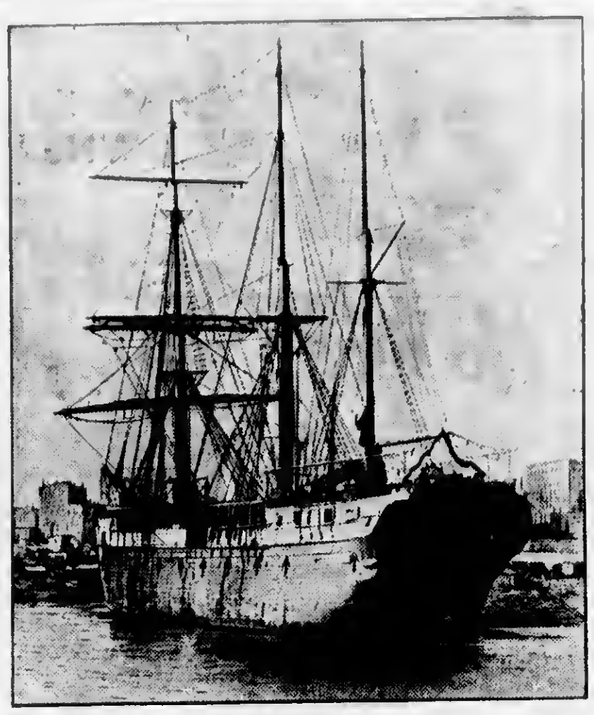
Will Be on Exhibition at Mason Street City Dock

The famous Convict Ship, which residents of this region had an opportunity to inspect upon its visit here 10 years ago, is returning to Charlevoix on Wednesday, August 25, and will be located at the city dock at the foot of Mason street.

The Convict Ship still retains her name "Success with which she was christened in 1790, 147 years ago, when she was launched in Moulmein, British Burma. She is the sole relic of the British fleet which transported prisoners from England and Ireland to Australia for 50 years, during which time it is calculated that 167,000 men, women and children were transported overseas for a term of imprisonment which was never less than seven years and ranged to the terms of their natural lives.

In 1851, the old vessel was taken out of the transport service and converted into a floating jail, anchored permanently off where now stands the city of the solitary confinement prisoners who were strongly barred in the grim cells below the water line, the felons were taken ashore each day to work in the stone quarries, preparing stone for the erection of public buildings.

In 1868, this system was abolished and the Convict Ship became successively a women's prison, a boys' reformatory and an ammunition dump. In 1885, she was scuttled and sunk by irate Australians who wanted to destroy the last trace of the iniquitous system. She lay under picturesque waters of Sydney Harbor for five years and was then raised and started on her world tour as a floating museum. She has since sailed from Australia to England under her own canvas, that voyage taking 165 days and then, in 1912, she started her memorable voyage from Liverpool, England, under her own sail and reached Boston in 96 days.



It is estimated that more than 22,000,000 people have visited her since she was placed on exhibition. She represents the darkest chapters in prison history. Severe imprisonment and almost unspeakable torture were imposed in her days for offenses that today would be considered trivial. As a consequence, her exhibition is now greatly us an object lesson in prison reform.

While it is known that thousands of dangerous prisoners were transported, it is also well established that many of the unwilling passengers of the ship were political prisoners whose greatest offense was their outspoken declaration against laws and systems that are now recognized as unjust.

Today she is perhaps the greatest existing example of man's inhumanity to men. Aboard her are now shown in their original state, all the airless dungeons and condemned cells, the leaden tipped cat o' nine tails, the whipping posts, the black holes, the manacles, the hrunding irons, the punishment balls, the coffin buth and other fiendish inventions of the time when her human freight were made to suffer all the cruelties and barbarities that could be heaped upon them.

For the first 12 years ot her life, from 1790 to 1802, she was considered one of the finest merchant vessels built for the East India trade. Traces of her grandeur are still discernible in her hand carved teak. In fact, she is built throughout of Burmese teak which for resistance to decay has no equal among woods. It is now almost unprocurahle. When the quotations are made, the figure of a dollar a pound is used for this grade of teakwood. There are between four or five hundred tons of this precious wood in the vessel.

EIGHT ROADSIDE TABLES IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY

Part of State Highway Department Roadside Development Program

An expansion of the State Highway Department's roadside development policy during the past year has resulted in the placing of eight roadside picnic tables along state highways in Charlevoix county this summer.

The State Highway Department has announced that more tourists than ever before are using tha 1,500 roadside tables that have been placed throughout the state. This is a total increase of nearly 600 tables over last year. The tables are located at convenient points along the trunklines where outstanding views or a particularly shady spot are available. At many of these spots, stoves and wells or springs are also provided.

"Counts taken at typical roadside picnic parks and letters we have received from tourists from all parts of the nation indicate that these extra services are deeply appreciated," said State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner. "Registrations also show that hundreds of Michigan motorists are using these picnic facilities as well us tourists from outside the state."

There are eight points in Charlevoix county where picnic facilities have been provided by the highway department. A list of them showing their location follows:

US-31—8 miles south of Charlevoix—1 table.

US-31—4 miles south of Charlevoix, view of Lake Michigan—1 table.

US-31—7 miles north of Charlevoix—1 table.

M-131—2 miles south of Boyne Falls—1 table.

M-75—3 miles north of Boyne City—1 table.

M-66—4 miles north of East Jordan—1 table.

MAY CAN FRUITS WITHOUT SUGAR

Fruit canning in the midst of a bountiful Michigan harvest can be accomplished without the use of sugar until later use, but the fruit will not hold its color, shape or flavor as well.

This is an explanation prepared through the home economics extension service of Michigan State College.

Unsweetened canned fruit is useful for piemaking and also in the diet of persons who hava diabetes. Juicy fruits should be canned in their own juices rather than with water, when no sugar is used.

The process is not difficult. A new wrinkle suggested by those who have experimented with fruit canning is the idea of adding extra juice. Extract tha juice from tha riper fruits by crushing, heating and straining. Pack tha remaining fruits closely into glass jars or tin cans without preheating and add enough boiling juice to cover. Partially seal the jars or exhaust and then seal tin cans.

A hot water bath is used then to process from five to 20 minutes, dedending on the density of the fruit. Another method is to precook the fruit two to four minutes and then pour hot into containers, seal and process.

Less juicy fruits canned without sugar require water. These include apples, peaches and pears. Only the smallest amount of water necessary should be used, however, in order to keep the natural flavor of the fruit.

During the first six months of its existence, the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission operated well within the budget granted it by tha United States government.

SCHOOLS TO OPEN ON SEPTEMBER 13

FIVE NEW TEACHERS ON FACULTY THIS YEAR

Many Improvements Made in School Buildings During Summer—New Courses Will Be Offered

O. P. North, superintendent, has announced that Charlevoix public schools will open Monday, September 13, for the 1937-38 term.

Five changes have been made in the faculty since the close of school last spring. The first grade will be taught by Lucille Mapes, of Sanfield, who has taught three years at Clawson and is an Ypsilanti graduate. Miss Muriel Tobin, of Nahma, with three years teaching and a product of Northern Normal at Marquette, has been engaged for the sixth grade. The high school English department will be in charge of Phyllis Huston, of Ann Arbor, a graduate of University of Michigan. Ione Smith, of Central Lake, with three years of teaching and a U. of M. graduate, will teach mathematics and science, while Miss Virginia Nickerson, of this city, a grudaate of Albion College, has been engaged to teach history and civics.

Following is the complete fucalty: Saperintendent, O. P. North, teaching chemistry; principal senior high and teacher of social studies, Harry Bingham; principal junior high and commercial teacher, Harry Oakley; principal elementary grades and third grade instructor, Gertrude Dick; literary, economics and track coach, Stowart Coleman; mathematics and coach, Ray Kipke; languages and English, Ray Elizabeth Sawyer, mathemntics und science, Ione L. Smith; history and civics, Virginia Nickerson; English, Phyllis Huston; manual arts und drawing, Frunk Oleksy; English and geography, Floranz Milner; sixth grade, Muriel Tobin; fifth grade, Clara Dittmer; fourth grade, Geraldine Millar; second grade, Frances Milner; first grade, Lucille Mapes; kindergarten, Violet Bush; hand and mathematics, Max Smith; librarian, Minnie E. Payton; clerk, Marjorie Jean Carey.

New subjects will be taught if possible and, if there is u real demand, will include mechanical drawing, public speaking and advanced mathematics. Physical education is not included in this year's program and will not be unless the demand from school patrons warrants. The usual time will be allowed for this work, however, but will be handled by the regular teachers.

Entrance to the kindergarten will be limited to those five years old at the time school starts. If later it is found possible to accommodate others, they will be admitted in order of age. Last year a few younger children were allowed to attend with the understanding they would not be promoted beyond the age group. If accommodations allow, this will be done again, making it possible for some children to have practically the advantages of a nursery school.

During the summer numerous improvements have been made in the buildings. The second floor of the high school has been repaired and redecorated. The passageway connecting the two high school buildings has been removed, eliminating an unsightly and unsafe feature. Concrete steps have been built at the north entrance of the high school and the space between the two buildings landscaped. In the grade building minor repairs and decorating have been completed. The entire building is now being cleaned preparatory to opening.

Near approach of the new marriage law requiring physical examination is considered one reason for the increase.

On the Mackinaw Front

With many bouts on the grounds daily and good catches continuing, trolling in Lake Michigan for Mackinaw trout is holding the limelight of interest of both local and summer residents.

Catches reported taken over the week-end from the Charlevoix Trolling Camp include:

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Franklin, of Buchanan, two fish weighing six and 12 pounds.

Alvin D. Goldman, St. Louis, Mo., member of a party also including Frederic Fechheimer and S. J. T. Strauss, Chicago, a 15½-pounder.

The Town Club directors, Rosalynde Johnston and Lee Robinson, and their party took two fish scaling 10 and six pounds Sunday, and Monday landed a couple more.

Five fish, weighing 10, eight, six and two five-pounders were taken Saturday afternoon by Wilbar Anderson and C. E. Gann, of Detroit. Mr. Anderson, a staff correspondent of the Michigan Motor News, was guest of Don Clothier of the Charlevoix Trolling Camp and the Charlevoix Board of Commerce, joint sponsors of a week-end fishing trip awarded as a prize at the Detroit and Michigan Exposition, a newspaper convention. The prize was won by Arthur Gloster, a local summer resident, who, unable to come, gave it to Anderson. Mr. Gunn is a representative of Radio Station WXYZ, Detroit.

Herman Panama, Chicago, a Boulder Park summer resident, landed two eight-pounders Monday.

The most peculiar bit of fishing luck goes to Fred Bailey, Grand Rapids. Fishing with Clarence N. Wood, Mr. Bailed hooked a line with a six pound trout on it. His luck was some other fisherman's misfortune, for someone had lost both line and fish.

One of the largest fish reported, a 15-pounder, was taken Monday morning by Morris Schaeffer, of Saginaw.

Charlie Helse and Jimmy Sharrow, the latter of Mt. Clemens, accounted for an eight and a 10-pounder Sunday, and Monday afternoon Charlie took two more about the same size.

It's impossible to check up on all boats operating at the present time, so if someone's missed, that's the reason. Contributions to this column will be gladly accepted at all times.

Gaided from the Miller Boat Co., Art Roamao and Bob Dine, of Cincinnati, O., caught fish weighing seven and one-half and 13½ pounds Tuesday.

The Charlevoix Trolling Camp reports that Mr. and Mrs. G. Balck, of Terre Haute, Ind., landed a 16-pounder Wednesday morning.

COUNTY PICNIC PROGRAM READY

ANNUAL LABOR DAY EVENT AT WHITING PARK, MONDAY

Softball Games, 4-H Club Exhibits, Sports and Contests Are Among Entertainment Features

(By B. C. Mellencamp)

Final plans have been developed for the biggest and best county picnic at Whiting Park Monday, September 6. From noon until late in the afternoon, events of interest to young and old will be the center of attraction.

A flag raising ceremony at 1 o'clock starts the activity. American Legionnaires will be in charge. A feature of the program will be the awarding of distinguished war awards to two county Legionnaires. Immediately after this program, a complete lineup of sports including races for young and old, tug of war, pie eating, and other contests will add to the enjoyment of the occasion. A picnic without ball games just isn't possible, so two softball games will take care of the desires of all baseball lovers. At 1:30 the K. P.s of Charlevoix will play the Coffee Cups, of East Jordan, in a seven inning game. Next Thompson's Farm Lads will display their ability against the Boyne City Merchants.

An amateur program will be staged at 2 o'clock featuring the Soule family, of Bellaire, one of the noted musical groups of Northern Michigan. The next event will be several boxing contests including the best boxers from the county and CCC Camp Wolverine.

DEER FOUND PLENTIFUL IN VANDERBILT DISTRICT

Recent CCC Drive of Four Mile Area Resulted in 100 Count

Six tons of marsh hay, to be used during the fall for a mulch at the Hardwood State Nursery, is being taken from marsh land in the Pigeon River State Forest area by CCC enrollees of Camp Pigeon River. Hand labor is required to cut and transport the hay to high ground where it can be loaded on trucks.

In the August deer drive by Camp Pigeon River, the deer census takers counted more than a hundred deer, four bear and two foxes in areas approximating four square miles.

ACT REQUIRES EMPLOYERS REGISTER

JOB INSURANCE BILL PROVISIONS MANDATORY

Number of Employes Not Regarded In Meeting Requirements, According to Commission Chairman

Frank A. Picard, chairman of the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission, today reiterated to employers in the upper part of the Lower Peninsula the importance of their registering under provisions of the state job insurance act.

"Employers throughout the state must register regardless of the number of persons they employed during 1936," Picard said. "A branch office of the commission has been established in Petoskey to aid employers of this area in complying with the law."

Picard warned that contributions required during 1936 must still be paid if they have not already been sent to the commission. Also that contributions at the rate of two per cent of total wages paid during the first nine months of 1937 will be due and must be paid on October 31.

Eugene Fochtman, a field representative of the commission, is in charge of the Petoskey office, located at 311½ Howard street. There are six other branches located in various cities of Michigan.

"Mr. Fochtman will be available to aid all employers in the upper part of the Lower Peninsula," Picard said. "He will assist them in filing their registration and contribution reports and will investigate cases where reports already received by the commission indicate errors on the part of the employer."

Picard pointed out that any employer who employed one or more persons at any time during 1936 in employment covered by the state act, was required to fill out a registration report for the commission.

"Such a report is still required," Picard said, "despite amendments to the act made by the Legislature in July, 1937. Those employers who should have registered in 1936 and did not must still do so. They must also still pay contributions on their 1936 payrolls if they were liable.

"Every employer who had a monthly payroll of $50 or more in at least three months during 1936 in employment covered by the act should have filed a contribution report and paid contributions on his total 1936 payrolls.

GAYLORD BOY, 8, WAS DROWNED SATURDAY

Darrell Porter Loses His Life In Lake Charlevoix

Knocked unconscious when he fell from a boat at Springwater Beach, Lake Charlevoix, Darrell Porter, 8, son of Rupert Porter, of Gaylord, drowned Saturday afternoon. Resorters who saw the mishap brought the boy to shore.

Help was sought from conservation officers at Boyne City and Sheriff Floyd Ikens took two local coast guards to the scene, but efforts to revive the boy were futile. Witnesses said he struck his head on the gunwale of the small boat when he slipped and tumbled into the water.

He was visiting at the cottage of William Benser. The father, at Gaylord, was notified and the body taken there.

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Labor Day next Monday (September 6) will bring a golden exodus of summer resorters from Michigan's paradise of lovely lakes and picturesque streams.

Highways will be loaded with traffic, both day and night, as literally hundreds of thousands of persons hit the road, bound for homes in the Middle-West. Special trains will leave the resort country in numerous sections, for Detroit, Chicago, and other points. Lake steamships, "oversold" for weeks, will carry capacity lists.

This tourist "harvest" may not mean much to the man on the street whose income is such that he can't afford to take his family away to lakes or parks for two weeks. In some parts of Michigan where industry and agriculture predominate, city dwellers are apt to become irritated as the summer tourists crowd stores, jam highways, and otherwise spend money.

But it is a matter of cold, matter-of-fact statistics that Michigan's lakes and streams are worth $315,000,000 annually. Michigan's tourist business, in fact, is unrivalled anywhere in the United States and that includes such exotic places as Cali-

Geary Waffle, of Mancelona, is now residing on the former Charley Cole place at Creswell, and working on the Smith farm.

Sunday morning's diversion—getting a horse out of the well at the home of ye correspondent last Sunday. The horse that we wrote a story about for the Press last spring, 30 years of age, went into the well house to get at some feed there, and fell through into the pit below. The neighbors came in to help, and in about an hour had succeeded in pulling her out, but things looked rather dubious for a time. "Walter Wanger's Vogues of 1938" Musical Forecast

Something breath-takingly new in screen entertainment comes to the Palace Theatre on Sunday and Monday, September 5 and 6, when "Walter Wanger's Vogues of 1938" begins an engagement there.

In preparation for many months, and representing a staggering investment, the film offers screen audiences a preview of next year's vogues in fashions, fun, girls, music, dances and Technicolor.

This gay musical stars Warner Baxter and Joan Bennett at the head of an imposing cast including Helen Vinson, Mischa Auer, Alan Mowbray, Jerome Cowan, Marjorie Gateson, Dorothy McNulty, Alma Kruger, Polly Rowles, and the Walter Wanger Models — "the most photographed girls in the world," — whose beauty and shapeliness the producer has framed in style creations from three famous designers, and furs and jewels valued at $1,000,000. Omar Kiam, Helen Taylor and Irene are responsible for the closely-guarded style creations.

William Boyd in Thirteenth "Hopalong" Film

A distinguished career in feature films already behind him, William Boyd, handsome husky from Oklahoma, continues to enhance his screen reputation as "Hopalong Cassidy," the best-loved Western character ever to be brought to the screen.

Boyd's latest "Hopalong" role is in "Hopalong Rides Again," 13th of the Clarence E. Mulford stories to be brought to the screen, which opens Saturday, September 11, at the Palace Theatre.

AT LAST—CIVIL SERVICE

What those two words will mean to the taxpayers of Michigan in the years to come, could probably be reckoned in the millions of dollars. For a while it looked as if Michigan, the state that authorized the drafting of a Civil Service law that was considered to be a model of its kind and already adopted by some other states, was not going to be able to enact it into law right here at home. But those of us who were worried forgot that the boys had to return home for a few days and listen to their neighbor's opinion concerning their early failures in this respect. The result, as we all know, was the passing of a law that may not be as drastically non-political as the original, but it is certainly a step in the right direction.

Of course there are some who will find fault with their efforts. This is to be expected. We grant that it does seem to make it easier for those at present employed by the state to keep their jobs. But even they will have to take qualifying tests to prove their ability. We have known, and still know, people working for the state who could never hold any other kind of position. They will eventually be eliminated. We must also remember that Michigan is the only state that has passed a law of this nature without blanketing in all of its employes.

There are many other features of this new piece of legislation that are admirable; however, if it doesn't work as expected the people can readily demand the necessary changes. At least we can now look forward to having continued rather than fitful spurts of efficiency in our state departments. Also, men and women, who would like to take up work of this nature, can now do so without the fear of losing their job when a change of administration takes place.

Raised by a she-bear that stole her when a baby. Like little Mowgli of Kipling's most famous story she lived for eight years the life of a wild beast. In The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with next Sunday's Chicago Herald and Examiner.

A Safety Tip FOR YOUR Labor Day Trip

TAPPING RUBBER TREES ON FIRESTONE PLANTATIONS IN LIBERIA
From the Firestone plantations in Liberia comes an ever-increasing supply of the world's finest rubber. Money saved here and in manufacturing and distribution enable Firestone to sell a safer, first-quality tire at lower prices.
PRICES AS LOW AS $6.40

Here's Why FIRESTONE STANDARD TIRES GIVE YOU MORE FOR YOUR MONEY

DON'T take chances on your Labor Day trip. Protect yourself and family by equipping your car with a set of new first-quality Firestone Standard Tires. Firestone builds extra quality and extra safety into these tires and sells them at lower prices because Firestone controls rubber and cotton supplies at their sources, manufactures with greater efficiency and distributes at lower cost.

YOU GET LONGER NON-SKID MILEAGE—because of the extra-tough, long-wearing tread.

DON'T RISK YOUR LIFE ON SMOOTH WORN TIRES!

DO YOU KNOW

THAT last year highway accidents cost the lives of more than 39,000 men, women and children?

THAT a million more were injured?

THAT more than 40,000 of these deaths and injuries were caused directly by punctures, blowouts and skidding due to smooth, worn, unsafe tires?

At right is section cut from a new Firestone Tire. Note the thick, non-skid protection against skidding, blowouts and punctures. Come in and see by actual demonstration.

At left is a section cut from a smooth, worn tire, with non-skid protection worn off. Tires in this condition are liable to punctures, blowouts and skidding.

THE GREAT H. I.

By R. H. WILKINSON

© Bell Syndicate.—WNU Service.

THEY called him the Great H. I. His full name was Henry Isadors Darrell. But, he disliked "Henry," and so let it become known he was to be addressed as "H. I."

The more intimate of his associates called him "Hi," which was to the great man's liking.

He had risen from the ranks.

He was a typical self-made man.

At forty he was head of a great textile plant, a plant in which, 25 years before, he had served as bobbin boy.

When the depression hit New England the Darrell mill did not discontinue operations.

It kept going, employing a full capacity of laborers.

True, in order to meet competition, it slashed prices, lessened the quality of its product. And to offset this reduction in its income, it cut wages. Cut them to the bone. But it kept going. Full time. Night and day. Employing a full roster of men and women.

It was all due, they said, to the ingenuity of H. I.

It was his brains that kept the men at work.

Other mills in other towns nearby went on half time, quarter time, closed down entirely. But H. I.'s great plant in Martinsville continued to operate.

• • •

H. I. was very proud.

He received the plaudits of the people of Martinsville with an appreciative little smile.

He understood how they felt.

He could place himself in their position. For wasn't once he, the Great H. I., a bobbin boy in the mill which he now controlled?

H. I. worked night and day, negotiating, dickering, quoting prices. And the orders continued to roll in.

The looms were never idle.

Fortunately, H. I. had the foresight to surround himself with brilliant men.

During his climb up the ladder he had had the ingenuity to benefit by his association with others. And when he reached the top he didn't forget.

He studied the records of the men who had been employed at the plant for years on end. And he craftily appointed these men to the positions to which they were most fitted. And when all the appointments were completed, H. I. looked over his little army of executives and was satisfied.

And he, the Great H. I., was the head of one of the most powerful industrial organizations in the country.

• • •

H. I., like most folks, had anticipated an early recovery from the depression.

He was, in fact, quite astounded when, in 1932, the good old United States was wallowing quite helplessly and quite a good deal deeper in the muck of inertia. But H. I. didn't waste any time fretting or complaining.

Instead he worked even harder.

Frequently he took business trips to New York; more frequently he stayed up half the night bending over sheaves of figures—quotations, prices, discounts and what not.

And it wasn't long before those closely associated with the great man and members of his immediate family began to perceive a change in the textile king.

The strain of overwork and too-late hours was beginning to tell.

Dark circles appeared under his eyes.

Flesh fell away from his body.

Hollows appeared in his cheeks.

A dullness came to his eyes.

In short, H. I. was beginning to slow up.

He wasn't as quick as he once had been, or as sure.

Maurice Barnstead, H. I.'s chief executive, suggested a rest. H. I. looked at him in mingled anger and puzzlement.

"Rest!" he exploded. "Rest! Me? Don't be an idiot, Maurice! Why, what would happen to the mill if I should go away? What would happen, eh?"

"You can't ruin your health," Maurice protested mildly.

"You can't go on forever. We'd just have to struggle along without you."

"Bah! Who put this mill where it is today, eh? Who besides the great H. I.? Talk sense, Maurice. Should I go away it would be the end. The mill would close. All these good people would be out of work. Then what, eh?"

• • •

But Maurice had read the handwriting on the wall.

Within a month's time something snapped inside H. I.'s head.

He seemed dazed, unable to think.

He couldn't concentrate.

His doctor suggested a vacation; finally ordered it. H. I. was enraged, indignant, unmanageable.

"But the mill! What will happen to it, eh? Within a week the looms will no longer run. It will mean the end. They cannot get along without me."

Mrs. Darrell and Maurice and the doctor all agreed that he was right. But in his present condition he could do no good. He must go away. He must rest. They were firm.

And so, after a good deal of persuasion, H. I. consented. But even then they had to practically force him into it.

He sputtered and complained and raged during the three days it took to reach Miami.

He continued to sputter and rage during the next week.

But they forced him to play golf, to sail about Biscayne bay in a chartered yacht, to sit for hours in the warm sun on the beach.

He asked for and was refused news of conditions back at the mill.

They tried to keep his mind from business.

They wouldn't even let him talk with other textile magnates who were wintering in Florida.

"The mill is closed, eh? Shut down. Folded up. That is why you will not let me hear the news, eh? You think it does me good? Perhaps now you will believe when I say they cannot keep going without the great H. I., eh?"

• • •

They kept him there a month.

Then they let him go back.

It was no use. He had improved but slightly. He was like a maniac, ever thinking and talking about his mill.

The train bearing H. I. and his party reached Boston late in the evening.

The sooner he reached Martinsville the better.

He chartered an automobile.

They drove through the night, passed through sleeping towns with mills that were closed and dark; factories looming on every hand like grim spectres of a once flourishing industry.

H. I. squirmed in his seat, became morose.

At length they reached the outskirts of Martinsville, whirled up the main street, came abreast of the mill. H. I. started, blinked, rubbed his eyes.

The mill was lighted!

Every window of every department shone brightly. There was the hum of machinery. An atmosphere of industry prevailed about the place.

H. I. climbed down from the automobile, went alone into the office. Maurice was there; Maurice and the entire night force.

They looked at the great man in surprise.

There was also the merest trace of annoyance in the glance they bestowed upon him.

"The mill is running, eh? Come, what kind of a trick are you playing? You are running and yet there are no orders. There can be no orders without me here to see to things."

Maurice seemed surprised.

Things had been going along all right. Orders? Of course. Why not? The mill was running as it always had run.

• • •

H. I. was incredulous.

He sat down, looked through some books, listened to the reports of various department heads, stood up, thrust his hands deep into his pockets, strode over to a window and stared out into the night.

And then suddenly the great realization came. The mill had run without him!

They had managed somehow without his guiding hand!

He wasn't after all, as important as he'd thought himself to be.

He'd had an exalted opinion of himself.

He'd placed a halo about his head, thought he'd held the reins of progress in his hands.

He'd believed that the mill and everyone connected with it depended upon him and him alone.

He'd come to think of himself as a savior, as some kind of exalted being on whom the world was depending for guidance.

Suddenly H. I. chuckled and for the first time in months a twinkle came into his eyes.

He wasn't, he reflected, important at all.

Things had progressed quite as smoothly as they always had. The mill and Martinsville and the whole world did and would continue to go on whether he was around or not.

He was such an insignificant part of it.

There had been others before him: Caesar, Napoleon, Cromwell, Alexander—hundreds upon hundreds of men who thought of themselves as a little more important in the scheme of things than the next man.

They had come and gone and the world had gone on and on with scarcely a ripple in its progress.

H. I. turned away at last and looked at Maurice, but Maurice had turned back to his desk, had in fact, forgotten the great man's presence.

"What a fool," H. I. muttered, "a man is to think that anything depends upon him alone to keep it going."

And the Great H. I. went out and climbed into his automobile and drove away toward home.

And as he rode along he began to think how nice it had been down in the warm sunshine of Miami beach where he hadn't amounted to much.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP ABROAD

A recent article by George E. Doying in Public Utilities Fortnightly is exceptionally interesting in clearing up some misconceptions concerning foreign publicly owned utilities which are universally lauded by American public ownership enthusiasts who seek establishment of socialism in the electric industry here.

Sweden is often pointed to as a place where government and private utilities exist side by side, each getting along nicely. That is true. But what is not brought out is that Swedish government-owned utilities are required to pay taxes, interest and all other charges that private utilities are obliged to meet. In other words, competition is on a fair, not an unmeetable, subsidized basis.

The British Grid is likewise widely rated as a miracle of public ownership. The truth is that the Grid is not owned or operated by the government or any governmental agency. It is managed by a non-political board of experienced men and is, to all intents and purposes, a private enterprise.

This is largely true throughout the world. America is the only major country where privately owned utilities, stringently regulated and heavily taxed, are expected to meet subsidized tax-free competition. Only in America do publicly owned utilities escape the obligations that devolve upon all other enterprises.

LUECKE WILL CONTINUE STRAITS BRIDGE EFFORT

Will Reopen Campaign at January Session of Congress

Congressman John Luecke, of the 11th district, is so convinced of the need of a bridge across the Straits of Mackinac between Mackinaw City and St. Ignace that he has announced he will reopen his campaign at the next congressional session which opens in January.

He fought zealously during the past session to secure enactment of a bill for federal authorization to Michigan to span the Straits. Under leadership of Senator Prentiss M. Brown, the bill was passed in the Senate but was blocked by dissident Michigan congressmen when it reached the House.

"Under the state act before it was amended," Picard continued, "every employer was permitted to deduct the first $6,000 of his total annual payroll in computing the contribution owed to the state commission.

"For those employers required to do so who have not yet paid their 1936 contributions, the commission urges that the $6,000 exemption be claimed.

"Under the amended act no such deduction is allowed," Picard said. "The deduction was repealed by the Legislature in the limitation of coverage to employers of eight or more. It may no longer be claimed in computing contributions.

"Any employer in this particular area who has any doubt as to whether or not he is covered by the state act should communicate with Mr. Fochtman immediately," Picard said.

Picard also warned that any employer who has not yet paid his 1936 contributions must do so and in addition must pay interest penalties at the rate of three-quarters of one per cent per month or fraction of a month.

The contribution rate on 1936 payrolls was nine-tenths of one per cent and was due last March 20.

While the State Unemployment Compensation Commission has registered approximately 87,000 Michigan employers to date, Picard said that many employers have not yet been registered.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT

Community Health

"Community health is now reduced to an exact science," said William L. Munson, of the New York State Department of Health. "Today you can buy your protection against disease as you can your coal or your flour."

This statement is literally true of many diseases. The individual who is afraid of diphtheria needs only to have his blood tested to know whether he may contract the disease if exposed. Then if he is found susceptible, he can be treated so that he runs very little danger of infection.

The control of many other diseases besides diphtheria and scarlet fever is understood by doctors. There is at the command of medical science a large fund of knowledge. Yet persons are constantly dying in every community of diseases which are easy to control. The reason is that such knowledge is kept at man's disposal rather than being put to work.

Community health is purchasable. Expenditure for a well-equipped health department is an investment in health. Business men everywhere are finding that it pays. Still, there are many men who exercise good judgment in their own line of work who give the matter of health protection no more than a passing thought. Such men spend their lives in a community and never know whether that community is the best place to bring up their children. They give little thought to the need of protection of the water supply, of the milk supply, or of other sanitary measures. But when an epidemic of typhoid fever or of some other preventable disease occurs they want to know why, and they go to great expense in trying to check the ravages of the disease. Just a small part of that expense and energy, if invested in the health department, would have prevented the disease.

Epidemiology—the sum of what is known of epidemics—must point the way to the prevention of diseases and the promotion of health, and epidemiology is the work of health departments. As the result of accumulated data, epidemiologists have at their command certain definite knowledge which is of practical use in preventing disease.

Epidemiological studies show that the human being is the reservoir of all communicable diseases. It is a fact that such diseases depend on human beings, for humans furnish the right kind of soil for the maintenance of various forms of germ life. They are kept alive by man and transmitted from man to man.

It is the job of health departments to minimize the danger of the spread of communicable diseases. Sanitation means the using of common sense measures to break the line of passage of disease from person to person. That is the method of health departments.

"The flying rumors gathered as they rolled, and all who told it added something new, and all who heard it made enlargement, too; in every ear it spread, on every tongue it grew." —Pope.

FIVE AREAS TEST NEW STATE BEAN

Michelite Variety Developed Because of Whiteness, Uniform Size, Shape

Beans, the food that gives Boston a crown but that puts millions of dollars into the pockets of Michigan farmers because the crop is largely grown in this state, are getting into the elite class.

One new variety, newly named Michelite, is on test in five areas in the state this year in eight two acre plots. They are located in Shiawassee, Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac counties and on South Manitou Island.

The new bean, developed and propagated because it has a whiter coat and is more uniform in size and shape than present varieties, yields well. Its acceptance by farmers in the state is the next test of the new variety, as buyers already have asked for more of them.

Michigan produces 90 per cent of the field beans grown in the nation. This is the crop that housewives call navy beans and the same type of bean that comes in canned baked beans. For the 500,000 acres planted as an average each year in the state it takes nearly 400,000 bushels of seed. In the 1935 census the yield averaged about 11 bushels to the acre.

Gas Shipment Test Now OK'ed By Law

Increased protection to motor vehicle owners whose gasoline tax payments constitute such a vital portion of the highway revenues of the state, is the object of new legislation enacted by the 1937 session.

A gap in the law covering collection of gasoline tax was closed by enactment of a measure framed for this purpose. In the past, the Department of State, which collects this tax, has relied solely on the report of the common carrier as to the contents of shipments into the state. The carriers, on the other hand, reported the contents on the strength of representations made them in each case by the shippers.

A new statute gives the Department of State, through its representatives, authority to enter the premises of any wholesale distributor of petroleum products for the purpose of taking samples of his product, for analysis at the state laboratories.

Joseph D. Hadley, director of the gasoline tax division of the Department of State, has reported to Leon D. Case, secretary of state, that the new statute will prevent attempts to ship gasoline as kerosene or a similar distillate.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS
By Ann Page

Holiday week-ends which bring guests require special planning if expense in time, labor and money is not to overshadow your pleasure in the company of friends and relatives.

Somewhat lower wholesale prices for meats and poultry have brought attractive special retails in most food markets. Cheese, eggs and butter prices are still comparatively low for the season.

Vegetables and fruits in general are available in variety at low cost. Green and lima beans, corn, peas, sweet potatoes and tomatoes among the vegetables and peaches, pears, plums and grapes among the fruits are outstanding.

Here are week-end and holiday dinners which require a minimum of effort to serve.

DAMAGE TO POTATOES IS EASILY CHECKED

Hilling Up Plants Is Important to Prevent Sunburn and Frosting

Much of the damage to potatoes caused by sunburn and field frost can be prevented by hilling up the plants at the time of the last cultivation, or even late in the fall, a few weeks before digging begins, according to H. L. Barnum, agricultural agent for Kalkaska, Missaukee, and Roscommon counties.

"In a dry year," says Mr. Barnum, "hilling may tend to reduce the yield; but this season, with ample rain, this practice is not likely to do any harm, and much good may be expected. The one thing to avoid is deep and close cultivation, which cuts off many of the small, surface feeding roots. Hilling may be accomplished in any of several ways, according to the kind of equipment on hand; but any method that will throw a little extra soil over the tubers will serve the purpose. The quality of the crop, as well as the market value, is sure to be improved by hilling. Don't neglect it this year."

MICHIGAN FARMERS ADVISED TO GROW MORE RYE

An increase in the acreage planted to rye in Michigan would seem justified, according to R. E. Decker, extension specialist in farm crops at Michigan State College.

The rye harvested in 1937 was estimated by crop statisticians at 141,000 acres as compared with about the same in 1936, and 228,000 acres in 1035. Probably the latter figure more nearly approaches present market demands.

Grain dealers report a demand for Michigan rye stronger than the state can supply. One dealer pointed out that we compete with a larger territory in soft winter wheat production than with rye.

How Unhappiness Drives People to Odd Hobbies

Professor Donald A. Laird, Colgate University psychologist, explains in The American Weekly, the great weekly magazine with the September 5 issue of The Detroit Sunday Times, why adults take up child-like pastimes, such as collecting fancy dolls, playing with tin soldiers and piling towers of matches on beer bottles.

Second Largest Industry

Michigan is unique among its neighboring commonwealths by the economic phenomenon of having exclusively two leading industries — automobiles and tourists.

Detroit is the world's capital for automobiles. When a visitor from Europe comes to the United States, he must see at least New York, Hollywood, and Detroit. But always — Detroit.

Manufacture of automobiles is peculiarly a Michigan industry. From the state comes approximately 90 per cent of the world's automobile output.

It was the automobile that led American business out of the depression, so competent observers tell us.

Michigan's second industry — the tourist and resort business — even tops California where it is worth $267,111,638 according to figures obtained by the American Automobile Association. Wisconsin's lakes are worth $200,000,000; Maine, $100,000,000; and Minnesota, $90,000,000.

Farmers Cool to CIO?

Prospects of a farmer-labor movement in Michigan appear to be growing dimmer as summer days grow shorter.

At Greenville on October 7 and 8 the hopes of the CIO to effect a political affiliation with farmers will come to a showdown. The occasion will be the state convention of the Michigan Farmers' Union, headed by Ira Wilmoth, farmer near Adrian.

Homer Martin, head of the UAW, addressed the union's picnic at Grand Rapids several weeks ago and urged a "closer bond of sympathy and cooperation between the Farmers' Union and the CIO." As an inducement, he hinted that labor would favor a cooperative distribution for foodstuffs from the farm to the factory worker's home, eliminating the middleman and jobbers — not a new idea, of course.

An echo of Martin's statement was heard in Washington the following week when John L. Lewis, president of CIO pilloried the Democratic Congress for scuttling the administration's wage and hour bill and then advocated farm-labor unity for 1940.

Farmer Wilmoth, of Adrian, is distrustful of the CIO. He declares: "Labor wants the farmer to invest his money in cooperative holdings in the city. If that were done and the middlemen started cutting prices, the workers in the city would abandon the cooperative and go where they could get cheaper prices. . . . . What does a man who stands in front of a factory conveyor line day after day know about farm problems?"

Brewers' Big Horses

While the Michigan Brewers' Association is waging an educational campaign to persuade drinkers to use Michigan-made beer, the State Liquor Control Commission, cooperating with Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction, is embarking on a "sane consumption" program to encourage temperance.

A bulletin on "Alcohol and Narcotics" has been prepared by Dr. Elliott's department. Every teacher will be enabled to give factual information on the effect of alcohol.

Thus, the state exacts taxes from a monopoly of alcoholic beverages and attempts to promote temperance in drinking, both at the same time. Apparently, the idea is that government should control the traffic, if it can't suppress it.

Liquor by the Glass

Midnight Saturday, September 18, is the deadline for action by local legislative bodies to signify whether they want liquor by the glass within their jurisdictions.

Throughout the state there are about 3,200 restaurants and hotels where liquor may be sold by the glass.

Although the Legislature opened the door wide to the old-time bar and brass rail, the serving of hard liquor is still restricted by law to "bona fide hotels and restaurants."

Liquor license refunds to municipalities totalled $1,977,345 this year.

Sugar Beet Profits

At Alma, St. Louis, and Mt. Pleasant sugar beet factories are getting in readiness to receive the crop at weigh stations about October 1. The sugar belt contains 27,000 acres; the crop will aggregate 270,000 tons.

When you use sugar for canning or other kitchen needs, "say it with Michigan beet sugar." This industry alone provides employment for thousands of men in factories and fields, not to mention hundreds of trucks for delivery of beets.

Don't Forget!

September 15, 1937, is the last day for payment of your City Taxes without penalty.

And they're just as sold as any long distance tourist, on having the engine Oil-Plated by my Conoco Germ Processed oil. You know the way Oil-Plating is altogether different from anything else. It holds on like a leech, where all the worst wear used to come in the engine. Can't drain off the working parts. Then it can't leave any spots without oil . . . not even while the car is standing still . . . nor all the while it's spinning along on the hottest day. This Oil-Plating is really like a long-lasting part of the engine. Then where's any chance for too much wear, or needing more oil all the time? And there you are . . . people notice all their mileage and the way the engine keeps quiet and cool from Oil-Plating. That's how I've got them picking me out for their Mileage Merchant.

INFANTILE ABSENT IN NORTH COUNTIES

DR DEAN REASSURES SUMMER VISITORS

One Single Case Brought In from South—Country-Wide Epidemic Brings School Closings

"There isn't a single case of infantile paralysis in our four counties—Emmet, Charlevoix, Antrim and Otsego," declared Dr. Carleton Dean, of the Children's Fund of Michigan.

Dr. Dean's statement came as the United States Public Health Service declared the outbreak of poliomyelitis throughout the country had reached the status of a "mild epidemic."

"With one exception we haven't had a trace of infantile paralysis in this district since two years ago this aummer," Dr. Dean said. "About 10 days ago a boy came to Charlevoix from Jackson and was taken ill with the disease a day or two after he arrived, having contracted it in the southern part of the state. He was immediately sent to Ann Arbor so that now we haven't a single case."

Dr. Dean's statement came at the request of the Courier in an effort to reassure summer visitors. With 621 cases reported in the country last week, health officials announced the outbreak started in the Lower Mississippi Valley and will move northeastward toward Pennsylvania, New York and New England.

New York state had the most new cases—64 last week. Massachusetts reported 51 cases; Ohio, 50; Illinois, 46; California, 44; Texas, 34; and Michigan, 31. Chicago authorities delayed opening of school until the polio scare dies down.

The number of cases reported by state health officers for the past week was nearly twice the median for the last 10 years.

For the first 34 weeks of the current year, 4,053 cases of infantile paralysis have been reported to the Public Health Service. For the same period of last year, the reports showed 1,618 cases.

Dr. Charles Armstrong, ace research investigator in infantile paralysis for the Public Health Service, said there was no preventative treatment which the service could advocate for general use.

He said the only precautions parents can take to safeguard their children are those applied against any contagious or infectious disease. He advises:

1. Keep the child from crowds, auch as in classrooms.
2. Beware of swimming pools because it is believed the germ is transmitted by means of the nose and can be easily contracted in the water.
3. Watch the child's general health. See that he gets the proper amount of sleep, food and exercise.

Dr. Armstrong emphasized the importance of calling the doctor if a child runs a fever or complains of ebills. Infantile paralysis may resemble a common cold or grippe in early stages.

DETROITER CATCHES 20-POUND MACKINAW FOR SUMMER RECORD

What is thought to be the record Mackinaw trout of the season, a 20-pounder, was taken in Lake Michigan on Sunday by Frank D. Webb, of Detroit.

Don Clothier, owner of the Charlevoix Trolling Camp, was guiding the party which, in addition to Mr. Webb, included Mrs. Webb, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Corpe, Lucille Quamby, Rosalynde Johnston, the latter of the Town Club for Girls, all of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. Phil Braun, of Flint.

Mr. Webb is a member of the firm of Kudner, Inc., advertising agents for Buick, while Mr. Corpe is Buick advertising manager.

WEEK-END INFLUX OF TOURISTS A RECORD

North Michigan Region Flooded With Vacationists Over Labor Day

Labor Day week-end provided a repetition of the Fourth of July holidays insofar as the number of vacationists visiting the city was concerned.

This city and Northern Michigan was crowded with vacation-seekers. Fishing camps could not take care of the demand for boats, and smaller hotels and rooming houses did a landoffice business.

The Board of Commerce, reporting on the influx of visitors, revealed Sunday's registration was the heaviest of the season. The report revealed that registrations have been listed from 38 states, nine Canadian provinces, three from Manila, Philippine Islands, as well as from England, Scotland and France.

The number of hay fever sufferers seeking relief in Charlevoix is reported to be the heaviest on record, and this influx is tending to lengthen the tourist season greatly.

52ND ANNUAL FAIR OPENS SEPT. 21ST

MANY FINE ATTRACTIONS ARE OFFERED THIS YEAR

Largest Midway, Numerous Free Acts, Horse Racing, Exhibits Insure Visitors Entertainment

The 52nd annual Charlevoix County Fair, held by the Charlevoix County Agricultural Society, opens on Tuesday, September 21, at East Jordan, and closes Friday night, September 24. Fair officials, and the board assure the public one of the finest programs ever staged at East Jordan.

A large midway has been provided this year with practically every concession space taken. There will be the usual aide shows, seven different rides, merry-go-round, whip, ferris wheel and other amusements.

Seven free acts of extraordinary high caliber have been booked. The acts will be shown in front of the grandstand each afternoon and evening. An evening feature will be a nightly display of fireworks.

Team pulling contests are scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday. Friday has been designated as County School Day, and the program for this day includes a livestock parade. Horse races for several classes are scheduled three afternoons of the fair with liberal purses. A good field of horses is expected to compete for the cash prizes offered. Six softball games between teams of the county league have been scheduled, and a spirited battle is expected for the county title.

Exhibits already planned include agricultural, livestock, school work, 4-H clubs, poultry, and fancy work. Advance entries indicate large exhibits in every department.

Merchants' tickets have been distributed for the past month and there will be drawings for cash prizes on each day of the fair.

Schedule for admission, together with the names of officers in charge this year, is published in the fair's advertisement elsewhere in this issue.

BARN, HIT BY LIGHTNING, IS A TOTAL LOSS

Thursday Night Electrical Storm the Worst Here in Many Years

A barn and contents on the Harry Webster farm four miles south of this city on US-31, was destroyed by fire during Thursday night's electrical storm when struck by a bolt of lightning.

The storm, lasting through practically the entire night, was the worst this region has experienced in many years. Readings at the local coast guard station revealed a three-inch rainfall, heaviest of the year.

A bolt of lightning struck a flag pole at the Conklin & Bissell fish house on Belvedere avenue and also entered the Ray S. Hamilton residence without causing damage or injury to the occupants.

Friday, at 2 p. m., the first session of the Third Annual Charlevoix Courier Cooking School will open in the high school gymnasium under the direction of Mrs. Helene Sailer, noted home economist and head of the Helene Sailer School of Cooking and Home-Making.

Sessions of the school will be held Friday afternoon from 2 to 4; Friday evening from 7:30 to 9:30, and also Saturday afternoon, from 2 to 4 o'clock, but women are asked to attend each session as entirely different programs will be presented each day by Mrs. Sailer.

There is no admission fee at the school—it is free in every respect with many free gifts to be distributed each day. The only requirement for the winners of gifts is their attendance at the school sessions.

Mrs. Sailer will personally conduct each session of the school and demonstrate the various articles of homemaking equipment displayed by the local merchants cooperating with the Courier in staging the exposition. Everything used at the school comes through Charlevoix merchants, distributors and manufacturers.

Included in the exhibits will be all of the latest and newest things for home-making, with a great display of electric equipment, such as ranges, refrigerators, sweepers, washers, kitchen equipment, radios and other appliances.

The Courier staff has spent considerable time in the past two weeks in making this Cooking School possible for the ladies of Charlevoix and vicinity. There are so many countless little tricks to know, about short cuts, new ideas in cookery. How the housewife can take the cheaper cuts of meats and make them more tasty and tender.

Then the common apple pie—Most every housewife can bake an apple pie, but Mrs. Sailer will prepare and bake an apple pie just a little bit different than you have seen it prepared before. Be sure to see her cook a stew which takes the average housewife one to one and a half hours in eight minutes. Consider the saving in time and fuel.

Attend all sessions of the Cooking School and see what the merchants of this town have to offer in helping you to improve your homemaking with the fine appliances and foodstuffs they have to sell, and at prices that are surprisingly lower than you ever imagined.

Approximately 60 per cent of Charlevoix merchants are cooperating with the Courier in presenting the third annual school. The women are urged to come to the sessions early to assure plenty of time to inspect the displays of the participating merchants.

BROOK TROUT SEASON WAS BEST IN 2 YEARS

Thousands Flocked to Streams for Final Sport Labor Day

Thousands of the faithful flocked to the streams Monday to close the 1937 trout fishing season, which ended at midnight.

The State Conservation Department analyzed field men's reports, indicating the 1937 season was the best in recent years from the angler's viewpoints. From every section of the state camp reports that catches had been larger, generally, than last year's good season, and far superior to the unsatisfactory trout fishing that 1935 provided.

Fred A. Westerman, head of the department's fish division, estimated last year's sale of 530,000 fishing licenses had been exceeded.

STUDENTS RESUME CLASSES MONDAY

1937-38 TERM BRINGS CLOSE TO VACATION DAYS

Several Hundred Students Will Flock to Classes—Many Improvements Made in School Buildings

The juvenile picture in Charlevoix is due for a change next Monday, September 13, the date set for the opening of the 1937-38 term of Charlevoix public schools.

Carefree vacation days will be over for several hundred local young people, for at 8:45 o'clock, the regular hour, school will be called and matters of more serious nature than the children have had to confront for the past three months will be in order.

Classes the opening day will run on a half-hour basis to allow for registration, class assignments and procuring text books, which again this year are provided by the school district. Tuesday the entire system will be running on schedule. In view of the fact the state now pays high school tuition, an increase in enrollment in the high school is anticipated.

The public schools are all prepared for the opening day. Throughout the summer the buildings have been subjected to a thorough cleaning and program of fine improvements.

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION APPROVED

QUARTER MILLION ALLOTTED TO FOUR COUNTIES

Charlevoix County Included in Set-Up; Organization of a Gigantic Cooperative Company Planned

(By B. C. Mellencamp)

After several months of effort toward extending electrification throughout the county by government assistance, we all greatly rejoice in the knowledge that our efforts have proved successful. A recent telegram received from the Rural Electrification Administration, of Washington, D. C., gave the information that an allocation of $250,000 has been made for this project.

This first appropriation is only partial in that the project, when completed, will require something like $504,000 to build something like 455 miles of lines to serve over 1700 rural customers.

Already we have been asked to suggest names of an attorney, an engineer and a project supervisor, the three key appointments necessary to organize the cooperative company made up only of the users of electrical energy. By October 1 it is hoped that the cooperative company will be organized, the appointments all made, and confirmed by the Washington office, and bids asked for the actual construction of lines.

One of the most attractive features of the project is the fact that farmers may be engaged to work on the lines and in that way earn in many cases sufficient money with which to wire their homes. Inasmuch as this company will be pretty largely made up of rural folks, every effort will be made to hire as much local labor as can be used. The rates for the use of electricity will be kept just as low as possible and our information leads us to think that nearly all farmers will jump at the chance to use current. It must be kept in mind that lines cannot be built over night, and that all extensions cannot be started at the same time. In other words, the success of the project depends entirely upon the proper administration of this huge appropriation.

We Wish He Would

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

When it comes to dramatizing himself into the front page, Gov. Frank Murphy has demonstrated that he is becoming a master of mass psychology.

The recent relapse from nervous exhaustion, requiring him to recuperate at the University Hospital in Ann Arbor, is another illustration. Before he went to the hospital, he parried a question that he might become a candidate for president in 1940, backed by a third party group of liberals, and then countered with the suggestion that President Roosevelt might be drafted for a third term.

Observers immediately recalled that Murphy visited the White House just a month ago, immediately after the Wisconsin Lafollettes had paid a visit there.

The Governor's nervous breakdown which he suffered while on vacation in California, again served to remind the public that Michigan's executive settled the automobile sit-down strikes. And that action—or lack of action — was responsible for Murphy's rise into national fame.

Luella Cone's brother returned to Flint last week after attending her funeral here at Central Lake. She was taken to Indiana for burial beside her only daughter, who died while very young.

There was enough frost at Pleasant Valley Monday morning so that the roofs of the houses were white. There was also quite a frost at places east of Bellaire Sunday morning. Corn is being harvested by many farmers this week.

Mr. Feltsma, of Mapleville, Banks, returned from Ludington with 40 bushels of peaches (South Haven), which he was selling for a dollar u bushel lust Monday. South Havens are not so large this year. Rochesters are selling for $1.25 per bushel.

Misses Bertha and Beulah Hooper and brother, Gruyson, of Eastport, attended Sunday school at Creswell last Sunday. Evida Donaldson and brother, Delbert, attended Sunday school at Bush Sunday school last Sunduy, and services by Rev. Batterbee at East Jordan.

The cherry trees of the orchurds of the county and around Traverse City have many yellow leaves this fall. There appears to be great difference of opinion as to the cause of it. Some think it was because the new kind of spray was not used; others that it was because the new spray was used, and not the lime sulphus; others because both were used; others because both were not used; others because the orchurd was not cultivated enough; others because it was cultivated too much; and still others because the spray was not put on early enough, and still others because of loss of vitality on account of previous onslaughts of the shot-hole fungus und the hard winter. Mr. Chaney, of South Milton, has a cherry orchard entirely free from yellow lenves. They sprayed first with the new spray, and last with lime sulphur. Near Bellaire we suw orchard trees entirely in the sod with no yellow lenves.

Peter Swanson's people and a number of others nttended Holiness services at Bellaire Sunday evening and heard a talk given on conditions in South America by a native, Rev. King and wife, of Georgetown, Guinna. Mr. King said he thought someone had ought to come here from South Amerien nnd save the heathen here, ns he saw so muny people imitating the snynges of the jungle by going with little clothing and painting their faces. He said a missionary to the jungles should be careful not to tell his name, or in n short time, a thousand babies would be named after him. He said when they landed in New York City, his wife was the only woman he saw that didn't have her face painted. He said there are strange people in America. The people that ure white want to be black, and those who are black want to be white. He said the children there (in South America) learn to swim when very young. He saw one child 10 months old swimming along with its mother. He said the people there are so anxious to hear the Gospel preached that the Christian people have to vacate the building and let the others come in.

IRONTON

The Ironton Resorters defeated the Ironton Locals in softball last Thursday by a score of 15-10. Batteries were Mower and R. Wilson for the summerites, and I. Boyer and Alexander for the Irontonians. The same batterics worked in the second game, but the Resorters missed the timely hitting and effective fielding of Jay Miller, while the locals' infield was materially bolstered by Ivan Thomson at shortstop.

ing up. Tenth district Democrats, holding a rally last Friday at Houghton, centered attention on Theodore I. Fry, state treasurer, and thereby gave rise to specalation that Fry is the logical man for Murphy's successor should the Governor accept a federal post or otherwise decide not to seek re-election.

With a budget deficit of many millions in the offing, Fry has plenty of financial worries on his mind.

State Rally September 17-18

At Bay City next Friday and Saturday (September 17 and 18) Republicans will hold a state-wide rally to size up the 1938 campaign and to look over likely candidates for office.

Michigan's first Republican today is United States Senator Arthur Vandenberg who is "highly regarded" throughout the state—to use the exact words of Governor Murphy in an eastern newspaper interview. Vandenberg is expected to be the keynoter, and he may take the reins in shaping the party's policy.

In the background, but still a vital and powerful factor, is former Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald, of Grand Ledge, constitutional conservative, banncer of the budget, and popular on Main Street. Fitzgerald has been corresponding with friends throughout the state.

"Take Off a Hide"

Other possibilities include O. L. Smith, Detroit attorney and former Groesbeck lieutenant; Hal H. Smith, Detroit attorney (both of these, like Toy, are being boosted to capture Wayne county's vote, 43 per cent of the state's total); Melville McPherson, of Lowell, a rural leader; Howard Lawrence, of Grand Rapids, secretary to former Gov. Fred W. Green and former state treasure; and Mayor Daniel A. Knaggs, of Monroe, whose Coolidge-like handling of the steel strike there sky-rocketed him into prominence.

In the words of James F. Thomson, chairman of the Republican state central committee, Michigan Republicans want candidates "who can go out and take off a hide."

Whether or not our winter weather is cold, we're going to have a hot time in Michigan, politically. That much is apparent—if nothing else is certain at present.

The Detroit Times, constant champion of the Governor since his mayoralty days, recently blasted at Murray D. Van Wagoner as the "state Democratic czar" because of his campaign fund of $51,617. The accounting was made openly and candidly in a report filed in the Ingham county circuit court. It was shown that Van Wagoner tarned $17,494.10 over to other Democratic candidates.

Toy Enters the Ring

The end of traditional "dog days" has also found Michigan Republicans very much alive. Party leaders insist that Murphy's popularity is waning rapidly due to what they consider a vascillating attitude and political opportunism.

Harry S. Toy, former attorney general, and associate justice of the Supreme Court and former Wayne county prosecutor, is viewed by certain Republicans as filling a 1938 "requirement" that the Republican nominee, if he is to defeat Murphy, should come from Wayne county. In an address near Kalamazoo, Toy charged Murphy with playing into the hands of Communists by welcoming CIO workers to the capitol lawn on the occasion of Lansing's "labor holiday."

Should Toy be the 1938 nominee, voters may expect to hear more of the following indictment which he recently made against Murphy: "On that afternoon (Lansing's holiday) the mobsters who stood before Murphy were red with the violence committed against your constitutional government. They were red with anarchy. But your government condoned their acts as the playful pranks of children!"

Huge Apple Surplus

Michigan's apple crop is a bumper one.

Seizing upon this opportunity to create additional good will and to demonstrate how a state-wide marketing system can benefit both growers and consumers, Michigan chain food stores are going to take over the surplus apple crop in Michigan.

Consumers will soon become "apple conscious."

"Yes, we have no apples" may be a Michigan sales slogan. And why not?

Handbook Gambling

The attempted murder of Harry Millman, former Purple gang member in Detroit and handbook operator, served to focus the spotlight again on the gambling situation in Wayne and Macomb counties. And just at a time when the Legislature's investigating committee had hinted there was practically no gambling in existence.

Raymond W. Starr, attorney general, lost no time in announcing his intention to clamp down on gambling in both counties.

Sharing attention now in the popular crusading against the big bad gamblers is a senatorial committee headed by Senator Diggs, colored.

Thus the "heat" is on. The gaming room at the Grand Hotel, Mackinac Island, is even closed, and this spot catered exclusively to visiting tourists. And all this follows on the heels of a Legislature that came within an eye-brow's lash of legalizing dog racing in Michigan. Keep your eye close on developments; they may surprise you.

PEACH DUTCHMAN

Pastry

4 tablespoons shortening
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
5 teaspoons baking powder
2-3 cup milk
2 tablespoons sugar
Egg yolk
1 tablespoon water

Filling

Fresh or canned peaches
Almonds (blanched)
¾ cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
⅛ teaspoon salt

Cut shortening into sifted flour, salt and baking powder. Dissolve sugar in the milk and mix lightly into dry ingredients. Knead gently a moment, roll out thin on a slightly floured board — cut into triangles large enough to fold over peaches. If fresh peaches are used, peel and halve—remove stones—replace with almonds. Press halves together again. Place on pastry, sprinkle each with tablespoon of dry ingredients under filling. Moisten edges of dough with cold water and bring up and press together. Cut off extra dough with scissors. One Dutchman is placed close to another in greased baking pan. Brush tops with an egg yolk beaten with one tablespoon cold water. Bake for 45 minutes at 425 degrees F. Serve warm with Peach Sauce.

TO LOVE! TO LIVE!

By R. K. WILKINSON

© Bell Syndicate.—WNU Service.

EVER since she could remember, Edna May had loved Henry Appleton.

Of course at first it wasn't really love. Not the way sophisticated people thought about love.

It had all started with a girlish admiration, a sort of worship.

For Henry was truly a hero to be worshipped.

And later in high school when he began to feel his maturity he was elected captain of the football team, and was prominent in all social activities.

A tall, handsome figure, decidedly masculine, yet finding time to bask in the warmth of the worship Edna May and other girls bestowed upon him.

Afterward, Edna May entered Smith and Henry went to Harvard.

She could only see him occasionally then.

But the newspapers played him up big, predicted he would be the coming gridiron star.

And through it all Edna May's regard wavered not at all.

The girlish feeling of admiration ripened and grew into what must be love.

No other word could explain the thrill she felt when Henry asked her to a sophomore hop.

Edna May remembered that hop vividly.

She went over big, and this seemed to please Henry a lot.

Like all college men he had been afraid of being stuck with a flat tire on his hands. She'd only danced with him twice during the evening.

And after it was over four couples of them went home together in the same automobile, and Henry had left her at the door of the dormitory where she was staying with a hurried goodnight and the merest trace of a hand squeeze.

• • •

But he must like her, she told herself.

He must, or he wouldn't have asked her to a big event like the sophomore hop, with dozens of other girls willing and eager to go.

On three other occasions during the four years of college she had gone to Cambridge and attended Harvard functions with Henry.

And during her junior year he had been her guest at the prom.

But their relations had never got beyond the brother and sister stage.

That was the trouble.

Henry had always acted more like a brother to her. That sickening "big brother" stuff.

Just because their families were friends and they had been brought up together in the same town, had attended the same public schools, played in the same sand pile.

Henry probably thought, she reflected bitterly, he had a duty to perform. That's why he took her around some—out of respect to the families.

After college Henry came home and went to work in his father's bank, and Edna May lived with her folks and said she'd like to stay home for a while rather than travel in Europe for a year at her mother's suggestion.

But the real reason for it was because she wanted to be near Henry.

Surer than ever she was now that she loved him.

That feeling that had grown and ripened and turned from adoration to admiration and then to respect couldn't be explained any other way.

• • •

They saw each other frequently.

They played tennis together and swam and danced at the Country club. But Henry's attitude remained the same—a sort of casual indifference, a brotherly regard.

If he saw that she had developed from a gawky girl into full and appealing maturity, the change failed to interest him.

He talked to her freely about other girls, called her attention to any attractive females who appeared from time to time at the club dances, infuriated her by paying court to the young Mrs. Morgan, whose husband had died of pneumonia two weeks after their marriage.

It angered her to feel this way.

She knew it was useless, hopeless.

And because of this knowledge she maintained a careless indifference toward him.

It was only when she seemingly became interested in Bob Somerville that Henry's attitude changed.

"Keep away from him, kid," he advised.

"Bob's a good scout, but he's not for you. He has a trick of getting girls all haired up about him and then leaving 'em flat."

• • •

Edna May's head began to whirl. Was this why Henry had never paid any attention to her before? Was it because she had acted goofy about him, never appeared interested in anyone else? Was this the key to his affections?

Thereafter Edna May became more attentive to Bob than ever.

She spent four or five nights a week with him. And when Henry asked her to accompany him to a club dance she informed him sweetly that she had already promised Bob.

And it worked!

Henry grew alarmed.

He cautioned her about Somerville

NEW COMMERCIAL PERCH LIMIT IS NOW IN EFFECT

New Restriction on Great Lakes Was Passed by 1937 Legislature

A new minimum size limit of eight and one-half inches on commercial perch from Great Lakes waters is in effect in Michigan. The new limit was established by the 1937 Legislature and given immediate effect.

Under the old law, commercial fishermen were not allowed to take or market perch less than nine inches in length.

ABLE BODIED MUST WORK

Cleveland, O., is purging the relief rolls of all able-bodied men, single and 30 years of age. Henceforth they must find themselves work or "prove" why they are unable to do so.

The city is working on the theory that opportunities are numerous to the person with initiative and the desire to take care of himself. A philosophy now general that the government "owes every man a living," must be eradicated before we can re-establish justice. Nothing is more unfair than to compel the thrifty and ambitious to take care of the indolent and lazy.

Were other cities to follow the example of Cleveland, farmers would once again be able to hire help.

KEEPING U. S. MIDDLE-CLASS

The wisest article in our American Constitution is the provision against titles of nobility. For one hundred fifty years that provision has kept America a middle class nation. Classes in America have persisted, but individuals rise and fall into and out of the various classes.

There is something authentic in the boast that we make the circle from shirt sleeves to swallow tails and back again in three generations. In the journey up and down, rising and falling, the changeling passes through the middle class. In every American family, between the grandchild and the grandparents, there is much real contact with men and women going up and down the scale. Father or mother or one of the four grandparents of every child is on the way from one class to another. The middle class, therefore, knows practically what it is to be rich and what it is to be poor.

This ability to see another's viewpoint has been the spiritual leaven in our democracy. It has kept us quick and alive. This leaven has been the basic principle of our ceaseless quest for justice. We have developed an understanding heart. Only in America are the rich so universally prodigal with their beneficences. Only here have the poor failed to crystallize into a conscious class. — William Allen White in "Talks."

READ AND REFLECT

The persistent dripping of a tiny trickle of water, it has been said, will wear away the most unyielding stone. With that hope in mind the following suggestions conducive to safe and courteous driving many times before set forth, are again presented.

Never speed. Drive carefully at all times.

Stop, look, and listen at all railroad crossings.

Have good brakes all the time.

Drive cautiously at night and on slippery streets.

Keep your vehicle under control at all times.

Don't try to beat traffic lights.

Observe all traffic regulations.

Never pass another vehicle on a hill.

Don't cut in or out of traffic carelessly.

Avoid mixing drinking and driving.

Keep your lights, windshield wiper, horn, mirrors, tires and steering mechanism in A-1 condition.

A long list? Well, place the advantages from observance of these principles on one side of the balance sheet, compare them with the cost of the bodies mangled or permanently crippled, the nerves shaken, and the many persons sorrowed by accident fatalities and injuries, and then draw your own conclusions. — Berrien County Record.
